(3) A victim impact statement shall be kept confidential and is not a public record. However, the court may furnish copies of the statement to the department of youth services if the delinquent child is committed to the department or to both the adjudicated delinquent child or the adjudicated delinquent child's counsel and the prosecuting attorney. The copy of a victim impact statement furnished by the court to the department pursuant to this section shall be kept confidential and is not a public record. If an officer is preparing pursuant to section 2947.06 or 2951.03 of the Revised Code or Criminal Rule 32.2 a presentence investigation report pertaining to a person, the court shall make available to the officer, for use in preparing the report, a copy of any victim impact statement regarding that person. The copies of a victim impact statement that are made available to the adjudicated delinquent child or the adjudicated delinquent child's counsel and the prosecuting attorney pursuant to this division shall be returned to the court by the person to whom they were made available immediately following the imposition of an order of disposition for the child under this chapter.

The copy of a victim impact statement that is made available pursuant to this division to an officer preparing a criminal presentence investigation report shall be returned to the court by the officer immediately following its use in preparing the report.

(4) The department of youth services shall work with local probation departments and victim assistance programs to develop a standard victim impact statement.

(E) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for being a chronic truant or a habitual truant who previously has been adjudicated an unruly child for being a habitual truant and the court determines that the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child has failed to cause the child's attendance at school in violation of section 3321.38 of the Revised Code, in addition to any order of disposition it makes under this section, the court shall warn the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child that any subsequent adjudication of the child as an unruly or delinquent child for being a habitual or chronic truant may result in a criminal charge against the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child for a violation of division (C) of section 2919.21 or section 2919.24 of the Revised Code.

(F)(1) During the period of a delinquent child's community control granted under this section, authorized probation officers who are engaged within the scope of their supervisory duties or responsibilities may search, with or without a warrant, the person of the delinquent child, the place of residence of the delinquent child, and a motor vehicle, another item of tangible or intangible personal property, or other real property in which the delinquent child has a right, title, or interest or for which the delinquent child has the express or implied permission of a person with a right, title, or interest to use, occupy, or possess if the probation officers have reasonable grounds to believe that the delinquent child is not abiding by the law or otherwise is not complying with the conditions of the delinquent child's community control. The court that places a delinquent child on community control under this section shall provide the delinquent child with a written notice that informs the delinquent child that authorized probation officers who are engaged within the scope of their supervisory duties or responsibilities may conduct those types of searches during the period of community control if they have reasonable grounds to believe that the delinquent child is not abiding by the law or otherwise is not complying with the conditions of the delinquent child's community control. The court also shall provide the written notice described in division (E)(2) of this section to each parent, guardian, or custodian of the delinquent child who is described in that division.

(2) The court that places a child on community control under this section shall provide the child's parent, guardian, or other custodian with a written notice that informs them that authorized probation officers may conduct searches pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section. The notice shall specifically state that a permissible search might extend to a motor vehicle, another item of tangible or intangible personal property, or a place of residence or other real property in which a notified parent, guardian, or custodian has a right, title, or interest and that the parent, guardian, or custodian expressly or impliedly permits the child to use, occupy, or possess.

(G) If a juvenile court commits a delinquent child to the custody of any person, organization, or entity pursuant to this section and if the delinquent act for which the child is so committed is a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or is a child-victim oriented offense, the court in the order of disposition shall do one of the following:

(1) Require that the child be provided treatment as described in division (A)(2) of section 5139.13 of the Revised Code;

(2) Inform the person, organization, or entity that it is the preferred course of action in this state that the child be provided treatment as described in division (A)(2) of section 5139.13 of the Revised Code and encourage the person, organization, or entity to provide that treatment.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child, the court may make any of the following orders of disposition, in addition to any other disposition authorized or required by this chapter:

(1) Any order that is authorized by section 2151.353 [2151.35.3] of the Revised Code for the care and protection of an abused, neglected, or dependent child;

(2) Commit the child to the temporary custody of any school, camp, institution, or other facility operated for the care of delinquent children by the county, by a district organized under section 2152.41 or 2151.65 of the Revised Code, or by a private agency or organization, within or without the state, that is authorized and qualified to provide the care, treatment, or placement required, including, but not limited to, a school, camp, or facility operated under section 2151.65 of the Revised Code;

(3) Place the child in a detention facility or district detention facility operated under section 2152.41 of the Revised Code, for up to ninety days;

(4) Place the child on community control under any sanctions, services, and conditions that the court prescribes. As a condition of community control in every case and in addition to any other condition that it imposes upon the child, the court shall require the child to abide by the law during the period of community control. As referred to in this division, community control includes, but is not limited to, the following sanctions and conditions:

(a) A period of basic probation supervision in which the child is required to maintain contact with a person appointed to supervise the child in accordance with sanctions imposed by the court;

(b) A period of intensive probation supervision in which the child is required to maintain frequent contact with a person appointed by the court to supervise the child while the child is seeking or maintaining employment and participating in training, education, and treatment programs as the order of disposition;

(c) A period of day reporting in which the child is required each day to report to and leave a center or another approved reporting location at specified times in order to participate in work, education or training, treatment, and other approved programs at the center or outside the center;

(d) A period of community service of up to five hundred hours for an act that would be a felony or a misdemeanor of the first degree if committed by an adult, up to two hundred hours for an act that would be a misdemeanor of the second, third, or fourth degree if committed by an adult, or up to thirty hours for an act that would be a minor misdemeanor if committed by an adult;

(e) A requirement that the child obtain a high school diploma, a certificate of high school equivalence, vocational training, or employment;

(f) A period of drug and alcohol use monitoring;

(g) A requirement of alcohol or drug assessment or counseling, or a period in an alcohol or drug treatment program with a level of security for the child as determined necessary by the court;

(h) A period in which the court orders the child to observe a curfew that may involve daytime or evening hours;

(i) A requirement that the child serve monitored time;

(j) A period of house arrest without electronic monitoring or continuous alcohol monitoring;

(k) A period of electronic monitoring or continuous alcohol monitoring without house arrest, or house arrest with electronic monitoring or continuous alcohol monitoring or both electronic monitoring and continuous alcohol monitoring, that does not exceed the maximum sentence of imprisonment that could be imposed upon an adult who commits the same act.

A period of house arrest with electronic monitoring or continuous alcohol monitoring or both electronic monitoring and continuous alcohol monitoring, imposed under this division shall not extend beyond the child's twenty-first birthday. If a court imposes a period of house arrest with electronic monitoring or continuous alcohol monitoring or both electronic monitoring and continuous alcohol monitoring, upon a child under this division, it shall require the child: to remain in the child's home or other specified premises for the entire period of house arrest with electronic monitoring or continuous alcohol monitoring or both except when the court permits the child to leave those premises to go to school or to other specified premises. Regarding electronic monitoring, the court also shall require the child to be monitored by a central system that can determine the child's location at designated times; to report periodically to a person designated by the court; and to enter into a written contract with the court agreeing to comply with all requirements imposed by the court, agreeing to pay any fee imposed by the court for the costs of the house arrest with electronic monitoring, and agreeing to waive the right to receive credit for any time served on house arrest with electronic monitoring toward the period of any other dispositional order imposed upon the child if the child violates any of the requirements of the dispositional order of house arrest with electronic monitoring. The court also may impose other reasonable requirements upon the child.

Unless ordered by the court, a child shall not receive credit for any time served on house arrest with electronic monitoring or continuous alcohol monitoring or both toward any other dispositional order imposed upon the child for the act for which was imposed the dispositional order of house arrest with electronic monitoring or continuous alcohol monitoring. As used in this division and division (A)(4)(I) of this section, "continuous alcohol monitoring" has the same meaning as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

(I) A suspension of the driver's license, probationary driver's license, or temporary instruction permit issued to the child for a period of time prescribed by the court, or a suspension of the registration of all motor vehicles registered in the name of the child for a period of time prescribed by the court. A child whose license or permit is so suspended is ineligible for issuance of a license or permit during the period of suspension. At the end of the period of suspension, the child shall not be reissued a license or permit until the child has paid any applicable reinstatement fee and complied with all requirements governing license reinstatement.

(5) Commit the child to the custody of the court;

(6) Require the child to not be absent without legitimate excuse from the public school the child is supposed to attend for five or more consecutive days, seven or more school days in one school month, or twelve or more school days in a school year;

(7)(a) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for being a chronic truant or an habitual truant who previously has been adjudicated an unruly child for being a habitual truant, do either or both of the following:

(i) Require the child to participate in a truancy prevention mediation program;

(ii) Make any order of disposition as authorized by this section, except that the court shall not commit the child to a facility described in division (A)(2) or (3) of this section unless the court determines that the child violated a lawful court order made pursuant to division (C)(1)(e) of section 2151.354 [2151.35.4] of the Revised Code or division (A)(6) of this section.

(b) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for being a chronic truant or a habitual truant who previously has been adjudicated an unruly child for being a habitual truant and the court determines that the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child has failed to cause the child's attendance at school in violation of section 3321.38 of the Revised Code, do either or both of the following:

(i) Require the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child to participate in a truancy prevention mediation program;

(ii) Require the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child to participate in any community service program, preferably a community service program that requires the involvement of the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child in the school attended by the child.

(8) Make any further disposition that the court finds proper, except that the child shall not be placed in any of the following:

(a) A state correctional institution, a county, multi-county, or municipal jail or workhouse, or another place in which an adult convicted of a crime, under arrest, or charged with a crime is held;

(b) A community corrections facility, if the child would be covered by the definition of public safety beds for purposes of sections 5139.41 to 5139.43 of the Revised Code if the court exercised its authority to commit the child to the legal custody of the department of youth services for institutionalization or institutionalization in a secure facility pursuant to this chapter.

(B) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child, in addition to any order of disposition made under division (A) of this section, the court, in the following situations and for the specified periods of time, shall suspend the child's temporary instruction permit, restricted license, probationary driver's license, or nonresident operating privilege, or suspend the child's ability to obtain such a permit:

(1) If the child is adjudicated a delinquent child for violating section 2923.122 [2923.12.2] of the Revised Code, impose a class four suspension of the child's license, permit, or privilege from the range specified in division (A)(4) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code or deny the child the issuance of a license or permit in accordance with division (F)(1) of section 2923.122 [2923.12.2] of the Revised Code.

(2) If the child is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing an act that if committed by an adult would be a drug abuse offense or for violating division (B) of section 2917.11 of the Revised Code, suspend the child's license, permit, or privilege for a period of time prescribed by the court. The court, in its discretion, may terminate the suspension if the child attends and satisfactorily completes a drug abuse or alcohol abuse education, intervention, or treatment program specified by the court. During the time the child is attending a program described in this division, the court shall retain the child's temporary instruction permit, probationary driver's license, or driver's license, and the court shall return the permit or license if it terminates the suspension as described in this division.

(C) The court may establish a victim-offender mediation program in which victims and their offenders meet to discuss the offense and suggest possible restitution. If the court obtains the assent of the victim of the delinquent act committed by the child, the court may require the child to participate in the program.

(D)(1) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing an act that would be a felony if committed by an adult and if the child caused, attempted to cause, threatened to cause, or created a risk of physical harm to the victim of the act, the court, prior to issuing an order of disposition under this section, shall order the preparation of a victim impact statement by the probation department of the county in which the victim of the act resides, by the court's own probation department, or by a victim assistance program that is operated by the state, a county, a municipal corporation, or another governmental entity. The court shall consider the victim impact statement in determining the order of disposition to issue for the child.

(2) Each victim impact statement shall identify the victim of the act for which the child was adjudicated a delinquent child, itemize any economic loss suffered by the victim as a result of the act, identify any physical injury suffered by the victim as a result of the act and the seriousness and permanence of the injury, identify any change in the victim's personal welfare or familial relationships as a result of the act and any psychological impact experienced by the victim or the victim's family as a result of the act, and contain any other information related to the impact of the act upon the victim that the court requires.

(3) A victim impact statement shall be kept confidential and is not a public record. However, the court may furnish copies of the statement to the department of youth services if the delinquent child is committed to the department or to both the adjudicated delinquent child or the adjudicated delinquent child's counsel and the prosecuting attorney. The copy of a victim impact statement furnished by the court to the department pursuant to this section shall be kept confidential and is not a public record. If an officer is preparing pursuant to section 2947.06 or 2951.03 of the Revised Code or Criminal Rule 32.2 a presentence investigation report pertaining to a person, the court shall make available to the officer, for use in preparing the report, a copy of any victim impact statement regarding that person. The copies of a victim impact statement that are made available to the adjudicated delinquent child or the adjudicated delinquent child's counsel and the prosecuting attorney pursuant to this division shall be returned to the court by the person to whom they were made available immediately following the imposition of an order of disposition for the child under this chapter.

The copy of a victim impact statement that is made available pursuant to this division to an officer preparing a criminal presentence investigation report shall be returned to the court by the officer immediately following its use in preparing the report.

(4) The department of youth services shall work with local probation departments and victim assistance programs to develop a standard victim impact statement.

(E) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for being a chronic truant or a habitual truant who previously has been adjudicated an unruly child for being a habitual truant and the court determines that the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child has failed to cause the child's attendance at school in violation of section 3321.38 of the Revised Code, in addition to any order of disposition it makes under this section, the court shall warn the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child that any subsequent adjudication of the child as an unruly or delinquent child for being a habitual or chronic truant may result in a criminal charge against the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child for a violation of division (C) of section 2919.21 or section 2919.24 of the Revised Code.

(F)(1) During the period of a delinquent child's community control granted under this section, authorized probation officers who are engaged within the scope of their supervisory duties or responsibilities may search, with or without a warrant, the person of the delinquent child, the place of residence of the delinquent child, and a motor vehicle, another item of tangible or intangible personal property, or other real property in which the delinquent child has a right, title, or interest or for which the delinquent child has the express or implied permission of a person with a right, title, or interest to use, occupy, or possess if the probation officers have reasonable grounds to believe that the delinquent child is not abiding by the law or otherwise is not complying with the conditions of the delinquent child's community control. The court that places a delinquent child on community control under this section shall provide the delinquent child with a written notice that informs the delinquent child that authorized probation officers who are engaged within the scope of their supervisory duties or responsibilities may conduct those types of searches during the period of community control if they have reasonable grounds to believe that the delinquent child is not abiding by the law or otherwise is not complying with the conditions of the delinquent child's community control. The court also shall provide the written notice described in division (E)(2) of this section to each parent, guardian, or custodian of the delinquent child who is described in that division.

(2) The court that places a child on community control under this section shall provide the child's parent, guardian, or other custodian with a written notice that informs them that authorized probation officers may conduct searches pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section. The notice shall specifically state that a permissible search might extend to a motor vehicle, another item of tangible or intangible personal property, or a place of residence or other real property in which a notified parent, guardian, or custodian has a right, title, or interest and that the parent, guardian, or custodian expressly or impliedly permits the child to use, occupy, or possess.

(G) If a juvenile court commits a delinquent child to the custody of any person, organization, or entity pursuant to this section and if the delinquent act for which the child is so committed is a sexually oriented offense or is a child-victim oriented offense, the court in the order of disposition shall do one of the following:

(1) Require that the child be provided treatment as described in division (A)(2) of section 5139.13 of the Revised Code;

(2) Inform the person, organization, or entity that it is the preferred course of action in this state that the child be provided treatment as described in division (A)(2) of section 5139.13 of the Revised Code and encourage the person, organization, or entity to provide that treatment.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

The provisions of § 5, H.B. 163 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 5. * * * (B) Section 2152.19 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 400, Am. Sub. H.B. 490, and Am. Sub. S.B. 123, all of the 124th General Assembly, and Am. Sub. H.B. 95 and Am. Sub. S.B. 5, both of the 125th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act. * * *

The provisions of § 5 of S.B. 123 (149 v —), as amended by § 3 of H.B. 163 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 5. (A) Notwithstanding division (B) of section 1.58 of the Revised Code, the provisions of the Revised Code amended or enacted in Sections 1 and 2 of Am. Sub. S.B. 123 of the 124th General Assembly shall apply only in relation to conduct and offenses committed on or after January 1, 2004. Conduct and offenses committed prior to January 1, 2004, shall be governed by the law in effect on the date the conduct or offense was committed. * * *

152 v S 10, effective January 1, 2008, in the introductory language of (G), deleted "that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense" following "sexually oriented offense".

150 v H 163, effective September 23, 2004, in (A)(4)(j), added "or continuous alcohol monitoring" to the end; rewrote (A)(4)(k); and made minor stylistic changes.

Section 1, S.B. 5, Acts 2003, effective July 31, 2003, and section 3 of S.B. 5, effective January 1, 2004, made identical changes. Each inserted "that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or is a child-victim oriented offense" in the introductory paragraph of (G).

Section 1, H.B. 95, Acts 2003, effective September 26, 2003, and section 3.13 of H.B. 95, effective January 1, 2004, made identical changes. Each substituted "5139.43" for "5139.45" in (A)(8)(b).

H.B. 490, Acts 2002, effective January 1, 2004, deleted "with or preceding "without" in (A)(3)(j); substituted "house arrest with electronic monitoring" for "electronically monitored house arrest" nine times in (A)(3)(k); and deleted "to wear, otherwise have attached to the child's person, or otherwise be subject to monitoring by a certified electronic monitoring device or to participate in the operation of and monitoring by a certified electronic monitoring system" following "imposes a period" in the second paragraph of (A)(3)(k).

S.B. 123, Acts 2002, effective January 1, 2004, inserted "for a period of time prescribed by the court" twice in (A)(3)(l); and rewrote (B).

Commitment

Defendant's commitment to the Ohio Department of Youth Services was proper and was the result of the commission of two felonies, burglary and aggravated arson. State v. O'Brien, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3478, 2005 Ohio 3765, (2005).

Community control conditions

Evidence must support the use of a polygraph for a particular juvenile before it is a reasonable community control condition. A polygraph order does not eliminate a juvenile's right against self-incrimination: In re D.S., 111 Ohio St. 3d 361, 856 N.E.2d 921, 2006 Ohio 5851, (2006).

When appellant was committed to the Department of Youth Services, it was error to suspend his right to obtain a driver's license because (1) he was not sentenced to community control, so his right to obtain a license could not be suspended under RC § 2152.19(A)(4)(l), and (2) he was not convicted of any of the offenses enumerated in RC § 2151.19(B)(2), which was specific, and not a "catch-all" provision. In re Spears, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1761, 2006 Ohio 1920, (2006).

DNA specimens

Pursuant to RC § 2152.74(B)(3), a juvenile court must order the collection of a DNA specimen from a juvenile placed on some form of probation supervision pursuant to RC § 2152.19(A)(4) on or after May 18, 2005. RC § 2152.74(B)(3) authorizes the collection of a DNA specimen from a juvenile who was not committed to, or placed in, the custody of the Department of Youth Services or an entity described in RC § 2152.19(A)(2) or RC § 2152.19(A)(3) and who has not previously submitted to a DNA specimen collection procedure pursuant to RC § 2152.74(B)(1) or RC § 2152.74(B)(2) when the juvenile is currently required to comply with the terms of a dispositional order issued by a juvenile court under RC Chapter 2152 before May 18, 2005. A juvenile court may exercise its power to punish for contempt, conduct proceedings under RC Chapter 2152 to adjudicate the juvenile a delinquent child, or conduct probation revocation proceedings to compel a juvenile who is on some form of probation supervision imposed by a juvenile court pursuant to RC § 2152.19(A)(4) to comply with a court order that requires the juvenile to submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure under RC § 2152.74(B)(3). Opinion No. 2005-037 (2005).

Due process

Mother's contention that she was deprived of her due process rights because she was not given adequate notice that the trial court would be considering the issue of legal custody, under RC §§ 2152.19(A)(1) and 2151.353, of her son at a third hearing held after the son had been adjudicated delinquent was rejected because the trial court twice made the parties aware that it would consider the various dispositional alternatives at subsequent hearings and indicated that it would do so on its own motion. Moreover, the mother's presence at the hearing waived any objections she had to inadequacies of notice. In re Ratliff, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1625, 2007 Ohio 1770, (Apr. 13, 2007).

Former provisions

The court's final dispositional order correctly complied with former RC § 2151.355(A)(4): In re R.W.J., 155 Ohio App. 3d 52, 798 N.E.2d 1206, 2003 Ohio 5407, (2003).

Length of detention

Appellant's commitment to the county juvenile detention center for 30 days was authorized by RC § 2152.19(A)(3), despite his claim that there was a lack of evidence of prior dispositions or his failure to cooperate, because he was adjudicated a delinquent child, and, in light of appellant's actions resulting in his adjudication and the fact that his commitment was suspended on the condition that he comply with other court orders, the commitment was not an abuse of discretion. In re D.B., 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3147, 2006 Ohio 3240, (2006).

The fact that the maximum sentence under the criminal law for negligent assault was sixty days did not mean that a juvenile could be placed in detention for only sixty days: In re Tiber, 154 Ohio App. 3d 360, 797 N.E.2d 161, 2003 Ohio 5155, (2003).

Probation

A juvenile court does not have the jurisdiction to reimpose a suspended commitment to a department of youth services facility after a juvenile has been released from probation: In re Cross, 96 Ohio St. 3d 328, 774 N.E.2d 258, 2002 Ohio 4183, (2002).

Temporary custody award to agency

If a juvenile court commits to the temporary custody of a public children services agency a child who has been adjudicated to be unruly or delinquent pursuant to RC § 2151.35.4(A)(1) or RC § 2152.19(A)(1), respectively, the duration of the temporary custody order is subject to the time limitations set forth in RC § 2151.35.3(F) and RC § 2151.41.5: OAG No. 2003-004 (2003).

Effective until 1-1-08.

If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or for committing a child-victim oriented offense, if the child is fourteen years of age or older at the time of committing the offense, and if the child committed the offense on or after January 1, 2002, both of the following apply:

(A) Sections 2152.82 to 2152.85 and Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code apply to the child and the adjudication.

(B) In addition to any order of disposition it makes of the child under this chapter, the court may make any determination, adjudication, or order authorized under sections 2152.82 to 2152.85 and Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code and shall make any determination, adjudication, or order required under those sections and that chapter.

Effective 1-1-08.

If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing a sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense, if the child is fourteen years of age or older at the time of committing the offense, and if the child committed the offense on or after January 1, 2002, both of the following apply:

(A) Sections 2152.82 to 2152.86 and Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code apply to the child and the adjudication.

(B) In addition to any order of disposition it makes of the child under this chapter, the court may make any determination, adjudication, or order authorized under sections 2152.82 to 2152.86 and Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code and shall make any determination, adjudication, or order required under those sections and that chapter.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

The provisions of § 3 of SB 3 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. Sections 1 and 2 of this act shall take effect on January 1, 2002, or the earliest date permitted by law, whichever is later.

152 v S 10, effective January 1, 2008, in the introductory paragraph, deleted "that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense" following "sexually oriented offense" and "for committing" preceding "a child-victim"; and corrected internal references.

S.B. 5, Acts 2003, effective July 31, 2003, in the introductory paragraph, inserted, "that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or for committing a child-victim oriented offense," and substituted "January 1, 2002, both" for "the effective date of this section, all."

If a court or child welfare agency places a delinquent child in an institution or association, as defined in section 5103.02 of the Revised Code, that is certified by the department of job and family services pursuant to section 5103.03 of the Revised Code and if that child has been adjudicated delinquent for committing an act that is a sexually oriented offense in either a prior delinquency adjudication or in the most recent delinquency adjudication, the court or child welfare agency shall notify the operator of the institution or association and the sheriff of the county in which the institution or association is located that the child has been adjudicated delinquent for committing an act that is a sexually oriented offense.

HISTORY: 151 v H 95, § 1, eff. 8-3-06.

§ 2152.20 Fines; costs; restitution; order of criminal forfeiture; community service.

(A) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child or a juvenile traffic offender, the court may order any of the following dispositions, in addition to any other disposition authorized or required by this chapter:

(1) Impose a fine in accordance with the following schedule:

(a) For an act that would be a minor misdemeanor or an unclassified misdemeanor if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed fifty dollars;

(b) For an act that would be a misdemeanor of the fourth degree if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed one hundred dollars;

(c) For an act that would be a misdemeanor of the third degree if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed one hundred fifty dollars;

(d) For an act that would be a misdemeanor of the second degree if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed two hundred dollars;

(e) For an act that would be a misdemeanor of the first degree if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed two hundred fifty dollars;

(f) For an act that would be a felony of the fifth degree or an unclassified felony if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed three hundred dollars;

(g) For an act that would be a felony of the fourth degree if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed four hundred dollars;

(h) For an act that would be a felony of the third degree if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed seven hundred fifty dollars;

(i) For an act that would be a felony of the second degree if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars;

(j) For an act that would be a felony of the first degree if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed one thousand five hundred dollars;

(k) For an act that would be aggravated murder or murder if committed by an adult, a fine not to exceed two thousand dollars.

(2) Require the child to pay costs;

(3) Unless the child's delinquent act or juvenile traffic offense would be a minor misdemeanor if committed by an adult or could be disposed of by the juvenile traffic violations bureau serving the court under Traffic Rule 13.1 if the court has established a juvenile traffic violations bureau, require the child to make restitution to the victim of the child's delinquent act or juvenile traffic offense or, if the victim is deceased, to a survivor of the victim in an amount based upon the victim's economic loss caused by or related to the delinquent act or juvenile traffic offense. The court may not require a child to make restitution pursuant to this division if the child's delinquent act or juvenile traffic offense would be a minor misdemeanor if committed by an adult or could be disposed of by the juvenile traffic violations bureau serving the court under Traffic Rule 13.1 if the court has established a juvenile traffic violations bureau. If the court requires restitution under this division, the restitution shall be made directly to the victim in open court or to the probation department that serves the jurisdiction or the clerk of courts on behalf of the victim.

If the court requires restitution under this division, the restitution may be in the form of a cash reimbursement paid in a lump sum or in installments, the performance of repair work to restore any damaged property to its original condition, the performance of a reasonable amount of labor for the victim or survivor of the victim, the performance of community service work, any other form of restitution devised by the court, or any combination of the previously described forms of restitution.

If the court requires restitution under this division, the court may base the restitution order on an amount recommended by the victim or survivor of the victim, the delinquent child, the juvenile traffic offender, a presentence investigation report, estimates or receipts indicating the cost of repairing or replacing property, and any other information, provided that the amount the court orders as restitution shall not exceed the amount of the economic loss suffered by the victim as a direct and proximate result of the delinquent act or juvenile traffic offense. If the court decides to order restitution under this division and the amount of the restitution is disputed by the victim or survivor or by the delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender, the court shall hold a hearing on the restitution. If the court requires restitution under this division, the court shall determine, or order the determination of, the amount of restitution to be paid by the delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender. All restitution payments shall be credited against any recovery of economic loss in a civil action brought by or on behalf of the victim against the delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender or the delinquent child's or juvenile traffic offender's parent, guardian, or other custodian.

If the court requires restitution under this division, the court may order that the delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender pay a surcharge, in an amount not exceeding five per cent of the amount of restitution otherwise ordered under this division, to the entity responsible for collecting and processing the restitution payments.

The victim or the survivor of the victim may request that the prosecuting authority file a motion, or the delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender may file a motion, for modification of the payment terms of any restitution ordered under this division. If the court grants the motion, it may modify the payment terms as it determines appropriate.

(4) Require the child to reimburse any or all of the costs incurred for services or sanctions provided or imposed, including, but not limited to, the following:

(a) All or part of the costs of implementing any community control imposed as a disposition under section 2152.19 of the Revised Code, including a supervision fee;

(b) All or part of the costs of confinement in a residential facility described in section 2152.19 of the Revised Code or in a department of youth services institution, including, but not limited to, a per diem fee for room and board, the costs of medical and dental treatment provided, and the costs of repairing property the delinquent child damaged while so confined. The amount of reimbursement ordered for a child under this division shall not exceed the total amount of reimbursement the child is able to pay as determined at a hearing and shall not exceed the actual cost of the confinement. The court may collect any reimbursement ordered under this division. If the court does not order reimbursement under this division, confinement costs may be assessed pursuant to a repayment policy adopted under section 2929.37 of the Revised Code and division (D) of section 307.93, division (A) of section 341.19, division (C) of section 341.23 or 753.16, division (C) of section 2301.56, or division (B) of section 341.14, 753.02, 753.04, or 2947.19 of the Revised Code.

(B) Chapter 2981. of the Revised Code applies to a child who is adjudicated a delinquent child for violating section 2923.32 or 2923.42 of the Revised Code or for committing an act that, if committed by an adult, would be a felony drug abuse offense.

(C) The court may hold a hearing if necessary to determine whether a child is able to pay a sanction under this section.

(D) If a child who is adjudicated a delinquent child is indigent, the court shall consider imposing a term of community service under division (A) of section 2152.19 of the Revised Code in lieu of imposing a financial sanction under this section. If a child who is adjudicated a delinquent child is not indigent, the court may impose a term of community service under that division in lieu of, or in addition to, imposing a financial sanction under this section. The court may order community service for an act that if committed by an adult would be a minor misdemeanor.

If a child fails to pay a financial sanction imposed under this section, the court may impose a term of community service in lieu of the sanction.

(E) The clerk of the court, or another person authorized by law or by the court to collect a financial sanction imposed under this section, may do any of the following:

(1) Enter into contracts with one or more public agencies or private vendors for the collection of the amounts due under the financial sanction, which amounts may include interest from the date of imposition of the financial sanction;

(2) Permit payment of all, or any portion of, the financial sanction in installments, by credit or debit card, by another type of electronic transfer, or by any other reasonable method, within any period of time, and on any terms that the court considers just, except that the maximum time permitted for payment shall not exceed five years. The clerk may pay any fee associated with processing an electronic transfer out of public money and may charge the fee to the delinquent child.

(3) To defray administrative costs, charge a reasonable fee to a child who elects a payment plan rather than a lump sum payment of a financial sanction.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v H 120.

The provisions of § 4 of 151 v H 241 read as follows:

SECTION 4. Sections 1, 2, and 3 of this act shall take effect on July 1, 2007. If a criminal or civil forfeiture action relating to misconduct under Title XXIX of the Revised Code was or is commenced before July 1, 2007, and is still pending on that date, the court in which the case is pending shall, to the extent practical, apply the provisions of Chapter 2981. of the Revised Code in the case.

The effective date is set by section 4 of HB 490.

Effect of Amendments

152 v H 120, effective July 1, 2007, deleted (B)(3), pertaining to children adjudicated by a juvenile court to be delinquent children for an act in violation of RC § 2923.42.

151 v H 241, effective July 1, 2007, rewrote (B).

151 v H 162, effective October 12, 2006, corrected internal references.

Generally

Trial court was not mandated by RC § 2152.20(C) to hold a hearing before it could impose financial sanctions against an indigent juvenile, nor did the statute mandate that the court impose community control sanctions upon an indigent juvenile; rather the statutes directed the court to "consider" imposing a community control sanction, but, in contrast to § 2152.20(C), the language of RC § 2152.20(D) did impose a requirement upon the trial court, obliging it to consider community service in lieu of sanctions when the child being sentenced was indigent. In re Spears, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1761, 2006 Ohio 1920, (2006).

When appellant was committed to the Department of Youth Services, while Ohio R. Juv. P. 29 was substantially complied with when the trial court accepted his admission and waiver of counsel, he did not waive the right to object to the imposition of a fine and restitution because he was not advised that this could be a consequence of his plea, nor was he given the opportunity to seek the imposition of community service in lieu of these financial sanctions, and the trial court's magistrate and judge erroneously failed to consider the imposition of community service, as required by RC § 2152.20(D). In re Spears, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1761, 2006 Ohio 1920, (2006).

Trial court did not err in failing to consider community service in lieu of financial sanctions as it was clear that the trial court considered many options for defendant, which no doubt included community service, but dismissed those options due to defendant's past history. In re Joshua R. C., 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 5610, 2005 Ohio 6248, (2005).

Trial court did not err by declining to exercise its discretion because the plain language of RC § 2152.20(C) did not require the juvenile court to hold a hearing to determine whether defendant was able to pay a financial sanction. Although the language of RC § 2152.20(D) did impose a requirement upon the trial court, obliging it to consider community service in lieu of sanctions when the child being sentenced was indigent, the record did not demonstrate that the trial court did not make that consideration. In re C. P., 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1743, 2005 Ohio 1819, (2005).

Since the trial court only imposed the financial sanctions of fines, court costs and costs of confinement and did not sentence the juvenile for nonpayment, it was within the court's discretion whether to conduct a hearing to determine the juvenile's ability to pay. In re McClanahan, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3759, 2004 Ohio 4113, (2004), appeal denied by 104 Ohio St. 3d 1426, 2004 Ohio 6585, 819 N.E.2d 709, 2004 Ohio LEXIS 2973 (2004).

Trial court did not violate the mandates of RC § 2152.20(D) in not giving defendant juvenile community service in lieu of a $1,450 fine because the trial court considered the indigency issue by reviewing the motion to vacate fines and costs and subsequently denying that motion. In re Hopkins, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4568, 2003 Ohio 5081, (2003).

Court costs

Defendant, a juvenile, waived his right to assert on appeal that the juvenile court erred in imposing the payment of court costs on him upon finding that he was a delinquent child, as he failed to raise the issue of his indigency before the juvenile court and he failed to appear for a hearing with respect to payment of court costs pursuant to RC § 2152.20(C). In re Lower, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1581, 2007 Ohio 1735, (Apr. 5, 2007).

Funeral expenses

The court did not abuse its discretion, under former law, by ordering the juvenile to reimburse the victim's family for funeral expenses. In re Jacobs, 148 Ohio App. 3d 173, 772 N.E.2d 671, 2002 Ohio 2844, (2002).

(A) In addition to any other dispositions authorized or required by this chapter, the juvenile court making disposition of a child adjudicated a delinquent child for committing a violation of section 2909.22, 2909.23, or 2909.24 of the Revised Code or a violation of section 2921.32 of the Revised Code when the offense or act committed by the person aided or to be aided as described in that section is an act of terrorism may order the child to pay to the state, municipal, or county law enforcement agencies that handled the investigation and prosecution all of the costs that the state, municipal corporation, or county reasonably incurred in the investigation and prosecution of the violation. The court shall hold a hearing to determine the amount of costs to be imposed under this section. The court may hold the hearing as part of the dispositional hearing for the child.

(B) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing a violation of section 2909.23 or 2909.24 of the Revised Code and if any political subdivision incurred any response costs as a result of, or in making any response to, the threat of the specified offense involved in the violation of section 2909.23 of the Revised Code or the actual specified offense involved in the violation of section 2909.24 of the Revised Code, in addition to any other dispositions authorized or required by this chapter, the juvenile court making disposition of the child for the violation may order the child to reimburse the involved political subdivision for the response costs it so incurred.

(C) As used in this section, "response costs" and "act of terrorism" have the same meanings as in section 2909.21 of the Revised Code.

[§ 2152.20.2] § 2152.202 Reimbursement of costs of drug tests confirming that substance contained controlled substance.

(A) In addition to the dispositions authorized or required under section 2152.20 of the Revised Code and to any costs otherwise authorized or required under any provision of law, the juvenile court making disposition of a child adjudicated a delinquent child for committing an act that would be a drug abuse offense if committed by an adult may order the child to pay to the state, municipal, or county law enforcement agencies that handled the investigation and prosecution all of the costs that the state, municipal corporation, or county reasonably incurred in having tests performed under section 2925.51 of the Revised Code or in any other manner on any substance that was the basis of, or involved in, the delinquent act to determine whether the substance contained any amount of a controlled substance if the results of the tests indicate that the substance tested contained any controlled substance. No court shall order a delinquent child under this section to pay the costs of tests performed on a substance if the results of the tests do not indicate that the substance tested contained any controlled substance.

The court shall hold a hearing to determine the amount of costs to be imposed under this section. The court may hold the hearing as part of the dispositional hearing for the child.

(B) As used in this section, "controlled substance" has the same meaning as in section 3719.01 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 151 v H 163, § 1, eff. 10-12-06.

§ 2152.21 Disposition of juvenile traffic offender.

(A) Unless division (C) of this section applies, if a child is adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender, the court may make any of the following orders of disposition:

(1) Impose costs and one or more financial sanctions in accordance with section 2152.20 of the Revised Code;

(2) Suspend the child's driver's license, probationary driver's license, or temporary instruction permit for a definite period not exceeding two years or suspend the registration of all motor vehicles registered in the name of the child for a definite period not exceeding two years. A child whose license or permit is so suspended is ineligible for issuance of a license or permit during the period of suspension. At the end of the period of suspension, the child shall not be reissued a license or permit until the child has paid any applicable reinstatement fee and complied with all requirements governing license reinstatement.

(3) Place the child on community control;

(4) If the child is adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender for an act other than an act that would be a minor misdemeanor if committed by an adult and other than an act that could be disposed of by the juvenile traffic violations bureau serving the court under Traffic Rule 13.1 if the court has established a juvenile traffic violations bureau, require the child to make restitution pursuant to division (A)(3) of section 2152.20 of the Revised Code;

(5)(a) If the child is adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender for committing a violation of division (A) of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code or of a municipal ordinance that is substantially equivalent to that division, commit the child, for not longer than five days, to either of the following:

(i) The temporary custody of a detention facility or district detention facility established under section 2152.41 of the Revised Code;

(ii) The temporary custody of any school, camp, institution, or other facility for children operated in whole or in part for the care of juvenile traffic offenders of that nature by the county, by a district organized under section 2151.65 or 2152.41 of the Revised Code, or by a private agency or organization within the state that is authorized and qualified to provide the care, treatment, or placement required.

(b) If an order of disposition committing a child to the temporary custody of a home, school, camp, institution, or other facility of that nature is made under division (A)(5)(a) of this section, the length of the commitment shall not be reduced or diminished as a credit for any time that the child was held in a place of detention or shelter care, or otherwise was detained, prior to entry of the order of disposition.

(6) If, after making a disposition under divisions (A)(1) to (5) of this section, the court finds upon further hearing that the child has failed to comply with the orders of the court and the child's operation of a motor vehicle constitutes the child a danger to the child and to others, the court may make any disposition authorized by divisions (A)(1), (3), (4), and (7) of section 2152.19 of the Revised Code, except that the child may not be committed to or placed in a secure correctional facility unless authorized by division (A) (5) of this section, and commitment to or placement in a detention facility may not exceed twenty-four hours.

(B) If a child is adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender for violating division (A) or (B) of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code, in addition to any order of disposition made under division (A) of this section, the court shall impose a class six suspension of the temporary instruction permit, probationary driver's license, or driver's license issued to the child from the range specified in Division (A)(6) of section 4510.02 of the revised code. The court, in its discretion, may terminate the suspension if, the child attends and satisfactorily completes a drug abuse or alcohol abuse education, intervention, or treatment program specified by the court. During the time the child is attending a program as described in this division, the court shall retain the child's temporary instruction permit, probationary driver's license, or driver's license issued, and the court shall return the permit or license if it terminated the suspension as described in this division.

(C) If a child is adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender for violating division (B)(1) of section 4513.263

[4513.26.3] of the Revised Code, the court shall impose the appropriate fine set forth in division (G) of that section. If a child is adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender for violating division (B)(3) of section 4513.263 [4513.26.3] of the Revised Code and if the child is sixteen years of age or older, the court shall impose the fine set forth in division (G)(2) of that section. If a child is adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender for violating division (B)(3) of section 4513.263 [4513.26.3] of the Revised Code and if the child is under sixteen years of age, the court shall not impose a fine but may place the child on probation or community control.

(D) A juvenile traffic offender is subject to sections 4509.01 to 4509.78 of the Revised Code.

Appeals

The judgment entry noting "restitution to be determined" was not a final appealable order: (decided under former analogous section) In re Zakov, 107 Ohio App. 3d 716, 669 N.E.2d 344 (1995).

Revised Code § 2501.02 grants the courts of appeals jurisdiction over appeals from juvenile court judgments and final orders rendered in juvenile traffic offender proceedings: (decided under former analogous section) In re Hartman, 2 Ohio St. 3d 154, 2 Ohio B. 699, 443 N.E.2d 516 (1983).

Driver's license

Testimony of the magistrate who had suspended defendant's license supported the trial court's finding to enhance his convictions of causing the death of another while operating a motor vehicle, under RC § R.C. § 2903.06(A)(3), and causing the death of another as a proximate result of committing a minor misdemeanor traffic violation, RC § 2903.06(A)(4). The magistrate testified that he suspended the license pursuant to RC § 2152.21, which did, in fact, authorize the juvenile court to suspend a juvenile's driver's license. State v. Daly, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6742, 2006 Ohio 6817, (2006).

The juvenile court has the authority to suspend a juvenile's driver license until the juvenile's twenty-first birthday: (decided under former analogous section) In re Mason, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 5757 (9th Dist. 1997).

Where appellant was charged only with reckless operation, that offense is not contemplated by RC § 4509.10.1 and accordingly, court lacked jurisdiction to suspend appellant's license for failure to provide proof of financial responsibility: (decided under former analogous section) In re Chapa, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 1716 (3rd Dist. 1996).

The driver's license of a juvenile who violates RC § 4511.19(B)(2) cannot be suspended past the juvenile's eighteenth birthday: (decided under former analogous section) In re Eric W., 113 Ohio App. 3d 367, 680 N.E.2d 1275 (1996).

Unless RC § 2151.35.6(A)(7) applies, a juvenile court may suspend a driver's license only until the offender's eighteenth birthday: (decided under former analogous section) State v. Minix, 101 Ohio App. 3d 380, 655 N.E.2d 789 (1995).

Fines

The language, "[a]ll fines collected from or moneys arising from bonds forfeited by persons apprehended or arrested by state highway patrolmen," appearing in RC § 5503.04, includes such fines or moneys when they are collected in probate and juvenile courts. An action in a juvenile court may be considered a "prosecution" for purposes of RC § 5503.04 [OAG No. 82-062 and 1943 OAG No. 6406, p.547 overruled to the extent that they are inconsistent with this opinion]: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 87-023 (1987).

Fines imposed upon juvenile traffic offenders pursuant to RC § 2151.35.6(A) must be paid to the general fund of the county treasury pursuant to RC § 2949.11 rather than to the county law library association pursuant to RC § 3375.52 or RC § 3375.53 (1943 OAG No. 6406, p.547, approved and followed in part): (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 82-062 (1982).

Pleadings

A complaint alleging a child to be a juvenile traffic offender is neither a criminal nor a civil proceeding: (decided under former analogous section) In re C., 43 Ohio Misc. 98, 72 Ohio Op. 2d 421, 334 N.E.2d 545 (JC 1975).

Restitution

When a minor is employed pursuant to a juvenile court restitution order, the arrangement is subject to RC Chapter 4109., except to the extent that it comes within the exceptions set forth in RC § 4109.06: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 87-104 (1987).

Time limits

The statutory speedy trial provisions of RC § 2945.71 et seq. do not apply to juvenile traffic offenders: (decided under former analogous section) State v. Reed, 54 Ohio App. 2d 193, 8 Ohio Op. 3d 333, 376 N.E.2d 609 (1977).

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) When a child is committed to the legal custody of the department of youth services under this chapter, the juvenile court relinquishes control with respect to the child so committed, except as provided in divisions (B), (C), and (G) of this section or in sections 2152.82 to 2152.85 of the Revised Code. Subject to divisions (B) and (C) of this section, sections 2151.353 [2151.35.3] and 2151.412 [2151.41.2] to 2151.421 [2151.42.1] of the Revised Code, sections 2152.82 to 2152.85 of the Revised Code, and any other provision of law that specifies a different duration for a dispositional order, all other dispositional orders made by the court under this chapter shall be temporary and shall continue for a period that is designated by the court in its order, until terminated or modified by the court or until the child attains twenty-one years of age.

The department shall not release the child from a department facility and as a result shall not discharge the child or order the child's release on supervised release prior to the expiration of the minimum period specified by the court in division (A)(1) of section 2152.16 of the Revised Code and any term of commitment imposed under section 2152.17 of the Revised Code or prior to the child's attainment of twenty-one years of age, except upon the order of a court pursuant to division (B) or (C) of this section or in accordance with section 5139.54 of the Revised Code.

(B)(1) The court that commits a delinquent child to the department may grant judicial release of the child to court supervision under this division during the first half of the prescribed minimum term for which the child was committed to the department or, if the child was committed to the department until the child attains twenty-one years of age, during the first half of the prescribed period of commitment that begins on the first day of commitment and ends on the child's twenty-first birthday, provided any commitment imposed under division (A), (B), (C), or (D) of section 2152.17 of the Revised Code has ended.

(2) If the department of youth services desires to release a child during a period specified in division (B)(1) of this section, it shall request the court that committed the child to grant a judicial release of the child to court supervision. During whichever of those periods is applicable, the child or the parents of the child also may request that court to grant a judicial release of the child to court supervision. Upon receipt of a request for a judicial release to court supervision from the department, the child, or the child's parent, or upon its own motion, the court that committed the child shall do one of the following: approve the release by journal entry; schedule within thirty days after the request is received a time for a hearing on whether the child is to be released; or reject the request by journal entry without conducting a hearing.

If the court rejects an initial request for a release under this division by the child or the child's parent, the child or the child's parent may make one additional request for a judicial release to court supervision within the applicable period. The additional request may be made no earlier than thirty days after the filing of the prior request for a judicial release to court supervision. Upon the filing of a second request for a judicial release to court supervision, the court shall either approve or disapprove the release by journal entry or schedule within thirty days after the request is received a time for a hearing on whether the child is to be released.

(3) If a court schedules a hearing under division (B)(2) of this section, it may order the department to deliver the child to the court on the date set for the hearing and may order the department to present to the court a report on the child's progress in the institution to which the child was committed and recommendations for conditions of supervision of the child by the court after release. The court may conduct the hearing without the child being present. The court shall determine at the hearing whether the child should be granted a judicial release to court supervision.

If the court approves the release, it shall order its staff to prepare a written treatment and rehabilitation plan for the child that may include any conditions of the child's release that were recommended by the department and approved by the court. The committing court shall send the juvenile court of the county in which the child is placed a copy of the recommended plan. The court of the county in which the child is placed may adopt the recommended conditions set by the committing court as an order of the court and may add any additional consistent conditions it considers appropriate. If a child is granted a judicial release to court supervision, the release discharges the child from the custody of the department of youth services.

(C)(1) The court that commits a delinquent child to the department may grant judicial release of the child to department of youth services supervision under this division during the second half of the prescribed minimum term for which the child was committed to the department or, if the child was committed to the department until the child attains twenty-one years of age, during the second half of the prescribed period of commitment that begins on the first day of commitment and ends on the child's twenty-first birthday, provided any commitment imposed under division (A), (B), (C), or (D) of section 2152.17 of the Revised Code has ended.

(2) If the department of youth services desires to release a child during a period specified in division (C)(1) of this section, it shall request the court that committed the child to grant a judicial release to department of youth services supervision. During whichever of those periods is applicable, the child or the child's parent also may request the court that committed the child to grant a judicial release to department of youth services supervision. Upon receipt of a request for judicial release to department of youth services supervision, the child, or the child's parent, or upon its own motion at any time during that period, the court shall do one of the following: approve the release by journal entry; schedule a time within thirty days after receipt of the request for a hearing on whether the child is to be released; or reject the request by journal entry without conducting a hearing.

If the court rejects an initial request for release under this division by the child or the child's parent, the child or the child's parent may make one or more subsequent requests for a release within the applicable period, but may make no more than one request during each period of ninety days that the child is in a secure department facility after the filing of a prior request for early release. Upon the filing of a request for release under this division subsequent to an initial request, the court shall either approve or disapprove the release by journal entry or schedule a time within thirty days after receipt of the request for a hearing on whether the child is to be released.

(3) If a court schedules a hearing under division (C)(2) of this section, it may order the department to deliver the child to the court on the date set for the hearing and shall order the department to present to the court at that time a treatment plan for the child's post-institutional care. The court may conduct the hearing without the child being present. The court shall determine at the hearing whether the child should be granted a judicial release to department of youth services supervision.

If the court approves the judicial release to department of youth services supervision, the department shall prepare a written treatment and rehabilitation plan for the child pursuant to division (E) of this section that shall include the conditions of the child's release. It shall send the committing court and the juvenile court of the county in which the child is placed a copy of the plan. The court of the county in which the child is placed may adopt the conditions set by the department as an order of the court and may add any additional consistent conditions it considers appropriate, provided that the court may not add any condition that decreases the level or degree of supervision specified by the department in its plan, that substantially increases the financial burden of supervision that will be experienced by the department, or that alters the placement specified by the department in its plan. If the court of the county in which the child is placed adds to the department's plan any additional conditions, it shall enter those additional conditions in its journal and shall send to the department a copy of the journal entry of the additional conditions.

If the court approves the judicial release to department of youth services supervision, the actual date on which the department shall release the child is contingent upon the department finding a suitable placement for the child. If the child is to be returned to the child's home, the department shall return the child on the date that the court schedules for the child's release or shall bear the expense of any additional time that the child remains in a department facility. If the child is unable to return to the child's home, the department shall exercise reasonable diligence in finding a suitable placement for the child, and the child shall remain in a department facility while the department finds the suitable placement.

(D) If a child is released under division (B) or (C) of this section and the court of the county in which the child is placed has reason to believe that the child's department is not in accordance with the conditions of the child's judicial release, the court of the county in which the child is placed shall schedule a time for a hearing to determine whether the child violated any of the post-release conditions, and, if the child was released under division (C) of this section, divisions (A) to (E) of section 5139.52 of the Revised Code apply regarding the child.

If that court determines at the hearing that the child violated any of the post-release conditions, the court, if it determines that the violation was a serious violation, may order the child to be returned to the department for institutionalization, consistent with the original order of commitment of the child, or in any case may make any other disposition of the child authorized by law that the court considers proper. If the court of the county in which the child is placed orders the child to be returned to a department of youth services institution, the time during which the child was held in a secure department facility prior to the child's judicial release shall be considered as time served in fulfilling the prescribed period of institutionalization that is applicable to the child under the child's original order of commitment. If the court orders the child returned to a department institution, the child shall remain in institutional care for a minimum of three months or until the child successfully completes a revocation program of a duration of not less than thirty days operated either by the department or by an entity with which the department has contracted to provide a revocation program.

(E) The department of youth services, prior to the release of a child pursuant to division (C) of this section, shall do all of the following:

(1) After reviewing the child's rehabilitative progress history and medical and educational records, prepare a written treatment and rehabilitation plan for the child that includes conditions of the release;

(2) Completely discuss the conditions of the plan prepared pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section and the possible penalties for violation of the plan with the child and the child's parents, guardian, or legal custodian;

(3) Have the plan prepared pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section signed by the child, the child's parents, legal guardian, or custodian, and any authority or person that is to supervise, control, and provide supportive assistance to the child at the time of the child's release pursuant to division (C) of this section;

(4) Prior to the child's release, file a copy of the treatment plan prepared pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section with the committing court and the juvenile court of the county in which the child is to be placed.

(F) The department of youth services shall file a written progress report with the committing court regarding each child released pursuant to division (C) of this section at least once every thirty days unless specifically directed otherwise by the court. The report shall indicate the treatment and rehabilitative progress of the child and the child's family, if applicable, and shall include any suggestions for altering the program, custody, living arrangements, or treatment. The department shall retain legal custody of a child so released until it discharges the child or until the custody is terminated as otherwise provided by law.

(G) When a child is committed to the legal custody of the department of youth services, the court retains jurisdiction to perform the functions specified in section 5139.51 of the Revised Code with respect to the granting of supervised release by the release authority and to perform the functions specified in section 5139.52 of the Revised Code with respect to violations of the conditions of supervised release granted by the release authority and to the revocation of supervised release granted by the release authority.

(A) When a child is committed to the legal custody of the department of youth services under this chapter, the juvenile court relinquishes control with respect to the child so committed, except as provided in divisions (B), (C), and (G) of this section or in sections 2152.82 to 2152.86 of the Revised Code. Subject to divisions (B) and (C) of this section, sections 2151.353 [2151.35.3] and 2151.412 [2151.41.2] to 2151.421 [2151.42.1] of the Revised Code, sections 2152.82 to 2152.86 of the Revised Code, and any other provision of law that specifies a different duration for a dispositional order, all other dispositional orders made by the court under this chapter shall be temporary and shall continue for a period that is designated by the court in its order, until terminated or modified by the court or until the child attains twenty-one years of age.

The department shall not release the child from a department facility and as a result shall not discharge the child or order the child's release on supervised release prior to the expiration of the minimum period specified by the court in division (A)(1) of section 2152.16 of the Revised Code and any term of commitment imposed under section 2152.17 of the Revised Code or prior to the child's attainment of twenty-one years of age, except upon the order of a court pursuant to division (B) or (C) of this section or in accordance with section 5139.54 of the Revised Code.

(B)(1) The court that commits a delinquent child to the department may grant judicial release of the child to court supervision under this division during the first half of the prescribed minimum term for which the child was committed to the department or, if the child was committed to the department until the child attains twenty-one years of age, during the first half of the prescribed period of commitment that begins on the first day of commitment and ends on the child's twenty-first birthday, provided any commitment imposed under division (A), (B), (C), or (D) of section 2152.17 of the Revised Code has ended.

(2) If the department of youth services desires to release a child during a period specified in division (B)(1) of this section, it shall request the court that committed the child to grant a judicial release of the child to court supervision. During whichever of those periods is applicable, the child or the parents of the child also may request that court to grant a judicial release of the child to court supervision. Upon receipt of a request for a judicial release to court supervision from the department, the child, or the child's parent, or upon its own motion, the court that committed the child shall do one of the following: approve the release by journal entry; schedule within thirty days after the request is received a time for a hearing on whether the child is to be released; or reject the request by journal entry without conducting a hearing.

If the court rejects an initial request for a release under this division by the child or the child's parent, the child or the child's parent may make one additional request for a judicial release to court supervision within the applicable period. The additional request may be made no earlier than thirty days after the filing of the prior request for a judicial release to court supervision. Upon the filing of a second request for a judicial release to court supervision, the court shall either approve or disapprove the release by journal entry or schedule within thirty days after the request is received a time for a hearing on whether the child is to be released.

(3) If a court schedules a hearing under division (B)(2) of this section, it may order the department to deliver the child to the court on the date set for the hearing and may order the department to present to the court a report on the child's progress in the institution to which the child was committed and recommendations for conditions of supervision of the child by the court after release. The court may conduct the hearing without the child being present. The court shall determine at the hearing whether the child should be granted a judicial release to court supervision.

If the court approves the release, it shall order its staff to prepare a written treatment and rehabilitation plan for the child that may include any conditions of the child's release that were recommended by the department and approved by the court. The committing court shall send the juvenile court of the county in which the child is placed a copy of the recommended plan. The court of the county in which the child is placed may adopt the recommended conditions set by the committing court as an order of the court and may add any additional consistent conditions it considers appropriate. If a child is granted a judicial release to court supervision, the release discharges the child from the custody of the department of youth services.

(C)(1) The court that commits a delinquent child to the department may grant judicial release of the child to department of youth services supervision under this division during the second half of the prescribed minimum term for which the child was committed to the department or, if the child was committed to the department until the child attains twenty-one years of age, during the second half of the prescribed period of commitment that begins on the first day of commitment and ends on the child's twenty-first birthday, provided any commitment imposed under division (A), (B), (C), or (D) of section 2152.17 of the Revised Code has ended.

(2) If the department of youth services desires to release a child during a period specified in division (C)(1) of this section, it shall request the court that committed the child to grant a judicial release to department of youth services supervision. During whichever of those periods is applicable, the child or the child's parent also may request the court that committed the child to grant a judicial release to department of youth services supervision. Upon receipt of a request for judicial release to department of youth services supervision, the child, or the child's parent, or upon its own motion at any time during that period, the court shall do one of the following: approve the release by journal entry; schedule a time within thirty days after receipt of the request for a hearing on whether the child is to be released; or reject the request by journal entry without conducting a hearing.

If the court rejects an initial request for release under this division by the child or the child's parent, the child or the child's parent may make one or more subsequent requests for a release within the applicable period, but may make no more than one request during each period of ninety days that the child is in a secure department facility after the filing of a prior request for early release. Upon the filing of a request for release under this division subsequent to an initial request, the court shall either approve or disapprove the release by journal entry or schedule a time within thirty days after receipt of the request for a hearing on whether the child is to be released.

(3) If a court schedules a hearing under division (C)(2) of this section, it may order the department to deliver the child to the court on the date set for the hearing and shall order the department to present to the court at that time a treatment plan for the child's post-institutional care. The court may conduct the hearing without the child being present. The court shall determine at the hearing whether the child should be granted a judicial release to department of youth services supervision.

If the court approves the judicial release to department of youth services supervision, the department shall prepare a written treatment and rehabilitation plan for the child pursuant to division (E) of this section that shall include the conditions of the child's release. It shall send the committing court and the juvenile court of the county in which the child is placed a copy of the plan. The court of the county in which the child is placed may adopt the conditions set by the department as an order of the court and may add any additional consistent conditions it considers appropriate, provided that the court may not add any condition that decreases the level or degree of supervision specified by the department in its plan, that substantially increases the financial burden of supervision that will be experienced by the department, or that alters the placement specified by the department in its plan. If the court of the county in which the child is placed adds to the department's plan any additional conditions, it shall enter those additional conditions in its journal and shall send to the department a copy of the journal entry of the additional conditions.

If the court approves the judicial release to department of youth services supervision, the actual date on which the department shall release the child is contingent upon the department finding a suitable placement for the child. If the child is to be returned to the child's home, the department shall return the child on the date that the court schedules for the child's release or shall bear the expense of any additional time that the child remains in a department facility. If the child is unable to return to the child's home, the department shall exercise reasonable diligence in finding a suitable placement for the child, and the child shall remain in a department facility while the department finds the suitable placement.

(D) If a child is released under division (B) or (C) of this section and the court of the county in which the child is placed has reason to believe that the child's department is not in accordance with the conditions of the child's judicial release, the court of the county in which the child is placed shall schedule a time for a hearing to determine whether the child violated any of the post-release conditions, and, if the child was released under division (C) of this section, divisions (A) to (E) of section 5139.52 of the Revised Code apply regarding the child.

If that court determines at the hearing that the child violated any of the post-release conditions, the court, if it determines that the violation was a serious violation, may order the child to be returned to the department for institutionalization, consistent with the original order of commitment of the child, or in any case may make any other disposition of the child authorized by law that the court considers proper. If the court of the county in which the child is placed orders the child to be returned to a department of youth services institution, the time during which the child was held in a secure department facility prior to the child's judicial release shall be considered as time served in fulfilling the prescribed period of institutionalization that is applicable to the child under the child's original order of commitment. If the court orders the child returned to a department institution, the child shall remain in institutional care for a minimum of three months or until the child successfully completes a revocation program of a duration of not less than thirty days operated either by the department or by an entity with which the department has contracted to provide a revocation program.

(E) The department of youth services, prior to the release of a child pursuant to division (C) of this section, shall do all of the following:

(1) After reviewing the child's rehabilitative progress history and medical and educational records, prepare a written treatment and rehabilitation plan for the child that includes conditions of the release;

(2) Completely discuss the conditions of the plan prepared pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section and the possible penalties for violation of the plan with the child and the child's parents, guardian, or legal custodian;

(3) Have the plan prepared pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section signed by the child, the child's parents, legal guardian, or custodian, and any authority or person that is to supervise, control, and provide supportive assistance to the child at the time of the child's release pursuant to division (C) of this section;

(4) Prior to the child's release, file a copy of the treatment plan prepared pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section with the committing court and the juvenile court of the county in which the child is to be placed.

(F) The department of youth services shall file a written progress report with the committing court regarding each child released pursuant to division (C) of this section at least once every thirty days unless specifically directed otherwise by the court. The report shall indicate the treatment and rehabilitative progress of the child and the child's family, if applicable, and shall include any suggestions for altering the program, custody, living arrangements, or treatment. The department shall retain legal custody of a child so released until it discharges the child or until the custody is terminated as otherwise provided by law.

(G) When a child is committed to the legal custody of the department of youth services, the court retains jurisdiction to perform the functions specified in section 5139.51 of the Revised Code with respect to the granting of supervised release by the release authority and to perform the functions specified in section 5139.52 of the Revised Code with respect to violations of the conditions of supervised release granted by the release authority and to the revocation of supervised release granted by the release authority.

CASE NOTES AND OAG

INDEX

Early release
Jurisdiction

Early release

Former RC § 2151.38 did not preclude early release where the juvenile was serving a term of commitment on a firearm specification: In re Howard, 150 Ohio App. 3d 1, 778 N.E.2d 1106, 2002 Ohio 6004, (2002).

Jurisdiction

Trial court had the authority to grant judicial release and require court supervision over a juvenile defendant under RC § 2152.22(B)(1) because the trial court's order granting judicial release fell within the first half of the prescribed minimum term defendant was committed to the youth services department. The trial court maintained jurisdiction over defendant as seen by the fact that it addressed placement for defendant in its journal entries granting judicial release. In re G.S., 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3042, 2006 Ohio 3161, (2006).

§ 2152.26 Place of detention.

(A) Except as provided in divisions (B) and (F) of this section, a child alleged to be or adjudicated a delinquent child or a juvenile traffic offender may be held only in the following places:

(1) A certified foster home or a home approved by the court;

(2) A facility operated by a certified child welfare agency;

(3) Any other suitable place designated by the court.

(B) In addition to the places listed in division (A) of this section, a child alleged to be or adjudicated a delinquent child may be held in a detention facility for delinquent children that is under the direction or supervision of the court or other public authority or of a private agency and approved by the court and a child adjudicated a delinquent child may be held in accordance with division (F)(2) of this section in a facility of a type specified in that division. Division (B) of this section does not apply to a child alleged to be or adjudicated a delinquent child for chronic truancy, unless the child violated a lawful court order made pursuant to division (A)(6) of section 2152.19 of the Revised Code. Division (B) of this section also does not apply to a child alleged to be or adjudicated a delinquent child for being an habitual truant who previously has been adjudicated an unruly child for being an habitual truant, unless the child violated a lawful court order made pursuant to division (C)(1)(e) of section 2151.354 [2151.35.4] of the Revised Code.

(C)(1) Except as provided under division (C)(1) of section 2151.311 [2151.31.1] of the Revised Code or division (A)(5) of section 2152.21 of the Revised Code, a child alleged to be or adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender may not be held in any of the following facilities:

(a) A state correctional institution, county, multicounty, or municipal jail or workhouse, or other place in which an adult convicted of crime, under arrest, or charged with a crime is held.

(b) A secure correctional facility.

(2) Except as provided under this section, sections 2151.56 to 2151.61, and divisions (A)(5) and (6) of section 2152.21 of the Revised Code, a child alleged to be or adjudicated a juvenile traffic offender may not be held for more than twenty-four hours in a detention facility.

(D) Except as provided in division (F) of this section or in division (C) of section 2151.311 [2151.31.1], in division (C)(2) of section 5139.06 and section 5120.162 [5120.16.2], or in division (B) of section 5120.16 of the Revised Code, a child who is alleged to be or is adjudicated a delinquent child may not be held in a state correctional institution, county, multicounty, or municipal jail or workhouse, or other place where an adult convicted of crime, under arrest, or charged with crime is held.

(E) Unless the detention is pursuant to division (F) of this section or division (C) of section 2151.311 [2151.31.1], division (C)(2) of section 5139.06 and section 5120.162 [5120.16.2], or division (B) of section 5120.16 of the Revised Code, the official in charge of the institution, jail, workhouse, or other facility shall inform the court immediately when a child, who is or appears to be under the age of eighteen years, is received at the facility, and shall deliver the child to the court upon request or transfer the child to a detention facility designated by the court.

(F)(1) If a case is transferred to another court for criminal prosecution pursuant to section 2152.12 of the Revised Code, the child may be transferred for detention pending the criminal prosecution in a jail or other facility in accordance with the law governing the detention of persons charged with crime. Any child so held shall be confined in a manner that keeps the child beyond the range of touch of all adult detainees. The child shall be supervised at all times during the detention.

(2) If a person is adjudicated a delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender and the court makes a disposition of the person under this chapter, at any time after the person attains eighteen years of age, the person may be held under that disposition in places other than those specified in division (A) of this section, including, but not limited to, a county, multicounty, or municipal jail or workhouse, or other place where an adult convicted of crime, under arrest, or charged with crime is held.

(3)(a) A person alleged to be a delinquent child may be held in places other than those specified in division (A) of this section, including, but not limited to, a county, multicounty, or municipal jail, if the delinquent act that the child allegedly committed would be a felony if committed by an adult, and if either of the following applies:

(i) The person attains eighteen years of age before the person is arrested or apprehended for that act.

(ii) The person is arrested or apprehended for that act before the person attains eighteen years of age, but the person attains eighteen years of age before the court orders a disposition in the case.

(b) If, pursuant to division (F)(3)(a) of this section, a person is held in a place other than a place specified in division (A) of this section, the person has the same rights to bail as an adult charged with the same offense who is confined in a jail pending trial.

§ 2152.41 County or district detention facility; temporary boarding in private homes.

(A) Upon the recommendation of the judge, the board of county commissioners shall provide, by purchase, lease, construction, or otherwise, a detention facility that shall be within a convenient distance of the juvenile court. The facility shall not be used for the confinement of adults charged with criminal offenses. The facility may be used to detain alleged delinquent children until final disposition for evaluation pursuant to section 2152.04 of the Revised Code, to confine children who are adjudicated delinquent children and placed in the facility pursuant to division (A)(3) of section 2152.19 of the Revised Code, and to confine children who are adjudicated juvenile traffic offenders and committed to the facility under division (A)(5) or (6) of section 2152.21 of the Revised Code.

(B) Upon the joint recommendation of the juvenile judges of two or more neighboring counties, the boards of county commissioners of the counties shall form themselves into a joint board and proceed to organize a district for the establishment and support of a detention facility for the use of the juvenile courts of those counties, in which alleged delinquent children may be detained as provided in division (A) of this section, by using a site or buildings already established in one of the counties or by providing for the purchase of a site and the erection of the necessary buildings on the site.

A child who is adjudicated to be a juvenile traffic offender for having committed a violation of division (A) of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code or of a municipal ordinance that is substantially comparable to that division may be confined in a detention facility or district detention facility pursuant to division (A)(5) of section 2152.21 of the Revised Code, provided the child is kept separate and apart from alleged delinquent children.

Except as otherwise provided by law, district detention facilities shall be established, operated, maintained, and managed in the same manner so far as applicable as county detention facilities.

Members of the board of county commissioners who meet by appointment to consider the organization of a district detention home, upon presentation of properly certified accounts, shall be paid their necessary expenses upon a warrant drawn by the county auditor of their county.

The county auditor of the county having the greatest population or, with the unanimous concurrence of the county auditors of the counties composing a district, the auditor of the county in which the detention facility is located shall be the fiscal officer of a detention facility district. The county auditors of the several counties composing a detention facility district shall meet at the district detention facility, not less than once in six months, to review accounts and to transact any other duties in connection with the institution that pertain to the business of their office.

(C) In any county in which there is no detention facility or that is not served by a district detention facility, the juvenile court may enter into a contract, subject to the approval of the board of county commissioners, with another juvenile court, another county's detention facility, or a joint county detention facility. Alternately, the board of county commissioners shall provide funds for the boarding of children, who would be eligible for detention under division (A) of this section, temporarily in private homes or in certified foster homes approved by the court for a period not exceeding sixty days or until final disposition of their cases, whichever comes first. The court also may arrange with any public children services agency or private child placing agency to receive, or private noncustodial agency for temporary care of, children within the jurisdiction of the court.

If the court arranges for the board of children temporarily detained in certified foster homes or through any private child placing agency, the county shall pay a reasonable sum to be fixed by the court for the board of those children. In order to have certified foster homes available for service, an agreed monthly subsidy may be paid and a fixed rate per day for care of children actually residing in the certified foster home.

(D) The board of county commissioners of any county within a detention facility district, upon the recommendation of the juvenile court of that county, may withdraw from the district and sell or lease its right, title, and interest in the site, buildings, furniture, and equipment of the facility to any counties in the district, at any price and upon any such terms that are agreed upon among the boards of county commissioners of the counties concerned. Section 307.10 of the Revised Code does not apply to this division. The net proceeds of any sale or lease under this division shall be paid into the treasury of the withdrawing county.

The members of the board of trustees of a district detention facility who are residents of a county withdrawing from the district are deemed to have resigned their positions upon the completion of the withdrawal procedure provided by this division. The vacancies then created shall be filled as provided in this section.

(E) The children to be admitted for care in a county or district detention facility established under this section, the period during which they shall be cared for in the facility, and the removal and transfer of children from the facility shall be determined by the juvenile court that ordered the child's detention.

County commissioners

Impossibility of performance is a viable defense to a complaint for mandamus seeking to compel county commissioners to provide a juvenile detention facility: (decided under former analogous section) State ex rel. Johns v. Richland County, 29 Ohio St. 2d 6, 58 Ohio Op. 2d 65, 278 N.E.2d 19 (1972).

This section provides that no child under eighteen shall be placed in or committed to any prison, jail, or lockup; and such section provides further that it is the mandatory duty of the county commissioners of each county, upon the advice and recommendation of the juvenile judge, to provide a separate juvenile detention home for the detention of juveniles under the jurisdiction of the juvenile courts: (decided under former analogous section) Garland v. Dustman, 19 Ohio App. 2d 292, 48 Ohio Op. 2d 408, 251 N.E.2d 153 (1969).

This section, which requires that, "upon the advice and recommendation of the judge, the board of county commissioners shall provide, by purchase, lease, construction, or otherwise, a place to be known as a detention home," is mandatory, and a writ of mandamus will issue to compel the board to exercise its discretion in making provision for such home: (decided under former analogous section) State ex rel. Ray v. South, 176 Ohio St. 241, 27 Ohio Op. 2d 133, 198 N.E.2d 919 (1964).

Where a joint board of county commissioners is created for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a multicounty detention and treatment facility for the training and treatment of juveniles, the joint board of county commissioners may employ legal counsel: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 83-064 (1983).

Where a joint board of county commissioners is created for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a multicounty detention and treatment facility for the training and treatment of juveniles, the county prosecuting attorneys of the participating counties have no duty to provide legal counsel for the joint board of county commissioners: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 83-064 (1983).

Where, under this section a juvenile judge of a county, on January 6, 1959, advised and recommended that a detention home be provided at a certain location and the board of county commissioners has taken no action in this regard for two years, the advice and recommendation for the establishment of a detention home are still in effect. The board, while not being required to follow the specific recommendations as to location, has a mandatory duty to provide a detention home within a convenient distance of the juvenile court: (decided under former analogous section) 1961 OAG No. 2034 (1961).

False imprisonment

Where a county has no separate juvenile detention home as provided in this section, and the only facility for the detention of juveniles, as ordered and authorized by the juvenile judge, is a juvenile ward which is separated and secluded from the adult sections but is located in the county jail; and where, pursuant to verbal directions by the chief probation officer of the juvenile court, an eight-year-old boy, in the company of his father who was arrested by deputy sheriffs at 1:30 a.m., is placed by the deputy sheriffs, together with his father, in the juvenile ward in the county jail until the mother of the boy could come to take the boy home; and where the boy and his father are in the juvenile ward in the county jail for approximately one-and-one half hours when the mother arrived and took the boy home; the sheriff of the county is not liable in damages in an action for false imprisonment, brought by the mother on behalf of the boy, for the detention of the boy placed in the juvenile ward by his deputy sheriffs under the specific directions of the chief probation officer of the juvenile court: (decided under former analogous section) Garland v. Dustman, 19 Ohio App. 2d 292, 48 Ohio Op. 2d 408, 251 N.E.2d 153 (1969).

Investigation of child abuse, neglect

Public children services agencies are authorized to investigate reports of alleged child abuse or neglect or threats of child abuse or neglect at detention homes established pursuant to RC § 2151.34, at the Ohio Veterans' Children's Home operated pursuant to RC Chapter 5909., and at public school operating under standards set by the State Board of Education pursuant to RC Chapter 3301.: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 89-108 (1989).

Prior law

A final order of disposition of a child found to be delinquent, as prescribed by RC § 2151.35.5, may not include, as punishment or otherwise, confinement (or detention) in a juvenile detention home: (decided under former analogous section) In re Bolden, 37 Ohio App. 2d 7, 66 Ohio Op. 2d 26, 306 N.E.2d 166 (1973).

This section, providing that no child under eighteen years of age shall be placed in any prison, jail or lock-up is mandatory and the county jail being a prison, within the meaning and inhibition of such section, the imprisonment of a child under eighteen years of age in such county jail is contrary to law: (decided under former analogous section) In re Karnes, 67 Ohio L. Ab. 449, 121 N.E.2d 156 (App 1953).

Amended House Bill No. 1196, effective August 9, 1976, does not operate to prohibit the commingling of pre-adjudicated and post-adjudicated youth confined in a district detention home. The Ohio Youth Commission may pursuant to RC § 5139.28.1 adopt a rule requiring the separation of an adjudicated delinquent where extraordinary circumstances make such separation necessary for the care, treatment or training of such youth, or where necessary to insure the safety of that youth, or any other youth in the detention home: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 77-006 (1977).

If the county adult detention facility is designed with a space which is enclosed on all sides, that is distinct, set apart and disconnected so that no child over the age of fifteen placed in that space will come in contact or communication with any adult convicted of or arrested for a crime and the public interest and safety require the detention of such child when a delinquent detention facility is not available, the use of such adult facility is authorized by the Revised Code: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 70-015 (1970).

A judge of a juvenile court may not commit a child who has been found to be a delinquent child, or a juvenile traffic offender, to the county jail upon the failure, refusal, or inability of such child to pay a fine and court costs: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 70-143 (1970).

If a district detention home is established pursuant to this section, the board of county commissioners of each participating county shall provide for its proportionate share of the costs of establishing, maintaining, and supporting the detention home: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 66-173 (1966).

A detention home provided by authority of this section is for the detention of "delinquent, dependent, neglected children, or juvenile traffic offenders... until final disposition": (decided under former analogous section) 1963 OAG No. 553 (1963).

Pursuant to this section a juvenile detention home is a place not used for the confinement of adult persons. Such a home should be separate and apart from buildings in which adult persons are confined. Accordingly, such a juvenile detention home may not properly be established in a county jail, even though one complete floor of the jail would be used for such purpose and the intention would be to keep the one floor separate and apart from the rest of the jail: (decided under former analogous section) 1962 OAG No. 2814 (1962).

School districts

Revised Code § 2151.35.7 does not require the school district of residence of a child placed in a detention home by a juvenile court to pay the cost of nonacademic summer activities provided for the child by the detention home: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 85-028 (1985).

Pursuant to RC § 2151.35.7, when a child is placed in a detention home established under RC § 2151.34, the child's school district, as determined by the court, is responsible for paying the cost of the education of the child (1963 OAG No. 553, p.552, and No. 261, p.326, overruled to the extent that they are inconsistent with this conclusion): (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 80-101 (1980).

§ 2152.42 Superintendent of facility; employees; educational and recreational programs; medical and mental health services.

(A) Any detention facility established under section 2152.41 of the Revised Code shall be under the direction of a superintendent. The superintendent shall be appointed by, and under the direction of, the judge or judges or, for a district facility, the board of trustees of the facility. The superintendent serves at the pleasure of the juvenile court or, in a district detention facility, at the pleasure of the board of trustees.

Before commencing work as superintendent, the person appointed shall obtain a bond, with sufficient surety, conditioned upon the full and faithful accounting of the funds and properties under the superintendent's control.

The superintendent, under the supervision and subject to the rules and regulations of the board, shall control, manage, operate, and have general charge of the facility and shall have the custody of its property, files, and records.

(B) For a county facility, the superintendent shall appoint all employees of the facility, who shall be in the unclassified civil service. The salaries shall be paid as provided by section 2151.13 of the Revised Code for other employees of the court, and the necessary expenses incurred in maintaining the facility shall be paid by the county.

For a district facility, the superintendent shall appoint other employees of the facility and fix their compensation, subject to approval of the board of trustees. Employees of a district facility, except for the superintendent, shall be in the classified civil service.

(C) During the school year, when possible, a comparable educational program with competent and trained staff shall be provided for children of school age who are in the facility. A sufficient number of trained recreational personnel shall be included among the staff. Medical and mental health services shall be made available.

CASE NOTES AND OAG

Employees of facility

The administrative judge of the juvenile division has the authority to terminate at will the employment of employees of a juvenile detention center: (decided under former analogous section) Abbott v. Stepanik, 64 Ohio App. 3d 719, 582 N.E.2d 1082 (1990).

In case a juvenile detention home is established, it is under the supervision of the juvenile judge who also has the sole authority to appoint necessary employees for such home. The county, through the board of county commissioners, has a duty to provide sufficient funds for the operation of the home: (decided under former analogous section) 1961 OAG No. 2034 (1961).

§ 2152.43 Application to department for assistance; funding of facility through taxes, gifts or other means.

(A) A board of county commissioners that provides a detention facility and the board of trustees of a district detention facility may apply to the department of youth services under section 5139.281 [5139.28.1] of the Revised Code for assistance in defraying the cost of operating and maintaining the facility. The application shall be made on forms prescribed and furnished by the department.

The board of county commissioners of each county that participates in a district detention facility may apply to the department of youth services for assistance in defraying the county's share of the cost of acquisition or construction of the facility, as provided in section 5139.271 [5139.27.1] of the Revised Code. Application shall be made in accordance with rules adopted by the department. No county shall be reimbursed for expenses incurred in the acquisition or construction of a district detention facility that serves a district having a population of less than one hundred thousand.

(B)(1) The joint boards of county commissioners of district detention facilities shall defray all necessary expenses of the facility not paid from funds made available under section 5139.281 [5139.28.1] of the Revised Code, through annual assessments of taxes, through gifts, or through other means.

If any county withdraws from a district under division (D) of section 2152.41 of the Revised Code, it shall continue to have levied against its tax duplicate any tax levied by the district during the period in which the county was a member of the district for current operating expenses, permanent improvements, or the retirement of bonded indebtedness. The levy shall continue to be a levy against the tax duplicate of the county until the time that it expires or is renewed.

(2) The current expenses of maintaining the facility not paid from funds made available under section 5139.281 [5139.28.1] of the Revised Code or division (C) of this section, and the cost of ordinary repairs to the facility, shall be paid by each county in accordance with one of the following methods as approved by the joint board of county commissioners:

(a) In proportion to the number of children from that county who are maintained in the facility during the year;

(b) By a levy submitted by the joint board of county commissioners under division (A) of section 5705.19 of the Revised Code and approved by the electors of the district;

(c) In proportion to the taxable property of each county, as shown by its tax duplicate;

(d) In any other method agreed upon by unanimous vote of the joint board of county commissioners.

(C) When any person donates or bequeaths any real or personal property to a county or district detention facility, the juvenile court or the trustees of the facility may accept and use the gift, consistent with the best interest of the institution and the conditions of the gift.

Until the juvenile judge or juvenile judges advise and recommend the establishment of a county or a district detention home, pursuant to this section, there is no legal authority to levy a tax for that purpose. There is no statutory authority for a tax levy in the alternative. Revised Code §§ 5705.19, 5705.25: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 66-173 (1966).

(A) As soon as practical after the organization of the joint board of county commissioners as provided by section 2152.41 of the Revised Code, the joint board shall appoint a board of not less than five trustees. The board shall hold office until the first annual meeting after the choice of an established site and buildings, or after the selection and purchase of a building site. At that time, the joint board of county commissioners shall appoint a board of not less than five trustees, one of whom shall hold office for a term of one year, one for a term of two years, one for a term of three years, half of the remaining number for a term of four years, and the remainder for a term of five years. Annually thereafter, the joint board of county commissioners shall appoint one or more trustees, each of whom shall hold office for a term of five years, to succeed the trustee or trustees whose term of office expires. A trustee may be appointed to successive terms. Any person appointed as a trustee shall be recommended and approved by the juvenile court judge or judges of the county of which the person resides.

At least one trustee shall reside in each county in the district. In districts composed of two counties, each county shall be entitled to not less than two trustees. In districts composed of more than four counties, the number of trustees shall be sufficiently increased, provided that there shall always be an uneven number of trustees on the board. The county in which a district detention facility is located shall have not less than two trustees, who, in the interim period between the regular meetings of the trustees, shall act as an executive committee in the discharge of all business pertaining to the facility.

The joint board of county commissioners may remove any trustee for good cause. The trustee appointed to fill any vacancy shall hold the office for the unexpired term of the predecessor trustee.

(B) The annual meeting of the board of trustees shall be held on the first Tuesday in May in each year.

A majority of the board constitutes a quorum. Other board meetings shall be held at least quarterly. The juvenile court judge of each county of the district, or the judge's designee, shall attend the meetings. The members of the board shall receive no compensation for their services, except their actual and necessary expenses. The treasurer shall pay the member's traveling expenses when properly certified.

(C) When the board of trustees does not choose an established institution in one of the counties of the district, it may select a suitable site for the erection of a district detention facility. The site must be easily accessible, conducive to health, economy in purchasing or in building, and the general interest of the facility and its residents, and be as near as practicable to the geographical center of the district.

In the interim between the selection and purchase of a site, and the erection and occupancy of the district detention facility, the joint board of county commissioners provided under section 2152.41 of the Revised Code may delegate to the board of trustees any powers and duties that, in its judgment, will be of general interest or aid to the institution. The joint board of county commissioners may appropriate a trustees' fund, to be expended by the trustees for contracts, purchases, or other necessary expenses of the facility. The trustees shall make a complete settlement with the joint board of county commissioners once each six months, or quarterly if required, and shall make to the board of county commissioners and to the juvenile court of each of the counties a full report of the condition of the facility and residents.

(D) The choice of an established site and buildings, or the purchase of a site, stock, implements, and general farm equipment, should there be a farm, the erection of buildings, and the completion and furnishing of the district detention facility for occupancy, shall be in the hands of the joint board of county commissioners organized under section 2152.41 of the Revised Code. The joint board of county commissioners may delegate all or a portion of these duties to the board of trustees, under any restrictions that the joint board of county commissioners imposes.

When an established site and buildings are used for a district detention facility, the joint board of county commissioners shall cause the value of that site and those buildings to be properly appraised. This appraisal value, or in case of the purchase of a site, the purchase price and the cost of all improvements thereto, shall be paid by the counties comprising the district, in proportion to the taxable property of each county, as shown by its tax duplicate.

(E) Once a district is established, the trustees shall operate, maintain, and manage the facility as provided in sections 2152.41 to 2152.43 of the Revised Code and, on and after the effective date of this amendment and notwithstanding any provision of the Revised Code to the contrary, may adopt bylaws regarding the daily operation, maintenance, and management of the facility. No bylaw adopted pursuant to this division may supersede any provision of the Revised Code.

Compatibility of provisions

There is nothing to preclude a juvenile court judge from being appointed a member of a board of trustees of a district detention home, if it is physically possible for one person to discharge the duties of both positions: (decided under former analogous section) OAG No. 66-112 (1966).

§ 2152.61 Orders controlling conduct of parent, guardian or other custodian.

(A) In any proceeding in which a child has been adjudicated a delinquent child or a juvenile traffic offender, on the application of a party or the court's own motion, the court may make an order restraining or otherwise controlling the conduct of any parent, guardian, or other custodian in the relationship of the individual to the child if the court finds that an order of that type necessary to do either of the following:

(1) Control any conduct or relationship that will be detrimental or harmful to the child;

(2) Control any conduct or relationship that will tend to defeat the execution of the order of disposition made or to be made.

(B) Due notice of the application or motion and the grounds for the application or motion under division (A) of this section, and an opportunity to be heard, shall be given to the person against whom the order under that division is directed. The order may include a requirement that the child's parent, guardian, or other custodian enter into a recognizance with sufficient surety, conditioned upon the faithful discharge of any conditions or control required by the court.

(C) A person's failure to comply with any order made by the court under this section is contempt of court under Chapter 2705. of the Revised Code.

(A)(1) The juvenile court shall maintain records of all official cases brought before it, including, but not limited to, an appearance docket, a journal, and, in cases pertaining to an alleged delinquent child, arrest and custody records, complaints, journal entries, and hearing summaries. The court shall maintain a separate docket for traffic cases and shall record all traffic cases on the separate docket instead of on the general appearance docket. The parents, guardian, or other custodian of any child affected, if they are living, or the nearest of kin of the child, if the parents are deceased, may inspect these records, either in person or by counsel, during the hours in which the court is open. Division (A)(1) of this section does not require the release or authorize the inspection of arrest or incident reports, law enforcement investigatory reports or records, or witness statements.

(2) The juvenile court shall send to the superintendent of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, pursuant to section 109.57 of the Revised Code, a weekly report containing a summary of each case that has come before it and that involves the disposition of a child who is a delinquent child for committing an act that would be a felony or an offense of violence if committed by an adult.

(B) The clerk of the court shall maintain a statistical record that includes all of the following:

(1) The number of complaints that are filed with, or indictments or information made to, the court that allege that a child is a delinquent child, in relation to which the court determines under division (D) of section 2151.27 of the Revised Code that the victim of the alleged delinquent act was sixty-five years of age or older or permanently and totally disabled at the time of the alleged commission of the act;

(2) The number of complaints, indictments, or information described in division (B)(1) of this section that result in the child being adjudicated a delinquent child;

(3) The number of complaints, indictments, or information described in division (B)(2) of this section in which the act upon which the delinquent child adjudication is based caused property damage or would be a theft offense, as defined in division (K) of section 2913.01 of the Revised Code, if committed by an adult;

(4) The number of complaints, indictments, or information described in division (B)(3) of this section that result in the delinquent child being required as an order of disposition made under division (A) of section 2152.20 of the Revised Code to make restitution for all or part of the property damage caused by the child's delinquent act or for all or part of the value of the property that was the subject of the delinquent act that would be a theft offense if committed by an adult;

(5) The number of complaints, indictments, or information described in division (B)(2) of this section in which the act upon which the delinquent child adjudication is based would have been an offense of violence if committed by an adult;

(6) The number of complaints, indictments, or information described in division (B)(5) of this section that result in the delinquent child being committed as an order of disposition made under section 2152.16, divisions (A) and (B) of section 2152.17, or division (A)(2) of section 2152.19 of the Revised Code to any facility for delinquent children operated by the county, a district, or a private agency or organization or to the department of youth services;

(7) The number of complaints, indictments, or information described in division (B)(1) of this section that result in the case being transferred for criminal prosecution to an appropriate court having jurisdiction of the offense under section 2152.12 of the Revised Code.

(C) The clerk of the court shall compile an annual summary covering the preceding calendar year showing all of the information for that year contained in the statistical record maintained under division (B) of this section. The statistical record and the annual summary shall be public records open for inspection. Neither the statistical record nor the annual summary shall include the identity of any party to a case.

(D) Not later than June of each year, the court shall prepare an annual report covering the preceding calendar year showing the number and kinds of cases that have come before it, the disposition of the cases, and any other data pertaining to the work of the court that the juvenile judge directs. The court shall file copies of the report with the board of county commissioners. With the approval of the board, the court may print or cause to be printed copies of the report for distribution to persons and agencies interested in the court or community program for dependent, neglected, abused, or delinquent children and juvenile traffic offenders. The court shall include the number of copies ordered printed and the estimated cost of each printed copy on each copy of the report printed for distribution.

(E) If an officer is preparing pursuant to section 2947.06 or 2951.03 of the Revised Code or Criminal Rule 32.2 a presentence investigation report pertaining to a person, the court shall make available to the officer, for use in preparing the report, any records it possesses regarding any adjudications of that person as a delinquent child or regarding the dispositions made relative to those adjudications. The records to be made available pursuant to this division include, but are not limited to, any social history or report of a mental or physical examination regarding the person that was prepared pursuant to Juvenile Rule 32.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2152.71 of the Revised Code is amended by this act [Sub. H.B. 247] and also by Sub. H.B. 393, both of the 124th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

Records

A parent's right to inspect juvenile court records may be enforced by mandamus: (decided under former analogous section) State ex rel. Howard v. Ferreri, 70 Ohio St. 3d 587, 639 N.E.2d 1189 (1994).

Mandamus will not lie to require the judge of the juvenile court of Hamilton county "to keep and maintain records of all cases brought before" such court, "correct the errors in... partial records kept... journalize the orders, judgments," etc., and "exhibit to the attorneys" representing a minor charged with a crime "all books, records, papers, [and] dockets... in all cases and proceedings involving" such minor: (decided under former analogous section) State ex rel. Hibbard v. Hoffman, 101 Ohio App. 547, 1 Ohio Op. 2d 454, 137 N.E.2d 606 (1955).

(A) This section applies only to a child who is or previously has been adjudicated a delinquent child for an act to which any of the following applies:

(1) The act is a violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, 2903.03, 2903.04, 2903.11, 2903.12, 2903.13, 2907.02, 2907.03, or 2907.05 of the Revised Code.

(2) The act is a violation of section 2923.01 of the Revised Code and involved an attempt to commit aggravated murder or murder.

(3) The act would be a felony if committed by an adult, and the court determined that the child, if an adult, would be guilty of a specification found in section 2941.141 [2941.14.1], 2941.144 [2941.14.4], or 2941.145 [2941.14.5] of the Revised Code or in another section of the Revised Code that relates to the possession or use of a firearm during the commission of the act for which the child was adjudicated a delinquent child.

(4) The act would be an offense of violence that is a felony if committed by an adult, and the court determined that the child, if an adult, would be guilty of a specification found in section 2941.1411 [2941.14.11] of the Revised Code or in another section of the Revised Code that relates to the wearing or carrying of body armor during the commission of the act for which the child was adjudicated a delinquent child.

(B)(1) Except as provided in division (E) of this section, a public children services agency, private child placing agency, private noncustodial agency, or court, the department of youth services, or another private or government entity shall not place a child in a certified foster home or for adoption until it provides the foster caregivers or prospective adoptive parents with all of the following:

(a) A written report describing the child's social history;

(b) A written report describing all the acts committed by the child the entity knows of that resulted in the child being adjudicated a delinquent child and the disposition made by the court, unless the records pertaining to the acts have been sealed pursuant to section 2151.356 [2151.35.6] of the Revised Code;

(c) A written report describing any other violent act committed by the child of which the entity is aware;

(d) The substantial and material conclusions and recommendations of any psychiatric or psychological examination conducted on the child or, if no psychological or psychiatric examination of the child is available, the substantial and material conclusions and recommendations of an examination to detect mental and emotional disorders conducted in compliance with the requirements of Chapter 4757. of the Revised Code by an independent social worker, social worker, professional clinical counselor, or professional counselor licensed under that chapter. The entity shall not provide any part of a psychological, psychiatric, or mental and emotional disorder examination to the foster caregivers or prospective adoptive parents other than the substantial and material conclusions.

(2) Notwithstanding sections 2151.356 [2151.35.6] to 2151.358 [2151.35.8] of the Revised Code, if records of an adjudication that a child is a delinquent child have been sealed pursuant to those sections and an entity knows the records have been sealed, the entity shall provide the foster caregivers or prospective adoptive parents a written statement that the records of a prior adjudication have been sealed.

(C)(1) The entity that places the child in a certified foster home or for adoption shall conduct a psychological examination of the child unless either of the following applies:

(a) An entity is not required to conduct the examination if an examination was conducted no more than one year prior to the child's placement, and division (C)(1)(b) of this section does not apply.

(b) An entity is not required to conduct the examination if a foster caregiver seeks to adopt the foster caregiver's foster child, and an examination was conducted no more than two years prior to the date the foster caregiver seeks to adopt the child.

(2) No later than sixty days after placing the child, the entity shall provide the foster caregiver or prospective adoptive parents a written report detailing the substantial and material conclusions and recommendations of the examination conducted pursuant to this division.

(D)(1) Except as provided in divisions (D)(2) and (3) of this section, the expenses of conducting the examinations and preparing the reports and assessment required by division (B) or (C) of this section shall be paid by the entity that places the child in the certified foster home or for adoption.

(2) When a juvenile court grants temporary or permanent custody of a child pursuant to any section of the Revised Code, including section 2151.33, 2151.353 [2151.35.3], 2151.354 [2151.35.4], or 2152.19 of the Revised Code, to a public children services agency or private child placing agency, the court shall provide the agency the information described in division (B) of this section, pay the expenses of preparing that information, and, if a new examination is required to be conducted, pay the expenses of conducting the examination described in division (C) of this section. On receipt of the information described in division (B) of this section, the agency shall provide to the court written acknowledgment that the agency received the information. The court shall keep the acknowledgment and provide a copy to the agency. On the motion of the agency, the court may terminate the order granting temporary or permanent custody of the child to that agency, if the court does not provide the information described in division (B) of this section.

(3) If one of the following entities is placing a child in a certified foster home or for adoption with the assistance of or by contracting with a public children services agency, private child placing agency, or a private noncustodial agency, the entity shall provide the agency with the information described in division (B) of this section, pay the expenses of preparing that information, and, if a new examination is required to be conducted, pay the expenses of conducting the examination described in division (C) of this section:

(a) The department of youth services if the placement is pursuant to any section of the Revised Code including section 2152.22, 5139.06, 5139.07, 5139.38, or 5139.39 of the Revised Code;

(b) A juvenile court with temporary or permanent custody of a child pursuant to section 2151.354 [2151.35.4] or 2152.19 of the Revised Code;

(c) A public children services agency or private child placing agency with temporary or permanent custody of the child.

The agency receiving the information described in division (B) of this section shall provide the entity described in division (D)(3)(a) to (c) of this section that sent the information written acknowledgment that the agency received the information and provided it to the foster caregivers or prospective adoptive parents. The entity shall keep the acknowledgment and provide a copy to the agency. An entity that places a child in a certified foster home or for adoption with the assistance of or by contracting with an agency remains responsible to provide the information described in division (B) of this section to the foster caregivers or prospective adoptive parents unless the entity receives written acknowledgment that the agency provided the information.

(E) If a child is placed in a certified foster home as a result of an emergency removal of the child from home pursuant to division (D) of section 2151.31 of the Revised Code, an emergency change in the child's case plan pursuant to division (E)(3) of section 2151.412 [2151.41.2] of the Revised Code, or an emergency placement by the department of youth services pursuant to this chapter or Chapter 5139. of the Revised Code, the entity that places the child in the certified foster home shall provide the information described in division (B) of this section no later than ninety-six hours after the child is placed in the certified foster home.

(F) On receipt of the information described in divisions (B) and (C) of this section, the foster caregiver or prospective adoptive parents shall provide to the entity that places the child in the foster caregiver's or prospective adoptive parents' home a written acknowledgment that the foster caregiver or prospective adoptive parents received the information. The entity shall keep the acknowledgment and provide a copy to the foster caregiver or prospective adoptive parents.

(G) No person employed by an entity subject to this section and made responsible by that entity for the child's placement in a certified foster home or for adoption shall fail to provide the foster caregivers or prospective adoptive parents with the information required by divisions (B) and (C) of this section.

(H) It is not a violation of any duty of confidentiality provided for in the Revised Code or a code of professional responsibility for a person or government entity to provide the substantial and material conclusions and recommendations of a psychiatric or psychological examination, or an examination to detect mental and emotional disorders, in accordance with division (B)(1)(d) or (C) of this section.

(I) As used in this section:

(1) "Body armor" has the same meaning as in section 2941.1411 [2941.14.11] of the Revised Code.

(2) "Firearm" has the same meaning as in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by § 6 of 151 v H 137.

The provisions of §§ 5(B), 7, and 8(B) of SB 27 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 5.

(B) Section 2152.72 of the Revised Code, as amended by this act, shall take effect January 1, 2002.

SECTION 7. The amendment of section 2151.62 of the Revised Code is not intended to supersede its amendment and renumbering by Am. Sub. S.B. 179 of the 123rd General Assembly. Paragraphs of section 2151.62 of the Revised Code that are amended by this act were moved to section 2152.72 of the Revised Code by Am. Sub. S.B. 179, effective January 1, 2002, as part of its revision of the juvenile sentencing laws. Therefore, section 2152.72 of the Revised Code is amended by this act to continue, on and after January 1, 2002, the amendments this act is making to section 2151.62 of the Revised Code; section 2151.62 of the Revised Code as amended by this act is superseded on January 1, 2002, by the section as it results from its amendment and renumbering by Am. Sub. S.B. 179; and section 2152.72 of the Revised Code as amended by this act takes effect on January 1, 2002.

(B) Section 2152.72 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by Sub. H.B. 448, Am. Sub. S.B. 222, and Am. Sub. S.B. 179 of the 123rd General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

Effect of Amendments

151 v H 137, effective October 12, 2006, corrected internal references and made minor stylistic changes.

§ 2152.74 DNA testing of adjudicated delinquents.

(A) As used in this section, "DNA analysis" and "DNA specimen" have the same meanings as in section 109.573 [109.57.3] of the Revised Code.

(B)(1) A child who is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing an act listed in division (D) of this section and who is committed to the custody of the department of youth services, placed in a detention facility or district detention facility pursuant to division (A)(3) of section 2152.19 of the Revised Code, or placed in a school, camp, institution, or other facility for delinquent children described in division (A)(2) of section 2152.19 of the Revised Code shall submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the director of youth services if committed to the department or by the chief administrative officer of the detention facility, district detention facility, school, camp, institution, or other facility for delinquent children to which the child was committed or in which the child was placed. If the court commits the child to the department of youth services, the director of youth services shall cause the DNA specimen to be collected from the child during the intake process at an institution operated by or under the control of the department. If the court commits the child to or places the child in a detention facility, district detention facility, school, camp, institution, or other facility for delinquent children, the chief administrative officer of the detention facility, district detention facility, school, camp, institution, or facility to which the child is committed or in which the child is placed shall cause the DNA specimen to be collected from the child during the intake process for the detention facility, district detention facility, school, camp, institution, or facility. The DNA specimen shall be collected from the child in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(2) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing an act listed in division (D) of this section, is committed to or placed in the department of youth services, a detention facility or district detention facility, or a school, camp, institution, or other facility for delinquent children, and does not submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure pursuant to division (B)(1) of this section, prior to the child's release from the custody of the department of youth services, from the custody of the detention facility or district detention facility, or from the custody of the school, camp, institution, or facility, the child shall submit to, and the director of youth services or the chief administrator of the detention facility, district detention facility, school, camp, institution, or facility to which the child is committed or in which the child was placed shall administer, a DNA specimen collection procedure at the institution operated by or under the control of the department of youth services or at the detention facility, district detention facility, school, camp, institution, or facility to which the child is committed or in which the child was placed. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(3) If a child is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing an act listed in division (D) of this section, is not committed to or placed in the department of youth services, a detention facility or district detention facility, or a school, camp, institution, or other facility for delinquent children described in division (A)(2) or (3) of section 2152.19 of the Revised Code, and does not provide a DNA specimen pursuant to division (B)(1) or (2) of this section, the juvenile court shall order the child to report to the county probation department immediately after disposition to submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the chief administrative officer of the county probation department. The DNA specimen shall be collected from the child in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(C) If the DNA specimen is collected by withdrawing blood from the child or a similarly invasive procedure, a physician, registered nurse, licensed practical nurse, duly licensed clinical laboratory technician, or other qualified medical practitioner shall collect in a medically approved manner the DNA specimen required to be collected pursuant to division (B) of this section. If the DNA specimen is collected by swabbing for buccal cells or a similarly noninvasive procedure, this section does not require that the DNA specimen be collected by a qualified medical practitioner of that nature. No later than fifteen days after the date of the collection of the DNA specimen, the director of youth services or the chief administrative officer of the detention facility, district detention facility, school, camp, institution, or other facility for delinquent children to which the child is committed or in which the child was placed shall cause the DNA specimen to be forwarded to the bureau of criminal identification and investigation in accordance with procedures established by the superintendent of the bureau under division (H) of section 109.573 [109.57.3] of the Revised Code. The bureau shall provide the specimen vials, mailing tubes, labels, postage, and inspection needed for the collection and forwarding of the DNA specimen to the bureau.

(D) The director of youth services and the chief administrative officer of a detention facility, district detention facility, school, camp, institution, or other facility for delinquent children shall cause a DNA specimen to be collected in accordance with divisions (B) and (C) of this section from each child in its custody who is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing any of the following acts:

(1) An act that would be a felony if committed by an adult;

(2) A violation of any law that would be a misdemeanor if committed by an adult and that arose out of the same facts and circumstances and same act as did a charge against the child of a violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, 2905.01, 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.05, or 2911.11 of the Revised Code that previously was dismissed or amended or as did a charge against the child of a violation of section 2907.12 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to September 3, 1996, that previously was dismissed or amended;

(3) A violation of section 2919.23 of the Revised Code that would be a misdemeanor if committed by an adult and that would have been a violation of section 2905.04 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to July 1, 1996, had the violation been committed prior to that date;

(4) A violation of section 2923.03 of the Revised Code involving complicity in committing a violation of section 2907.04 of the Revised Code that would be a misdemeanor if committed by an adult.

The effective date is set by § 612.12 of 151 v H 66.

Effect of Amendments

150 v H 525, effective May 18, 2005, deleted the next to last sentence in (B)(1) and (2), pertaining to the forwarding to the bureau of criminal identification and investigation of DNA specimens; added (B)(3); rewrote (D); and deleted (E), pertaining to a nonrequirement by the director of youth services and chief administrative officer of a facility for delinquent children to comply with this section.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2152.74 of the Revised Code is amended by Sub. H.B. 525 of the 125th General Assembly and Am. Sub. H.B. 66 of the 126th General Assembly. The amendment by H.B. 66 is ineffective. The amendment by H.B. 525 resulted in repealing the language H.B. 66 attempted to amend. The cross-reference did not exist and therefore could not be amended.

Constitutionality

Probation or supervised release

Constitutionality

DNA collection under RC § 2151.31.5 does not constitute a consequence under JuvR 29(D). The statute does not violate the fourth amendment: (decided under former analogous section) In re Nicholson, 132 Ohio App. 3d 303, 724 N.E.2d 1217 (1999).

Probation or supervised release

Pursuant to RC § 2152.74(B)(3), a juvenile court must order the collection of a DNA specimen from a juvenile placed on some form of probation supervision pursuant to RC § 2152.19(A)(4) on or after May 18, 2005. If a juvenile released from one of the Department of Youth Services' institutions before May 18, 2005, and currently on supervised release pursuant to RC § 5139.51(B) has not previously submitted to a DNA specimen collection procedure pursuant to RC § 2152.74(B)(1), RC § 2152.74(B)(2) authorizes the collection of a DNA specimen from the juvenile. RC § 2152.74(B)(3) authorizes the collection of a DNA specimen from a juvenile who was not committed to, or placed in, the custody of the Department of Youth Services or an entity described in RC § 2152.19(A)(2) or RC § 2152.19(A)(3) and who has not previously submitted to a DNA specimen collection procedure pursuant to RC § 2152.74(B)(1) or RC § 2152.74(B)(2) when the juvenile is currently required to comply with the terms of a dispositional order issued by a juvenile court under RC Chapter 2152 before May 18, 2005. A juvenile court may exercise its power to punish for contempt, conduct proceedings under RC Chapter 2152 to adjudicate the juvenile a delinquent child, or conduct probation revocation proceedings to compel a juvenile who is on some form of probation supervision imposed by a juvenile court pursuant to RC § 2152.19(A)(4) to comply with a court order that requires the juvenile to submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure under RC § 2152.74(B)(3). A juvenile court may conduct proceedings to revoke the supervised release of a juvenile or make any other disposition of the juvenile authorized by law that the court considers proper to compel a juvenile who is required to submit a DNA specimen under RC § 2152.74(B)(2) and who is on supervised release pursuant to RC § 5139.51(B) to submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure. Opinion No. 2005-037 (2005).

(a) A person who was a victim of a violation identified in division (A)(2) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult;

(b) A person against whom was directed any conduct that constitutes, or that is an element of, a violation identified in division (A)(2) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult.

(2) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation of section 2905.03, 2905.05, 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.05, 2907.06, 2907.07, 2907.09, 2907.21, 2907.23, 2907.24, 2907.31, 2907.32, 2907.321 [2907.32.1], 2907.322 [2907.32.2], 2907.323 [2907.32.3], or 2919.22 of the Revised Code or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or act was a child who was less than thirteen years of age when the complaint or information was filed or the indictment was returned, the juvenile judge, upon motion of an attorney for the prosecution, shall order that the testimony of the child victim be taken by deposition. The prosecution also may request that the deposition be videotaped in accordance with division (A)(3) of this section. The judge shall notify the child victim whose deposition is to be taken, the prosecution, and the attorney for the child who is charged with the violation or act of the date, time, and place for taking the deposition. The notice shall identify the child victim who is to be examined and shall indicate whether a request that the deposition be videotaped has been made. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall have the right to attend the deposition and the right to be represented by counsel. Depositions shall be taken in the manner provided in civil cases, except that the judge in the proceeding shall preside at the taking of the deposition and shall rule at that time on any objections of the prosecution or the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act. The prosecution and the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act shall have the right, as at an adjudication hearing, to full examination and cross-examination of the child victim whose deposition is to be taken. If a deposition taken under this division is intended to be offered as evidence in the proceeding, it shall be filed in the juvenile court in which the action is pending and is admissible in the manner described in division (B) of this section. If a deposition of a child victim taken under this division is admitted as evidence at the proceeding under division (B) of this section, the child victim shall not be required to testify in person at the proceeding. However, at any time before the conclusion of the proceeding, the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act may file a motion with the judge requesting that another deposition of the child victim be taken because new evidence material to the defense of the child charged has been discovered that the attorney for the child charged could not with reasonable diligence have discovered prior to the taking of the admitted deposition. Any motion requesting another deposition shall be accompanied by supporting affidavits. Upon the filing of the motion and affidavits, the court may order that additional testimony of the child victim relative to the new evidence be taken by another deposition. If the court orders the taking of another deposition under this provision, the deposition shall be taken in accordance with this division; if the admitted deposition was a videotaped deposition taken in accordance with division (A)(3) of this section, the new deposition also shall be videotaped in accordance with that division, and, in other cases, the new deposition may be videotaped in accordance with that division.

(3) If the prosecution requests that a deposition to be taken under division (A)(2) of this section be videotaped, the juvenile judge shall order that the deposition be videotaped in accordance with this division. If a juvenile judge issues an order to video tape the deposition, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the deposition is to be taken every person except the child victim giving the testimony, the judge, one or more interpreters if needed, the attorneys for the prosecution and the child who is charged with the violation or act, any person needed to operate the equipment to be used, one person chosen by the child victim giving the deposition, and any person whose presence the judge determines would contribute to the welfare and well-being of the child victim giving the deposition. The person chosen by the child victim shall not be a witness in the proceeding and, both before and during the deposition, shall not discuss the testimony of the child victim with any other witness in the proceeding. To the extent feasible, any person operating the recording equipment shall be restricted to a room adjacent to the room in which the deposition is being taken, or to a location in the room in which the deposition is being taken that is behind a screen or mirror so that the person operating the recording equipment can see and hear, but cannot be seen or heard by, the child victim giving the deposition during the deposition. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the child victim giving the deposition on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the child victim giving the deposition, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The child victim giving the deposition shall be provided with a monitor on which the child victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act. The judge, at the judge's discretion, may preside at the deposition by electronic means from outside the room in which the deposition is to be taken; if the judge presides by electronic means, the judge shall be provided with monitors on which the judge can see each person in the room in which the deposition is to be taken and with an electronic means of communication with each person in that room, and each person in the room shall be provided with a monitor on which that person can see the judge and with an electronic means of communication with the judge. A deposition that is videotaped under this division shall be taken and filed in the manner described in division (A)(2) of this section and is admissible in the manner described in this division and division (B) of this section, and, if a deposition that is videotaped under this division is admitted as evidence at the proceeding, the child victim shall not be required to testify in person at the proceeding. No deposition videotaped under this division shall be admitted as evidence at any proceeding unless division (B) of this section is satisfied relative to the deposition and all of the following apply relative to the recording:

(a) The recording is both aural and visual and is recorded on film or videotape, or by other electronic means.

(b) The recording is authenticated under the Rules of Evidence and the Rules of Criminal Procedure as a fair and accurate representation of what occurred, and the recording is not altered other than at the direction and under the supervision of the judge in the proceeding.

(c) Each voice on the recording that is material to the testimony on the recording or the making of the recording, as determined by the judge, is identified.

(d) Both the prosecution and the child who is charged with the violation or act are afforded an opportunity to view the recording before it is shown in the proceeding.

(B)(1) At any proceeding in relation to which a deposition was taken under division (A) of this section, the deposition or a part of it is admissible in evidence upon motion of the prosecution if the testimony in the deposition or the part to be admitted is not excluded by the hearsay rule and if the deposition or the part to be admitted otherwise is admissible under the Rules of Evidence. For purposes of this division, testimony is not excluded by the hearsay rule if the testimony is not hearsay under Evidence Rule 801; if the testimony is within an exception to the hearsay rule set forth in Evidence Rule 803; if the child victim who gave the testimony is unavailable as a witness, as defined in Evidence Rule 804, and the testimony is admissible under that rule; or if both of the following apply:

(a) The child who is charged with the violation or act had an opportunity and similar motive at the time of the taking of the deposition to develop the testimony by direct, cross, or redirect examination.

(b) The judge determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that, if the child victim who gave the testimony in the deposition were to testify in person at the proceeding, the child victim would experience serious emotional trauma as a result of the child victim's participation at the proceeding.

(2) Objections to receiving in evidence a deposition or a part of it under division (B) of this section shall be made as provided in civil actions.

(3) The provisions of divisions (A) and (B) of this section are in addition to any other provisions of the Revised Code, the Rules of Juvenile Procedure, the Rules of Criminal Procedure, or the Rules of Evidence that pertain to the taking or admission of depositions in a juvenile court proceeding and do not limit the admissibility under any of those other provisions of any deposition taken under division (A) of this section or otherwise taken.

(C) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation listed in division (A)(2) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or offense was a child who was less than thirteen years of age when the complaint or information was filed or indictment was returned, the prosecution may file a motion with the juvenile judge requesting the judge to order the testimony of the child victim to be taken in a room other than the room in which the proceeding is being conducted and be televised, by closed circuit equipment, into the room in which the proceeding is being conducted to be viewed by the child who is charged with the violation or act and any other persons who are not permitted in the room in which the testimony is to be taken but who would have been present during the testimony of the child victim had it been given in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted. Except for good cause shown, the prosecution shall file a motion under this division at least seven days before the date of the proceeding. The juvenile judge may issue the order upon the motion of the prosecution filed under this division, if the judge determines that the child victim is unavailable to testify in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act, due to one or more of the reasons set forth in division (E) of this section. If a juvenile judge issues an order of that nature, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the testimony is to be taken every person except a person described in division (A)(3) of this section. The judge, at the judge's discretion, may preside during the giving of the testimony by electronic means from outside the room in which it is being given, subject to the limitations set forth in division (A)(3) of this section. To the extent feasible, any person operating the televising equipment shall be hidden from the sight and hearing of the child victim giving the testimony, in a manner similar to that described in division (A)(3) of this section. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the child victim giving the testimony on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the child victim giving the testimony, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The child victim giving the testimony shall be provided with a monitor on which the child victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act.

(D) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation listed in division (A)(2) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or offense was a child who was less than thirteen years of age when the complaint or information was filed or the indictment was returned, the prosecution may file a motion with the juvenile judge requesting the judge to order the testimony of the child victim to be taken outside of the room in which the proceeding is being conducted and be recorded for showing in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted before the judge, the child who is charged with the violation or act, and any other persons who would have been present during the testimony of the child victim had it been given in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted. Except for good cause shown, the prosecution shall file a motion under this division at least seven days before the date of the proceeding. The juvenile judge may issue the order upon the motion of the prosecution filed under this division, if the judge determines that the child victim is unavailable to testify in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act, due to one or more of the reasons set forth in division (E) of this section. If a juvenile judge issues an order of that nature, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the testimony is to be taken every person except a person described in division (A)(3) of this section. To the extent feasible, any person operating the recording equipment shall be hidden from the sight and hearing of the child victim giving the testimony, in a manner similar to that described in division (A)(3) of this section. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the child victim giving the testimony on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the child victim giving the testimony, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The child victim giving the testimony shall be provided with a monitor on which the child victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act. No order for the taking of testimony by recording shall be issued under this division unless the provisions set forth in divisions (A)(3)(a), (b), (c), and (d) of this section apply to the recording of the testimony.

(E) For purposes of divisions (C) and (D) of this section, a juvenile judge may order the testimony of a child victim to be taken outside of the room in which a proceeding is being conducted if the judge determines that the child victim is unavailable to testify in the room in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act due to one or more of the following circumstances:

(1) The persistent refusal of the child victim to testify despite judicial requests to do so;

(2) The inability of the child victim to communicate about the alleged violation or offense because of extreme fear, failure of memory, or another similar reason;

(3) The substantial likelihood that the child victim will suffer serious emotional trauma from so testifying.

(F)(1) If a juvenile judge issues an order pursuant to division (C) or (D) of this section that requires the testimony of a child victim in a juvenile court proceeding to be taken outside of the room in which the proceeding is being conducted, the order shall specifically identify the child victim to whose testimony it applies, the order applies only during the testimony of the specified child victim, and the child victim giving the testimony shall not be required to testify at the proceeding other than in accordance with the order. The authority of a judge to close the taking of a deposition under division (A)(3) of this section or a proceeding under division (C) or (D) of this section is in addition to the authority of a judge to close a hearing pursuant to section 2151.35 of the Revised Code.

(2) A juvenile judge who makes any determination regarding the admissibility of a deposition under divisions (A) and (B) of this section, the videotaping of a deposition under division (A)(3) of this section, or the taking of testimony outside of the room in which a proceeding is being conducted under division (C) or (D) of this section, shall enter the determination and findings on the record in the proceeding.

Constitutionality

Applicability

Constitutionality

Allowing a child sex abuse victim to testify via closed circuit television, pursuant to RC § 2151.35.11, does not violate the confrontation rights of the accused. A child who is forced to witness abuse of another child may also qualify as a "victim": (decided under former analogous section) In re Howard, 119 Ohio App. 3d 33, 694 N.E.2d 488 (1997).

Applicability

Revised Code § 2151.35.11 applies only when the accused is a child and the victim is a child under the age of eleven years: (decided under former analogous section) In re Burchfield, 51 Ohio App. 3d 148, 555 N.E.2d 325 (1988).

Effective until 1-1-08.

If a court adjudicates a child a delinquent child for committing a presumptive registration-exempt sexually oriented offense, the court may determine pursuant to section 2950.021 [2950.02.1] of the Revised Code, prior to making an order of disposition for the child, that the child potentially should be subjected to classification as a juvenile offender registrant under sections 2152.82, 2152.83, 2152.84, or 2152.85 of the Revised Code and to registration under section 2950.04 of the Revised Code and all other duties and responsibilities generally imposed under Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code upon persons who are adjudicated delinquent children for committing a sexually oriented offense other than a presumptive registration-exempt sexually oriented offense. If the court so determines, divisions (B)(1) and (3) of section 2950.021 [2950.02.1] of the Revised Code apply, and the court shall proceed as described in those divisions.

[§ 2152.81.1] § 2152.811 Deposition of mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim; taking of testimony outside room where proceeding is being conducted.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Mentally retarded person" and "developmentally disabled person" have the same meanings as in section 5123.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim" includes any of the following persons:

(a) A mentally retarded person or developmentally disabled person who was a victim of a violation identified in division (B)(1) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult;

(b) A mentally retarded person or developmentally disabled person against whom was directed any conduct that constitutes, or that is an element of, a violation identified in division (B)(1) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult.

(B)(1) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation of section 2903.16, 2903.34, 2903.341 [2903.34.1], 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.05, 2907.21, 2907.23, 2907.24, 2907.32, 2907.321 [2907.32.1], 2907.322 [2907.32.2], or 2907.323 [2907.32.3] of the Revised Code or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or act was a mentally retarded person or developmentally disabled person, the juvenile judge, upon motion of the prosecution, shall order that the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim be taken by deposition. The prosecution also may request that the deposition be videotaped in accordance with division (B)(2) of this section. The judge shall notify the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim whose deposition is to be taken, the prosecution, and the attorney for the child who is charged with the violation or act of the date, time, and place for taking the deposition. The notice shall identify the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim who is to be examined and shall indicate whether a request that the deposition be videotaped has been made. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall have the right to attend the deposition and the right to be represented by counsel. Depositions shall be taken in the manner provided in civil cases, except that the judge in the proceeding shall preside at the taking of the deposition and shall rule at that time on any objections of the prosecution or the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act. The prosecution and the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act shall have the right, as at an adjudication hearing, to full examination and cross-examination of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim whose deposition is to be taken.

If a deposition taken under this division is intended to be offered as evidence in the proceeding, it shall be filed in the juvenile court in which the action is pending and is admissible in the manner described in division (C) of this section. If a deposition of a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim taken under this division is admitted as evidence at the proceeding under division (C) of this section, the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim shall not be required to testify in person at the proceeding.

At any time before the conclusion of the proceeding, the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act may file a motion with the judge requesting that another deposition of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim be taken because new evidence material to the defense of the child charged has been discovered that the attorney for the child charged could not with reasonable diligence have discovered prior to the taking of the admitted deposition. Any motion requesting another deposition shall be accompanied by supporting affidavits. Upon the filing of the motion and affidavits, the court may order that additional testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim relative to the new evidence be taken by another deposition. If the court orders the taking of another deposition under this provision, the deposition shall be taken in accordance with this division. If the admitted deposition was a videotaped deposition taken in accordance with division (B)(2) of this section, the new deposition also shall be videotaped in accordance with that division. In other cases, the new deposition may be videotaped in accordance with that division.

(2) If the prosecution requests that a deposition to be taken under division (B)(1) of this section be videotaped, the juvenile judge shall order that the deposition be videotaped in accordance with this division. If a juvenile judge issues an order to video tape the deposition, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the deposition is to be taken every person except the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, the judge, one or more interpreters if needed, the attorneys for the prosecution and the child who is charged with the violation or act, any person needed to operate the equipment to be used, one person chosen by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition, and any person whose presence the judge determines would contribute to the welfare and well-being of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition. The person chosen by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim shall not be a witness in the proceeding and, both before and during the deposition, shall not discuss the testimony of the victim with any other witness in the proceeding. To the extent feasible, any person operating the recording equipment shall be restricted to a room adjacent to the room in which the deposition is being taken, or to a location in the room in which the deposition is being taken that is behind a screen or mirror so that the person operating the recording equipment can see and hear, but cannot be seen or heard by, the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition during the deposition.

The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition shall be provided with a monitor on which the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act. The judge, at the judge's discretion, may preside at the deposition by electronic means from outside the room in which the deposition is to be taken; if the judge presides by electronic means, the judge shall be provided with monitors on which the judge can see each person in the room in which the deposition is to be taken and with an electronic means of communication with each person in that room, and each person in the room shall be provided with a monitor on which that person can see the judge and with an electronic means of communication with the judge. A deposition that is videotaped under this division shall be taken and filed in the manner described in division (B)(1) of this section and is admissible in the manner described in this division and division (C) of this section. If a deposition that is videotaped under this division is admitted as evidence at the proceeding, the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim shall not be required to testify in person at the proceeding. No deposition videotaped under this division shall be admitted as evidence at any proceeding unless division (C) of this section is satisfied relative to the deposition and all of the following apply relative to the recording:

(a) The recording is both aural and visual and is recorded on film or videotape, or by other electronic means.

(b) The recording is authenticated under the Rules of Evidence and the Rules of Criminal Procedure as a fair and accurate representation of what occurred, and the recording is not altered other than at the direction and under the supervision of the judge in the proceeding.

(c) Each voice on the recording that is material to the testimony on the recording or the making of the recording, as determined by the judge, is identified.

(d) Both the prosecution and the child who is charged with the violation or act are afforded an opportunity to view the recording before it is shown in the proceeding.

(C)(1) At any proceeding in relation to which a deposition was taken under division (B) of this section, the deposition or a part of it is admissible in evidence upon motion of the prosecution if the testimony in the deposition or the part to be admitted is not excluded by the hearsay rule and if the deposition or the part to be admitted otherwise is admissible under the Rules of Evidence. For purposes of this division, testimony is not excluded by the hearsay rule if the testimony is not hearsay under Evidence Rule 801; the testimony is within an exception to the hearsay rule set forth in Evidence Rule 803; the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim who gave the testimony is unavailable as a witness, as defined in Evidence Rule 804, and the testimony is admissible under that rule; or both of the following apply:

(a) The child who is charged with the violation or act had an opportunity and similar motive at the time of the taking of the deposition to develop the testimony by direct, cross, or redirect examination.

(b) The judge determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that, if the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim who gave the testimony in the deposition were to testify in person at the proceeding, the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim would experience serious emotional trauma as a result of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim's participation at the proceeding.

(2) Objections to receiving in evidence a deposition or a part of it under division (C) of this section shall be made as provided in civil actions.

(3) The provisions of divisions (B) and (C) of this section are in addition to any other provisions of the Revised Code, the Rules of Juvenile Procedure, the Rules of Criminal Procedure, or the Rules of Evidence that pertain to the taking or admission of depositions in a juvenile court proceeding and do not limit the admissibility under any of those other provisions of any deposition taken under division (B) of this section or otherwise taken.

(D) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation listed in division (B)(1) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or offense was a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled person, the prosecution may file a motion with the juvenile judge requesting the judge to order the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to be taken in a room other than the room in which the proceeding is being conducted and be televised, by closed circuit equipment, into the room in which the proceeding is being conducted to be viewed by the child who is charged with the violation or act and any other persons who are not permitted in the room in which the testimony is to be taken but who would have been present during the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim had it been given in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted. Except for good cause shown, the prosecution shall file a motion under this division at least seven days before the date of the proceeding. The juvenile judge may issue the order upon the motion of the prosecution filed under this division, if the judge determines that the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim is unavailable to testify in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act for one or more of the reasons set forth in division (F) of this section. If a juvenile judge issues an order of that nature, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the testimony is to be taken every person except a person described in division (B)(2) of this section. The judge, at the judge's discretion, may preside during the giving of the testimony by electronic means from outside the room in which it is being given, subject to the limitations set forth in division (B)(2) of this section. To the extent feasible, any person operating the televising equipment shall be hidden from the sight and hearing of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, in a manner similar to that described in division (B)(2) of this section. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony shall be provided with a monitor on which the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act.

(E) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation listed in division (B)(1) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or offense was a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled person, the prosecution may file a motion with the juvenile judge requesting the judge to order the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to be taken outside of the room in which the proceeding is being conducted and be recorded for showing in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted before the judge, the child who is charged with the violation or act, and any other persons who would have been present during the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim had it been given in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted. Except for good cause shown, the prosecution shall file a motion under this division at least seven days before the date of the proceeding. The juvenile judge may issue the order upon the motion of the prosecution filed under this division, if the judge determines that the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim is unavailable to testify in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act, due to one or more of the reasons set forth in division (F) of this section. If a juvenile judge issues an order of that nature, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the testimony is to be taken every person except a person described in division (B)(2) of this section. To the extent feasible, any person operating the recording equipment shall be hidden from the sight and hearing of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, in a manner similar to that described in division (B)(2) of this section. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony shall be provided with a monitor on which the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act. No order for the taking of testimony by recording shall be issued under this division unless the provisions set forth in divisions (B)(2)(a), (b), (c), and (d) of this section apply to the recording of the testimony.

(F) For purposes of divisions (D) and (E) of this section, a juvenile judge may order the testimony of a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to be taken outside of the room in which a proceeding is being conducted if the judge determines that the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim is unavailable to testify in the room in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act due to one or more of the following circumstances:

(1) The persistent refusal of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to testify despite judicial requests to do so;

(2) The inability of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to communicate about the alleged violation or offense because of extreme fear, failure of memory, or another similar reason;

(3) The substantial likelihood that the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim will suffer serious emotional trauma from so testifying.

(G)(1) If a juvenile judge issues an order pursuant to division (D) or (E) of this section that requires the testimony of a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim in a juvenile court proceeding to be taken outside of the room in which the proceeding is being conducted, the order shall specifically identify the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to whose testimony it applies, the order applies only during the testimony of the specified mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim, and the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony shall not be required to testify at the proceeding other than in accordance with the order. The authority of a judge to close the taking of a deposition under division (B)(2) of this section or a proceeding under division (D) or (E) of this section is in addition to the authority of a judge to close a hearing pursuant to section 2151.35 of the Revised Code.

(2) A juvenile judge who makes any determination regarding the admissibility of a deposition under divisions

(B) and (C) of this section, the videotaping of a deposition under division (B)(2) of this section, or the taking of testimony outside of the room in which a proceeding is being conducted under division (D) or (E) of this section shall enter the determination and findings on the record in the proceeding.

Not analogous to former RC § 2152.811, repealed by 152 v S 10, eff. 1-1-08.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

This section was renumbered from RC § 2152.821 by 152 v S 10, effective January 1, 2008.

[JUVENILE SEX OFFENDER REGISTRATION AND NOTIFICATION LAW]

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) The court that adjudicates a child a delinquent child shall issue as part of the dispositional order an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code if all of the following apply:

(1) The act for which the child is adjudicated a delinquent child is a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or is a child-victim oriented offense that the child committed on or after January 1, 2002.

(2) The child was fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, or seventeen years of age at the time of committing the offense.

(3) The court has determined that the child previously was convicted of, pleaded guilty to, or was adjudicated a delinquent child for committing any sexually oriented offense or child-victim oriented offense, regardless of when the prior offense was committed and regardless of the child's age at the time of committing the offense.

(B) An order required under division (A) of this section shall be issued at the time the judge makes the orders of disposition for the delinquent child. Prior to issuing the order required by division (A) of this section, the judge shall conduct the hearing and make the determinations required by division (B) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or division (B) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding a child-victim oriented offense to determine if the child is to be classified a sexual predator or a child-victim predator, shall make the determinations required by division (E) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or division (E) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding a child-victim oriented offense to determine if the child is to be classified a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender, and shall otherwise comply with those divisions. When a judge issues an order under division (A) of this section, all of the following apply:

(1) The judge shall include in the order any determination that the delinquent child is, or is not, a sexual predator or child-victim predator or is, or is not, a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender that the judge makes pursuant to division (B) or (E) of section 2950.09 or 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code and any related information required or authorized under the division under which the determination is made, including, but not limited to, any requirement imposed by the court subjecting a child who is a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender to community notification provisions as described in division (E) of section 2950.09 or 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code.

(2) The judge shall include in the order a statement that, upon completion of the disposition of the delinquent child that was made for the sexually oriented offense or child-victim oriented offense upon which the order is based, a hearing will be conducted, and the order and any determinations included in the order are subject to modification or termination pursuant to sections 2152.84 and 2152.85 of the Revised Code.

(3) The judge shall provide to the delinquent child and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian the notice required under divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code and shall provide as part of that notice a copy of the order.

(4) The judge shall include the order in the delinquent child's dispositional order and shall specify in the dispositional order that the order issued under division (A) of this section was made pursuant to this section.

(C) An order issued under division (A) of this section and any determinations included in the order shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code, subject to a modification or termination of the order under section 2152.84 or 2152.85 of the Revised Code, and section 2152.851 [2152.85.1] of the Revised Code applies regarding the order and the determinations. If an order is issued under division (A) of this section, the child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division.

(D) A court that adjudicates a child a delinquent child for a sexually oriented offense that is a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense shall not issue based on that adjudication an order under this section that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 149 v S 3 (Eff 1-1-2002); 149 v H 393, Eff 7-5-2002; 150 v S 5, § 1, eff. 7-31-03.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A) The court that adjudicates a child a delinquent child shall issue as part of the dispositional order an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections

2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code if all of the following apply:

(1) The act for which the child is adjudicated a delinquent child is a sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense that the child committed on or after January 1, 2002.

(2) The child was fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, or seventeen years of age at the time of committing the offense.

(3) The court has determined that the child previously was adjudicated a delinquent child for committing any sexually oriented offense or child-victim oriented offense, regardless of when the prior offense was committed and regardless of the child's age at the time of committing the offense.

(4) The court is not required to classify the child as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant under section 2152.86 of the Revised Code.

(B) An order required under division (A) of this section shall be issued at the time the judge makes the order of disposition for the delinquent child. Prior to issuing the order required by division (A) of this section, the judge shall conduct a hearing under section 2152.831 [2152.83.1] of the Revised Code to determine whether the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender. If the court determines that the delinquent child to whom the order applies is a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender and the child is not a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant, the judge may impose a requirement subjecting the child to the victim and community notification provisions of sections 2950.10 and 2950.11 of the Revised Code. When a judge issues an order under division (A) of this section, all of the following apply:

(1) The judge shall include in the order a statement that, upon completion of the disposition of the delinquent child that was made for the sexually oriented offense or child-victim oriented offense upon which the order is based, a hearing will be conducted, and the order and any determinations included in the order are subject to modification or termination pursuant to sections 2152.84 and 2152.85 of the Revised Code.

(2) The judge shall provide to the delinquent child and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian the notice required under divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code and shall provide as part of that notice a copy of the order.

(3) The judge shall include the order in the delinquent child's dispositional order and shall specify in the dispositional order that the order issued under division (A) of this section was made pursuant to this section.

(4) If the court determines that the delinquent child to whom the order applies is a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, if the child is not a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant, and if the judge imposes a requirement subjecting the child to the victim and community notification provisions of sections 2950.10 and 2950.11 of the Revised Code, the judge shall include the requirement in the order.

(5) The court shall include in the order its determination made at the hearing held under section 2151.831 [2151.83.1] of the Revised Code as to whether the delinquent child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender.

(C) Except as provided in division (D) of this section, an order issued under division (A) of this section and any determinations included in the order shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code, subject to a modification or termination of the order under section 2152.84 or 2152.85 of the Revised Code, and section 2152.851 [2152.85.1] of the Revised Code applies regarding the order and the determinations. If an order is issued under division (A) of this section, the child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division.

(D) If a court issues an order under division (A) of this section before January 1, 2008, not later than February 1, 2008, the court shall terminate the order and issue a new order that reclassifies the child as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant pursuant to section 2152.86 of the Revised Code if the court imposed on the child a serious youthful offender dispositional sentence under section 2152.13 of the Revised Code and if the act that was the basis of the classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant and is the basis of the serious youthful offender dispositional sentence is any of the following:

(1) Committing, attempting to commit, conspiring to commit, or complicity in committing a violation of section 2907.02 of the Revised Code, division (B) of section 2907.05 of the Revised Code, or section 2907.03 of the Revised Code if the victim of the violation was less than twelve years of age;

(2) Committing, attempting to commit, conspiring to commit, or complicity in committing a violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, or 2905.01 of the Revised Code that was committed with a purpose to gratify the sexual needs or desires of the child.

CASE NOTES AND OAG

Generally

Although defendant, a delinquent minor, had not been previously adjudicated a delinquent for a sexually oriented offense, as required by Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2152.82(A), such a finding was not required under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2152.83(B), which was relied upon by the trial court in designating defendant as a juvenile sex offender registrant under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2950.01(J); the trial court made the proper determination under § 2152.83(B)(1), finding that defendant had reoffended after prior treatment, and that his prior treatment had proved ineffective. In re J.F.F., 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1810, 2005 Ohio 1906, (2005).

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Mentally retarded person" and "developmentally disabled person" have the same meanings as in section 5123.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim" includes any of the following persons:

(a) A mentally retarded person or developmentally disabled person who was a victim of a violation identified in division (B)(1) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult;

(b) A mentally retarded person or developmentally disabled person against whom was directed any conduct that constitutes, or that is an element of, a violation identified in division (B)(1) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult.

(B)(1) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation of section 2903.16, 2903.34, 2903.341 [2903.34.1], 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.05, 2907.21, 2907.23, 2907.24, 2907.32, 2907.321 [2907.32.1], 2907.322 [2907.32.2], or 2907.323 [2907.32.3] of the Revised Code or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or act was a mentally retarded person or developmentally disabled person, the juvenile judge, upon motion of the prosecution, shall order that the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim be taken by deposition. The prosecution also may request that the deposition be videotaped in accordance with division (B)(2) of this section. The judge shall notify the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim whose deposition is to be taken, the prosecution, and the attorney for the child who is charged with the violation or act of the date, time, and place for taking the deposition. The notice shall identify the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim who is to be examined and shall indicate whether a request that the deposition be videotaped has been made. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall have the right to attend the deposition and the right to be represented by counsel. Depositions shall be taken in the manner provided in civil cases, except that the judge in the proceeding shall preside at the taking of the deposition and shall rule at that time on any objections of the prosecution or the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act. The prosecution and the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act shall have the right, as at an adjudication hearing, to full examination and cross-examination of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim whose deposition is to be taken.

If a deposition taken under this division is intended to be offered as evidence in the proceeding, it shall be filed in the juvenile court in which the action is pending and is admissible in the manner described in division (C) of this section. If a deposition of a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim taken under this division is admitted as evidence at the proceeding under division (C) of this section, the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim shall not be required to testify in person at the proceeding.

At any time before the conclusion of the proceeding, the attorney for the child charged with the violation or act may file a motion with the judge requesting that another deposition of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim be taken because new evidence material to the defense of the child charged has been discovered that the attorney for the child charged could not with reasonable diligence have discovered prior to the taking of the admitted deposition. Any motion requesting another deposition shall be accompanied by supporting affidavits. Upon the filing of the motion and affidavits, the court may order that additional testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim relative to the new evidence be taken by another deposition. If the court orders the taking of another deposition under this provision, the deposition shall be taken in accordance with this division. If the admitted deposition was a videotaped deposition taken in accordance with division (B)(2) of this section, the new deposition also shall be videotaped in accordance with that division. In other cases, the new deposition may be videotaped in accordance with that division.

(2) If the prosecution requests that a deposition to be taken under division (B)(1) of this section be videotaped, the juvenile judge shall order that the deposition be videotaped in accordance with this division. If a juvenile judge issues an order to video tape the deposition, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the deposition is to be taken every person except the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, the judge, one or more interpreters if needed, the attorneys for the prosecution and the child who is charged with the violation or act, any person needed to operate the equipment to be used, one person chosen by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition, and any person whose presence the judge determines would contribute to the welfare and well-being of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition. The person chosen by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim shall not be a witness in the proceeding and, both before and during the deposition, shall not discuss the testimony of the victim with any other witness in the proceeding. To the extent feasible, any person operating the recording equipment shall be restricted to a room adjacent to the room in which the deposition is being taken, or to a location in the room in which the deposition is being taken that is behind a screen or mirror so that the person operating the recording equipment can see and hear, but cannot be seen or heard by, the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition during the deposition.

The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the deposition shall be provided with a monitor on which the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act. The judge, at the judge's discretion, may preside at the deposition by electronic means from outside the room in which the deposition is to be taken; if the judge presides by electronic means, the judge shall be provided with monitors on which the judge can see each person in the room in which the deposition is to be taken and with an electronic means of communication with each person in that room, and each person in the room shall be provided with a monitor on which that person can see the judge and with an electronic means of communication with the judge. A deposition that is videotaped under this division shall be taken and filed in the manner described in division (B)(1) of this section and is admissible in the manner described in this division and division (C) of this section. If a deposition that is videotaped under this division is admitted as evidence at the proceeding, the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim shall not be required to testify in person at the proceeding. No deposition videotaped under this division shall be admitted as evidence at any proceeding unless division (C) of this section is satisfied relative to the deposition and all of the following apply relative to the recording:

(a) The recording is both aural and visual and is recorded on film or videotape, or by other electronic means.

(b) The recording is authenticated under the Rules of Evidence and the Rules of Criminal Procedure as a fair and accurate representation of what occurred, and the recording is not altered other than at the direction and under the supervision of the judge in the proceeding.

(c) Each voice on the recording that is material to the testimony on the recording or the making of the recording, as determined by the judge, is identified.

(d) Both the prosecution and the child who is charged with the violation or act are afforded an opportunity to view the recording before it is shown in the proceeding.

(C)(1) At any proceeding in relation to which a deposition was taken under division (B) of this section, the deposition or a part of it is admissible in evidence upon motion of the prosecution if the testimony in the deposition or the part to be admitted is not excluded by the hearsay rule and if the deposition or the part to be admitted otherwise is admissible under the Rules of Evidence. For purposes of this division, testimony is not excluded by the hearsay rule if the testimony is not hearsay under Evidence Rule 801; the testimony is within an exception to the hearsay rule set forth in Evidence Rule 803; the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim who gave the testimony is unavailable as a witness, as defined in Evidence Rule 804, and the testimony is admissible under that rule; or both of the following apply:

(a) The child who is charged with the violation or act had an opportunity and similar motive at the time of the taking of the deposition to develop the testimony by direct, cross, or redirect examination.

(b) The judge determines that there is reasonable cause to believe that, if the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim who gave the testimony in the deposition were to testify in person at the proceeding, the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim would experience serious emotional trauma as a result of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim's participation at the proceeding.

(2) Objections to receiving in evidence a deposition or a part of it under division (C) of this section shall be made as provided in civil actions.

(3) The provisions of divisions (B) and (C) of this section are in addition to any other provisions of the Revised Code, the Rules of Juvenile Procedure, the Rules of Criminal Procedure, or the Rules of Evidence that pertain to the taking or admission of depositions in a juvenile court proceeding and do not limit the admissibility under any of those other provisions of any deposition taken under division (B) of this section or otherwise taken.

(D) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation listed in division (B)(1) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or offense was a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled person, the prosecution may file a motion with the juvenile judge requesting the judge to order the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to be taken in a room other than the room in which the proceeding is being conducted and be televised, by closed circuit equipment, into the room in which the proceeding is being conducted to be viewed by the child who is charged with the violation or act and any other persons who are not permitted in the room in which the testimony is to be taken but who would have been present during the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim had it been given in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted. Except for good cause shown, the prosecution shall file a motion under this division at least seven days before the date of the proceeding. The juvenile judge may issue the order upon the motion of the prosecution filed under this division, if the judge determines that the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim is unavailable to testify in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act for one or more of the reasons set forth in division (F) of this section. If a juvenile judge issues an order of that nature, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the testimony is to be taken every person except a person described in division (B)(2) of this section. The judge, at the judge's discretion, may preside during the giving of the testimony by electronic means from outside the room in which it is being given, subject to the limitations set forth in division (B)(2) of this section. To the extent feasible, any person operating the televising equipment shall be hidden from the sight and hearing of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, in a manner similar to that described in division (B)(2) of this section. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony shall be provided with a monitor on which the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act.

(E) In any proceeding in juvenile court involving a complaint, indictment, or information in which a child is charged with a violation listed in division (B)(1) of this section or an act that would be an offense of violence if committed by an adult and in which an alleged victim of the violation or offense was a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled person, the prosecution may file a motion with the juvenile judge requesting the judge to order the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to be taken outside of the room in which the proceeding is being conducted and be recorded for showing in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted before the judge, the child who is charged with the violation or act, and any other persons who would have been present during the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim had it been given in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted. Except for good cause shown, the prosecution shall file a motion under this division at least seven days before the date of the proceeding. The juvenile judge may issue the order upon the motion of the prosecution filed under this division, if the judge determines that the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim is unavailable to testify in the room in which the proceeding is being conducted in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act, due to one or more of the reasons set forth in division (F) of this section. If a juvenile judge issues an order of that nature, the judge shall exclude from the room in which the testimony is to be taken every person except a person described in division (B)(2) of this section. To the extent feasible, any person operating the recording equipment shall be hidden from the sight and hearing of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, in a manner similar to that described in division (B)(2) of this section. The child who is charged with the violation or act shall be permitted to observe and hear the testimony of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony on a monitor, shall be provided with an electronic means of immediate communication with the attorney of the child who is charged with the violation or act during the testimony, and shall be restricted to a location from which the child who is charged with the violation or act cannot be seen or heard by the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony, except on a monitor provided for that purpose. The mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony shall be provided with a monitor on which the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim can observe, while giving testimony, the child who is charged with the violation or act. No order for the taking of testimony by recording shall be issued under this division unless the provisions set forth in divisions (B)(2)(a), (b), (c), and (d) of this section apply to the recording of the testimony.

(F) For purposes of divisions (D) and (E) of this section, a juvenile judge may order the testimony of a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to be taken outside of the room in which a proceeding is being conducted if the judge determines that the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim is unavailable to testify in the room in the physical presence of the child charged with the violation or act due to one or more of the following circumstances:

(1) The persistent refusal of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to testify despite judicial requests to do so;

(2) The inability of the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to communicate about the alleged violation or offense because of extreme fear, failure of memory, or another similar reason;

(3) The substantial likelihood that the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim will suffer serious emotional trauma from so testifying.

(G)(1) If a juvenile judge issues an order pursuant to division (D) or (E) of this section that requires the testimony of a mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim in a juvenile court proceeding to be taken outside of the room in which the proceeding is being conducted, the order shall specifically identify the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim to whose testimony it applies, the order applies only during the testimony of the specified mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim, and the mentally retarded or developmentally disabled victim giving the testimony shall not be required to testify at the proceeding other than in accordance with the order. The authority of a judge to close the taking of a deposition under division (B)(2) of this section or a proceeding under division (D) or (E) of this section is in addition to the authority of a judge to close a hearing pursuant to section 2151.35 of the Revised Code.

(2) A juvenile judge who makes any determination regarding the admissibility of a deposition under divisions (B) and (C) of this section, the videotaping of a deposition under division (B)(2) of this section, or the taking of testimony outside of the room in which a proceeding is being conducted under division (D) or (E) of this section shall enter the determination and findings on the record in the proceeding.

HISTORY: 150 v S 178, § 1, eff. 1-30-04.

Effective 1-1-08.

Renumbered RC § 2152.811 by 152 v S 10. Eff 1-1-08

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A)(1) The court that adjudicates a child a delinquent child shall issue as part of the dispositional order or, if the court commits the child for the delinquent act to the custody of a secure facility, shall issue at the time of the child's release from the secure facility, an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code if all of the following apply:

(a) The act for which the child is or was adjudicated a delinquent child is a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or is a child-victim oriented offense that the child committed on or after January 1, 2002.

(b) The child was sixteen or seventeen years of age at the time of committing the offense.

(c) The court was not required to classify the child a juvenile offender registrant under section 2152.82 of the Revised Code.

(2) Prior to issuing the order required by division (A)(2) of this section, the judge shall conduct the hearing and make the determinations required by division (B) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or division (B) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding a child-victim oriented offense to determine if the child is to be classified a sexual predator or a child-victim predator, shall make the determinations required by division (E) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or division (E) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding a child-victim oriented offense to determine if the child is to be classified a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender, and shall otherwise comply with those divisions. When a judge issues an order under division (A)(1) of this section, the judge shall include in the order all of the determinations and information identified in division (B)(1) of section 2152.82 of the Revised Code that are relevant.

(B)(1) The court that adjudicates a child a delinquent child, on the judge's own motion, may conduct at the time of disposition of the child or, if the court commits the child for the delinquent act to the custody of a secure facility, may conduct at the time of the child's release from the secure facility, a hearing for the purposes described in division (B)(2) of this section if all of the following apply:

(a) The act for which the child is adjudicated a delinquent child is a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or is a child-victim oriented offense that the child committed on or after January 1, 2002.

(b) The child was fourteen or fifteen years of age at the time of committing the offense.

(c) The court was not required to classify the child a juvenile offender registrant under section 2152.82 of the Revised Code.

(2) A judge shall conduct a hearing under division (B)(1) of this section to review the effectiveness of the disposition made of the child and of any treatment provided for the child placed in a secure setting and to determine whether the child should be classified a juvenile offender registrant. The judge may conduct the hearing on the judge's own initiative or based upon a recommendation of an officer or employee of the department of youth services, a probation officer, an employee of the court, or a prosecutor or law enforcement officer. If the judge conducts the hearing, upon completion of the hearing, the judge, in the judge's discretion and after consideration of the factors listed in division (E) of this section, shall do either of the following:

(a) Decline to issue an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code;

(b) Issue an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code and, if the judge conducts a hearing as described in division (C) of this section to determine whether the child is a sexual predator or child-victim predator or a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender, include in the order a statement that the judge has determined that the child is, or is not, a sexual predator, child-victim predator, habitual sex offender, or habitual child-victim offender, whichever is applicable.

(C) A judge may issue an order under division (B) of this section that contains a determination that a delinquent child is a sexual predator or child-victim predator only if the judge, in accordance with the procedures specified in division (B) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding sexual predators or division (B) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding child-victim predators, determines at the hearing by clear and convincing evidence that the child is a sexual predator or a child-victim predator. A judge may issue an order under division (B) of this section that contains a determination that a delinquent child is a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender only if the judge at the hearing determines as described in division (E) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding habitual sex offenders or division (E) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding habitual child-victim offenders that the child is a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender. If the judge issues an order under division (B) of this section that contains a determination that a delinquent child is a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender, the judge may impose a requirement subjecting the child to community notification provisions as described in division (E) of section 2950.09 or 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code, whichever is applicable. If the court conducts a hearing as described in this division to determine whether the child is a sexual predator or child-victim predator or a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender, the judge shall comply with division (B) or (E) of section 2950.09 or 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code, whichever is applicable, in all regards.

(D) If a judge issues an order under division (A) or (B) of this section, the judge shall provide to the delinquent child and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian a copy of the order and a notice containing the information described in divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code. The judge shall provide the notice at the time of the issuance of the order and shall comply with divisions (B) and (C) of that section regarding that notice and the provision of it.

The judge also shall include in the order a statement that, upon completion of the disposition of the delinquent child that was made for the sexually oriented offense or child-victim oriented offense upon which the order is based, a hearing will be conducted and the order is subject to modification or termination pursuant to section 2152.84 of the Revised Code.

(E) In making a decision under division (B) of this section as to whether a delinquent child should be classified a juvenile offender registrant and, if so, whether the child also is a sexual predator or child-victim predator or a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender, a judge shall consider all relevant factors, including, but not limited to, all of the following:

(1) The nature of the sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or the child-victim oriented offense committed by the child;

(2) Whether the child has shown any genuine remorse or compunction for the offense;

(3) The public interest and safety;

(4) The factors set forth in division (B)(3) of section 2950.09 or 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code, whichever is applicable;

(5) The factors set forth in divisions (B) and (C) of section 2929.12 of the Revised Code as those factors apply regarding the delinquent child, the offense, and the victim;

(6) The results of any treatment provided to the child and of any follow-up professional assessment of the child.

(F) An order issued under division (A) or (B) of this section and any determinations included in the order shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code, subject to a modification or termination of the order under section 2152.84 of the Revised Code, and section 2152.851 [2152.85.1] of the Revised Code applies regarding the order and the determinations. The child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division.

(G) A court that adjudicates a child a delinquent child for a sexually oriented offense that is a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense shall not issue based on that adjudication an order under this section that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code.

(H) As used in the section, "secure facility" has the same meaning as in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 149 v S 3 (Eff 1-1-2002); 149 v H 393. Eff 7-5-2002; 150 v S 5, § 1, eff. 7-31-03.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A)(1) The court that adjudicates a child a delinquent child shall issue as part of the dispositional order or, if the court commits the child for the delinquent act to the custody of a secure facility, shall issue at the time of the child's release from the secure facility, an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code if all of the following apply:

(a) The act for which the child is or was adjudicated a delinquent child is a sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense that the child committed on or after January 1, 2002.

(b) The child was sixteen or seventeen years of age at the time of committing the offense.

(c) The court was not required to classify the child a juvenile offender registrant under section 2152.82 of the Revised Code or as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant under section 2152.86 of the Revised Code.

(2) Prior to issuing the order required by division (A)(2) of this section, the judge shall conduct a hearing under section 2152.831 [2152.83.1] of the Revised Code, except as otherwise provided in that section, to determine whether the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender. When a judge issues an order under division (A)(1) of this section, the judge shall include in the order the determinations identified in division (B)(5) of section 2152.82 of the Revised Code.

(B)(1) The court that adjudicates a child a delinquent child, on the judge's own motion, may conduct at the time of disposition of the child or, if the court commits the child for the delinquent act to the custody of a secure facility, may conduct at the time of the child's release from the secure facility a hearing for the purposes described in division (B)(2) of this section if all of the following apply:

(a) The act for which the child is adjudicated a delinquent child is a sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense that the child committed on or after January 1, 2002.

(b) The child was fourteen or fifteen years of age at the time of committing the offense.

(c) The court was not required to classify the child a juvenile offender registrant under section 2152.82 of the Revised Code or as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant under section 2152.86 of the Revised Code.

(2) A judge shall conduct a hearing under division (B)(1) of this section to review the effectiveness of the disposition made of the child and of any treatment provided for the child placed in a secure setting and to determine whether the child should be classified a juvenile offender registrant. The judge may conduct the hearing on the judge's own initiative or based upon a recommendation of an officer or employee of the department of youth services, a probation officer, an employee of the court, or a prosecutor or law enforcement officer. If the judge conducts the hearing, upon completion of the hearing, the judge, in the judge's discretion and after consideration of the factors listed in division (E) of this section, shall do either of the following:

(a) Decline to issue an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code;

(b) Issue an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code and that states the determination that the judge makes at the hearing held pursuant to section 2152.831 [2152.83.1] of the Revised Code as to whether the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender.

(C)(1) Prior to issuing an order under division (B)(2)(b) of this section, the judge shall conduct a hearing under section 2152.831 [2152.83.1] of the Revised Code to determine whether the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender. The judge may hold the hearing at the same time as the hearing under division (B) of this section.

(2) If a judge issues an order under division (A) or (B) of this section and the court determines that the delinquent child to whom the order applies is a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender and the child is not a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant, the judge may impose a requirement subjecting the child to the victim and community notification provisions of sections 2950.10 and 2950.11 of the Revised Code. If the judge imposes a requirement subjecting the child to the victim and community notification provisions of sections 2950.10 and 2950.11 of the Revised Code, the judge shall include the requirement in the order.

(3) If a judge issues an order under division (A) or (B) of this section, the judge shall provide to the delinquent child and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian a copy of the order and a notice containing the information described in divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code. The judge shall provide the notice at the time of the issuance of the order and shall comply with divisions (B) and (C) of that section regarding that notice and the provision of it.

The judge also shall include in the order a statement that, upon completion of the disposition of the delinquent child that was made for the sexually oriented offense or child-victim oriented offense upon which the order is based, a hearing will be conducted and the order is subject to modification or termination pursuant to section 2152.84 of the Revised Code.

(D) In making a decision under division (B) of this section as to whether a delinquent child should be classified a juvenile offender registrant, a judge shall consider all relevant factors, including, but not limited to, all of the following:

(1) The nature of the sexually oriented offense or the child-victim oriented offense committed by the child;

(2) Whether the child has shown any genuine remorse or compunction for the offense;

(3) The public interest and safety;

(4) The factors set forth in division (K) of section 2950.11 of the Revised Code, provided that references in the factors as set forth in that division to "the offender" shall be construed for purposes of this division to be references to "the delinquent child;"

(5) The factors set forth in divisions (B) and (C) of section 2929.12 of the Revised Code as those factors apply regarding the delinquent child, the offense, and the victim;

(6) The results of any treatment provided to the child and of any follow-up professional assessment of the child.

(E) An order issued under division (A) or (B) of this section and any determinations included in the order shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code, subject to a modification or termination of the order under section 2152.84 of the Revised Code, and section 2152.851 [2152.85.1] of the Revised Code applies regarding the order and the determinations. The child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division.

(F) If a court issues an order under division (A) or (B) of this section before January 1, 2008, not later than February 1, 2008, the court shall terminate the order and issue a new order that reclassifies the child as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant pursuant to section 2152.86 of the Revised Code if the court imposed on the child a serious youthful offender dispositional sentence under section 2152.13 of the Revised Code and if the act that was the basis of the classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant and is the basis of the serious youthful offender dispositional sentence is any of the following:

(1) Committing, attempting to commit, conspiring to commit, or complicity in committing a violation of section 2907.02 of the Revised Code, division (B) of section 2907.05 of the Revised Code, or section 2907.03 of the Revised Code if the victim of the violation was less than twelve years of age;

(2) Committing, attempting to commit, conspiring to commit, or complicity in committing a violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, or 2905.01 of the Revised Code that was committed with a purpose to gratify the sexual needs or desires of the child.

(G) As used in this section, "secure facility" has the same meaning as in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code.

Constitutionality

RC Chapter 2950 is constitutional as applied to minors: In re Goodman, 161 Ohio App. 3d 192, 829 N.E.2d 1219, 2005 Ohio 2364, (2005).

Generally

Although defendant, a delinquent minor, had not been previously adjudicated a delinquent for a sexually oriented offense, as required by RC § 2152.82(A), such a finding was not required under RC § 2152.83(B), which was relied upon by the trial court in designating defendant as a juvenile sex offender registrant under RC § 2950.01(J); the trial court made the proper determination under § 2152.83(B)(1), finding that defendant had reoffended after prior treatment, and that his prior treatment had proved ineffective. In re J.F.F., 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1810, 2005 Ohio 1906, (2005).

Jurisdiction

Trial court erred in classifying a juvenile sex offender subject to registration pursuant to RC § 2152.83(B)(1) where such classification occurred 13 months after he was released from the Department of Youth Services, as the trial court no longer had jurisdiction to make such a classification; pursuant to the clear language of § 2152.83(B)(1), the trial court had jurisdiction to impose such a classification either at the juvenile's delinquency disposition or upon his release from a secure facility. In re McAllister, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5543, 2006 Ohio 5554, (2006).

Pre-treatment classification

Trial court did not err when it classified defendant, a juvenile, a sexual predator and a juvenile offender registrant prior to his treatment in a secure facility because, pursuant to RC § 2152.83(B)(1), the trial court had discretion regarding when to make a sexual predator determination with respect to a juvenile; further, the language in RC § 2152.84(A)(1) implied that the trial court had the discretion to classify a juvenile offender registrant pre-treatment and could revisit its decision upon the completion of treatment. In re Callahan, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 730, 2005 Ohio 735, (2005).

(A) If, on or after January 1, 2008, a juvenile court adjudicates a child a delinquent child and classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant pursuant to section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code, before issuing the order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant the court shall conduct a hearing to determine whether to classify the child a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender.

(B) When a judge issues an order under section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code that classifies a delinquent child a juvenile offender registrant, in addition to the other statements and information required by the section under which the order is issued, the judge shall include in the order its determination made under division (A) of this section as to whether the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender. When a judge issues an order under section 2152.84 or 2152.85 of the Revised Code that reclassifies a delinquent child from one tier of sex offender/child-victim offender to a different tier of sex offender/child-victim offender, in addition to the other statements and information required by the section under which the order is issued, the judge shall include in the order its determination as to the reclassification of the child and the tier to which the child is reclassified.

(C) The provisions of this section do not apply to a delinquent child if the court is required to classify the child as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant pursuant to section 2152.86 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 152 v S 10, § 1, eff. 1-1-08.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

§ 2152.84 Hearing upon completion of disposition on whether to continue classification or determination.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A)(1) When a juvenile court judge issues an order under section 2152.82 or division (A) or (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code that classifies a delinquent child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, upon completion of the disposition of that child made for the sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense or the child-victim oriented offense on which the juvenile offender registrant order was based, the judge or the judge's successor in office shall conduct a hearing to review the effectiveness of the disposition and of any treatment provided for the child, to determine the risks that the child might re-offend, and to determine whether the prior classification of the child as a juvenile offender registrant and, if applicable, as a sexual predator or child-victim predator or as a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender should be continued, modified, or terminated as provided under division (A)(2) of this section.

(2) Upon completion of a hearing under division (A)(1) of this section, the judge, in the judge's discretion and after consideration of the factors listed in division (E) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code, shall do one of the following, as applicable:

(a) Enter an order that continues the classification of the delinquent child made in the prior order issued under section 2152.82 or division (A) or (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code, and any sexual predator, child-victim predator, habitual sex offender, or habitual child-victim offender determination included in the order;

(b) If the prior order was issued under section 2152.82 or division (A) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code and includes a determination by the judge that the delinquent child is a sexual predator or child-victim predator, enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a sexual predator, the reason or reasons for that determination, and either a determination that the child is a habitual sex offender or a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a sexual predator or habitual sex offender, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a child-victim predator, the reason or reasons for that determination, and either a determination that the child is a habitual child-victim offender or a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a child-victim predator or habitual child-victim offender;

(c) If the prior order was issued under section 2152.82 or division (A) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code and does not include a sexual predator or child-victim predator determination as described in division (A)(2)(b) of this section but includes a determination by the judge that the delinquent child is a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender, enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a habitual sex offender and a determination that the child remains a juvenile sex offender registrant but is not a habitual offender, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a habitual child-victim offender and a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a habitual child-victim offender;

(d) If the prior order was issued under division (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code and includes a determination by the judge that the delinquent child is a sexual predator or child-victim predator, enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a sexual predator, the reason or reasons for that determination, and either a determination that the child is a habitual sex offender, a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a sexual predator or habitual sex offender, or a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a child-victim predator, the reason or reasons for that determination, and either a determination that the child is a habitual child-victim offender, a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a child-victim predator or habitual child-victim offender, or a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code;

(e) If the prior order was issued under division (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code and does not include a sexual predator or child-victim predator determination as described in division (A)(2)(d) of this section but includes a determination by the judge that the delinquent child is a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender, enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a habitual sex offender and either a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a sexual predator or habitual sex offender or a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a habitual child-victim offender and either a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a child-victim predator or habitual child-victim offender or a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code;

(f) If the prior order was issued under division (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code and does not include a sexual predator or child-victim predator determination or a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender determination as described in divisions (A)(2)(d) and (e) of this section, enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that the delinquent child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, or an order that contains a determination that the delinquent child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code.

(B) If a judge issues an order under division (A)(2)(a) of this section that continues the prior classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant and any sexual predator or habitual sex offender determination included in the order, or that continues the prior classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant and any child-victim predator or habitual child-victim offender determination included in the order, the prior classification and the prior determination, if applicable, shall remain in effect.

A judge may issue an order under division (A)(2) of this section that contains a determination that a child no longer is a sexual predator or no longer is a child-victim predator only if the judge, in accordance with the procedures specified in division (D)(1) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding a sexual predator, determines at the hearing by clear and convincing evidence that the delinquent child is unlikely to commit a sexually oriented offense in the future, or the judge, in accordance with the procedures specified in division (D)(1) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding a child-victim predator, determines at the hearing by clear and convincing evidence that the delinquent child is unlikely to commit a child-victim oriented offense in the future. If the judge issues an order of that type, the judge shall provide the notifications described in division (D)(1) of section 2950.09 or 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code, whichever is applicable, and the recipient of the notification shall comply with the provisions of that division.

If a judge issues an order under division (A)(2) of this section that otherwise reclassifies the delinquent child, the judge shall provide a copy of the order to the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, and the bureau, upon receipt of the copy of the order, promptly shall notify the sheriff with whom the child most recently registered under section 2950.04 or 2950.041 [2950.04.1] of the Revised Code of the reclassification.

(C) If a judge issues an order under any provision of division (A)(2) of this section, the judge shall provide to the delinquent child and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian a copy of the order and a notice containing the information described in divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code. The judge shall provide the notice at the time of the issuance of the order and shall comply with divisions (B) and (C) of that section regarding that notice and the provision of it.

(D) In making a decision under division (A) of this section, a judge shall consider all relevant factors, including, but not limited to, the factors listed in division (E) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code.

(E) An order issued under division (A)(2) of this section and any determinations included in the order shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code, subject to a modification or termination of the order under section 2152.85 of the Revised Code, and section 2152.851 [2152.85.1] of the Revised Code applies regarding the order and the determinations. If an order is issued under division (A)(2) of this section, the child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division.

HISTORY: 149 v S 3 (Eff 1-1-2002); 149 v H 393, Eff 7-5-2002; 150 v S 5, § 1, eff. 7-31-03.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A)(1) When a juvenile court judge issues an order under section 2152.82 or division (A) or (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code that classifies a delinquent child a juvenile offender registrant and specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, upon completion of the disposition of that child made for the sexually oriented offense or the child-victim oriented offense on which the juvenile offender registrant order was based, the judge or the judge's successor in office shall conduct a hearing to review the effectiveness of the disposition and of any treatment provided for the child, to determine the risks that the child might re-offend, to determine whether the prior classification of the child as a juvenile offender registrant should be continued or terminated as provided under division (A)(2) of this section, and to determine whether its prior determination made at the hearing held pursuant to section 2152.831 [2152.83.1] of the Revised Code as to whether the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender should be continued or modified as provided under division (A)(2) of this section.

(2) Upon completion of a hearing under division (A)(1) of this section, the judge, in the judge's discretion and after consideration of all relevant factors, including but not limited to, the factors listed in division (D) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code, shall do one of the following as applicable:

(a) Enter an order that continues the classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant made in the prior order issued under section 2152.82 or division (A) or (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code and the prior determination included in the order that the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, whichever is applicable;

(b) If the prior order was issued under division (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code, enter an order that contains a determination that the delinquent child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code. An order issued under division (A)(2)(b) of this section also terminates all prior determinations that the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, whichever is applicable. Division (A)(2)(b) of this section does not apply to a prior order issued under section 2152.82 or division (A) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code.

(c) If the prior order was issued under section 2152.82 or division (A) or (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised

Code, enter an order that continues the classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant made in the prior order issued under section 2152.82 or division (A) or (B) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code, and that modifies the prior determination made at the hearing held pursuant to section 2152.831 [2152.83.1] of the Revised Code that the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, whichever is applicable. An order issued under division (A)(2)(c) of this section shall not include a determination that increases to a higher tier the tier classification of the delinquent child. An order issued under division (A)(2)(c) of this section shall specify the new determination made by the court at a hearing held pursuant to division (A)(1) of this section as to whether the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, whichever is applicable.

(B)(1) If a judge issues an order under division (A)(2)(a) of this section that continues the prior classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant and the prior determination included in the order that the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, whichever is applicable, the prior classification and the prior determination shall remain in effect.

(2) A judge may issue an order under division (A)(2)(c) of this section that contains a determination that reclassifies a child from a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender classification to a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender classification or to a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender classification.

A judge may issue an order under division (A)(2)(c) of this section that contains a determination that reclassifies a child from a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender classification. A judge may not issue an order under that division that contains a determination that reclassifies a child from a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender classification to a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender classification.

A judge may not issue an order under division (A)(2)(c) of this section that contains a determination that reclassifies a child from a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender classification to a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender classification or to a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender classification.

If a judge issues an order under this division that contains a determination that reclassifies a child, the judge shall provide a copy of the order to the delinquent child and the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, and the bureau, upon receipt of the copy of the order, promptly shall notify the sheriff with whom the child most recently registered under section 2950.04 or 2950.041 [2950.04.1] of the Revised Code of the determination and reclassification.

(3) If a judge issues an order under division (A)(2)(b) of this section that declassifies the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant, the judge shall provide a copy of the order to the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, and the bureau, upon receipt of the copy of the order, promptly shall notify the sheriff with whom the child most recently registered under section 2950.04 or 2950.041 [2950.04.1] of the Revised Code of the declassification.

(C) If a judge issues an order under division (A)(2)(a), (b), or (c) of this section, the judge shall provide to the delinquent child and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian a copy of the order and, if applicable, a notice containing the information described in divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code. The judge shall provide the notice at the time of the issuance of the order and shall comply with divisions (B) and (C) of that section regarding that notice and the provision of it.

(D) An order issued under division (A)(2)(a) or (c) of this section and any determinations included in the order shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code, subject to a modification or termination of the order under section 2152.85 of the Revised Code, and section 2152.851 [2152.85.1] of the Revised Code applies regarding the order and the determinations. If an order is issued under division (A)(2)(a) or (c) of this section, the child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division.

(E) The provisions of this section do not apply to a delinquent child who is classified as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant pursuant to section 2152.86 of the Revised Code.

CASE NOTES AND OAG

Discretion of court

Trial court did not err when it classified defendant, a juvenile, a sexual predator and a juvenile offender registrant prior to his treatment in a secure facility because, pursuant to RC § 2152.83(B)(1), the trial court had discretion regarding when to make a sexual predator determination with respect to a juvenile; further, the language in RC § 2152.84(A)(1) implied that the trial court had the discretion to classify a juvenile offender registrant pre-treatment and could revisit its decision upon the completion of treatment. In re Callahan, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 730, 2005 Ohio 735, (2005).

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) Upon the expiration of the applicable period of time specified in division (B)(1) or (2) of this section, a delinquent child who has been classified pursuant to this section or section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code a juvenile offender registrant may petition the judge who made the classification, or that judge's successor in office, to do one of the following:

(1) If the order containing the juvenile offender registrant classification also includes a determination by the juvenile court judge that the delinquent child is a sexual predator or child-victim predator in the manner described in section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code and that determination remains in effect, to enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a sexual predator, the reason or reasons for that determination, and either a determination that the child is a habitual sex offender or a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a sexual predator or habitual sex offender, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a child-victim predator, the reason or reasons for that determination, and either a determination that the child is a habitual child-victim offender or a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant but is not a child-victim predator or habitual child-victim offender;

(2) If the order containing the juvenile offender registrant classification under section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code or under division (C)(2) of this section pursuant to a petition filed under division (A) of this section does not include a sexual predator or child-victim predator determination as described in division (A)(1) of this section but includes a determination by the juvenile court judge that the delinquent child is a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender in the manner described in section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code, or in this section, and that determination remains in effect, to enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a habitual sex offender and either a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant or a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a habitual child-victim offender and either a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant or a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code;

(3) If the order containing the juvenile offender registrant classification under section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code or under division (C)(2) of this section pursuant to a petition filed under division (A) of this section does not include a sexual predator or child-victim predator determination or a habitual sex offender or habitual child-victim offender determination as described in division (A)(1) or (2) of this section, to enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code.

(B) A delinquent child who has been adjudicated a delinquent child for committing on or after January 1, 2002, a sexually oriented offense that is not a registration-exempt sexually oriented offense and who has been classified a juvenile offender registrant relative to that offense or who has been adjudicated a delinquent child for committing on or after that date a child-victim oriented offense and who has been classified a juvenile offender registrant relative to that offense may file a petition under division (A) of this section requesting reclassification or declassification as described in that division after the expiration of one of the following periods of time:

(1) The delinquent child initially may file a petition not earlier than three years after the entry of the juvenile court judge's order after the mandatory hearing conducted under section 2152.84 of the Revised Code.

(2) After the delinquent child's initial filing of a petition under division (B)(1) of this section, the child may file a second petition not earlier than three years after the judge has entered an order deciding the petition under division (B)(1) of this section.

(3) After the delinquent child's filing of a petition under division (B)(2) of this section, thereafter, the delinquent child may file a petition under this division upon the expiration of five years after the judge has entered an order deciding the petition under division (B)(2) of this section or the most recent petition the delinquent child has filed under this division.

(C) Upon the filing of a petition under divisions (A) and (B) of this section, the judge may review the prior classification or determination in question and, upon consideration of all relevant factors and information, including, but not limited to the factors listed in division (E) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code, the judge, in the judge's discretion, shall do one of the following:

(1) Enter an order denying the petition;

(2) Issue an order that reclassifies or declassifies the delinquent child, in the requested manner specified in division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section.

(D) If a judge issues an order under division (C) of this section that denies a petition, the prior classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant, and the prior determination that the child is a sexual predator, child-victim predator, habitual sex offender, or habitual child-victim offender, if applicable, shall remain in effect.

A judge may issue an order under division (C) of this section that contains a determination that a child no longer is a sexual predator or no longer is a child-victim predator only if the judge conducts a hearing and, in accordance with the procedures specified in division (D)(1) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding a sexual predator, determines at the hearing by clear and convincing evidence that the delinquent child is unlikely to commit a sexually oriented offense in the future, or, in accordance with the procedures specified in division (D)(1) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding a child-victim predator, determines at the hearing by clear and convincing evidence that the delinquent child is unlikely to commit a child-victim oriented offense in the future. If the judge issues an order of that type, the judge shall provide the notifications described in division (D)(1) of section 2950.09 or 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code, whichever is applicable, and the recipient of the notification shall comply with the provisions of that division.

A judge may issue an order under division (C) of this section that contains a determination that a delinquent child is a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender only if the judge conducts a hearing and determines at the hearing as described in division (E) of section 2950.09 of the Revised Code regarding habitual sex offenders or division (E) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code regarding habitual child-victim offenders that the child is a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender. If the judge issues an order that contains a determination that a delinquent child is a habitual sex offender or a habitual child-victim offender, the judge may impose a requirement subjecting the child to community notification provisions as described in that division.

(E) If a judge issues an order under division (C) of this section, the judge shall provide to the delinquent child and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian a copy of the order and a notice containing the information described in divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code. The judge shall provide the notice at the time of the issuance of the order and shall comply with divisions (B) and (C) of that section regarding that notice and the provision of it.

(F) An order issued under division (C) of this section shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code, subject to a further modification or a termination of the order under this section, and section 2152.851 [2152.85.1] of the Revised Code applies regarding the order and the determinations. If an order is issued under division (C) of this section, the child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A) Regardless of when the delinquent child was classified a juvenile offender registrant, upon the expiration of the applicable period of time specified in division (B)(1), (2), or (3) of this section, a delinquent child who has been classified pursuant to this section or section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code a juvenile offender registrant may petition the judge who made the classification, or that judge's successor in office, to do one of the following:

(1) If the order containing the juvenile offender registrant classification also includes a determination by the juvenile court judge that the delinquent child is a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, to enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that reclassifies the child as either a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender or a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, the reason or reasons for that reclassification, and a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code;

(2) If the order containing the juvenile offender registrant classification also includes a determination by the juvenile court judge that the delinquent child is a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, to enter, as applicable, an order that contains a determination that reclassifies the child as a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, the reason or reasons for that reclassification, and a determination that the child remains a juvenile offender registrant, or an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code;

(3) If the order containing the juvenile offender registrant classification also includes a determination by the juvenile court judge that the delinquent child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, to enter an order that contains a determination that the child no longer is a juvenile offender registrant and no longer has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code.

(B) A delinquent child who has been adjudicated a delinquent child for committing on or after January 1, 2002, a sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense and who has been classified a juvenile offender registrant relative to that offense may file a petition under division (A) of this section requesting reclassification or declassification as described in that division after the expiration of one of the following periods of time:

(1) The delinquent child initially may file a petition not earlier than three years after the entry of the juvenile court judge's order after the mandatory hearing conducted under section 2152.84 of the Revised Code.

(2) After the delinquent child's initial filing of a petition under division (B)(1) of this section, the child may file a second petition not earlier than three years after the judge has entered an order deciding the petition under division (B)(1) of this section.

(3) After the delinquent child's filing of a petition under division (B)(2) of this section, thereafter, the delinquent child may file a petition under this division upon the expiration of five years after the judge has entered an order deciding the petition under division (B)(2) of this section or the most recent petition the delinquent child has filed under this division.

(C) Upon the filing of a petition under division (A) of this section, the judge may review the prior classification or determination in question and, upon consideration of all relevant factors and information, including, but not limited to the factors listed in division (D) of section 2152.83 of the Revised Code, the judge, in the judge's discretion, shall do one of the following:

(1) Enter an order denying the petition;

(2) Issue an order that reclassifies or declassifies the delinquent child in the requested manner.

(D) If a judge issues an order under division (C)(1) of this section that denies a petition, the prior classification of the delinquent child as a juvenile offender registrant, and the prior determination that the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, whichever is applicable, shall remain in effect.

A judge may issue an order under division (C)(2) of this section that contains a determination that reclassifies a child from a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender classification to a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender classification or to a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender classification.

A judge may issue an order under division (C)(2) of this section that contains a determination that reclassifies a child from a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender classification to a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender classification.

If a judge issues an order under this division that contains a determination that reclassifies a child, the judge shall provide a copy of the order to the delinquent child and the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, and the bureau, upon receipt of the copy of the order, promptly shall notify the sheriff with whom the child most recently registered under section 2950.04 or 2950.041 [2950.04.1] of the Revised Code of the determination and reclassification.

If a judge issues an order under division (C)(2) of this section that declassifies the delinquent child, the order also terminates all prior determinations that the child is a tier I sex offender/child-victim offender, a tier II sex offender/child-victim offender, or a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, whichever is applicable. If a judge issues an order under division (C)(2) of this section that declassifies the delinquent child, the judge shall provide a copy of the order to the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, and the bureau, upon receipt of a copy of the order, promptly shall notify the sheriff with whom the child most recently registered under section 2950.04 or 2950.041 [2950.04.1] of the Revised Code of the declassification.

(E) If a judge issues an order under division (C)(1) or (2) of this section, the judge shall provide to the delinquent child and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian a copy of the order and, if applicable, a notice containing the information described in divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code. The judge shall provide the notice at the time of the issuance of the order and shall comply with divisions (B) and (C) of that section regarding that notice and the provision of it.

(F) An order issued under division (C) of this section shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code, subject to a further modification or future termination of the order under this section. If an order is issued under division (C) of this section, the child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division.

(G) The provisions of this section do not apply to a delinquent child who is classified as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant pursuant to section 2152.86 of the Revised Code.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) If, prior to the effective date of this section, a judge issues an order under section 2152.82, 2152.83, 2152.84, or 2152.85 of the Revised Code that classifies a delinquent child a juvenile offender registrant and if, on and after the effective date of this section, the sexually oriented offense upon which the order was based no longer is considered a sexually oriented offense but instead is a child-victim oriented offense, notwithstanding the redesignation of the offense, the order shall remain in effect for the period described in the section under which it was issued, the order shall be considered for all purposes to be an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant, division (A)(2)(b) of section 2950.041 [2950.04.1] of the Revised Code applies regarding the child, and the duty to register imposed pursuant to that division shall be considered, for purposes of section 2950.07 of the Revised Code and for all other purposes, to be a continuation of the duty imposed upon the child prior to the effective date of this section under the order issued under section 2152.82, 2152.83, 2152.84, or 2152.85 and Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code.

(B) If an order of the type described in division (A) of this section included a classification or determination that the delinquent child was a sexual predator or habitual sex offender, notwithstanding the redesignation of the offense upon which the determination was based, all of the following apply:

(1) Divisions (A)(1) and (2) or (E)(1) and (2) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code apply regarding the child and the judge's order made prior to the effective date of this section shall be considered for all purposes to be an order that classifies the child as described in those divisions;

(2) The child's classification or determination under divisions (A)(1) and (2) or (E)(1) and (2) of section 2950.091 [2950.09.1] of the Revised Code shall be considered, for purposes of section 2950.07 of the Revised Code and for all other purposes, to be a continuation of classification or determination made prior to the effective date of this section;

(3) The child's duties under Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code relative to that classification or determination shall be considered for all purposes to be a continuation of the duties related to that classification or determination as they existed prior to the effective date of this section.

Effective 1-1-08.

If, prior to January 1, 2008, a judge issues an order under section 2152.82, 2152.83, 2152.84, or 2152.85 of the Revised Code that classifies a delinquent child a juvenile offender registrant based on an adjudication for a sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense as those terms were defined in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code prior to January 1, 2008, and if, on and after January 1, 2008, the offense upon which the order was based is a sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense as those terms are defined in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code on and after January 1, 2008, notwithstanding the changes to sections 2152.82, 2152.83, 2152.84, and 2152.85 of the Revised Code made on January 1, 2008, on and after that date, the order shall remain in effect for the period described in the section under which it was issued as that section exists on and after January 1, 2008, subject to subsequent modification or termination under section 2152.84, 2152.85, or 2950.15 of the Revised Code, or, if division (A)(3) of section 2152.86 of the Revised Code applies regarding the child, for the period described in division (C) of that section subject to modification or termination under section 2152.84, 2152.85, or 2950.15 of the Revised Code, whichever is applicable, and the duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code on and after January 1, 2008, shall be considered, for purposes of section 2950.07 of the Revised Code and for all other purposes, to be a continuation of the duty imposed upon the child prior to January 1, 2008, under the order issued under section 2152.82, 2152.83, 2152.84, or 2152.85 and Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code.

152 v S 10, effective January 1, 2008, rewrote the section.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A)(1) The court that, on or after January 1, 2008, adjudicates a child a delinquent child for committing an act shall issue as part of the dispositional order an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant, specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, and additionally classifies the child a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant if the child was fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, or seventeen years of age at the time of committing the act, the court imposed on the child a serious youthful offender dispositional sentence under section 2152.13 of the Revised Code, and the child is adjudicated a delinquent child for committing, attempting to commit, conspiring to commit, or complicity in committing any of the following acts:

(a) A violation of section 2907.02 of the Revised Code, division (B) of section 2907.05 of the Revised Code, or section 2907.03 of the Revised Code if the victim of the violation was less than twelve years of age;

(b) A violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, or 2905.01 of the Revised Code that was committed with a purpose to gratify the sexual needs or desires of the child.

(2) Upon a child's release, on or after January 1, 2008, from the department of youth services, the court shall issue an order that classifies the child a juvenile offender registrant, specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, and additionally classifies the child a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant if all of the following apply:

(a) The child was adjudicated a delinquent child, and a juvenile court imposed on the child a serious youthful offender dispositional sentence under section 2152.13 of the Revised Code for committing one of the acts described in division (A)(1)(a) or (b) of this section.

(b) The child was fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, or seventeen years of age at the time of committing the act.

(c) The court did not issue an order classifying the child as both a juvenile offender registrant and a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant pursuant to division (A)(1) of this section.

(3) If a court issued an order classifying a child a juvenile offender registrant pursuant to section 2152.82 or 2152.83 of the Revised Code prior to January 1, 2008, not later than February 1, 2008, the court shall issue a new order that reclassifies the child as a juvenile offender registrant, specifies that the child has a duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code, and additionally classifies the child a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant if all of the following apply:

(a) The sexually oriented offense that was the basis of the previous order that classified the child a juvenile offender registrant was an act described in division (A)(1)(a) or (b) of this section.

(b) The child was fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, or seventeen years of age at the time of committing the act.

(c) The court imposed on the child a serious youthful offender dispositional sentence under section 2152.13 of the Revised Code for the act described in division (A)(1)(a) or (b) of this section.

(B)(1) If an order is issued under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section, the classification of tier III sex offender/child-victim offender automatically applies to the delinquent child based on the sexually oriented offense the child committed, subject to a possible reclassification pursuant to division (D) of this section for a child whose delinquent act was committed prior to January 1, 2008. If an order is issued under division (A)(2) of this section regarding a child whose delinquent act described in division (A)(1)(a) or (b) of this section was committed prior to January 1, 2008, or if an order is issued under division (A)(3) of this section regarding a delinquent child, the order shall inform the child and the child's parent, guardian, or custodian, that the child has a right to a hearing as described in division (D) of this section and inform the child and the child's parent, guardian, or custodian of the procedures for requesting the hearing and the period of time within which the request for the hearing must be made. Section 2152.831 [2152.83.1] of the Revised Code does not apply regarding an order issued under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section.

(2) The judge that issues an order under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section shall provide to the delinquent child who is the subject of the order and to the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian the notice required under divisions (A) and (B) of section 2950.03 of the Revised Code and shall provide as part of that notice a copy of the order required under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section. The judge shall include the order in the delinquent child's dispositional order and shall specify in the dispositional order that the order issued under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section was made pursuant to this section.

(C) An order issued under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section shall remain in effect for the period of time specified in section 2950.07 of the Revised Code as it exists on and after January 1, 2008, subject to a judicial termination of that period of time as provided in section 2950.15 of the Revised Code, subject to a possible reclassification of the child pursuant to division (D) of this section if the child's delinquent act was committed prior to January 1, 2008. If an order is issued under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section, the child's attainment of eighteen or twenty-one years of age does not affect or terminate the order, and the order remains in effect for the period of time described in this division. If an order is issued under division (A)(3) of this section, the duty to comply with sections 2950.04, 2950.041 [2950.04.1], 2950.05, and 2950.06 of the Revised Code based upon that order shall be considered, for purposes of section 2950.07 of the Revised Code and for all other purposes, to be a continuation of the duty to comply with those sections imposed upon the child prior to January 1, 2008, under the order issued under section 2152.82, 2152.83, 2152.84, or 2152.85 and Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code.

(D)(1) If an order is issued under division (A)(2) of this section regarding a delinquent child whose delinquent act described in division (A)(1)(a) or (b) of this section was committed prior to January 1, 2008, or if an order is issued under division (A)(3) of this section regarding a delinquent child, except as otherwise provided in this division, the child may request as a matter of right a court hearing to contest the court's classification in the order of the child as a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant. To request the hearing, not later than the date that is sixty days after the delinquent child is provided with the copy of the order, the delinquent child shall file a petition with the juvenile court that issued the order.

If the delinquent child requests a hearing by timely filing a petition with the juvenile court, the delinquent child shall serve a copy of the petition on the prosecutor who handled the case in which the delinquent child was adjudicated a delinquent child for committing the sexually oriented offense or child-victim oriented offense that resulted in the delinquent child's registration duty under section 2950.04 or 2950.041 [2950.04.1] of the Revised Code. The prosecutor shall represent the interest of the state in the hearing. In any hearing under this division, the Rules of Juvenile Procedure apply except to the extent that those Rules would by their nature be clearly inapplicable. The court shall schedule a hearing and shall provide notice to the delinquent child and the delinquent child's parent, guardian, or custodian and to the prosecutor of the date, time, and place of the hearing.

If the delinquent child requests a hearing in accordance with this division, until the court issues its decision at or subsequent to the hearing, the delinquent child shall comply with Chapter 2950. of the Revised Code as it exists on and after January 1, 2008. If a delinquent child requests a hearing in accordance with this division, at the hearing, all parties are entitled to be heard, and the court shall consider all relevant information and testimony presented relative to the issue of whether the child should be classified a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant. Notwithstanding the court's classification of the delinquent child as a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant, the court may terminate that classification if it determines by clear and convincing evidence that the classification is in error.

If the court decides to terminate the court's classification of the delinquent child as a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant, the court shall issue an order that specifies that it has determined that the child is not a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant and that it has terminated the court's classification of the delinquent child as a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant. The court promptly shall serve a copy of the order upon the sheriff with whom the delinquent child most recently registered under section 2950.04 or 2950.041 [2950.04.1] of the Revised Code and upon the bureau of criminal identification and investigation. The delinquent child and the prosecutor have the right to appeal the decision of the court issued under this division.

If the delinquent child fails to request a hearing in accordance with this division within the applicable sixty-day period specified in this division, the failure constitutes a waiver by the delinquent child of the delinquent child's right to a hearing under this division, and the delinquent child is bound by the court's classification of the delinquent child as a public registry-qualified juvenile offender registrant.

(2) An order issued under division (D)(1) of this section is independent of any order of a type described in division (F) of section 2950.031 [2950.03.1] of the Revised Code or division (E) of section 2950.032 [2950.03.2] of the Revised Code, and the court may issue an order under both division (D)(1) of this section and an order of a type described in division (F) of section 2950.031 [2950.03.1] of the Revised Code or division (E) of section 2950.032 [2950.03.2] of the Revised Code. A court that conducts a hearing under division (D)(1) of this section may consolidate that hearing with a hearing conducted for the same delinquent child under division (F) of section 2950.031 [2950.03.1] of the Revised Code or division (E) of section 2950.032 [2950.03.2] of the Revised Code.

Each of the judges of the juvenile court division shall be elected for six years at the general election immediately preceding the year in which the term, as provided in this section, commences, and the judge's successor shall be elected at the general election immediately preceding the expiration of such term.

Each judge shall be elected by the electors of Cuyahoga county in the same manner as is provided for the election of judges of the court of common pleas. The terms of office of the judges of the juvenile court shall begin as follows: January 1, 1959, January 2, 1959, January 1, 1963, January 2, 1963, January 3, 1977, and January 3, 1987. Each of the judges of the juvenile court shall have the same judicial duties.

In addition to the judge's regular judicial duties, one of the judges shall be the administrator of the juvenile court's subdivisions and departments.

The administrative judge shall be elected in the manner provided by rule 3 of the rules adopted by the supreme court of Ohio for the superintendence of the common pleas court. During any absence from the court by the administrative judge, the administrative judge may designate one of the other judges to serve in the administrative judge's place and stead as the clerk of the court and as the administrator of the court's subdivisions and departments.

In case of the temporary absence or disability of a juvenile judge, or when the volume of cases pending in the juvenile court necessitates the assistance of an additional judge, and upon the request of a juvenile judge, the presiding judge of the court of common pleas of Cuyahoga county shall designate a judge of the court of common pleas of Cuyahoga county to act as juvenile judge during the absence or disability. If no judge of the court of common pleas is available for that purpose, the chief justice of the supreme court shall designate a juvenile judge, a probate judge, or a judge of the court of common pleas from another county to act as judge. Such judge shall receive the compensation for his services and expenses that is provided by section 141.07 of the Revised Code for judges of the courts of common pleas designated by the chief justice to hold court outside their respective counties.

Vacancies occurring in the office of the juvenile judge of Cuyahoga county shall be filled in the manner prescribed for the filling of vacancies in the office of the judges of the courts of common pleas.

He may appoint and employ such deputies, clerks, stenographers, and other assistants and attaches as are reasonably necessary in connection with the work of said court, and shall file with the county auditor certificates of such appointments. Any such appointee may be dismissed by the administrative judge. Each appointee shall qualify by taking the oath of office required by the clerk of the court of common pleas under sections 3.22 and 3.23 of the Revised Code. When so qualified, each deputy clerk may perform the duties of the clerk and shall have the same powers as a deputy clerk of the court of common pleas in matters of which the court of common pleas now has concurrent jurisdiction by virtue of section 2151.07 of the Revised Code. The administrative judge may require any of his appointees to give bond in the sum of not less than one thousand dollars, conditioned for the honest and faithful performance of his duties. The approval of the sureties, the terms, the filing, and the beneficiaries of such bonds shall be the same as in the case of the bond of the clerk under section 2153.10 of the Revised Code. The clerk shall not be personally liable for the default, misfeasance, or nonfeasance of any appointee from whom a bond has been required, approved, and filed as provided in this section.

Employees

An administrative judge of the juvenile division of a court of common pleas is not authorized to enter into an employment agreement with employees of the court: Malone v. Court of Common Pleas, 45 Ohio St. 2d 245, 74 Ohio Op. 2d 413, 344 N.E.2d 126 (1976).

(A)(1) The juvenile judges may determine that, for the efficient operation of their court, additional funds are required to computerize the court, to make available computerized legal research services, or both. Upon making a determination that additional funds are required for either or both of those purposes, the judges shall authorize and direct the clerk or a deputy clerk of the court to charge one additional fee not to exceed three dollars on the filing of each cause of action or appeal under division (A), (Q), or (U) of section 2303.20 of the Revised Code.

(2) All moneys collected under division (A)(1) of this section shall be paid to the county treasurer. The treasurer shall place the moneys from the fees in a separate fund to be disbursed, upon an order of the juvenile judges, in an amount no greater than the actual cost to the court of procuring and maintaining computer systems for the clerk's office, computerized legal research services, or both.

(3) If the court determines that the funds in the fund described in division (A)(2) of this section are more than sufficient to satisfy the purpose for which the additional fee described in division (A)(1) of this section was imposed, the court may declare a surplus in the fund and expend those surplus funds for other appropriate technological expenses of the court.

(B)(1) The juvenile judges may determine that, for the efficient operation of their court, additional funds are required to computerize the office of the clerk of the juvenile court and, upon that determination, may authorize and direct the clerk or a deputy clerk of the court to charge an additional fee, not to exceed ten dollars, on the filing of each cause of action or appeal, on the filing, docketing, and endorsing of each certificate of judgment, or on the docketing and indexing of each aid in execution or petition to vacate, revive, or modify a judgment under divisions (A), (P), (Q), (T), and (U) of section 2303.20 of the Revised Code. Subject to division (B)(2) of this section, all moneys collected under this division shall be paid to the county treasurer to be disbursed, upon an order of the juvenile judges and subject to appropriation by the board of county commissioners, in an amount no greater than the actual cost to the juvenile court of procuring and maintaining computer systems for the clerk's office.

(2) If the juvenile judges make the determination described in division (B)(1) of this section, the board of county commissioners may issue one or more general obligation bonds for the purpose of procuring and maintaining the computer systems for the office of the clerk of the juvenile court. In addition to the purposes stated in division (B)(1) of this section for which the moneys collected under that division may be expended, the moneys additionally may be expended to pay debt charges on and financing costs related to any general obligation bonds issued pursuant to this division as they become due. General obligation bonds issued pursuant to this division are Chapter 133. securities.

CASE NOTES AND OAG

In 1934 the common pleas court of Cuyahoga county had jurisdiction concurrent with that of the juvenile court, under authority of § 1639, General Code (108 Ohio Laws, pt. 2, 1130). Hence, conviction of juvenile for crime of burglary by common pleas court was not void for lack of jurisdiction: In re Giordano, 164 Ohio St. 509, 58 Ohio Op. 353, 132 N.E.2d 211 (1956).

§ 2153.17 Laws now in force to apply.

The sections of the Revised Code regulating the manner and grounds of appeal from any judgment, order, or decree rendered by the court of common pleas in the exercise of juvenile jurisdiction shall apply to the juvenile court.

RULE 1. Scope of rules; applicability; construction; exceptions

(A) Applicability. These rules prescribe the procedure to be followed in all juvenile courts of this state in all proceedings coming within the jurisdiction of such courts, with the exceptions stated in subdivision (C).

(B) Construction. These rules shall be liberally interpreted and construed so as to effectuate the following purposes:

(1) to effect the just determination of every juvenile court proceeding by ensuring the parties a fair hearing and the recognition and enforcement of their constitutional and other legal rights;

(2) to secure simplicity and uniformity in procedure, fairness in administration, and the elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay;

(3) to provide for the care, protection, and mental and physical development of children subject to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court, and to protect the welfare of the community; and

(4) to protect the public interest by treating children as persons in need of supervision, care and rehabilitation.

(C) Exceptions. These rules shall not apply to procedure (1) Upon appeal to review any judgment, order, or ruling; (2) Upon the trial of criminal actions; (3) Upon the trial of actions for divorce, annulment, legal separation, and related proceedings; (4) In proceedings to determine parent-child relationships, provided, however that appointment of counsel shall be in accordance with Rule 4(A) of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure; (5) In the commitment of the mentally ill and mentally retarded; (6) In proceedings under section 2151.85 of the Revised Code to the extent that there is a conflict between these rules and section 2151.85 of the Revised Code.

When any statute provides for procedure by general or specific reference to the statutes governing procedure in juvenile court actions, procedure shall be in accordance with these rules.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-95 AMENDMENT

RULE 1(C) EXCEPTIONS

The amendment effective July 1, 1994 contained an error that is corrected by this revision. The 1994 amendment erroneously referred to division (A)(4) of Rule 4, when no division (A)(4) exists.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 1(C) EXCEPTIONS

Juv. R. 1(C)(4) now reflects current terminology used in Revised Code Sections 3111.01 through 3111.19 regarding the establishment of the parent and child relationship. Additionally, the division clarifies that Juv. R. 4(A)(4), regarding appointment of counsel for certain parties, now applies in actions to establish the parent and child relationship.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

INDEX

Custody
Dismissal

Custody

The Rules of Civil Procedure have no applicability to a custody proceeding in the court of common pleas, juvenile division. Rather, the Rules of Juvenile Procedure govern such proceedings: Squires v. Squires, 12 Ohio App. 3d 138, 468 N.E.2d 73, 12 Ohio B. 460, 1983 Ohio App. LEXIS 11354 (1983).

Dismissal

The court did not abuse its discretion by dismissing a rape charge against a ten-year-old on the basis that continuing prosecution would not further the juvenile court policies of the state: In re Smith, 80 Ohio App. 3d 502, 609 N.E.2d 1281, 1992 Ohio App. LEXIS 2772 (1992).

RULE 2. Definitions

As used in these rules:

(A) "Abused child" has the same meaning as in section 2151.031 of the Revised Code.

(B) "Adjudicatory hearing" means a hearing to determine whether a child is a juvenile traffic offender, delinquent, unruly, abused, neglected, or dependent or otherwise within the jurisdiction of the court.

(C) "Agreement for temporary custody" means a voluntary agreement that is authorized by section 5103.15 of the Revised Code and transfers the temporary custody of a child to a public children services agency or a private child placing agency.

(D) "Child" has the same meaning as in sections 2151.011 and 2152.02 of the Revised Code.

(E) "Chronic truant" has the same meaning as in section 2151.011 of the Revised Code.

(F) "Complaint" means the legal document that sets forth the allegations that form the basis for juvenile court jurisdiction.

(G) "Court proceeding" means all action taken by a court from the earlier of (1) the time a complaint is filed and (2) the time a person first appears before an officer of a juvenile court until the court relinquishes jurisdiction over such child.

(H) "Custodian" means a person who has legal custody of a child or a public children's services agency or private child-placing agency that has permanent, temporary, or legal custody of a child.

(I) "Delinquent child" has the same meaning as in section 2152.02 of the Revised Code.

(J) "Dependent child" has the same meaning as in section 2151.04 of the Revised Code.

(K) "Detention" means the temporary care of children in restricted facilities pending court adjudication or disposition.

(L) "Detention hearing" means a hearing to determine whether a child shall be held in detention or shelter care prior to or pending execution of a final dispositional order.

(M) "Dispositional hearing" means a hearing to determine what action shall be taken concerning a child who is within the jurisdiction of the court.

(N) "Guardian" means a person, association, or corporation that is granted authority by a probate court pursuant to Chapter 2111 of the Revised Code to exercise parental rights over a child to the extent provided in the court's order and subject to the residual parental rights of the child's parents.

(O) "Guardian ad litem" means a person appointed to protect the interests of a party in a juvenile court proceeding.

(P) "Habitual truant" has the same meaning as in section 2151.011 of the Revised Code.

(Q) "Hearing" means any portion of a juvenile court proceeding before the court, whether summary in nature or by examination of witnesses.

(R) "Indigent person" means a person who, at the time need is determined, is unable by reason of lack of property or income to provide for full payment of legal counsel and all other necessary expenses of representation.

(S) "Juvenile court" means a division of the court of common pleas, or a juvenile court separately and independently created, that has jurisdiction under Chapters 2151 and 2152 of the Revised Code.

(T) "Juvenile judge" means a judge of a court having jurisdiction under Chapters 2151 and 2152 of the Revised Code.

(U) "Juvenile traffic offender" has the same meaning as in section 2151.021 of the Revised Code.

(V) "Legal custody" means a legal status that vests in the custodian the right to have physical care and control of the child and to determine where and with whom the child shall live, and the right and duty to protect, train, and discipline the child and provide the child with food, shelter, education, and medical care, all subject to any residual parental rights, privileges, and responsibilities. An individual granted legal custody shall exercise the rights and responsibilities personally unless otherwise authorized by any section of the Revised Code or by the court.

(W) "Mental examination" means an examination by a psychiatrist or psychologist.

(X) "Neglected child" has the same meaning as in section 2151.03 of the Revised Code.

(Y) "Party" means a child who is the subject of a juvenile court proceeding, the child's spouse, if any, the child's parent or parents, or if the parent of a child is a child, the parent of that parent, in appropriate cases, the child's custodian, guardian, or guardian ad litem, the state, and any other person specifically designated by the court.

(Z) "Permanent custody" means a legal status that vests in a public children's services agency or a private child-placing agency, all parental rights, duties, and obligations, including the right to consent to adoption, and divests the natural parents or adoptive parents of any and all parental rights, privileges, and obligations, including all residual rights and obligations.

(AA) "Permanent surrender" means the act of the parents or, if a child has only one parent, of the parent of a child, by a voluntary agreement authorized by section 5103.15 of the Revised Code, to transfer the permanent custody of the child to a public children's services agency or a private child-placing agency.

(BB) "Person" includes an individual, association, corporation, or partnership and the state or any of its political subdivisions, departments, or agencies.

(CC) "Physical examination" means an examination by a physician.

(DD) "Planned permanent living arrangement" means an order of a juvenile court pursuant to which both of the following apply:

(1) The court gives legal custody of a child to a public children's services agency or a private child-placing agency without the termination of parental rights;

(2) The order permits the agency to make an appropriate placement of the child and to enter into a written planned permanent living arrangement agreement with a foster care provider or with another person or agency with whom the child is placed.

(EE) "Private child-placing agency" means any association, as defined in section 5103.02 of the Revised Code that is certified pursuant to sections 5103.03 to 5103.05 of the Revised Code to accept temporary, permanent, or legal custody of children and place the children for either foster care or adoption.

(FF) "Public children's services agency" means a children's services board or a county department of human services that has assumed the administration of the children's services function prescribed by Chapter 5153 of the Revised Code.

(GG) "Removal action" means a statutory action filed by the superintendent of a school district for the removal of a child in an out-of-county foster home placement.

(HH) "Residence or legal settlement" means a location as defined by section 2151.06 of the Revised Code.

(II) "Residual parental rights, privileges, and responsibilities" means those rights, privileges, and responsibilities remaining with the natural parent after the transfer of legal custody of the child, including but not limited to the privilege of reasonable visitation, consent to adoption, the privilege to determine the child's religious affiliation, and the responsibility for support.

(JJ) "Rule of court" means a rule promulgated by the Supreme Court or a rule concerning local practice adopted by another court that is not inconsistent with the rules promulgated by the Supreme Court and that is filed with the Supreme Court.

(KK) "Serious youthful offender" means a child eligible for sentencing as described in sections 2152.11 and 2152.13 of the Revised Code.

(LL) "Serious youthful offender proceedings" means proceedings after a probable cause determination that a child is eligible for sentencing as described in sections 2152.11 and 2152.13 of the Revised Code. Serious youthful offender proceedings cease to be serious youthful offender proceedings once a child has been determined by the trier of fact not to be a serious youthful offender or the juvenile judge has determined not to impose a serious youthful offender disposition on a child eligible for discretionary serious youthful offender sentencing.

(MM) "Shelter care" means the temporary care of children in physically unrestricted facilities, pending court adjudication or disposition.

(NN) "Social history" means the personal and family history of a child or any other party to a juvenile proceeding and may include the prior record of the person with the juvenile court or any other court.

(OO) "Temporary custody" means legal custody of a child who is removed from the child's home, which custody may be terminated at any time at the discretion of the court or, if the legal custody is granted in an agreement for temporary custody, by the person or persons who executed the agreement.

(PP) "Unruly child" has the same meaning as in section 2151.022 of the Revised Code.

(QQ) "Ward of court" means a child over whom the court assumes continuing jurisdiction.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-02 AMENDMENT

RULE 2 DEFINITIONS

The July 1, 2002, amendments substituted the language of "planned permanent living arrangement" for the former language of "long term foster care," to conform to the new legislative designation for these child-placing arrangements. Former division (W), "Long term foster care," was deleted, a new division (DD), "Planned permanent living arrangement," was added, and other divisions were relettered accordingly.

The amendments to Juv. R. 2 conform to section 2151.011 of the Revised Code. Juvenile Rules 10, 15, and 34 also were amended effective July 1, 2002 to reflect this change in terminology.

7-1-01 AMENDMENT

RULE 2 DEFINITIONS

Several definitions in Rule 2 were amended to correct the language: Rules 2(F), (H), (W), (AA), (BB), (EE), and (FF).

Rule 2(D) was amended to reflect that the definition of "child" in the Revised Code had been placed into two new sections, i.e., R.C. 2151.011 and 2152.02.

Rules 2(E) and (P) were added to reflect the new categories of chronic truant [defined in Revised Code section 2151.011 (B) (9)] and habitual truant [defined in Revised Code section 2151.011 (B) (18)], added by Sub. Sen. Bill 181, which became effective September 4, 2000. Other rules that were amended to reflect changes necessitated by the chronic and habitual truancy bill are Rule 10(A), Rule 15(B), Rule 27(A), Rule 29(F), and Rule 37.

Rules 2(I), (S) and (T) were amended to reflect the reorganization of the Revised Code made by Sub. Sen. Bill 179, effective January 1, 2002. The reorganization moved delinquency into a new chapter, Chapter 2152 of the Revised Code, thus necessitating that "juvenile court" and "juvenile judge" be redefined to include those having jurisdiction under Chapter 2152 as well as under Chapter 2151, and that "delinquent child" be amended to reflect it is now defined in section 2152.02.

Rule 2(KK) was added to reflect the new category of "serious youthful offender" created by Sub. Sen. Bill 179. Although the Revised Code does not define serious youthful offender specifically, sections 2152.11 and 2152.13 describe in detail the predicate offenses and other predicates to treatment as a serious youthful offender, as well as the types of dispositional sentencing available for each. Other rules that were amended to reflect changes necessitated by the serious youthful offender bill are Rule 7(A), Rule 22(D) and (E), Rule 27(A), and Rule 29(A), (C) and (F).

Rule 2(LL) defines "serious youthful offender proceedings." The new category of serious youthful offender created by Sub. Sen. Bill 179 contemplates imposition of an adult sentence in addition to a juvenile disposition upon conviction. Therefore, serious youthful offenders have statutory and constitutional rights commensurate with those of adults. Some proceedings in juvenile court needed to be altered to ensure adult substantive and procedural protections where appropriate. The amendment makes clear that juvenile protections and confidentiality apply both before a probable cause determination that a child may be subject to serious youthful offender disposition, and after a determination that the child shall not be given a serious youthful offender disposition.

7-1-98 AMENDMENT

RULE 2 DEFINITIONS

RULE 2(B) ADJUDICATORY HEARING

Included under the prior definition of "adjudicatory hearing" in Juv. R. 2(B) were proceedings in which "temporary legal custody should be converted to permanent custody." This provision, which had been included in Juv. R. 2 since its adoption in 1972, appeared to conflict with the 1994 enactment of Juv. R. 34(I), which provides, "Hearings to determine whether temporary orders regarding custody should be modified to orders for permanent custody shall be considered dispositional hearings and need not be bifurcated. The Rules of Evidence shall apply in hearings on motions for permanent custody." Similarly, section 2151.414(A) of the Revised Code provides, "The adjudication that the child is an abused, neglected, or dependent child and the grant of temporary custody to the agency that filed the motion or placement into long-term foster care shall not be readjudicated at the hearing and shall not be affected by a denial of the motion for permanent custody."

The case law on this issue is in conflict. Several pre-1994 cases have held that hearings on motions for permanent custody are adjudicatory in nature. See In re Hopkins (1992), 78 OApp3d 92; In re Workman (June 14, 1993), Tuscarawas App. No. 92 AP080055, unreported; In re Davis (July 21, 1993), Summit App. No. 16051, unreported. The most recent reported decision, In re Duncan/Walker Children, (1996), 109 OApp3d 841, held that a permanent custody hearing under R.C. 2151.414 is adjudicatory, and did not make reference to either Juv. R. 2(B) or Juv. R. 34(I).

By deleting the final phrase of Juv. R. 2(B) with this amendment, Juv. R. 34(I) becomes the sole authority on this issue with the Rules of Juvenile Procedure.

RULE 2(D) CHILD

The definition of "child" contained in Juv. R. 2(D) has been amended to conform to the definition of the term found in sections 2151.011(B)(1)(a) of the Revised Code, as amended by legislation (1996 H 124, eff. 3-31-97, and 1996 H 265, eff. 3-3-97). Because the definition of the term "child" appears to be a matter of substantive law since it deals with a jurisdiction issue, the amended definition of the term simply makes reference to the statutory definition.

RULE 2(E) REMOVAL ACTION

The definition of the term "removal action" added as Juv. R. 2(E) refers to the cause of action first created by section 2151.55 of the Revised Code (1996 H 215, eff. 9-29-97). This new cause of action applies exclusively to a child in out-of-county foster home placement who is alleged to be causing a significant and unreasonable disruption to the educational process in the school the child is attending.

The addition of division (EE) required the relettering of previous divisions (EE) through (LL) to divisions (FF) through (MM).

Rule 2 DEFINITIONS

Definitions in Juv. R. 2 have been amended or added to reflect definitions found in Revised Code 2151.011, as amended by legislation (Am. Sub. S.B. 89 of the 117th General Assembly and Am. Sub. S.B. 3 of the 118th General Assembly). Amended language exists for the following terms: adjudicatory hearing; child; custodian; guardian; shelter care.

New terms defined in accordance with new statutes are: agreement for temporary custody; delinquent child; dependent child; juvenile traffic offender; legal custody; long term foster care; neglected child; permanent custody; permanent surrender; private child placing agency; public children services agency; residence or legal settlement; residual parental rights, privileges and responsibilities; temporary custody; unruly child.

All other changes in the definitions are to assure gender neutral language.

Generally

Juvenile Rule 2(16) affords a procedural device permitting a trial court to include individuals not specifically otherwise designated a party but whose presence is necessary to fully litigate an issue presented in the action. However, it allows a trial court to exercise its sound discretion in determining whether to designate a person an additional party: In re Franklin, 88 Ohio App. 3d 277, 623 N.E.2d 720, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 3020 (1993).

The mother of the victim of the delinquent act was never specifically designated by the court as a "party," making her objections to the referee's report a nullity. There is an appearance of unfairness where a hearing on objections is conducted without defense counsel present: In re Ross, 107 Ohio App. 3d 35, 667 N.E.2d 1012, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 4791 (1995).

A juvenile court has wide discretion in deciding whether to afford an individual party status: In re Hitchcock, 120 Ohio App. 3d 88, 696 N.E.2d 1090, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 5193 (1996).

Adoption

Mother's rights were not violated because the juvenile court could reasonably have concluded that the reasons for the mother's lack of contact with her child would be fully litigated in the probate court and that her due process rights would be protected by the adoption proceeding, as mandated by Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(II) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3107.07(A). Also, because the juvenile court's consent to the adoption was not required, both the trial court's order granting concurrent jurisdiction to the probate court and its subsequent order refusing to vacate it had no impact on the rights and obligations of the parties. In re A.H., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3285, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3201 (June 28, 2006).

Appeal

After a trial court awarded permanent custody of two minor children to a county social service agency, the children's maternal grandmother's appeal therefrom was dismissed due to her lack of standing, as she was not a "party" to the underlying proceedings pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y), she had not sought intervention in the proceedings, and she never requested custody of the children. In re Titionna K., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1861, — N.E.2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1701 (Apr. 20, 2007).

A county children services agency to which an unruly child is committed has no right of appeal because it is not a "party" to the proceeding, as defined in JuvR 2(16): In re Blakey, 65 Ohio App. 3d 341, 583 N.E.2d 1343, 1989 Ohio App. LEXIS 4335 (1989).

Conflict between statute and rule

Pursuant to Ohio Const. art. IV, § 5(B), JuvR 2(1) prevails over RC § 2151.35, making a hearing under RC § 2151.414 an adjudicatory hearing: In re Brofford, 83 Ohio App. 3d 869, 615 N.E.2d 1120, 1992 Ohio App. LEXIS 6119 (1992).

Counsel

Trial court erred by failing to appoint counsel after a possible conflict became known between the child's wishes and the recommendation of the guardian ad litem during the permanent custody hearing and thus, the child was entitled to counsel pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, as clarified by Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y). An attorney would have been required to provide zealous representation for his client and make every legitimate effort to secure an order allowing the child to have continued contact with her father, which the guardian ad litem could not do and remain consistent with his recommendation. In re H.R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1595, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1472 (Mar. 31, 2006).

In a permanent custody proceeding, a trial court did not fail to appoint counsel for the subject children when it appointed their guardian ad litem as their counsel, as this was provided for in Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y) and 4(A), and it was not claimed that the guardian ad litem's dual role resulted in a conflict of interest. In re Salsbery, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3274, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3185 (June 19, 2006).

Trial court lacked jurisdiction under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3109.04 and pursuant to the boundaries set under Ohio Const. art. IV, § 4(B) to have ordered that minor children be placed in the custody of a county agency pending a determination of parental alienation in a custody dispute between the children's parents, as there was no complaint filed in the juvenile court for such relief, as required by Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.23. The children were not "parties" to the action pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y) and were not entitled to counsel to represent their interests under Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A). Curie v. Curie, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 6098, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6058 (Nov. 17, 2006).

Trial court, at a minimum, was required to interview the child, on the record, to determine if she was of sufficient maturity to benefit from separate counsel in the permanent custody proceeding, but failed to do so. There was a clear conflict because the guardian ad litem recommended to the trial court that the mother's parental rights be terminated but the agency case supervisor for the child testified at the permanent custody hearing that the child ultimately wanted to be with her mom. In re Roque, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 7007, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6961 (Dec. 29, 2006).

Trial court did not err in failing to appoint counsel for three children who were the subject of a termination of parental rights proceeding where: (1) the children were older and of a higher maturity level, (2) the guardian ad litem's (GAL) recommendation did not conflict with the wishes of the children to not be returned to the mother's care, (3) the children's counselors also indicated that the children did not want to return to the mother, and (4) the juvenile court had an in-camera interview with the children and their statements in that interview conformed to the statements made by the GAL and the counselors. In re Nelson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 6600, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 5926 (Dec. 9, 2005).

Trial court did not err in granting a grandmother's appointed counsel's motion for leave to withdraw in a parental rights termination proceeding, as the grandmother was a party to the action, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y), and she was accordingly entitled to be represented by counsel, but she was not entitled to appointed counsel under RC § 2151.352; Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) was not applicable to the circumstances, as the right to counsel emanated from RC § 2151.352. In re Denisha Michelle T., 2005 Ohio 1032, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1041 (2005).

Although neither the court nor the guardian ad litem ever had any direct interaction with the two children in a proceeding by a children's services agency seeking permanent custody, the court properly considered their wishes pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414(D) by being made aware of the older child's desire to be placed with his mother, through testimony of the mother and a caseworker, and accordingly, any error on that issue was deemed harmless. The Ohio Supreme Court had previously relied on its prior decisions, Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and 2(Y) in determining that a child who is the subject of a juvenile court proceeding to terminate parental rights is a party to that proceeding and is entitled to independent counsel in certain circumstances. In re Lane, 2004 Ohio 2798, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2486 (2004).

Pursuant to RC § 2151.352, as clarified by JuvR 4(A) and JuvR 2(Y), a child who is the subject of a juvenile court proceeding to terminate parental rights is a party to that proceeding and, therefore, is entitled to independent counsel in certain circumstances. In re Williams, 101 Ohio St. 3d 398, 2004 Ohio 1500, 805 N.E.2d 1110, 2004 Ohio LEXIS 705 (2004).

Trial court erred by failing to determine if a mother was indigent and in failing to appoint counsel if she met the indigency requirement, in a parentage and child support action, as Ohio R.

Juv. P. 4(A) required that all parties to juvenile proceedings had the right to have counsel appointed if they were indigent, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y) defined "party" to a juvenile proceeding to include the parents of the child who was subject to the proceedings; however, regardless of this error, a child support enforcement agency lacked standing to raise this issue on appeal, as only those parties who could demonstrate a present interest in the subject matter of the litigation and who had been prejudiced by the trial court's decision had the right to file an appeal, and the agency failed to assert a plausible explanation as to how it had been prejudiced by the trial court's failure to appoint counsel for the mother. Still v. Hayman, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3665 (July 30, 2003).

Custody

Trial court did not err in declining to grant change of legal custody to children's aunt and maternal grandparents pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.415(A)(3) as the aunt had not had any contact with the children for two or three years and had no independent housing or employment, and their grandparents, who lived in New York, had also had limited contact with the children and had limited bedroom space in their residence. Moreover, the trial court expressed particular concern that these relatives expressed belief that the children should be with their mother, and pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Z), a trial court may properly recognize that legal custody to third parties will not provide a legal barrier to a parent's future attempted assertion of his or her residual rights concerning the child. In re Morales, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 6384, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6356 (Dec. 4, 2006).

Juvenile court did not err in denying the foster care parents' motions to join themselves as necessary parties, and for custody and companionship rights, as the goal of the county family welfare agency at the time the trial court was ruling on the motions in the dependency proceeding was to reunify the children with their parents, and not to permanently place the children with the foster parents; too, while the foster parents waived their argument that their due process rights were violated by not allowing them to pursue their actions in the juvenile courts by not raising that issue in the juvenile court, their argument was nevertheless meritless because only contractual, and not constitutional rights were involved in the foster care situation. In re McDaniel, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 2595, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2305 (May 21, 2004).

Individual who was permitted to participate in a custody proceeding had standing in that proceeding, whether named as a party or not; where the putative father was named in the custody motion, was served with the pleadings, and participated in the proceedings through counsel, he had standing in the matter, even though his paternity of the child had been neither established nor acknowledged. In re Phillips, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5107, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4618 (Sept. 29, 2003).

Discovery

During a probable cause hearing held in juvenile court to determine, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 30(A), if there was probable cause to believe defendant committed an alleged crime, before determining if, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 30(C), defendant was amenable to rehabilitation in the juvenile system, defendant moved for discovery, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 24. While the probable cause hearing was not an adjudicatory hearing, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(B), in the sense that evidence was put to the trier of fact or that jeopardy attached, it was "critically important," and had to measure up to the essentials of due process and fair treatment. Defendant had the right to discover evidence the prosecutor would offer to establish probable cause. As the juvenile court had discretion to limit discovery, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 24(B), when the juvenile court merely deleted discovery of evidentiary materials the prosecution intended to use at trial, this was not an abuse of discretion. State v. Gilbert, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2350, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2239 (May 13, 2005).

Motions for discovery are to be filed in accord with JuvR 22 prior to the adjudicatory hearing. A probable cause hearing pursuant to RC § 2151.26 and JuvR 30 is not an adjudicatory hearing as defined in JuvR 2: In re Hunter, 99 Ohio Misc. 2d 107, 716 N.E.2d 802, 1999 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 25 (CP 1999).

Foster parents

Foster parents are not "parties" to juvenile court dispositional proceedings and do not have a right to intervene and move for custody of children who have been in their care and then removed from their home: In re Baatz, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 3996 (9th Dist. 1993).

Grandparents

Trial court did not err in not joining a paternal grandmother to a parental rights termination proceeding involving the parents of 10 minor children, although the grandmother lived with the family, as she was not a necessary party pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.28(C)(1); she did not hold the title of legal custodian or guardian of any of the children, and she had actual notice of the proceedings. In re Hilyard, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1977, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1808 (Apr. 13, 2006).

Trial court did not err in adopting a magistrate's decision to deny maternal grandparents' motion to intervene in an action commenced by their minor grandchild's biological father, seeking a determination of paternity, custody, visitation, and child support pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.23(A)(2), as they did not establish an in loco parentis relationship with the minor child merely because they cared for the child during a period of time when the complaint was filed, and accordingly, they were not within the scope of the parties defined under Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y) and they did not have a right to intervene in the matter pursuant to Ohio R. Civ. P. 24(A); there was no cause to review the issue of parental unsuitability or the constitutional right of parents in the care, custody, and management of their children at that juncture of the matter. Brokaw v. Haser, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5171, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5134 (Sept. 29, 2006).

Where the maternal grandparents had temporary custody of their grandchild prior to a magistrate divesting them of the same, the juvenile court abused its discretion in denying the grandparents party status, as they had a legal right or a legally protectable interest in custody or visitation to their grandchild; moreover, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(OO), the fact that temporary custody could be terminated, at any time, did not change the fact that temporary custody, like legal custody, vested in the custodian a legal right which entitled the custodian to party status. In re Perez, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 2707, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2398 (May 24, 2004).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in allowing a child's maternal grandparents to participate in litigation involving the father's request for custody over her, after her mother, whom she had resided with, died from cancer; the grandparents had spent a significant amount of time with the child since her birth and their presence was necessary to litigate the custody issue, and accordingly, they could be considered parties under Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y). Christopher A.L. v. Heather D.R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 4271, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3880 (Aug. 13, 2004).

Intervention

Where the juvenile court used Ohio R. Civ. P. 24 as a guide to the exercise of its discretion for joining parties under Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(X), denial of the grandparents' motion to intervene was proper; the grandparents had no custody or visitation rights and were not needed to decide the child's best interest, and the complex paternity issues facing the child also justified denial. In re Goff, 2003 Ohio 6768, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5989 (2003).

Trial court's denial of grandparents' motion to intervene in a custody case was affirmed where the grandparents never obtained any legal right to custody or visitation with the child, and had no interest which allowed them to intervene as of right. In re Goff, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 6087, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5442 (Nov. 14, 2003).

A foster parent may be permitted to intervene as a party in a custody proceeding: In re Zhang, 135 Ohio App. 3d 350, 734 N.E.2d 379, 1999 Ohio App. LEXIS 2615 (1999).

A juvenile court has broad discretion under JuvR 2(X) to determine those persons who properly should be allowed to intervene as parties in the proceeding before it; a juvenile court may use CivR 24 as a guide to the exercise of its discretion under JuvR 2(X), but it is not required to do so: In re Byerly, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 4630 (11th Dist. 1998).

Jurisdiction

Juvenile Court did not have jurisdiction to grant permanent custody of a child to a county agency, as the child was the ward of another State court that retained jurisdiction over the child after the court granted legal custody of the child to her relatives in her parents' divorce proceeding. In re Frenz, 2003 Ohio 3653, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3289 (2003).

Parentage proceedings

In a putative father's action wherein he sought to establish a parent-child relationship, it was not a trial court error to have failed to include the child as a party to the action, pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3111.07(A) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y), as the father initiated the action and he failed to name the child as a party. Any error was harmless where counsel or a guardian ad litem would not have been separately appointed for the child, as there was no showing of a conflict of interest between the child and mother. E.B. v. T.J., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 441, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 383 (Feb. 2, 2006).

RULE 3. Waiver of rights

A child's right to be represented by counsel at a hearing conducted pursuant to Juv. R. 30 may not be waived. Other rights of a child may be waived with the permission of the court.

RULE 3 WAIVER OF RIGHTS

Prior to this revision, some courts had interpreted Juv. R. 3 to permit a juvenile to waive the right of counsel at the probable cause hearing phase of the bindover process. Juv. R. 3 now makes specific reference to bindover proceedings delineated in Juv. R. 30 to remind the court and practitioners that a juvenile cannot waive counsel at any stage of the bindover procedure.

Bindover for prosecution

Where there was no indication in a juvenile court bindover order that a juvenile's waiver of a probable cause and amenability hearing was knowingly, competently, and intelligently made, a later delinquency charge against him on a new criminal matter required an appropriate bindover proceeding under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2152.12 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 3. The hearing on the bindover issue was a critical phase that was mandatory under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. ch. 2152 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 30. State v. Brown, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4393, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4330 (Aug. 25, 2006).

Due process

Due process in a juvenile proceeding must include: adequate written notice; advice as to the right to counsel, retained or appointed; confrontation and cross-examination of witnesses; and the privilege against self-incrimination: In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S. Ct. 1428, 18 L. Ed. 2d 527, 1967 U.S. LEXIS 1478, 40 Ohio Op. 2d 378 (1967).

RULE 4. Assistance of counsel; guardian ad litem

(A) Assistance of counsel. Every party shall have the right to be represented by counsel and every child, parent, custodian, or other person in loco parentis the right to appointed counsel if indigent. These rights shall arise when a person becomes a party to a juvenile court proceeding. When the complaint alleges that a child is an abused child, the court must appoint an attorney to represent the interests of the child. This rule shall not be construed to provide for a right to appointed counsel in cases in which that right is not otherwise provided for by constitution or statute.

(B) Guardian ad litem; when appointed. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem to protect the interests of a child or incompetent adult in a juvenile court proceeding when:

(1) The child has no parents, guardian, or legal custodian;

(2) The interests of the child and the interests of the parent may conflict;

(3) The parent is under eighteen years of age or appears to be mentally incompetent;

(4) The court believes that the parent of the child is not capable of representing the best interest of the child.

(5) Any proceeding involves allegations of abuse or neglect, voluntary surrender of permanent custody, or termination of parental rights as soon as possible after the commencement of such proceeding.

(6) There is an agreement for the voluntary surrender of temporary custody that is made in accordance with section 5103.15 of the Revised Code, and thereafter there is a request for extension of the voluntary agreement.

(7) The proceeding is a removal action.

(8) Appointment is otherwise necessary to meet the requirements of a fair hearing.

(C) Guardian ad litem as counsel.

(1) When the guardian ad litem is an attorney admitted to practice in this state, the guardian may also serve as counsel to the ward providing no conflict between the roles exist[s].

(2) If a person is serving as guardian ad litem and as attorney for a ward and either that person or the court finds a conflict between the responsibilities of the role of attorney and that of guardian ad litem, the court shall appoint another person as guardian ad litem for the ward.

(3) If a court appoints a person who is not an attorney admitted to practice in this state to be a guardian ad litem, the court may appoint an attorney admitted to practice in this state to serve as attorney for the guardian ad litem.

(D) Appearance of attorneys. An attorney shall enter appearance by filing a written notice with the court or by appearing personally at a court hearing and informing the court of said representation.

(E) Notice to guardian ad litem. The guardian ad litem shall be given notice of all proceedings in the same manner as notice is given to other parties to the action.

(F) Withdrawal of counsel or guardian ad litem. An attorney or guardian ad litem may withdraw only with the consent of the court upon good cause shown.

(G) Costs. The court may fix compensation for the services of appointed counsel and guardians ad litem, tax the same as part of the costs and assess them against the child, the child's parents, custodian, or other person in loco parentis of such child.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-98 AMENDMENT

RULE 4(B) GUARDIAN AD LITEM; WHEN APPOINTED

The 1998 amendment added division (B)(7), requiring the appointment of a guardian ad litem for removal actions, as defined in Juv. R. 2(E), also added in the amendments effective July 1, 1998. At the discretion of the court, the court may appoint the guardian ad litem initially appointed for the child by the court that entered the original dispositional placement order, with the consent of that guardian ad litem. Alternatively, the court may appoint a new guardian ad litem.

The addition of a new division (B)(7) required the renumbering of the former division to what is now division (B)(8).

7-1-95 AMENDMENT

RULE 4 ASSISTANCE OF COUNSEL; GUARDIAN AD LITEM

The 1995 amendment changed the title of this rule and of division (A) to more accurately reflect the substance of the rule. There were no changes to the text of the rule.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 4 RIGHT TO COUNSEL; GUARDIAN AD LITEM

Masculine references throughout Juv. R. 4 have been replaced by gender neutral language.

RULE 4(A) RIGHT TO COUNSEL; WHEN ARISES

The 1994 amendment added a new sentence to the end of division (A) to clarify that Juv. R. 4 does not create a right to court-appointed counsel, and that the right to appointed counsel arises from other sources of law.

RULE 4(B) GUARDIAN AD LITEM; WHEN APPOINTED

Juv. R. 4(B) governs the appointment of a guardian ad litem (GAL). New sections specify the appointment of a GAL as required by section 2151.281 of the Revised Code.

RULE 4(C) GUARDIAN AD LITEM AS COUNSEL

Juv. R. 4(C) requires the appointment of a new GAL when an attorney serving as GAL is also the child's attorney and a conflict of interest exists. (Revised Code 2151.281(H)).

RULE 4(E) NOTICE TO GUARDIAN AD LITEM

Juv. R. 4(E) specifies notice requirements to GALs pursuant to section 2151.281(I) of the Revised Code.

Generally

Trial court lacked jurisdiction under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3109.04 and pursuant to the boundaries set under Ohio Const. art. IV, § 4(B) to have ordered that minor children be placed in the custody of a county agency pending a determination of parental alienation in a custody dispute between the children's parents, as there was no complaint filed in the juvenile court for such relief, as required by Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.23. The children were not "parties" to the action pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y) and were not entitled to counsel to represent their interests under Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A). Curie v. Curie, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 6098, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6058 (Nov. 17, 2006).

Juvenile court denied the mother due process in a custody matter by receiving a report of counsel appointed for her child without giving her a chance to review and challenge it, and erred by failing to hold a new permanent custody hearing with the participation of counsel for the child. In re Williams, 2003 Ohio 3550, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3246 (2003).

Contempt

Although trial courts have the authority to enforce their orders through contempt proceedings, an order to pay court costs is essentially a judgment on a contractual debt where the court is the creditor and the party ordered to pay court costs is the debtor. As such, the court can collect only the money it is due by the methods provided for the collection of civil judgments. A contempt proceeding is not a proper method by which to collect a civil judgment. In re Buffington, 89 Ohio App. 3d 814, 627 N.E.2d 1013, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 3859 (1993).

Due process

Due process in a juvenile proceeding must include: adequate written notice; advice as to the right to counsel, retained or appointed; confrontation and cross-examination of witnesses; and the privilege against self-incrimination. In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S. Ct. 1428, 18 L. Ed. 2d 527, 1967 U.S. LEXIS 1478, 40 Ohio Op. 2d 378 (1967).

Fees

Where the county commissioners have set a maximum fee schedule for guardians ad litem, the court may not order additional payment for extraordinary services. In re Shaw, 1990 Ohio App. LEXIS 973 (5th Dist. 1990).

There is no statutory authority which authorizes the payment of guardian ad litem fees from county funds in a civil case involving the alleged negligent or intentional acts of an indigent minor in causing fire damage to a rental unit. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v. Wymer, 33 Ohio App. 3d 318, 515 N.E.2d 987, 1986 Ohio App. LEXIS 10261 (1986).

Where an action is brought against a minor and his parent for fire damage to a rental unit caused by the minor, and where the court finds the minor liable for the damages, but finds his parent not liable, the fees and expenses of the child's court-appointed guardian ad litem are properly chargeable to the indigent minor and not to his parent, as part of the court costs. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v. Wymer, 33 Ohio App. 3d 318, 515 N.E.2d 987, 1986 Ohio App. LEXIS 10261 (1986).

JuvR 4(B)(2) mandates that the possibility that interests may conflict is sufficient for the required appointment of a guardian ad litem. In the context of a delinquency proceeding, a parent's or a legal guardian's speaking out against the child's penal interest raises a colorable claim of conflict. In re K.B., 170 Ohio App. 3d 121, 2007 Ohio 396, 866 N.E.2d 66, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 346 (2007).

Plain and unambiguous language of Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(B)(2) mandated that the possibility that a child's interests "might conflict" with the interests of a parent was sufficient for the required appointment of a guardian ad litem, but a juvenile court was in the best position to weigh the relevant facts in determining whether a potential conflict of interest existed between the parent and child, and, in the context of a delinquency proceeding, a parent's speaking out against the child's penal interest raised a colorable claim of conflict which required a "thorough inquiry" by the juvenile court to determine whether a conflict of interest existed such that the court had to appoint a guardian ad litem, and a court's failure to appoint a guardian ad litem when these mandatory provisions required such an appointment constituted reversible error. In re K.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 396, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 346 (Feb. 1, 2007).

Absence of an objection did not preclude a reversal of a delinquency adjudication due to a juvenile court's failure to appoint a guardian ad litem when required under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.281(A)(2) or Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(B)(2). In re K.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 396, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 346 (Feb. 1, 2007).

When a juvenile was charged with criminal offenses for entering her mother's bedroom without permission and using the telephone, the record sufficiently demonstrated a tension between the juvenile and the mother to require a trial court, under R.C. § 2151.281(A)(2) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(B)(2), to inquire into the need to appoint a guardian ad litem, and the failure to do so was an abuse of discretion and reversible error. In re K.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 396, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 346 (Feb. 1, 2007).

Juvenile court abused its discretion under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.281(A) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(B) when it failed to appoint a guardian ad litem (GAL) to represent the interests of defendant, a juvenile, in delinquency proceedings, as there was a conflict of interest between the juvenile and his parents, who reported his actions to state authorities and who also testified against him in the adjudication phase of the delinquency proceeding. The fact that defendant failed to request a GAL or object to the lack of such an appointment did not preclude a reversal of the delinquency proceedings based on the juvenile court's error. In re Dennis, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2432, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2263 (May 18, 2007).

Contrary to a mother's argument, a guardian ad litem's task in a dependency case did not involve advocating for child as his attorney where, because a conflict could have existed between the guardian ad litem's position and the child's position, a separate attorney was appointed as the child's advocate. In re Neiberth, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1420 (Mar. 22, 2006).

There was no plain error under Ohio R. Crim. P. 52(B) by a magistrate's decision under Juv. R. 4(B)(2) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.281(A) not to appoint a guardian ad litem for a juvenile in his proceeding for violation of probation, although he had skipped school and his mother was charged with allowing him to commit that conduct, as he was charged with other violations besides the truancy and there appeared to be no conflict between the mother and the juvenile. In re J-M, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6131 (Nov. 22, 2006).

There was no plain error under Ohio R. Crim. P. 52 by a juvenile court's failure to appoint a guardian pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(B)(2) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.281(A)(2) for a juvenile who was the subject of delinquency proceedings, as there was no conflict of interest between the juvenile and his parents, nor was there a showing of a possibility of such conflict which would have required appointment of the guardian. In re Smith, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2788, — N.E.2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2625 (June 5, 2006).

There was no plain error, pursuant to Ohio R. Crim. P. 52(B), in a trial court's failure to appoint a guardian ad litem for a mother who had a "borderline to low average range of functioning" in a permanent custody proceeding by a county agency, pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.281(C) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(B)(3), as the mother did not show that she was prejudiced by such failure of appointment, nor did she show how having a guardian ad litem would have altered the outcome of the proceeding. In re McHugh Children, 2005 Ohio 2345, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2235 (2005).

Trial court abused its discretion where it failed to appoint a guardian ad litem or inquire whether one was necessary where there was a conflict of interest between the juvenile and his legal guardians: In re Slider, 160 Ohio App. 3d 159, 2005 Ohio 1457, 826 N.E.2d 356, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1413 (2005).

Appointment of a guardian ad litem for an alleged delinquent child was not required under the circumstances: In re D.M., 158 Ohio App. 3d 780, 2004 Ohio 5858, 822 N.E.2d 433, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 5300 (2004).

Reversal and remand were required where the trial court erred in failing to appoint a guardian ad litem to represent defendant juvenile when a conflict existed between the juvenile and his parents as the juvenile was accused of raping his half-sister; failure to appoint a guardian ad litem to oversee the juvenile's best interests was an abuse of discretion. In re K.J.F., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 263, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 250 (Jan. 23, 2004).

Where neither appellant mother nor her attorney requested that the trial court appoint a guardian ad litem for the mother, the court did not violate Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(B) or RC § 2151.281(C) by failing to do so sua sponte, as the psychologist who examined the mother testified he was unable to conclude that she suffered from any mental illness; simply because she needed clarification of questions asked of her during the proceedings did not mean that she appeared mentally incompetent. In re K.P., 2004 Ohio 1674, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1494 (2004).

Where the transcript of juvenile proceedings revealed no anger or tension between a juvenile defendant and her mother, only that the mother requested a disposition more lenient than what defendant herself sought, the record did not reflect a situation in which the magistrate plainly erred by failing to appoint a guardian ad litem on the basis of a conflict of interest. In re Harper, 2003 Ohio 6666, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5962 (2003).

Pursuant to RC § 2151.281(C) the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem in any action to adjudicate a child dependent where it appears to the court that one or both parents are mentally incompetent; where information regarding second-hand reports of the father's mental problems were ambiguous at best, failing sua sponte to appoint a guardian was not error. In re Isaac M., 2003 Ohio 6197, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5569 (2003).

Role of the guardian ad litem at the dispositional hearing was to protect the interests of the child and the guardian ad litem did so by filing a report that the children should not be returned to the parents; the guardian ad litem was not also required to use the specific words that the county welfare agency should be granted "permanent custody," especially since that recommendation was clear from the guardian ad litem's report. In re Myers, 2003 Ohio 2776, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2492 (2003).

The court was required to appoint a guardian ad litem where there was a strong possibility of conflict of interest between the guardian and the child: In re Spradlin, 140 Ohio App. 3d 402, 2000 Ohio 2003, 2000 Ohio 2033, 2000 Ohio 2034, 2000 Ohio 2036, 747 N.E.2d 877, 2000 Ohio App. LEXIS 6293 (2000).

Where a trial court denied a motion to appoint a guardian ad litem based solely upon the timeliness of the motion and did not hear evidence on the conflict of interest issue, the trial court abused its discretion under R.C. § 2151.281(A) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(B). Johnson v. Johnson, 2003 Ohio 3278, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2931 (2003).

The court abused its discretion by not appointing a guardian ad litem where the record indicated a strong possibility of conflicting interests between the juvenile and his father, who represented him at the adjudicatory and dispositional hearing: In re Sappington, 123 Ohio App. 3d 448, 704 N.E.2d 339, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 4773 (1997).

When a parent speaks against a child's penal interest in a delinquency case, the court must inquire whether there is a conflict of interest requiring appointment of a guardian ad litem: In re Howard, 119 Ohio App. 3d 201, 695 N.E.2d 1, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 1474 (1997).

Failure to appoint a guardian ad litem under JuvR 4(B) did not result in prejudicial error in a delinquency proceeding in which the child admitted to committing aggravated robbery. Child's aunt was present during the admission, child was represented by counsel, no request was made for an appointment of a guardian ad litem and no objection was raised to the court's failure to make such an appointment: State v. White, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 2544 (1st Dist. 1995).

The guardian ad litem appointed for a child in a dependency action where the interest of the child and the parent may conflict must have no ties or loyalties to anyone with an adversary interest in the outcome such as a natural parent or the prospective adoptive parents: In re Christopher, 54 Ohio App. 2d 137, 376 N.E.2d 603, 8 Ohio Op. 3d 271, 1977 Ohio App. LEXIS 7026 (1977).

Where an infant child has been in the custody of prospective adoptive parents as a result of a permanent order of custody in a dependency action and that permanent order is subsequently vacated and the parent moves to terminate temporary custody, it appears that the interests of the child and parent may conflict and a guardian ad litem must be appointed for the child pursuant to JuvR 4(B) prior to the hearing on the mother's motion to terminate custody: In re Christopher, 54 Ohio App. 2d 137, 376 N.E.2d 603, 8 Ohio Op. 3d 271, 1977 Ohio App. LEXIS 7026 (1977).

Juvenile court did not err in failing to appoint a new guardian ad litem for the child of a custody modification battle, as the attorney who was appointed as the child's guardian ad litem was also an able legal representative in the juvenile court proceeding between the child's divorced parents where no conflict in serving in both capacities existed pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C)(1) and (2); there was no evidence that the guardian became an advocate for either party, and she acted within her authority under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.281(I). In re Smith, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 893, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 812 (Mar. 2, 2007).

Based on Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and (B), as well as Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 2151.281(H) and 2151.352, a trial court did not err in appointing a licensed attorney to represent 10 children in a parental rights termination proceeding as both their legal counsel and their guardian ad litem, as none of the children "repeatedly expressed a desire" to remain with the parents, and there was no apparent or actual conflict shown in the attorney's dual capacity role. In re Hilyard, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1976, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1809 (Apr. 13, 2006).

Trial court did not err by not appointing, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C)(2), a separate attorney and a separate guardian ad litem to represent a mother's child in a permanent custody proceeding because there was no evidence that a conflict existed between the attorney's performance as the children's guardian ad litem and as their attorney. In re Elder, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5889, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5834 (Nov. 2, 2006).

Trial court did not err by not appointing, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C)(2), a separate attorney and a separate guardian ad litem to represent a mother's child in a permanent custody proceeding because there was no evidence that a conflict existed between the attorney's performance as the children's guardian ad litem and as their attorney. In re Parks, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5890, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5835 (Nov. 2, 2006).

Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C)(2) specifically provides for the appointment of a new guardian ad litem, and does not require an express finding that no conflict exists, and no other statute or rule refers to an express dual appointment or finding of no conflict; although the trial court erred in failing to file a formalized entry reflecting a dual appointment and no conflict, or appoint a guardian ad litem and separate counsel in a juvenile dependency proceeding, the trial court's initial failure to do so did not result to prejudice to the minor child. In re Beasley, 2003 Ohio 2857, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2557 (2003).

Trial court did not err in failing to appoint separate individuals to serve as the guardian ad litem and the legal counsel for 10 children who were involved in a parental rights termination proceeding, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 2151.353 and 2151.281(H), as there was no apparent or actual conflict shown in the appointed attorney's dual representation of the children; further, none of the children expressed a desire for custody that was adverse to the recommendation of the attorney. In re Hilyard, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1977, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1808 (Apr. 13, 2006).

Under Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.281(H), the same attorney could be appointed, in a dependency proceeding, as both counsel and guardian ad litem for a child, but, when the attorney advocated a position that was adverse to the child's wishes regarding his custody, the attorney had to withdraw, under § 2151.281(H), and she had to be replaced by a new guardian ad litem. In re Butler, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4547, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4510 (Sept. 5, 2006).

Trial court did not err in appointing the guardian ad litem (GAL) to serve in a dual capacity as GAL and as legal counsel for the children in a permanent custody proceeding instead of appointing an independent attorney to represent the children. Neither the trial court nor the parties identified a conflict with the dual representation, and the court could discern no conflict. In re B.K., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4424, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4359 (Aug. 28, 2006).

In a permanent custody proceeding, a trial court did not fail to appoint counsel for the subject children when it appointed their guardian ad litem as their counsel, as this was provided for in Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y) and 4(A), and it was not claimed that the guardian ad litem's dual role resulted in a conflict of interest. In re Salsberry, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3274, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3185 (June 19, 2006).

Trial court erred by failing to appoint the child's guardian ad litem to act as her attorney and did not make any determination as to whether the child possessed the competency and maturity to express her own wishes. However, the error did not require reversal because the child's wishes were evidenced by the guardian ad litem's report and witness testimony and were consistent with the guardian ad litem's recommendation. In re Kangas, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3433, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3380 (June 30, 2006).

Where there was no evidence of a conflict of interest between a court-appointed guardian ad litem's role on behalf of children in a permanent custody proceeding and his additional role as their attorney, there was no need for the trial court to have appointed a separate individual to serve as their counsel pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C)(2) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352. In re McHugh Children, 2005 Ohio 2345, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2235 (2005).

Trial court did not err when it denied the father's request to appoint a separate attorney and separate guardian ad litem, in the permanent custody proceeding, because the father presented no evidence to establish that a conflict existed between the attorney's performance as the children's guardian ad litem and as their attorney. In re Miller, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 856, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 875 (Feb. 24, 2005).

Where the trial court, in the modification of allocation of parental rights case, granted the father's motion to remove the attorney, who was hired by the mother to represent the child and acted as co-counsel with the guardian ad litem, the trial court's order was proper; the guardian ad litem was to act as counsel for the child as well pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.281(H) and Cuyahoga County, Ohio, Ct. C.P. Dom. Rel. Div. R. 35(G), and pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C)(2), absent a conflict of interest, of which there was no evidence in the instant case, the appointment of separate counsel as co-counsel with the guardian ad litem was unnecessary. Jennings-Harder v. Yarnesch, 2004 Ohio 3960, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3605 (2004).

For an attorney to act as guardian ad litem and attorney for the ward, there must be a dual appointment and a finding that no conflict exists: In re Duncan/Walker Children, 109 Ohio App. 3d 841, 673 N.E.2d 217, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 1272 (1996).

An attorney should not serve as both guardian ad litem and appointed counsel where there is a conflict in such roles: In re Baby Girl Baxter, 17 Ohio St. 3d 229, 479 N.E.2d 257, 17 Ohio B. 469, 1985 Ohio LEXIS 345 (1985).

Immunity of guardian ad litem

A guardian ad litem has absolute immunity from actions arising out of the performance of duties mandated by his role as advocate for the child in judicial proceedings (Kurzawa v. Mueller, 732 F.2d 1456, 1984 U.S. App. LEXIS 24281, [6th Cir. 1984] followed.); Penn v. McMonagle, 60 Ohio App. 3d 149, 573 N.E.2d 1234, 1990 Ohio App. LEXIS 4426 (1990).

Immunity of judge

A judge has judicial immunity as to removal of an attorney's name from a list of approved counsel who may be appointed to represent indigents: Eichenberger v. Petree, 76 Ohio App. 3d 779, 603 N.E.2d 366, 1992 Ohio App. LEXIS 153 (1992).

Ineffective assistance of counsel

Mother was not afforded every procedural and substantive protection the law allowed in the permanent custody proceedings. The mother received ineffective assistance of counsel because court-appointed counsel completely failed to take the minimal steps necessary to allow the mother to raise the due process concerns caused by the unconscionable delay by the magistrate and the trial court and, when the magistrate issued a decision containing many questionable findings of fact, trial counsel failed to take the elementary step of challenging those factual findings via timely objections, leading the trial court to adopt those factual findings. In re Sox, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 7116, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 7064 (Dec. 28, 2006).

Trial counsel was not ineffective for failing to make a continuous objection to the hearing continuing when the mother failed to appear since the evidence showed that the mother had notice of the hearing, was offered transportation by the Sandusky County Department of Job and Family Services, and the Department was attempting to contact the mother during the hearing and someone on standby to bring her to court once contact was made; failure to request a bifurcated hearing did not amount to ineffective assistance since the mother failed to demonstrate any harm from such failure. In re Antonio C., 2004 Ohio 82, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 67 (2004).

Trial counsel did not render ineffective assistance of counsel by failing to object to the guardian ad litem's questioning of witnesses. The mother failed to overcome the strong presumption that trial counsel acted within the realm of reasonable trial strategy and that counsel was competent, and failed to show how counsel's failure to object to the guardian ad litem's questioning of witnesses prejudiced her or affected the outcome of the trial court's decision to award the agency permanent custody. In re Curry, 2004 Ohio 750, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 691 (2004).

In a proceeding to terminate a mother's parental rights, her counsel's decision not to present witnesses fell within the realm of trial strategy, and as she failed to show how this decision affected the outcome of the proceedings, she did not demonstrate ineffective assistance of counsel. In re Hatfield, 2003 Ohio 7339, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 6668 (2003).

Father had the right to be represented by counsel in a child support matter and had the right to effective assistance of counsel; however, the father failed to show that he was denied effective assistance of counsel in either his counsel's failure to present his case that he paid past child support or in his counsel's failure to raise a laches defense. Newbauer v. Bertrand, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5109, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4612 (Sept. 29, 2003).

The right to counsel, guaranteed in permanent custody proceedings by RC § 2151.352 and by Ohio R. Juv. P. 4, includes the right to the effective assistance of counsel, and the test for ineffective assistance of counsel used in criminal cases is equally applicable to actions seeking to force the permanent, involuntary termination of parental custody. In re Riley, 2003 Ohio 4109, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3658 (2003).

The test for ineffective assistance of counsel used in criminal cases is equally applicable to actions seeking to force the permanent, involuntary termination of parental custody: In re Heston, 129 Ohio App. 3d 825, 719 N.E.2d 93, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 4280 (1998).

Parents receive ineffective assistance of counsel in termination of rights proceedings where appointed counsel fails to object to the court's loss of jurisdiction: In re Travis Children, 80 Ohio App. 3d 620, 609 N.E.2d 1356, 1992 Ohio App. LEXIS 6662 (1992).

Magistrate report

The court did not comply with JuvR 4 and 29 when it adopted the referee's report and proposed entry without sufficient findings to enable the court to make an independent determination that the juvenile properly waived counsel and entered an admission: In re Montgomery, 117 Ohio App. 3d 696, 691 N.E.2d 349, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 35 (1997).

Right to counsel

Although a juvenile court failed to appoint a separate attorney pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) for a child for over one and one-half years in proceedings involving a social service agency's request for permanent court custody, there was no showing that the delay impacted the outcome of the matter: In re J.W., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1779 (Apr. 26, 2007).

Trial court acted reasonably in refusing to appoint an attorney for two of the children in the permanent custody proceedings because there was no evidence of a desire on the part of the children to be returned to their mother; both children were removed from the mother's home at a very young age, and had had limited, sporadic visitation with their mother thereafter. A guardian ad litem was appointed in the dual role of guardian ad litem and attorney for the children and, based on the circumstances presented, there was no basis to conclude that a conflict existed between the opinion of the guardian ad litem and the desires of the children. In re J.R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 164 (Jan. 19, 2007).

Juvenile court violated defendant juvenile's right to counsel in his delinquency proceeding pursuant to U.S. Const. amends. V, VI, and XIV, Ohio Const. art. I, § 16, Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 and 29 where a valid waiver of counsel was not obtained during the adjudicatory and disposition hearings and counsel was not appointed. Although defendant and his adoptive mother signed a standard form regarding his rights, the form was not accurately filled out and the court failed to review it to ascertain that defendant fully understood the rights therein. In re M.T., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2258 (May 21, 2007).

There was no error in failing to commence the permanent custody hearing (Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414) anew after counsel was appointed for the children, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, because the conflict between the guardian ad litem's recommendation and the children's wishes only became apparent after the hearing had commenced; the error was waived since the mother failed to object, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(3)(a)(i); the attorney declined the opportunity to call other witnesses who had testified at the earlier hearing, with full knowledge of what those witnesses had said, because the attorney was provided a transcript of that earlier hearing; and after the attorney was appointed to represent the children, the mother could no longer claim standing to object that the children's rights in the subsequent proceedings were violated. In re R.E., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1256, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1145 (Mar. 17, 2006).

Under the circumstances, appointment of counsel for the children in the permanent custody proceeding was not required because the children lacked the necessary maturity to give any credible testimony to the court about their wishes with regard to custody. In re Shriver, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2792, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2641 (June 5, 2006).

Father's contention that the trial court erred in failing to appoint counsel for his children to represent them in a permanent custody proceeding was without merit. The father waived his right to complain of the alleged error on appeal by his failure to raise the issue before the trial court, and even so, the record indicated that the trial court appointed an individual as both guardian ad litem and counsel for all three children. In re Salsberry, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3272, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3190 (June 19, 2006).

Trial court did not err in not appointing an attorney to represent a mother's children in a permanent custody proceeding since the statements by the two older children that they loved their mother and missed her did not constitute evidence that they had an affirmative desire to live with their mother on a permanent basis that was in conflict with their guardian ad litem's recommendation that permanent custody be granted to the agency. Moreover, the second oldest son lacked maturity to understand the proceedings. In re A.T., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3583 (Aug. 2, 2006).

In proceedings that granted a motion filed by a county children's services agency for permanent custody of a mother's three children under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414(B)(1), a trial court did not err in failing to appoint an attorney for each child. The appointment of separate attorneys was required only when a conflict existed between the role of guardian ad litem and that of attorney under Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C)(2), and no evidence was presented to show that a conflict existed between the performance of the children's attorney as their appointed counsel under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and her role as their guardian ad litem. In re Parks, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5891, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5836 (Nov. 2, 2006).

Trial court erred by failing to appoint counsel after a possible conflict became known between the child's wishes and the recommendation of the guardian ad litem during the permanent custody hearing and thus, the child was entitled to counsel pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, as clarified by Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y). An attorney would have been required to provide zealous representation for his client and make every legitimate effort to secure an order allowing the child to have continued contact with her father, which the guardian ad litem could not do and remain consistent with his recommendation. In re H.R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1595, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1472 (Mar. 31, 2006).

Trial court, at a minimum, was required to interview the child, on the record, to determine if she was of sufficient maturity to benefit from separate counsel in the permanent custody proceeding, but failed to do so. There was a clear conflict because the guardian ad litem recommended to the trial court that the mother's parental rights be terminated but the agency case supervisor for the child testified at the permanent custody hearing that the child ultimately wanted to be with her mom. In re Roque, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 7007, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6961 (Dec. 29, 2006).

There was no merit to the mother's motion to remove the guardian ad litem (GAL) because the mother did not provide any details as to the "truly justifiable" reasons for which she alleged that the GAL should be removed. Nor did the mother point to any law supporting her contention that the vague incidents referred to amounted to a GAL failing to perform his duties. In re Thomas, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3324, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3237 (June 29, 2006).

Mother's due process rights were not violated because she would have been entitled to the appointment of counsel during the permanent custody hearing, pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4, had she requested such from the trial court. The record established that she failed to appear at any of the trial court proceedings prior to the commencement of the permanent custody hearing and never filed a written request asking the trial court to appoint counsel on her behalf. In re Westfall, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6717, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6644 (Dec. 18, 2006).

Mother's permanent surrender of parental rights was not invalid on the ground that the mother's attorney was not present when she signed the surrender because a voluntary surrender is not an adversarial proceeding, and thus, the attendance of a parent's counsel is not mandated during discussions leading to a permanent surrender of custody. Neither Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 5103.15 nor Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A), contemplates the right of an indigent person to have an attorney present during a private, contractual transfer of permanent custody. In re Young, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4537, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4487 (Sept. 1, 2006).

Trial court did not err in failing to appoint counsel for three children who were the subject of a termination of parental rights proceeding where: (1) the children were older and of a higher maturity level, (2) the guardian ad litem's (GAL) recommendation did not conflict with the wishes of the children to not be returned to the mother's care, (3) the children's counselors also indicated that the children did not want to return to the mother, and (4) the juvenile court had an in-camera interview with the children and their statements in that interview conformed to the statements made by the GAL and the counselors. In re Nelson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 6600, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 5926 (Dec. 9, 2005).

Without any evidence of the children's wishes before it (in the permanent custody hearing pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414), the trial court did not make, and could not have made, the meaningful determination required as to whether the children needed separate counsel, pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, as clarified by Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y). The guardian ad litem's report, which was filed during the hearing, did not take a position on what the best interest of the children was. In re Thuy B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 4280, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3884 (Aug. 18, 2005).

There was no error in failing to appoint a separate attorney for the child in the permanent custody proceedings because there was no clear conflict of interest between what the child desired and what the guardian ad litem was recommending. Due to the child's extensive medical and cognitive issues, she was not able to participate at all in any decisions surrounding her best interests but her desires were taken into consideration. In re P.S., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 4157, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3766 (Aug. 11, 2005).

There was no error in the trial court's decision not to inquire further into appointment of separate counsel for the children in the permanent custody proceeding, because no conflict existed between the recommendation of the guardian ad litem and the wishes of the children; moreover, the guardian ad litem was able to ascertain the wishes of the children through the lay guardian. In re Miller, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 897, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 900 (Mar. 3, 2005).

There was no evidence regarding the son's wishes and/or level of maturity on which the juvenile court could have made any decision regarding the appointment of counsel; the juvenile court did not appoint counsel for the children, did not expressly appoint the guardian ad litem to act as their counsel, and did not make any determination as to whether any of the children lacked the maturity to benefit from the appointment of counsel. In re Ridenour, 2004 Ohio 1958, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1703 (2004).

Pursuant to RC § 2151.352, as clarified by JuvR 4(A) and JuvR 2(Y), a child who is the subject of a juvenile court proceeding to terminate parental rights is a party to that proceeding and, therefore, is entitled to independent counsel in certain circumstances: In re Williams, 101 Ohio St. 3d 398, 2004 Ohio 1500, 805 N.E.2d 1110, 2004 Ohio LEXIS 705 (2004).

Although neither the court nor the guardian ad litem ever had any direct interaction with the two children in a proceeding by a children's services agency seeking permanent custody, the court properly considered their wishes pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414(D) by being made aware of the older child's desire to be placed with his mother, through testimony of the mother and a caseworker, and accordingly, any error on that issue was deemed harmless. The Ohio Supreme Court had previously relied on its prior decisions, Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and 2(Y) in determining that a child who is the subject of a juvenile court proceeding to terminate parental rights is a party to that proceeding and is entitled to independent counsel in certain circumstances. In re Lane, 2004 Ohio 2798, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2486 (2004).

In a temporary custody proceeding, the trial court did not err in awarding temporary custody to a father and grandmother without appointing counsel for the minor child because the record reflected that the mother, although informed of this right to counsel, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353, failed to request counsel for the minor child. In re S.M., 2004 Ohio 1243, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1101 (2004).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in denying the mother's motion to vacate the permanent custody award because the mother was informed of her right to counsel and the procedures necessary to obtain appointed counsel, but she failed to avail herself of such rights; thus, she was not denied the right to counsel afforded by Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A). In re Williams, 2004 Ohio 678, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 592 (2004).

Holding in In re Williams may be applied retroactively. The trial court should have conducted an investigation into whether children who were the subject of a proceeding to terminate parental rights were entitled to counsel. The mother's failure to raise the issue in the trial court did not waive the children's rights: In re Moore, 158 Ohio App. 3d 679, 2004 Ohio 4544, 821 N.E.2d 1039, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 4140 (2004).

Failure to appoint counsel to represent all of the allegedly abused children was rendered harmless because the court was not prevented from knowing the wishes of the children. In re Joshua B., 2003 Ohio 3096, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2797 (2003).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion when it declined to grant a mother a hearing on her motion to appoint a second guardian ad litem for her child, in a case where she sought to suspend the child's father's visitation with the child, because, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(C), the trial court was not required to hold a hearing on such a motion, and there was no indication in the record that the guardian ad litem was unfair or partial, and the guardian ad litem's report revealed the reasons for her recommendations. Edwards v. Livingstone, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 4099, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3646 (Aug. 1, 2003).

In a child support enforcement proceeding, an incarcerated obligor father did not show that he was entitled to appointed counsel under Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 or RC § 2151.352 because he did not establish that he was indigent. Jones v. Bowens, 2003 Ohio 5224, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4671 (2003).

Trial court erred by failing to determine if a mother was indigent and in failing to appoint counsel if she met the indigency requirement, in a parentage and child support action, as Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) required that all parties to juvenile proceedings had the right to have counsel appointed if they were indigent, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y) defined "party" to a juvenile proceeding to include the parents of the child who was subject to the proceedings; however, regardless of this error, a child support enforcement agency lacked standing to raise this issue on appeal, as only those parties who could demonstrate a present interest in the subject matter of the litigation and who had been prejudiced by the trial court's decision had the right to file an appeal, and the agency failed to assert a plausible explanation as to how it had been prejudiced by the trial court's failure to appoint counsel for the mother. Still v. Hayman, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3665 (July 30, 2003).

An adjudication proceeding cannot go forward unless the juvenile is represented by counsel or there has been a valid waiver. Delegating the task of hiring counsel to the juvenile is inappropriate: In re Johnston, 142 Ohio App. 3d 314, 755 N.E.2d 457, 2001 Ohio App. LEXIS 1937 (2001).

Children who were the subject of a proceeding for termination of parental rights were entitled to appointed counsel, especially where there were indications that they wanted to remain with the parents. The appointment of an attorney as the substitute guardian was not sufficient: In re Stacey S., 136 Ohio App. 3d 503, 1999 Ohio 989, 737 N.E.2d 92, 1999 Ohio App. LEXIS 6336 (1999).

Neither RC § 2151.35.2 nor JuvR 4 requires appointment of counsel for a natural parent who has notice of the custody proceedings and disavows any interest in obtaining custody: In re Whaley, 86 Ohio App. 3d 304, 620 N.E.2d 954, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 801 (1993).

The court did not err by appointing counsel for a grandparent seeking visitation rights: Holley v. Higgins, 86 Ohio App. 3d 240, 620 N.E.2d 251, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 769 (1993).

A party who has a right to appointed counsel in a juvenile court action for child support is also entitled to counsel on the issues of custody and visitation: McKinney v. McClure, 102 Ohio App. 3d 165, 656 N.E.2d 1310, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 1124 (1995).

A parent who has executed an invalid surrender of parental rights is entitled to appointed counsel if the parent is indigent: State ex rel. Lunsford v. Buck, 88 Ohio App. 3d 425, 623 NE2d 1356, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 3473.

Juvenile Rule 4(A) and RC § 2151.31.2 guarantee the right to counsel for all indigent parties in juvenile court proceedings: Lowry v. Lowry, 48 Ohio App. 3d 184, 549 N.E.2d 176, 1988 Ohio App. LEXIS 1889 (1988).

A refusal to appoint counsel for an indigent parent in parental termination proceedings was held not violative of due process:

Lassiter v. Dep't of Social Services, 452 U.S. 18, 101 S. Ct. 2153, 68 L. Ed. 2d 640, 1981 U.S. LEXIS 107 (1981).

The guarantee of the right to be represented by counsel set forth in JuvR 4(A) does not, as to a nonindigent party, require that trial be continued indefinitely until counsel can be obtained, but merely requires, if it does not appear that counsel cannot be obtained through the exercise of reasonable diligence and a willingness to enter into reasonable contractual arrangements for counsel's services, that a reasonable opportunity be given to the party before trial to employ such counsel: In re Bolden, 37 Ohio App. 2d 7, 66 Ohio Op. 2d 26, 306 N.E.2d 166, 1973 Ohio App. LEXIS 796 (1973).

Trial court did not err in finding that a father waived his right to the effective assistance of trial counsel under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) during a permanent custody proceeding. The father consistently appeared alone at the hearings and, despite having been informed several times by the trial court, the prosecutor, and the family services agency of his right to counsel, never made a clear request for counsel or took any steps to obtain counsel. In re Saunders, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 392 (Feb. 1, 2007).

Appellant's purported waiver of counsel at a probation revocation hearing was not valid, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 and 35(B), because the trial court's advisement as to that right appeared to state that appellant had the right if he wanted an evidentiary hearing, but not if he wanted to admit the violation he was charged with, which was not the law. In re Lohr, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1130, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1046 (Mar. 7, 2007).

Appellant's purported waiver of counsel at a probation revocation hearing was not valid, under RC § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 and 35(B), because the trial court's advisement as to that right appeared to state that appellant had the right if he wanted an evidentiary hearing, but not if he wanted to admit the violation he was charged with, which was not the law. In re Lohr, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1130, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1046 (Mar. 7, 2007).

Trial court erred in failing to determine whether appellant child knowingly and voluntarily waived his right to an attorney. The trial court should have explained the elements and seriousness of the charge against him and should have determined that appellant child was not being coerced or pressured into waiving his right to counsel, addressed his parents to ensure there was no conflict of interest and that the parents also understood the proceedings. In re Mills, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 924, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 882 (Mar. 5, 2007).

When a trial court did not properly accept appellant's waiver of appellant's right to counsel, it did not cure this initial deficient waiver of counsel by engaging in an additional colloquy with appellant later in the proceedings related to appellant entering an admission or denial regarding the charges against appellant. In re McDonald, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2324, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2175 (May 10, 2007).

Appellant was improperly adjudicated to be a delinquent child because the trial court did not adequately find if appellant's waiver of appellant's right to counsel, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A), was voluntary, knowing and intelligent, as it did not make sufficient inquiry to find if appellant fully understood and intelligently relinquished that right because, before accepting appellant's waiver of counsel, (1) it did not adequately warn appellant of the dangers and disadvantages of self-representation, (2) it should have advised appellant of the nature of the charges and the range of allowable punishments, and (3) it should have advised appellant of possible defenses to the charges and applicable mitigating circumstances. In re McDonald, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2324, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2175 (May 10, 2007).

When a trial court did not properly accept appellant's waiver of appellant's right to counsel, at appellant's initial appearance, all subsequent proceedings, including probation revocation proceedings, were necessarily similarly tainted. In re McDonald, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2324, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2175 (May 10, 2007).

When appellant was charged with offenses in juvenile court, Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 did not require that counsel be appointed to represent him because the statute, as well as Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and 29(B), allowed him to waive counsel, which he knowingly, intelligently, and voluntarily did. In re Spears, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1920, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1761 (Apr. 17, 2006).

Based on a review of the record as a whole, and in consideration of the affirmations of the minor and her mother that they wished to proceed without counsel on her delinquency charge for drug possession, the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(B) were met and the minor's waiver of counsel was voluntarily, knowingly and understandingly given. The trial court explained to the minor her right to counsel, the nature, elements, and category of the charge, her right to a trial, the possible commitment, her right to remain silent, her right to present evidence in her defense and her right to cross-examine witnesses and, as each right was explained, the minor answered that she understood the right and then the minor and her mother agreed to proceed without counsel. In re Loos, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3932, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3891 (July 31, 2006).

Although the trial court substantially complied with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) when it accepted defendant juvenile's waiver of counsel during the adjudication hearing, the trial court failed to reiterate defendant's right to counsel during disposition or allow him either to invoke or to waive his right to counsel at that stage as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 34. In re S. J., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4467, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4395 (Aug. 30, 2006).

As a magistrate substantially complied with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(B)(1) and (4), although he erroneously notified the juvenile in a probation revocation proceeding that he had a right to be represented by a lawyer if he wished and if his family could not afford a lawyer, such was not plain error under Ohio R. Crim. P. 52(B), as the magistrate carefully outlined the rights and responsibilities of the juvenile, and he made sure he understood the rights and the implications of his waiver; as the juvenile's waiver of his right to counsel was deemed knowing, voluntary, and intelligent, there was no violation of his right to counsel pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4. In re J-M, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6131 (Nov. 22, 2006).

In determining whether a juvenile's waiver of counsel is knowing, intelligent and voluntary, a court is required to give close scrutiny to such factors as the juvenile's age, emotional stability, mental capacity, and prior criminal experience. In re Kindred, 2004 Ohio 3647, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3281 (2004).

Where a trial court determined that defendant, a juvenile, waived his right to counsel in his juvenile delinquency proceeding without having conducted the type of dialogue contemplated by the Ohio Juvenile Procedure Rules, the waiver was insufficient and defendant's admission of true should not have been accepted; defendant, as a juvenile, had a right to counsel under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and 29(B), and the trial court was required to make a sufficient inquiry as to his knowing, intelligent, and voluntary waiver of that right in order to avoid violating defendant's right to due process under U.S. Const. amends. V and XIV and Ohio Const. art. I, § 16. In re Christner, 2004 Ohio 4252, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3864 (2004).

To establish a valid waiver of counsel, a court must investigate as long and as thoroughly as the circumstances of the case demand: In re Royal, 132 Ohio App. 3d 496, 725 N.E.2d 685, 1999 Ohio App. LEXIS 854 (1999).

The waiver of counsel was not valid where the magistrate's explanation seemed to state that the right to counsel was triggered only if the juvenile elected to proceed to trial. A waiver of rights form signed after the charge was admitted was not effective: In re Doyle, 122 Ohio App. 3d 767, 702 N.E.2d 970, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 4471 (1997).

Juvenile Rules 4(A) and 29(B) and RC § 2151.35.2 entitle a juvenile to be represented by counsel at all stages of the proceedings. However, that right may be waived: In re East, 105 Ohio App. 3d 221, 663 N.E.2d 983, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 2851 (1995).

Withdrawal of counsel

Trial court did not err in granting a grandmother's appointed counsel's motion for leave to withdraw in a parental rights termination proceeding, as the grandmother was a party to the action, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(Y), and she was accordingly entitled to be represented by counsel, but she was not entitled to appointed counsel under RC § 2151.352; Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) was not applicable to the circumstances, as the right to counsel emanated from RC § 2151.352. In re Denisha Michelle T., 2005 Ohio 1032, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1041 (2005).

Parent's right to appointed counsel was not violated by her attorney's withdrawal in a proceeding to terminate parental rights where the parent's uncooperativeness and lack of interest in the proceedings were demonstrated by her failure to appear at scheduled hearings and by her attorney's unsuccessful attempts to contact her. In re C.H., 162 Ohio App. 3d 602, 2005 Ohio 4183, 834 N.E.2d 401, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3821 (2005).

Pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(F), the trial court committed plain error in allowing the father's counsel to withdraw her representation immediately prior to the dispositional hearing regarding the father's parental rights because the father did not waive his right to counsel. The trial court could not reasonably have concluded that the failure of counsel's communication with the father, whether reasonable or not, resulted in the inability of counsel to ascertain the father's wishes because counsel, herself, informed the trial court that it was the father's desire to have custody of the child. In re Tyler Jo S., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 1225, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1214 (Mar. 18, 2005).

Father was denied his right to representation at the dispositional hearing, the equivalent to a denial of counsel in violation of Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A), when the trial court allowed the father's attorney to withdraw on the day of the dispositional hearing (regarding the termination of his parental rights), in the father's absence, without prior motion or notice to the father; and, the attorney had stated that the father had indicated his desires to him. In re Sadie R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 325, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 292 (Jan. 28, 2005).

Given the background, experience, and conduct of the mother, the trial court did not err in determining that she waived her right to counsel and in granting counsel's motion to withdraw; the mother received notice of the scheduled hearings but failed to appear, the mother had had no contact with the attorney, and evidence showed that she had been disinterested in the child from the time of her birth, had been uncooperative with regard to case plan services, refused drug treatment, refused recommended psychiatric counseling, and failed to keep regularly scheduled meetings with her caseworkers. In re Savanah M., 2003 Ohio 5855, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5209 (2003).

The court erred by allowing a parent's attorney to withdraw on the morning of the dispositional hearing, without prior notice to the client. A simple assertion that a party has been "uncooperative" is insufficient to demonstrate that an attorney should be allowed to withdraw, especially on the day of the dispositional hearing. In re M.L.R., 150 Ohio App. 3d 39, 2002 Ohio 5958, 779 N.E.2d 772, 2002 Ohio App. LEXIS 5796 (2002).

Where the guardian ad litem appointed for a parent who fled to China with a child was also an attorney, the court did not err by terminating parental rights without granting a continuance so that new counsel could be appointed for the parent to replace counsel who withdrew due to lack of communication with the parent. In re Zhang, 135 Ohio App. 3d 350, 734 N.E.2d 379, 1999 Ohio App. LEXIS 2615 (1999).

While parent had a right to be and was represented by counsel during dependency proceedings, once a finding of dependency was made, parent no longer had a statutory or constitutional right to counsel during the legal custody phase of the proceedings. Therefore, the court had no duty to offer parent a continuance or to appoint new counsel when parent's counsel withdrew on the date of the custody hearing before the proceedings began. In re Caputo, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 1519 (12th Dist. 1998).

Opinions of Attorney General

An indigent child is entitled pursuant to RC § 2151.35.2 and JuvR 4(A) to be represented by the county public defender in all juvenile court proceedings pertaining to a complaint alleging the child to be a juvenile traffic offender, regardless of whether the outcome of the proceeding could result in a loss of liberty, except when the right to counsel is waived or the juvenile court pursuant to RC § 120.16(E) appoints counsel other than the county public defender or allows an indigent child to select his own personal counsel to represent him (1984 OAG No. 84-023, approved and followed): OAG No. 97-040 (1997).

Pursuant to RC § 2151.35.2, a child, his parents, custodian, or other persons in loco parentis, if indigent, is entitled to be represented in all juvenile proceedings by a public defender in accordance with the comprehensive system set forth in RC Chapter 120., regardless of whether the outcome of the proceeding could result in a loss of liberty: OAG No. 84-023 (1984).

RULE 5. [Reserved]

RULE 6. Taking into custody

(A) [When.] A child may be taken into custody:

- (1) pursuant to an order of the court;
- (2) pursuant to the law of arrest;
- (3) by a law enforcement officer or duly authorized officer of the court when any of the following conditions exist:

(a) There are reasonable grounds to believe that the child is suffering from illness or injury and is not receiving proper care, and the child's removal is necessary to prevent immediate or threatened physical or emotional harm;

(b) There are reasonable grounds to believe that the child is in immediate danger from the child's surroundings and that the child's removal is necessary to prevent immediate or threatened physical or emotional harm;

(c) There are reasonable grounds to believe that a parent, guardian, custodian, or other household member of the child has abused or neglected another child in the household, and that the child is in danger of immediate or threatened physical or emotional harm;

(d) There are reasonable grounds to believe that the child has run away from the child's parents, guardian, or other custodian;

(e) There are reasonable grounds to believe that the conduct, conditions, or surroundings of the child are endangering the health, welfare, or safety of the child; or

(f) During the pendency of court proceedings, there are reasonable grounds to believe that the child may abscond or be removed from the jurisdiction of the court or will not be brought to the court;

(g) A juvenile judge or designated magistrate has found that there is probable cause to believe any of the conditions set forth in division (A)(3)(a), (b), or (c) of this rule are present, has found that reasonable efforts have been made to notify the child's parents, guardian ad litem or custodian that the child may be placed into shelter care, except where notification would jeopardize the physical or emotional safety of the child or result in the child's removal from the court's jurisdiction, and has ordered ex parte, by telephone or otherwise, the taking of the child into custody.

(4) By the judge or designated magistrate ex parte pending the outcome of the adjudicatory and dispositional hearing in an abuse, neglect, or dependency proceeding, where it appears to the court that the best interest and welfare of the child require the immediate issuance of a shelter care order.

(B) Probable cause hearing. When a child is taken into custody pursuant to an ex parte emergency order pursuant to division (A)(3)(g) or (A)(4) of this rule, a probable cause hearing shall be held before the end of the next business day after the day on which the order is issued but not later than seventy-two hours after the issuance of the emergency order.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-96 AMENDMENT

RULE 6 TAKING INTO CUSTODY

The amendment changed the rule's reference from "referee" to "magistrate" in divisions (A)(3)(g) and (A)(4) in order to harmonize the rule with the language adopted in the 1995 amendments to Juv. R. 40. The amendment is technical only and no substantive change is intended.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 6 TAKING INTO CUSTODY

The 1994 amendment modifies Juv. R. 6 to comply with section 2151.31 of the Revised Code, which requires particular conditions to exist to permit a law enforcement officer or a duly authorized officer of the court to take a child into emergency custody. Juv. R. 6(A)(3)(g) specifies when such taking into custody may be authorized by an ex parte telephone order pursuant to section 2151.31(D) of the Revised Code. Juv. R. 6(B) delineates time deadlines for a probable cause hearing to be held after the issuance of an emergency order.

Removal from home

Under Ohio law, unless matters of public safety are involved, a child alleged to be abused, neglected, or dependent may be removed from his home by court order only upon a judicial determination that continuation in the home would be contrary to the child's best interests: OAG No. 87-105 (1987).

RULE 7. Detention and shelter care

(A) Detention: standards. A child taken into custody shall not be placed in detention or shelter care prior to final disposition unless any of the following apply:

(1) Detention or shelter care is required:

(a) to protect the child from immediate or threatened physical or emotional harm; or

(b) to protect the person or property of others from immediate or threatened physical or emotional harm.

(2) The child may abscond or be removed from the jurisdiction of the court;

(3) The child has no parent, guardian, custodian or other person able to provide supervision and care for the child and return the child to the court when required;

(4) An order for placement of the child in detention or shelter care has been made by the court;

(5) Confinement is authorized by statute.

(B) Priorities in placement prior to hearing. A person taking a child into custody shall, with all reasonable speed, do either of the following:

(1) Release the child to a parent, guardian, or other custodian;

(2) Where detention or shelter care appears to be required under the standards of division (A) of this rule, bring the child to the court or deliver the child to a place of detention or shelter care designated by the court.

(C) Initial procedure upon detention. Any person who delivers a child to a shelter or detention facility shall give the admissions officer at the facility a signed report stating why the child was taken into custody and why the child was not released to a parent, guardian or custodian, and shall assist the admissions officer, if necessary, in notifying the parent pursuant to division (E)(3) of this rule.

(D) Admission. The admissions officer in a shelter or detention facility, upon receipt of a child, shall review the report submitted pursuant to division (C) of this rule, make such further investigation as is feasible and do either of the following:

(1) Release the child to the care of a parent, guardian or custodian;

(2) Where detention or shelter care is required under the standards of division (A) of this rule, admit the child to the facility or place the child in some appropriate facility.

(E) Procedure after admission. When a child has been admitted to detention or shelter care the admissions officer shall do all of the following:

(1) Prepare a report stating the time the child was brought to the facility and the reasons the child was admitted;

(2) Advise the child of the right to telephone parents and counsel immediately and at reasonable times thereafter and the time, place, and purpose of the detention hearing;

(3) Use reasonable diligence to contact the child's parent, guardian, or custodian and advise that person of all of the following:

(a) The place of and reasons for detention;

(b) The time the child may be visited;

(c) The time, place, and purpose of the detention hearing;

(d) The right to counsel and appointed counsel in the case of indigency.

(F) Detention hearing.

(1) Hearing: time; notice. When a child has been admitted to detention or shelter care, a detention hearing shall be held promptly, not later than seventy-two hours after the child is placed in detention or shelter care or the next court day, whichever is earlier, to determine whether detention or shelter care is required. Reasonable oral or written notice of the time, place, and purpose of the detention hearing shall be given to the child and to the parents, guardian, or other custodian, if that person or those persons can be found.

(2) Hearing: advisement of rights. Prior to the hearing, the court shall inform the parties of the right to counsel and to appointed counsel if indigent and the child's right to remain silent with respect to any allegation of a juvenile traffic offense, delinquency, or unruliness.

(3) Hearing procedure. The court may consider any evidence, including the reports filed by the person who brought the child to the facility and the admissions officer, without regard to formal rules of evidence. Unless it appears from the hearing that the child's detention or shelter care is required under division (A) of this rule, the court shall order the child's release to a parent, guardian, or custodian. Whenever abuse, neglect, or dependency is alleged, the court shall determine whether there are any appropriate relatives of the child who are willing to be temporary custodians and, if so, appoint an appropriate relative as the temporary custodian of the child. The court shall make a reasonable efforts determination in accordance with Juv. R. 27(B)(1).

(G) Rehearing. If a parent, guardian, or custodian did not receive notice of the initial hearing and did not appear or waive appearance at the hearing, the court shall rehear the matter promptly. After a child is placed in shelter care or detention care, any party and the guardian ad litem of the child may file a motion with the court requesting that the child be released from detention or shelter care. Upon the filing of the motion, the court shall hold a hearing within seventy-two hours.

(H) Separation from adults. No child shall be placed in or committed to any prison, jail, lockup, or any other place where the child can come in contact or communication with any adult convicted of crime, under arrest, or charged with crime.

(I) Physical examination. The supervisor of a shelter or detention facility may provide for a physical examination of a child placed in the shelter or facility.

(J) Telephone and visitation rights. A child may telephone the child's parents and attorney immediately after being admitted to a shelter or detention facility and at reasonable times thereafter.

The child may be visited at reasonable visiting hours by the child's parents and adult members of the family, the child's pastor, and the child's teachers. The child may be visited by the child's attorney at any time.

The provisions of § 3 of HB 180 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. The General Assembly hereby requests the Supreme Court to promptly modify Rule 29 of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure pursuant to its authority under the Ohio Constitution to make that rule consistent with the amendments of this act to section 2151.28 of the Revised Code.

The General Assembly further requests the Supreme Court to promptly modify Rule 7 of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure pursuant to its authority under the Ohio Constitution to make that rule consistent with the amendments to this act to section 2151.31 of the Revised Code.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-01 AMENDMENT

RULE 7(A) DETENTION: STANDARDS

Rule 7(A) was amended to add two rationales for placing a child in detention or shelter care: one, that the child is endangering the person or property of others [(A)(1)(b)] and two, that a statutory provision authorizes confinement [(A)(5)]. Rule 7(A)(1)(b) conforms to Sub. Sen. Bill 179 (January 1, 2002 effective date), Revised Code section 2151.31(A)(6)(b) and (d). Rule 7(A)(5) ensures that statutory provisions, i.e., Revised Code sections 2152.04 and 2151.31 (C)(2), that contemplate placing a child in detention are recognized as valid rationales by the Juvenile Rules.

RULE 7 DETENTION AND SHELTER CARE

Am. Sub. S.B. 89, effective January 1, 1989, changed the parameters under which a child could be detained. The law removed the authority to detain a child to protect the person and property of others or to protect the property of the child, so such language in Juv. R. 7(A)(1) has been deleted. Juv. R. 7(A)(1) does define the right to place a child in shelter care because of immediate or threatened physical or emotional harm pursuant to Revised Code 2151.31.

Juv. R. 7(F)(3) requires the court to determine the issues of the opportunity for suitable placement with relatives and of reasonable efforts made by agencies to prevent removal or to return the child home, in accordance with Revised Code 2151.314(B)(2) and 2151.419. "Reasonable efforts" are further defined by amended Juv. R. 27(B)(1).

Juv. R. 7(G) has been modified to include the seventy-two hour shelter care hearing requirement imposed by Revised Code 2151.31(E).

The title for Juv. R. 7(I) was changed from "Medical Examination" to "Physical Examination" to conform it to the definition specified in Juv. R. 2.

Generally

Trial court's decision granting an agency temporary custody of a mother's children, after the children had been returned to her from the agency's custody, was not against the manifest weight of the evidence because the primary concern of the shelter care hearing at which temporary custody was granted was the children's immediate safety and protection and (1) the mother, who had left the children with her husband, tested positive for marijuana and methamphetamine, and (2) her husband left the children with their father, contrary to court order. In re G.N., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 126, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 104 (Jan. 16, 2007).

Considering the nature of shelter care hearings, where the primary emphasis is to ensure the safety of children, the juvenile court's grant of temporary custody to the agency was not against the manifest weight of the evidence: In re G.N., 170 Ohio App. 3d 76, 2007 Ohio 126, 866 N.E.2d 32, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 104 (2007).

Constitutionality

Pretrial detention of juveniles presenting a serious risk of committing an offense was constitutional: Schall v. Martin, 467 U.S. 253, 104 S. Ct. 2403, 81 L. Ed. 2d 207, 1984 U.S. LEXIS 96 (1984).

Bail

A juvenile court may admit a juvenile bail in a case where the state has moved for a bindover. RC § 2151.31 and JuvR7, taken together, amount to a presumption against detention: In re K.G., 89 Ohio Misc. 2d 16, 693 N.E.2d 1186, 1998 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 1 (CP 1997).

Evidence

The fact that the police did not immediately take defendant to a juvenile facility did not render his statements inadmissible: State v. Bobo, 65 Ohio App. 3d 685, 585 N.E.2d 429, 1989 Ohio App. LEXIS 4976 (1989).

Habeas Corpus

Juvenile Rule 7(G) provides that a party may move for a rehearing on a decision relating to detention or shelter care; thus habeas corpus relief is not available: Petty v. McGinty, 60 Ohio St. 2d 92, 397 N.E.2d 1190, 14 Ohio Op. 3d 331, 1979 Ohio LEXIS 505 (1979).

A parent, alleging that he failed to receive notice of a hearing concerning the shelter care of his child, must move the juvenile court for a rehearing, pursuant to JuvR 7(G), before seeking a writ of habeas corpus: Linger v. Weiss, 57 Ohio St. 2d 97, 386 N.E.2d 1354, 11 Ohio Op. 3d 281, 1979 Ohio LEXIS 373 (1979).

Reunification provision

Where a child is temporarily committed under JuvR 7, the court is not required to order a reunification plan: In re Moloney, 24 Ohio St. 3d 22, 492 N.E.2d 805, 24 Ohio B. 18, 1986 Ohio LEXIS 641 (1986).

Opinions of Attorney General

Revised Code § § 2151.31(A)(1), 2151.31.4(A), and JuvR 7(B) do not authorize the release of a child to the peace officer who took the child into custody: OAG No. 96-061 (1996).

If a peace officer determines that the detention or shelter care of a child appears to be required as provided in RC § 2151.31(C) and JuvR 7(A), the peace officer is required by RC § 2151.31.1(A) and JuvR 7(B) to bring the child to the court or deliver the child to a place of detention or shelter care designated by the court. A peace officer who determines that the detention or shelter care of a child appears to be required may contact the juvenile court by telephone to determine the place of detention or shelter care to which to deliver the child: OAG No. 96-061 (1996).

Both the existing juvenile code and the Juvenile Rules require a hearing before a temporary commitment to the Ohio youth commission can be made permanent, which hearing requires the presence of the youth involved: OAG No. 72-071 (1972).

RULE 8. Filing by electronic means

A court may provide, by local rules adopted pursuant to the Rules of Superintendence, for the filing of documents by electronic means. If the court adopts such local rules, they shall include all of the following:

(A) Any signature on electronically transmitted documents shall be considered that of the attorney or party it purports to be for all purposes. If it is established that the documents were transmitted without authority, the court shall order the filing stricken.

(B) A provision shall specify the days and hours during which electronically transmitted documents will be received by the court, and a provision shall specify when documents received electronically will be considered to have been filed.

(C) Any document filed electronically that requires a filing fee may be rejected by the clerk of court unless the filer has complied with the mechanism established by the court for the payment of filing fees.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-01 AMENDMENT

RULE 8 FILING BY ELECTRONIC MEANS

The amendments to this rule were part of a group of amendments that were submitted by the Ohio Courts Digital Signatures Task Force to establish minimum standards for the use of information systems, electronic signatures, and electronic filing. The substantive amendment to this rule was the addition of the first sentence of the rule and of divisions (B) and (C). The title of the rule was changed from "Filing by Facsimile Transmission." Comparable amendments were made to Civil Rule 5, Civil Rule 73 (for probate courts), Criminal Rule 12, and Appellate Rule 13.

As part of this electronic filing and signature project, the following rules were amended effective July 1, 2001: Civil Rules 5, 11, and 73; Criminal Rule 12; Juvenile Rule 8; and Appellate Rules 13 and 18. In addition, Rule 26 of the Rules of Superintendence for Courts of Ohio was amended and Rule of Superintendence 27 was added to complement these rules of practice and procedure. Superintendence Rule 27 establishes a process by which minimum standards for information technology are promulgated, and requires that courts submit any local rule involving the use of information technology to a technology standards committee designated by the Supreme Court for approval.

RULE 8(A) PROCEDURE

The amendment changed the rule's reference from "referee" to "magistrate" in division (A)(2) in order to harmonize the rule with the language adopted in the 1995 amendments to Juv. R. 40. The amendment is technical only and no substantive change is intended.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 8 FILING BY FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

Juv. R. 8 is an attempt to facilitate juvenile court filings by electronic means. Concerns about the reliability of facsimile transmission are addressed in several divisions. The rule sets forth the form and procedural requirements necessary for proper facsimile transmission in an effort to minimize unauthorized filings. Division 8(B) also requires the court to meet certain standards in paper and equipment in order to assure that the electronic filings will be able to be read and handled by court personnel.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Appeal

Because CivR 11 applies on appeal in a juvenile case, a signature was required on the notice of appeal: In re Terrance P., 124 Ohio App. 3d 487, 706 N.E.2d 801, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 5646 (1997).

RULE 9. Intake

(A) Court action to be avoided. In all appropriate cases formal action should be avoided and other community resources utilized to ameliorate situations brought to the attention of the court.

(B) Screening; referral. Information that a child is within the court's jurisdiction may be informally screened prior to the filing of a complaint to determine whether the filing of a complaint is in the best interest of the child and the public.

Best interest of child

Formal action against a juvenile defendant should be filed only when it is in the best interest of the child. In re N.K., 2003 Ohio 7059, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 6427 (2003).

Discretion of court

It is clear from the language of JuvR 9 that formal court action is permissible in appropriate cases, and that it is within the discretion of the court to proceed in such a manner: In re Corcoran, 68 Ohio App. 3d 213, 587 N.E.2d 957, 1990 Ohio App. LEXIS 2547 (1990).

The waiver doctrine in State v. Awan (1986), 22 OS3d 120, 489 NE2d 277, 22 OBR 199, 1986 Ohio LEXIS 566, is discretionary. Even where waiver is clear, this court reserves the right to consider constitutional challenges to the application of statutes in specific cases of plain error or where the rights and interests involved may warrant it: In re M.D., 38 Ohio St. 3d 149, 527 N.E.2d 286, 1988 Ohio LEXIS 265 (1988).

Dismissal

In a father's action alleging that his daughter was an unruly child under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.022, the juvenile court's dismissal of the complaint on the ground that it was improvidently filed, in that the complaint was filed as the result of pending litigation between the father and the mother regarding a change of custody of the daughter, was an exercise of the juvenile court's discretion under Ohio R. Juv. P. 9(A) to decide whether to commence juvenile court proceedings. In re Brant, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 6577, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 5889 (Dec. 9, 2005).

The court did not abuse its discretion by dismissing a rape charge against a ten-year-old on the basis that continuing prosecution would not further the juvenile court policies of the state: In re Smith, 80 Ohio App. 3d 502, 609 N.E.2d 1281, 1992 Ohio App. LEXIS 2772 (1992).

Visiting judge

There was plain error in the journal entry transferring the permanent custody case to the docket of the visiting judge signed by a magistrate because, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 9, the magistrate was not empowered to refer cases to a visiting judge. Additionally, there was no notice of judicial approval by the sitting judge assigned the case. In re S.J., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 1854, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1763 (Apr. 21, 2005).

Opinions of Attorney General

A decision, at a particular point in time, not to charge, arrest, file a complaint with or refer a juvenile to the juvenile court pursuant to JuvR 9 does not require disclosure or terminate the juvenile's status as a "suspect," pursuant to RC § 149.43(A); OAG No. 90-101 (1990).

For purposes of the confidential law enforcement investigatory records exception under RC § 149.43(A), a juvenile ceases to be a "suspect" upon arrest, being charged, the filing of a complaint or a referral to the juvenile court pursuant to JuvR 9; OAG No. 90-101 (1990).

For purposes of the confidential law enforcement investigatory records exception under RC § 149.43(A), a juvenile may be considered to be a "suspect" when no charge, arrest, complaint or referral to the juvenile court pursuant to JuvR 9 has been made: OAG No. 90-101 (1990).

RULE 10. Complaint

(A) Filing. Any person having knowledge of a child who appears to be a juvenile traffic offender, delinquent, unruly, neglected, dependent, or abused may file a complaint with respect to the child in the juvenile court of the county in which the child has a residence or legal settlement, or in which the traffic offense, delinquency, unruliness, neglect, dependency, or abuse occurred.

Persons filing complaints that a child appears to be an unruly or delinquent child for being an habitual or chronic truant and the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child has failed to cause the child to attend school may also file the complaint in the county in which the child is supposed to attend public school.

Any person may file a complaint to have determined the custody of a child not a ward of another court of this state, and any person entitled to the custody of a child and unlawfully deprived of such custody may file a complaint requesting a writ of habeas corpus. Complaints concerning custody shall be filed in the county where the child is found or was last known to be.

Any person with standing may file a complaint for the determination of any other matter over which the juvenile court is given jurisdiction by the Revised Code. The complaint shall be filed in the county in which the child who is the subject of the complaint is found or was last known to be. In a removal action, the complaint shall be filed in the county where the foster home is located.

When a case concerning a child is transferred or certified from another court, the certification from the transferring court shall be considered the complaint. The juvenile court may order the certification supplemented upon its own motion or that of a party.

(B) Complaint: general form. The complaint, which may be upon information and belief, shall satisfy all of the following requirements:

(1) State in ordinary and concise language the essential facts that bring the proceeding within the jurisdiction of the court, and in juvenile traffic offense and delinquency proceedings, shall contain the numerical designation of the statute or ordinance alleged to have been violated;

(2) Contain the name and address of the parent, guardian, or custodian of the child or state that the name or address is unknown;

(3) Be made under oath.

(C) Complaint: juvenile traffic offense. A Uniform Traffic ticket shall be used as a complaint in juvenile traffic offense proceedings.

(D) Complaint: permanent custody. A complaint seeking permanent custody of a child shall state that permanent custody is sought.

(E) Complaint: temporary custody. A complaint seeking temporary custody of a child shall state that temporary custody is sought.

(F) Complaint: planned permanent living arrangement. A complaint seeking the placement of a child into a planned permanent living arrangement shall state that placement into a planned permanent living arrangement is sought.

(G) Complaint: habeas corpus. Where a complaint for a writ of habeas corpus involving the custody of a child is based on the existence of a lawful court order, a certified copy of the order shall be attached to the complaint.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-02 AMENDMENT

RULE 10(F) COMPLAINT: PLANNED PERMANENT LIVING ARRANGEMENT

The July 1, 2002, amendment to Juv. R. 10(F) substituted the language of "planned permanent living arrangement" for the former language of "long term foster care," to conform to the new legislative designation for these child-placing arrangements.

The amendment to Juv. R. 10(F) conforms to sections 2151.27(C) and 2151.353(B) of the Revised Code. Juvenile Rules 2, 15, and 34 also were amended effective July 1, 2002 to reflect this change in terminology.

RULE 10(A) FILING

Rule 10(A) was amended to conform to the Sub. Sen. Bill 181 (effective September 4, 2000) changes that provide in R.C. section 2151.27(A)(2) that chronic and habitual truancy complaints against both children and adults responsible for them may also be properly venued in the county in which the child is supposed to be attending public school.

7-1-98 AMENDMENT

RULE 10(A) FILING

The 1998 amendment revised the third paragraph of Juv. R. 10(A) by adding a reference to removal actions, which are defined in Juv. R. 2(E), also added by the 1998 amendments. The provisions that the complaint in removal actions must be filed in the county where the foster home is located clarifies the venue requirement where the boundaries of the school district extend beyond [a] single county.

The 1998 amendment also deleted from the third paragraph a reference to section 2151.23 of the Revised Code.

RULE 10 COMPLAINT

Division (A) of Juv. R. 10 now includes a residual category of persons who may file a complaint in juvenile court. Juv. R. 10(E) and 10(F) have been modified to require that complainants specifically plead whether or not temporary custody or long term foster care is sought. All changes are pursuant to section 2151.27 of the Revised Code, as amended by S.B. 89.

Right to file a petition for child custody is substantive, and JuvR 10 must be read in conjunction with the limitations expressed in RC §§ 2151.414(F) and 2151.353(E)(2): In re McBride, 110 Ohio St. 3d 19, 2006 Ohio 3454, 850 N.E.2d 43, 2006 Ohio LEXIS 2155 (2006).

Pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.27, in a juvenile action, the complaint shall allege the particular facts upon which the allegation that the child is a neglected, or dependent child is based, and, pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353(B) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 10(D), shall contain a prayer specifically requesting permanent custody if that is the relief sought by the complainant; a complaint that sought to adjudicate a father's child neglected and abused properly stated the claim against the father. In re I.M., 2003 Ohio 7069, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 6437 (2003).

A complaint in juvenile court alleging delinquency need not be read as strictly as a criminal indictment: In re Good, 118 Ohio App. 3d 371, 692 N.E.2d 1072, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 609 (1997).

The parents' pro se complaint should not have been dismissed on the technicality that it cited the wrong statute: In re Fetters, 110 Ohio App. 3d 483, 674 N.E.2d 766, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 1570 (1996).

In a parental rights termination proceeding, claims were sufficient to establish juvenile court jurisdiction and apprise mother of the nature of the claims even though they did not provide exact dates of when the alleged events occurred: In re Pieper Children, 74 Ohio App. 3d 714, 600 N.E.2d 317, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 3262 (1991).

An objection based on a defect in the complaint must be heard before the adjudicatory hearing by a pre-hearing motion. Failure to make a timely objection constitutes a waiver: In re Dukes, 81 Ohio App. 3d 145, 610 N.E.2d 513, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 4735 (1991).

A delinquency complaint is sufficient under JuvR 10(B) to state a charge of complicity when it alleges that the juvenile knowingly aided another to commit robbery in violation of RC § 2923.03: In re Howard, 31 Ohio App. 3d 1, 508 N.E.2d 190, 31 Ohio B. 14, 1987 Ohio App. LEXIS 7481 (1987).

Even though a complaining witness may designate a particular statute or statutes as being violated by a child, a juvenile court is free to find, on the basis of the facts alleged and proved, a violation of an additional statute and that the accused is a delinquent child: In re Burgess, 13 Ohio App. 3d 374, 469 N.E.2d 967, 13 Ohio B. 456, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 10888 (1984).

In proving its case in a neglect and dependency proceeding, the state is not limited to those faults and habits of the custodial parent which are specifically listed in the complaint. It is not the intent of JuvR 10(B) to force a complainant to state in the complaint every fact surrounding each incident described: In re Sims, 13 Ohio App. 3d 37, 468 N.E.2d 111, 13 Ohio B. 40, 1983 Ohio App. LEXIS 11369 (1983).

A complaint under JuvR 10 and RC § 2151.27 alleging that a child is dependent must state the essential facts which bring the proceeding within the jurisdiction of the court: In re Hunt, 46 Ohio St. 2d 378, 75 Ohio Op. 2d 450, 348 N.E.2d 727, 1976 Ohio LEXIS 649 (1976).

Parent who has lost permanent custody

Parent who has lost permanent custody of a child to the state may, as a legal stranger to the child, petition for custody. In re McBride, 158 Ohio App. 3d 572, 2004 Ohio 5269, 817 N.E.2d 459, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 4860 (2004).

Transfer from another court

When a case concerning a child is transferred or certified from another court, the certification from the transferring court is deemed to be the complaint: In re Snider, 14 Ohio App. 3d 353, 471 N.E.2d 516, 14 Ohio B. 420, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 11738 (1984).

Such certification does not constitute a complaint in the juvenile court that such child is neglected, dependent or abused and those dispositions provided for under RC § 2151.35.3 pertaining to neglected, dependent or abused children, including an award of permanent custody to a county welfare department which has assumed the administration of child welfare, are not applicable to such a child, disposition thereof being subject to and controlled by RC § 3109.04: In re Snider, 14 Ohio App. 3d 353, 471 N.E.2d 516, 14 Ohio B. 420, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 11738 (1984).

While the certification shall be deemed to be the complaint in the juvenile court, such certification does not constitute a complaint in the juvenile court that such child is dependent or neglected and those dispositions provided for under RC § 2151.35.3, 2151.35.4, and 2151.35.5 pertaining to unruly, delinquent, dependent, or neglected children are not applicable to the disposition of such a child, disposition thereof being subject to and controlled by RC § 3109.04: In re Height, 47 Ohio App. 2d 203, 353 N.E.2d 887, 1 Ohio Op. 3d 279, 1975 Ohio App. LEXIS 5872 (1975).

RULE 11. Transfer to another county

(A) Residence in another county; transfer optional. If the child resides in a county of this state and the proceeding is commenced in a court of another county, that court, on its own motion or a motion of a party, may transfer the proceeding to the county of the child's residence upon the filing of the complaint or after the adjudicatory or dispositional hearing for such further proceeding as required. The court of the child's residence shall then proceed as if the original complaint had been filed in that court. Transfer may also be made if the residence of the child changes.

(B) Proceedings in another county; transfer required. The proceedings, other than a removal action, shall be so transferred if other proceedings involving the child are pending in the juvenile court of the county of the child's residence.

(C) Adjudicatory hearing in county where complaint filed. Where either the transferring or receiving court finds that the interests of justice and the convenience of the parties so require, the adjudicatory hearing shall be held in the county wherein the complaint was filed. Thereafter the proceeding may be transferred to the county of the child's residence for disposition.

(D) Transfer of records. Certified copies of all legal and social records pertaining to the proceeding shall accompany the transfer.

Appeal

Juvenile delinquency adjudication without a subsequent dispositional order did not constitute a "final order" that was subject to appeal pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2501.02. A juvenile proceeding may have been transferred upon the filing of the complaint or after the adjudicatory or dispositional hearing, and the county to which the proceeding was transferred was to proceed as if the original complaint had been filed in that court. Where, after adjudication, a trial court transferred a juvenile case to a different county, where it remained pending, the order of adjudication was not subject to review. In re Williams, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2370, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2268 (May 15, 2006).

A common pleas court order transferring proceedings involving an unruly minor to a juvenile court of another county is not a final appealable order where the transferee court has not yet accepted or rejected jurisdiction. A temporary custody order is not a final order: In re Devlin, 78 Ohio App. 3d 543, 605 N.E.2d 467, 1992 Ohio App. LEXIS 989 (1992).

Temporary custody orders entered pursuant to JuvR 34 are final and appealable when they are entered, and failure to timely appeal the orders precludes any further consideration of the hearings conducted prior to those orders: Ackerman v. Lucas Cty. Children Services Bd., 49 Ohio App. 3d 14, 550 N.E.2d 549, 1989 Ohio App. LEXIS 3536 (1989).

Discretion of court

The venue provisions of RC § 2151.27.1 and JuvR 11 are discretionary with the court: In re Meyer, 98 Ohio App. 3d 189, 648 N.E.2d 52, 1994 Ohio App. LEXIS 4792 (1994).

Jurisdiction

Where a mother sought to preclude a juvenile court judge from exercising post-judgment jurisdiction over visitation and custody motions filed by the father of her child after the mother had filed her intent to relocate to North Carolina with the child, her claim that the judge no longer had jurisdiction over the matter lacked merit, as the juvenile court and the judge had general statutory authority over such issues pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 2151.23 and 2151.231. The mother also failed to show entitlement to the writ where she had an adequate remedy at law through either an appeal or a request to transfer the proceedings to North Carolina, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 11 and 39, such that dismissal of the complaint was warranted. Rivers v. Ramsey, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1744, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1610 (Apr. 3, 2006).

Residence of child

Under JuvR 11, an order of transfer may only be to the county of the child's residence. A child is not deemed to have the same residence as his parents, pursuant to RC § 2151.06, where the child is in the custody of a public agency: In re Smith, 64 Ohio App. 3d 773, 582 N.E.2d 1117, 1990 Ohio App. LEXIS 162 (1990).

Juvenile Rule 11 governs venue in a custody proceeding in the juvenile division, and JuvR 11(A) states, in essence, that if the child resides in one county and the proceeding is commenced in another county, transfer to the county of the child's residence is optional: Squires v. Squires, 12 Ohio App. 3d 138, 468 N.E.2d 73, 12 Ohio B. 460, 1983 Ohio App. LEXIS 11354 (1983).

RULE 13. Temporary disposition; temporary orders; emergency medical and surgical treatment

(A) Temporary disposition. Pending hearing on a complaint, the court may make such temporary orders concerning the custody or care of a child who is the subject of the complaint as the child's interest and welfare may require.

(B) Temporary orders.

(1) Pending hearing on a complaint, the judge or magistrate may issue temporary orders with respect to the relations and conduct of other persons toward a child who is the subject of the complaint as the child's interest and welfare may require.

(2) Upon the filing of an abuse, neglect, or dependency complaint, any party may by motion request that the court issue any of the following temporary orders to protect the best interest of the child:

(a) An order granting temporary custody of the child to a particular party;

(b) An order for the taking of the child into custody pending the outcome of the adjudicatory and dispositional hearings;

(c) An order granting, limiting, or eliminating visitation rights with respect to the child;

(d) An order for the payment of child support and continued maintenance of any medical, surgical, or hospital policies of insurance for the child that existed at the time of the filing of the complaint, petition, writ, or other document;

(e) An order requiring a party to vacate a residence that will be lawfully occupied by the child;

(f) An order requiring a party to attend an appropriate counseling program that is reasonably available to that party;

(g) Any other order that restrains or otherwise controls the conduct of any party which conduct would not be in the best interest of the child.

(3) The orders permitted by division (B)(2) of this rule may be granted ex parte if it appears that the best interest and welfare of the child require immediate issuance. If the court issues the requested ex parte order, the court shall hold a hearing to review the order within seventy-two hours after it is issued or before the end of the next court day after the day on which it is issued, whichever occurs first. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for the child prior to the hearing. The court shall give written notice of the hearing by means reasonably likely to result in the party's receiving actual notice and include all of the following:

(a) The date, time, and location of the hearing;

(b) The issues to be addressed at the hearing;

(c) A statement that every party to the hearing has a right to counsel and to court appointed counsel, if the party is indigent;

(d) The name, telephone number, and address of the person requesting the order;

(e) A copy of the order, except when it is not possible to obtain it because of the exigent circumstances in the case.

(4) The court may review any order under this rule at any time upon motion of any party for good cause shown or upon the motion of the court.

(5) If the court does not grant an ex parte order, the court shall hold a shelter care hearing on the motion within ten days after the motion is filed.

(C) Emergency medical and surgical treatment. Upon the certification of one or more reputable practicing physicians, the court may order such emergency medical and surgical treatment as appears to be immediately necessary for any child concerning whom a complaint has been filed.

(D) Ex parte proceedings. In addition to the ex parte proceeding described in division (B) of this rule, the court may proceed summarily and without notice under division (A), (B), or (C) of this rule, where it appears to the court that the interest and welfare of the child require that action be taken immediately.

(E) Hearing; notice. In addition to the procedures specified in division (B) of this rule and wherever possible, the court shall provide an opportunity for hearing before proceeding under division (D) of this rule. Where the court has proceeded without notice under division (D) of this rule, it shall give notice of the action it has taken to the parties and any other affected person and provide them an opportunity for a hearing concerning the continuing effects of the action.

(F) Probable cause finding. Upon the finding of probable cause at a shelter care hearing that a child is an abused child, the court may do any of the following:

(1) Upon motion by the court or of any party, issue reasonable protective orders with respect to the interviewing or deposition of the child;

(2) Order that the child's testimony be videotaped for preservation of the testimony for possible use in any other proceedings in the case;

(3) Set any additional conditions with respect to the child or the case involving the child that are in the best interest of the child.

(G) Payment. The court may order the parent, guardian, or custodian, if able, to pay for any emergency medical or surgical treatment provided pursuant to division (C) of this rule. The order of payment may be enforced by judgment, upon which execution may issue, and a failure to pay as ordered may be punished as contempt of court.

7-1-96 AMENDMENT

RULE 13(B) TEMPORARY ORDERS

The amendment changed the rule's reference from "referee" to "magistrate" in division (B)(1) in order to harmonize the rule with the language adopted in the 1995 amendments to Juv. R. 40. The amendment is technical only and no substantive change is intended.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

S.B. 89 amended section 2151.33 of the Revised Code to clarify the court's previously existing authority to issue emergency orders for children and Juv. R. 13 has been revised to reflect those amendments. Division (B) sets forth the type of temporary orders a court is authorized to make in an abuse, neglect or dependency case, as well as the procedure to be followed for notice and hearings when orders are made ex parte.

Division (D) clarifies that other kinds of ex parte hearings other than those specified in division (B) are still permitted, and division (E) emphasizes notice and hearing requirements where possible with hearings under division (D).

In accordance with section 2151.33(B) of the Revised Code, division (F)(1), (2), and (3) list the actions the court may take after finding, at a shelter care hearing, probable cause to believe that a child is an abused child.

Generally

In a child custody dispute, it was not error for a trial court to grant temporary custody of the subject child to one of the parties during the course of a hearing, and the trial court's final order superceded the temporary order and corrected any error, rendering the issue moot. Smith v. Quigg, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1494, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1371 (Mar. 22, 2006).

Trial court did not err in granting the mother's ex parte motion for custody of the children without a hearing as required by JuvR 13(B)(3) because the temporary order granting the mother custody ultimately merged with the final judgment of the trial court. Font v. Morris, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 2354, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2104 (May 10, 2004).

Where a mother argued that a trial court erred in awarding temporary custody to a father and grandmother because there was no motion pending and no finding of suitability was determined, the appellate court was without jurisdiction to address the argument because the order was granted "until further order" of the court, and, as such, was merely a temporary order, not a final order. In re S.M., 2004 Ohio 1243, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1101 (2004).

Appeal

A temporary order of a juvenile court changing custody under JuvR 13 or 29, is not a dispositional order under JuvR 34, and hence is not a final appealable order: Morrison v. Morrison, 45 Ohio App. 2d 299, 74 Ohio Op. 2d 441, 344 N.E.2d 144, 1973 Ohio App. LEXIS 784 (1973).

Contempt

Magistrate's continuation of the proceedings on the contempt charge avoided any possible prejudice resulting from the short notice provided. Pursuant to JuvR 13(D), the magistrate was authorized to take evidence on the issue of temporary custody "summarily and without prior notice": In re Kepperling, 166 Ohio App. 3d 257, 2006 Ohio 1856, 850 N.E.2d 119, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1710 (2006).

Custody

There was no evidence before the juvenile court to justify the issuance of an ex parte order because nothing in the parents' motion for emergency custody of their child or supporting affidavit showed that the child's interest and welfare required immediate action. To the contrary, the parents' motion was not filed until 20 days after the fire; the guardian ad litem and the court were aware of the fire; the juvenile court's finding that it did not constitute a change of circumstances sufficient to warrant a change of custody was not an abuse of discretion; and the juvenile court could easily have determined that the emergency motion was simply another attempt to relitigate custody, which the parents were not entitled to do. Hempen v. Bailey (In re Bailey), 2005 Ohio 3039, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2830 (2005).

When an emergency situation exists, the juvenile court may grant temporary custody of a child to the local Children Services Board in an ex parte proceeding: Parker v. Children Services Bd. of Trumbull Cty., 21 Ohio App. 3d 115, 487 N.E.2d 341, 21 Ohio B. 123, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 12668 (1984).

Notice

A temporary custody order will be declared invalid where the affected person is not given notice or opportunity to be heard where such is possible, unless the record reflects circumstances justifying an ex parte hearing: Williams v. Williams, 44 Ohio St. 2d 28, 73 Ohio Op. 2d 121, 336 N.E.2d 426, 1975 Ohio LEXIS 573 (1975).

Opinions of Attorney General

Hearings

Both the existing juvenile code and the Juvenile Rules require a hearing before a temporary commitment to the Ohio youth commission can be made permanent, which hearing requires the presence of the youth involved: OAG No. 72-071 (1972).

RULE 14. Termination, extension or modification of temporary custody orders

(A) Termination. Any temporary custody order issued shall terminate one year after the earlier of the date on which the complaint in the case was filed or the child was first placed into shelter care. A temporary custody order shall extend beyond a year and until the court issues another dispositional order, where any public or private agency with temporary custody, not later than thirty days prior to the earlier of the date for the termination of the custody order or the date set at the dispositional hearing for the hearing to be held pursuant to Division (A) of section 2151.415 of the Revised Code, files a motion requesting that any of the following orders of disposition be issued:

- (1) An order that the child be returned home with custody to the child's parents, guardian, or custodian without any restrictions;
- (2) An order for protective supervision;
- (3) An order that the child be placed in the legal custody of a relative or other interested individual;
- (4) An order terminating parental rights;
- (5) An order for long term foster care;

(6) An order for the extension of temporary custody.

(B) Extension. Upon the filing of an agency's motion for the extension of temporary custody, the court shall schedule a hearing and give notice to all parties in accordance with these rules. The agency shall include in the motion an explanation of the progress on the case plan and of its expectations of reunifying the child with the child's family, or placing the child in a permanent placement, within the extension period. The court may extend the temporary custody order for a period of up to six months. Prior to the end of the extension period, the agency may request one additional extension of up to six months. The court shall grant either extension upon finding that it is in the best interest of the child, that there has been significant progress on the case plan, and that there is reasonable cause to believe that the child will be reunited with one of the child's parents or otherwise permanently placed within the period of extension. Prior to the end of either extension, the agency that received the extension shall file a motion and the court shall issue one of the orders of disposition set forth in division (A) of this rule. Upon the agency's motion or upon its own motion, the court shall conduct a hearing and issue an appropriate order of disposition.

(C) Modification. The court, upon its own motion or that of any party, shall conduct a hearing with notice to all parties to determine whether any order issued should be modified or terminated, or whether any other dispositional order set forth in division (A) should be issued. The court shall so modify or terminate any order in accordance with the best interest of the child.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Discretion of court

Competent, credible evidence supported the trial court's decision to place the children in the legal custody of the uncle and his wife because the trial court had discretion to make a dispositional order in the best interests of the children as it retained jurisdiction over the children. The problems that led to the original grant of temporary custody had not been resolved by the time the trial court made its dispositional order since the treatment of the children and the medical "diagnosis" of Munchausen Syndrome by Proxy and its applicability were still very much in issue. In re McCallum, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 995, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 905 (Mar. 1, 2007).

RULE 15. Process: issuance, form

(A) Summons: issuance. After the complaint has been filed, the court shall cause the issuance of a summons directed to the child, the parents, guardian, custodian, and any other persons who appear to the court to be proper or necessary parties. The summons shall require the parties to appear before the court at the time fixed to answer the allegations of the complaint. A child alleged to be abused, neglected, or dependent shall not be summoned unless the court so directs.

(B) Summons: form. The summons shall contain:

(1) The name of the party or person with whom the child may be or, if unknown, any name or description by which the party or person can be identified with reasonable certainty.

(2) A summary statement of the complaint and in juvenile traffic offense and delinquency proceedings the numerical designation of the applicable statute or ordinance.

(3) A statement that any party is entitled to be represented by an attorney and that upon request the court will appoint an attorney for an indigent party entitled to appointed counsel under Juv. R. 4(A).

(4) An order to the party or person to appear at a stated time and place with a warning that the party or person may lose valuable rights or be subject to court sanction if the party or person fails to appear at the time and place stated in the summons.

(5) An order to the parent, guardian, or other person having care of a child alleged to be an unruly or delinquent child for being an habitual or chronic truant, to appear personally at the hearing and all proceedings, and an order directing the person having the physical custody or control of the child to bring the child to the hearing, with a warning that if the child fails to appear, the parent, guardian, or other person having care of the child may be subject to court sanction, including a finding of contempt.

(6) A statement that if a child is adjudicated abused, neglected, or dependent and the complaint seeks an order of permanent custody, an order of permanent custody would cause the parents, guardian, or legal custodian to be divested permanently of all parental rights and privileges.

(7) A statement that if a child is adjudicated abused, neglected, or dependent and the complaint seeks an order of temporary custody, an order of temporary custody will cause the removal of the child from the legal custody of the parents, guardian, or other custodian until the court terminates the order of temporary custody or permanently divests the parents of their parental rights.

(8) A statement that if the child is adjudicated abused, neglected, or dependent and the complaint seeks an order for a planned permanent living arrangement, an order for a planned permanent living arrangement will cause the removal of the child from the legal custody of the parent, guardian, or other custodian.

(9) A statement, in a removal action, of the specific disposition sought.

(10) The name and telephone number of the court employee designated by the court to arrange for the prompt appointment of counsel for indigent persons.

(C) Summons: endorsement. The court may endorse upon the summons an order directed to the parents, guardian, or other person with whom the child may be, to appear personally and bring the child to the hearing.

(D) Warrant: issuance. If it appears that the summons will be ineffectual or the welfare of the child requires that the child be brought forthwith to the court, a warrant may be issued against the child. A copy of the complaint shall accompany the warrant.

(E) Warrant: form. The warrant shall contain the name of the child or, if that is unknown, any name or description by which the child can be identified with reasonable certainty. It shall contain a summary statement of the complaint and in juvenile traffic offense and delinquency proceedings the numerical designation of the applicable statute or ordinance. A copy of the complaint shall be attached to the warrant. The warrant shall command that the child be taken into custody and be brought before the court that issued the warrant without unnecessary delay.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-02 AMENDMENT

RULE 15(B) SUMMONS: FORM

The July 1, 2002, amendment to Juv. R. 15(B)(8) substituted the language of "planned permanent living arrangement" for the former language of "long term foster care," to conform to the new legislative designation for these child-placing arrangements.

The amendment to Juv. R. 15(B)(8) conforms to sections 2151.28(D) and 2151.353(B) of the Revised Code. Juvenile Rules 2, 10, and 34 also were amended effective July 1, 2002 to reflect this change in terminology.

RULE 15(B) SUMMONS: FORM

Rule 15(B) was amended to add new division (5), which deals with orders to be placed on a summons to parents or other responsible adults when a child or adult is summoned to court pursuant to a complaint of chronic or habitual truancy. The new section tracks the language of Revised Code section 2151.28 (E)(2), as amended by Sub. Sen. Bill 181 (effective September 4, 2000), and makes clear that the parent or responsible adult must bring the child to truancy hearings or be subject to court sanction, including a finding of contempt. Adding this language to the summons alerts responsible adults to the need to ensure not only his or her own appearance, but that of the child as well. Prior divisions (B)(5) through (B)(9) were renumbered (B)(6) through (B)(10) to reflect this interpolation.

7-1-98 AMENDMENT

RULE 15 PROCESS: ISSUANCE, FORM

The 1998 amendment to the first paragraph of Juv. R. 15(A) was intended to clarify the requirement that summons must be issued to the child and to all of the following persons: the parents, guardian, custodian, and any other persons who appear to the court to be proper or necessary parties. Under the prior version of the rule, the use of the word "or" made it unclear whether summons was required to be issued to all of the listed persons. The 1998 amendment also deleted the phrase "other person with whom the child may be living," because this person would be covered by the remaining list of designated persons.

Pursuant to section 2151.55 of the Revised Code, which first created removal actions, the written notice issued to the school superintendent and to the entity that placed the child in the foster home must include an explanation of the purpose of the removal hearing. In furtherance of this notification objective, the 1998 addition of Juv. R. 15(B)(8) requires that those persons receiving a summons for the removal hearing also be notified of the purpose of the hearing and possible disposition.

RULE 15 PROCESS: ISSUANCE, FORM

Pursuant to Revised Code 2151.28 (S.B. 89), Juv. R. 15 now sets forth the form of the summons issued in juvenile court. The revised statute requires the summons in an abuse, neglect, or dependency case to state precisely the potential consequences of an unfavorable adjudication, including permanent loss of parental rights. Therefore, those requirements are listed in divisions (B)(5), (6), (7), and (8).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Parties

There was no error in denying the mother's motion to dismiss the stepfather, her husband, as a party in the permanent custody hearing because he was a vital part of the case; he contributed to the initiation of the agency's proceedings with his behavior, interacted with the children as a parent, and was included in the case plans and services, among other things. Several witnesses testified that the dynamics of the mother's relationship with the stepfather was an important factor in determining her ability to parent and the mother's decision to file for divorce from him a mere two weeks prior to the permanent custody hearing did not erase those facts, particularly in light of the stepfather's assertion that the divorce filing was a sham and their history of separating and reconciling. In re J.P., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1903, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1755 (Apr. 23, 2007).

RULE 16. Process: service

(A) Summons: service, return. Except as otherwise provided in these rules, summons shall be served as provided in Civil Rules 4(A), (C) and (D), 4.1, 4.2, 4.3, 4.5 and 4.6. The summons shall direct the party served to appear at a stated time and place. Where service is by certified mail, the time shall not be less than seven days after the date of mailing.

Except as otherwise provided in this rule, when the residence of a party is unknown and cannot be ascertained with reasonable diligence, service shall be made by publication. Service by publication upon a non-custodial parent is not required in delinquent child or unruly child cases when the person alleged to have legal custody of the child has been served with summons pursuant to this rule, but the court may not enter any order or judgment against any person who has not been served with process or served by publication unless that person appears. Before service by publication can be made, an affidavit of a party or party's counsel shall be filed with the court. The affidavit shall aver that service of summons cannot be made because the residence of the person is unknown to the affiant and cannot be ascertained with reasonable diligence and shall set forth the last known address of the party to be served.

Service by publication shall be made by newspaper publication, by posting and mail, or by a combination of these methods. The court, by local rule, shall determine which method or methods of publication shall be used. If service by publication is made by newspaper publication, upon the filing of the affidavit, the clerk shall serve notice by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the complaint is filed. If no newspaper is published in that county, then publication shall be in a newspaper published in an adjoining county. The publication shall contain the name and address of the court, the case number, the name of the first party on each side, and the name and last known address, if any, of the person or persons whose residence is unknown. The publication shall also contain a summary statement of the object of the complaint and shall notify the person to be served that the person is required to appear at the time and place stated. The time stated shall not be less than seven days after the date of publication. The publication shall be published once and service shall be complete on the date of publication.

After the publication, the publisher or the publisher's agent shall file with the court an affidavit showing the fact of publication together with a copy of the notice of publication. The affidavit and copy of the notice shall constitute proof of service.

If service by publication is made by posting and mail, upon the filing of the affidavit, the clerk shall cause service of notice to be made by posting in a conspicuous place in the courthouse in which the division of the common pleas court exercising jurisdiction over the complaint is located and in additional public places in the county that have been designated by local rule for the posting of notices pursuant to this rule. The number of additional public places to be designated shall be either two places or the number of state representative districts that are contained wholly or partly in the county in which the courthouse is located, whichever is greater. The notice shall contain the same information required to be contained in a newspaper publication. The notice shall be posted in the required locations for seven consecutive days. The clerk also shall cause the summons and accompanying pleadings to be mailed by ordinary mail, address correction requested, to the last known address of the party to be served. The clerk shall obtain a certificate of mailing from the United States Postal Service. If the clerk is notified of a corrected or forwarding address of the party to be served within the seven day period that notice is posted pursuant to this rule, the clerk shall cause the summons and accompanying pleadings to be mailed to the corrected or forwarding address. The clerk shall note the name, address, and date of each mailing in the docket.

After the seven days of posting, the clerk shall note on the docket where and when notice was posted. Service shall be complete upon the entry of posting.

(B) Warrant: execution; return.

(1) By whom. The warrant shall be executed by any officer authorized by law.

(2) Territorial limits. The warrant may be executed at any place within this state.

(3) Manner. The warrant shall be executed by taking the party against whom it is issued into custody. The officer is not required to have possession of the warrant at the time it is executed, but in such case the officer shall inform the party of the complaint made and the fact that the warrant has been issued. A copy of the warrant shall be given to the person named in the warrant as soon as possible.

(4) Return. The officer executing a warrant shall make return thereof to the issuing court. Unexecuted warrants shall upon request of the issuing court be returned to that court.

A warrant returned unexecuted and not cancelled or a copy thereof may, while the complaint is pending, be delivered by the court to an authorized officer for execution.

An officer executing a warrant shall take the person named therein without unnecessary delay before the court which issued the warrant.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-98 AMENDMENT

RULE 16(A) SUMMONS: SERVICE, RETURN

The amendments to division (A) address the issue of service by publication where the residence of a party is unknown. Prior to the amendment, the rule only provided for publication in a newspaper of general circulation. This amendment changed the nature of service by publication in juvenile court cases.

Under this amendment, which is modeled partly on Civ. R. 4.4(A)(2), service by publication in all cases governed by the Juvenile Rules would be accomplished either by the traditional method of newspaper publication, by posting and mail, or by a combination of these methods. The court, by local rule, determines which method of service to select. Civ. R. 4.4(A)(2) mandates posting and mail publication in divorce, annulment, or legal separation actions where the plaintiff is proceeding in forma pauperis. Because most juvenile court cases are initiated by a complaint being filed by a parent (e.g., custody and unruly cases) or by an agency of the state (e.g., delinquency and unruly complaints filed by police departments and boards of education; neglect, dependency, and abuse complaints filed by children's services boards), the rationale which apparently supports Civ. R. 4.4(A)(2) would equally apply to juvenile court cases. Moreover, since the type of case and the status of the complainant should have no bearing on the method of service, the posting and mail form of publication should be permitted in all cases governed by the Juvenile Rules.

Another amendment relates to time frames. The prior rule provided that the publication had to occur not less than fourteen days prior to the scheduled hearing date. The amendment reduced the publication time frame to seven days. This amendment was based on several reasons. First, a 1994 amendment to Juv. R. 16(A) reduced the requisite waiting period for service by certified mail from twenty-one to seven days. Thus, the change to seven days for publication is consistent with the 1994 amendment. Second, Juv. R. 29(A) requires an adjudicatory hearing within ten days of the filing of a complaint when a child is in detention or shelter care. Although this hearing may be continued upon a showing of good cause, the amendment to Juv. R. 16(A) eliminated the potential conflict between the two rules. Third, Juv. R. 29(A) requires an adjudicatory hearing within thirty days after the filing of a complaint in all cases of abuse, neglect, or dependency. Although this hearing may be continued for a reasonable time beyond thirty days to obtain service on all parties, under no circumstances may the hearing be held later than sixty days after the complaint is filed. The condensed time frame for perfecting service by publication would facilitate conducting the hearing within the mandated time periods. Finally, section 2151.29 of the Revised Code, which has been in effect since 1969 (and which conflicts with both the prior and new versions of Juv. R. 16(A)), provides for a one week time frame for service by publication.

RULE 16 PROCESS: SERVICE

Juv. R. 29(A) requires that, when a child is in detention or shelter care, an adjudicatory hearing be set no later than ten days after the filing of the complaint. Certified mail service must, therefore, be completed prior to the ten day period. Juv. R. 16(A) now requires that a hearing shall be held not less than seven days after the date of mailing.

Service by publication permits fourteen days notice prior to the date of the hearing; however, new language has been added to Juv. R. 16(A) to eliminate the necessity of serving a non-custodial parent whose address is unknown, so long as the person with legal custody has been served with summons. Further safeguards have been added to the rule in that the court may not enter an order against any person who has not been served with process or served by publication unless that person appears.

Generally

When read in connection with JuvR 16 and 2(16) and RC § 2151.28, the statute's anonymity provisions are insufficient, in that they would require the minor's parent to be notified of the impending bypass procedure because Ohio courts would construe the provisions so that the specific would govern the general, and thus any conflict would be avoided: Akron Center for Reproductive Health v. Slaby, 854 F.2d 852, 1988 U.S. App. LEXIS 11151 (6th Cir. 1988).

Due process

In a case involving the termination of parental rights, due process required an attempt to serve a father in accordance with Ohio R. Civ. P. 4(A), (C), and (D), 4.1, 4.2, 4.3, 4.5, and 4.6, at a Columbus address, including an attempt to serve the father by ordinary mail at that address, as a certified mail attempt to serve the father was returned with the notation "Attempted Not Known," which was the only notation that could apply where a mailing was unclaimed. In re Thompkins, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 7073, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 6366 (Dec. 27, 2005).

Notice

Where the mother asserted on appeal in the permanent custody case that she received insufficient notice, the claim failed; notice of the permanent custody hearing was given in compliance with RC § 2151.414(A)(1), as the mother received personal service of the motion for permanent custody and notice of the initial permanent custody hearing in accordance with RC § 2151.29, Ohio R. Juv. P. 16(A), and Ohio R. Juv. P. 12(A), (B), and the mother's counsel gave the mother notice of the final permanent custody hearing. In re Keith Lee P., 2004 Ohio 1976,

2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1719 (2004).

Juvenile court erred in denying the father's motion to vacate judgment because the father did not receive notice of the hearing on the motion to set support as the docket sheet clearly showed that the father was served with the motion to set child support by ordinary mail only and thus, the service requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 35(A) were not satisfied; therefore, the continuing jurisdiction of the juvenile court was not invoked. In re Brandon P., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 1861, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 1782 (Apr. 11, 2003).

Paternity

The social services agency used reasonable diligence in trying to identify the natural father of the child before resorting to service by publication on anyone who might claim that status: In re Mullenax, 108 Ohio App. 3d 271, 670 N.E.2d 551, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 8 (1996).

Service by publication

Juvenile Rule 16(A) provides for service by publication when the residence of a party is unknown and cannot with reasonable diligence be discovered. However, once there is a challenge to a party's exercise of reasonable diligence, that party must support his claim that he used reasonable diligence to locate the party served by publication: In re Miller, 33 Ohio App. 3d 224, 515 N.E.2d 635, 1986 Ohio App. LEXIS 10269 (1986).

Service by publication, under JuvR 16(A), requires that any notice published in a newspaper of general circulation include, among other things, the last known address of the party whose present whereabouts are unknown and a summary statement of the object of the complaint. Service by publication is a method of last resort and the requirements therefor, as specified in JuvR 16(A), are mandatory and will be strictly enforced. A failure to include such information in the publication-notice will result in defective service (JuvR 16[A], construed.): In re Wilson, 21 Ohio App. 3d 36, 486 N.E.2d 152, 21 Ohio B. 38, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 12640 (1984).

Waiver of error

As publication on a father in a neglect and dependency proceeding regarding his children was made by publication pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 16 in the county wherein the complaint was filed, and counsel appeared on behalf of the mother and father of the children and did not contest the trial court's jurisdiction, any claims on appeal regarding insufficiency of process were deemed waived. RULE 17. Subpoena

(A) Form; issuance.

(1) Every subpoena shall do all of the following:

(a) State the name of the court from which it is issued, the title of the action, and the case number;

(b) Command each person to whom it is directed, at a time and place specified in the subpoena, to do one or more of the following:

(i) Attend and give testimony at a trial, hearing, proceeding, or deposition;

(ii) Produce documents or tangible things at a trial, hearing, proceeding, or deposition;

(iii) Produce and permit inspection and copying of any designated documents that are in the possession, custody, or control of the person;

(iv) Produce and permit inspection and copying, testing, or sampling of any tangible things that are in the possession, custody, or control of the person.

(c) Set forth the text of divisions (D) and (E) of this rule.

A command to produce and permit inspection may be joined with a command to attend and give testimony, or may be issued separately.

(2) The clerk shall issue a subpoena, signed but otherwise in blank, to a party requesting it, who shall complete it before service. An attorney who has filed an appearance on behalf of a party in an action also may sign and issue a subpoena on behalf of the court in which the action is pending.

(3) If the issuing attorney modifies the subpoena in any way, the issuing attorney shall give prompt notice of the modifications to all other parties.

(B) Parties unable to pay. The court shall order at any time that a subpoena be issued for service on a named witness upon an ex parte application of a party and upon a satisfactory showing that the presence of the witness is necessary and that the party is financially unable to pay the witness fees required by division (C) of this rule. If the court orders the subpoena to be issued, the costs incurred by the process and the fees of the witness so subpoenaed shall be paid in the same manner that similar costs and fees are paid in case of a witness subpoenaed in behalf of the state in a criminal prosecution.

(C) Service. A subpoena may be served by a sheriff, bailiff, coroner, clerk of court, constable, probation officer, or a deputy of any, by an attorney or the attorney's agent, or by any person designated by order of the court who is not a party and is not less than eighteen years of age. Service of a subpoena upon a person named in the subpoena shall be made by delivering a copy of the subpoena to the person, by reading it to him or her in person, or by leaving it at the person's usual place of residence, and by tendering to the person upon demand the fees for one day's attendance and the mileage allowed by the law. The person serving the subpoena shall file a return of the subpoena with the clerk. If the witness being subpoenaed resides outside the county in which the court is located, the fees for one day's attendance and mileage shall be tendered without demand. The return may be forwarded through the postal service or otherwise.

(D) Protection of persons subject to subpoenas.

(1) A party or an attorney responsible for the issuance and service of a subpoena shall take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to that subpoena.

(2)(a) A person commanded to produce under division (A)(1)(b)(ii), (iii), or (iv) of this rule is not required to appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless commanded to attend and give testimony at a trial, hearing, proceeding, or deposition.

(b) Subject to division (E)(2) of this rule, a person commanded to produce under division (A)(1)(b)(ii), (iii), or (iv) of this rule may serve upon the party or attorney designated in the subpoena written objections to production. The objections must be served within fourteen days after service of the subpoena or before the time specified for compliance if that time is less than fourteen days after service. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to production except pursuant to an order of the court that issued the subpoena. If objection has been made, the party serving the subpoena, upon notice to the person commanded to produce, may move at any time for an order to compel the production. An order to compel production shall protect any person who is not a party or an officer of a party from significant expense resulting from the production commanded.

(3) On timely motion, the court from which the subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena, or order appearance or production only under specified conditions, if the subpoena does any of the following:

(a) Fails to allow reasonable time to comply;

(b) Requires disclosure of privileged or otherwise protected matter and no exception or waiver applies;

(c) Requires disclosure of a fact known or opinion held by an expert not retained or specially employed by any party in anticipation of litigation or preparation for trial if the fact or opinion does not describe specific events or occurrences in dispute and results from study by that expert that was not made at the request of any party;

(d) Subjects a person to undue burden.

(4) Before filing a motion pursuant to division (D)(3)(d) of this rule, a person resisting discovery under this rule shall attempt to resolve any claim of undue burden through discussions with the issuing attorney. A motion filed pursuant to division (D)(3)(d) of this rule shall be supported by an affidavit of the subpoenaed person or a certificate of that person's attorney of the efforts made to resolve any claim of undue burden.

(5) If a motion is made under division (D)(3)(c) or (D)(3)(d) of this rule, the court shall quash or modify the subpoena unless the party in whose behalf the subpoena is issued shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship and assures that the person to whom the subpoena is addressed will be reasonably compensated.

(E) Duties in responding to subpoena.

(1) A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents shall, at the person's option, produce the documents as they are kept in the usual course of business or organized and labeled to correspond with the categories in the subpoena. A person producing documents pursuant to a subpoena for them shall permit their inspection and copying by all parties present at the time and place set in the subpoena for inspection and copying.

(2) When information subject to a subpoena is withheld on a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial preparation materials, the claim shall be made expressly and shall be supported by a description of the nature of the documents, communications, or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim.

(F) Sanctions. Failure by any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon that person may be a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. A subpoenaed person or that person's attorney who frivolously resists discovery under this rule may be required by the court to pay the reasonable expenses, including reasonable attorney's fees, of the party seeking the discovery. The court from which a subpoena was issued may impose upon a party or attorney in breach of the duty imposed by division (D)(1) of this rule an appropriate sanction, that may include, but is not limited to, lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees.

(G) Privileges. Nothing in this rule shall be construed to authorize a party to obtain information protected by any privilege recognized by law or to authorize any person to disclose such information.

(H) Time. Nothing in this rule shall be construed to expand any other time limits imposed by rule or statute. All issues concerning subpoenas shall be resolved prior to the time otherwise set for hearing or trial.

RULE 17 SUBPOENA

Juv. R. 17 has been revised to control the issuance and enforcement of subpoenas. Because of the special nature of juvenile proceedings, Juv. R. 17 must be read in conjunction with Juv. R. 24 and 25. Juv. R. 25 provides that the court may grant authority to take a deposition only upon good cause shown. Juv. R. 24 governs the scope of discovery, which is subject to the assertion of privilege.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

GAL fee

Trial court's award of a fee to a guardian ad litem who represented three minor children of parents who were involved in a custody dispute was error, as the husband was denied his opportunity to be heard pursuant to Ohio Const. art. I, § 16 where he was not given an opportunity to challenge her fee request through a hearing or submission of opposition. Her fee rate was excessive under Ohio R. Juv. P. 17(D)(3) and 19(D)(1) where it was not based on the rates provided by the Juvenile Division of the Court of Common Pleas and she had not applied for extraordinary fees under Ohio R. Juv. P. 17(D)(5). In re J.C., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 6446, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6395 (Dec. 7, 2006).

Authority of court

In juvenile court cases in which the Ohio Rules of Juvenile Procedure apply, JuvR 17(B) grants a juvenile court the authority to tax as costs and collect from a party the fees of the county sheriff in serving subpoenas issued by the court and the fees of witnesses subpoenaed by the court. However, pursuant to RC § 2151.54, such fees may not be taxed as costs and collected by a juvenile court in cases of delinquent, unruly, dependent, abused, or neglected children except when specifically ordered by the court. (1997 OAG No. 97-024, approved and followed; 1989 OAG No. 89-086, clarified); OAG No. 98-021 (1998).

RULE 18. Time

(A) Time: computation. In computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by these rules, by the local rules of any court, by order of court, or by any applicable statute, the date of the act or event from which the designated period of time begins to run shall not be included. The last day of the period so computed shall be included, unless it is a Saturday, a Sunday, or a legal holiday, in which event the period runs until the end of the next day that is not a Saturday, a Sunday or a legal holiday. Such extension of time includes, but is not limited to, probable cause, shelter care, and detention hearings.

Except in the case of probable cause, shelter care, and detention hearings when the period of time prescribed or allowed is less than seven days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays shall be excluded in computation.

(B) Time: enlargement. When an act is required or allowed to be performed at or within a specified time, the court for cause shown may at any time in its discretion (1) with or without motion or notice, order the period enlarged if application therefore is made before expiration of the period originally prescribed or of that period as extended by a previous order, or (2) upon motion permit the act to be done after expiration of the specified period if the failure to act on time was the result of excusable neglect or would result in injustice to a party, but the court may not extend the time for taking any action under Rule 7(F)(1), Rule 22(F), Rule 29(A) and Rule 29(F)(2)(b), except to the extent and under the conditions stated in them.

(C) Time: unaffected by expiration of term. The period of time provided for the doing of any act or the taking of any proceeding is not affected or limited by the expiration of a term of court. The expiration of a term of court in no way affects the power of a court to do any act in a juvenile proceeding.

(D) Time: for motions; affidavits. A written motion, other than one which may be heard ex parte, and notice of the hearing thereof, shall be served not later than seven days before the time specified for the hearing unless a different period is fixed by rule or order of the court. For cause shown such an order may be made on ex parte application. When a motion is supported by affidavit, the affidavit shall be served with the motion, and opposing affidavits may be served not less than one day before the hearing unless the court permits them to be served at a later time.

(E) Time: additional time after service by mail. Whenever a party has the right or is required to do an act within a prescribed period after the service of a notice or other paper upon the person and the notice or other paper is served upon the person by mail, three days shall be added to the prescribed period. This division does not apply to service of summonses.

Trial court's September 9, 2003, hearing on a motion for permanent child custody did not violate the time limits of Ohio R. Civ. P. 6(D), as the father was aware as early as July 21, 2003, that a trial would take place on the motion for permanent custody and he had ample time prior to the day of trial to properly move the court for a continuance of the trial date in accordance with Ohio

R. Juv. P. 18. In re Gibby, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 2708, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2413 (May 24, 2004).

Appeal

As a father's objections to a magistrate's decision involving the date that child support was to commence were clearly untimely under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(a) and Ohio R. Civ. P. 53(E)(3), warranting dismissal thereof by the juvenile court, and the father he did not seek to enlarge the time within which to file objections pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 18(B) and Ohio R. Civ. P. 6(B), this time to appeal was not extended by the objections. His failure to appeal within 30 days of the juvenile court's adoption of the magistrate's decision did not preserve his merit issue for appellate review under Ohio R. App. P. 4(A). In re D.K.K., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5576, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5590 (Oct. 20, 2006).

Jurisdiction

Juvenile court did not err by dismissing the father's custody motion, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 18(D), because it unambiguously lacked jurisdiction pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353(J), since no action had been taken on the matter for over one year. Also, Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353(J)(1) applied to vest jurisdiction in the juvenile court in the county in which the legal custodians now resided, and thus, the juvenile court did not have jurisdiction under the Uniform Child Custody Jurisdiction Act, Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3109.22 (repealed and replaced with Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3127.15). In re N.W., 2005 Ohio 2466, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2348 (2005).

RULE 19. Motions

An application to the court for an order shall be by motion. A motion other than one made during trial or hearing shall be in writing unless the court permits it to be made orally. It shall state with particularity the grounds upon which it is made and shall set forth the relief or order sought. It shall be supported by a memorandum containing citations of authority and may be supported by an affidavit.

To expedite its business, unless otherwise provided by statute or rule, the court may make provision by rule or order for the submission and determination of motions without oral hearing upon brief written statements of reasons in support and opposition.

Notice of permanent custody hearing

Where the mother asserted on appeal in the permanent custody case that the mother received insufficient notice, the claim failed; notice of the permanent custody hearing was given in compliance with RC § 2151.414(A)(1), as the mother received personal service of the motion for permanent custody and notice of the initial permanent custody hearing in accordance with RC § 2151.29, Ohio R. RULE 21. Preliminary conferences

At any time after the filing of a complaint, the court upon motion of any party or upon its own motion may order one or more conferences to consider such matters as will promote a fair and expeditious proceeding.

RULE 22. Pleadings and motions; defenses and objections

(A) Pleadings and motions. Pleadings in juvenile proceedings shall be the complaint and the answer, if any, filed by a party. A party may move to dismiss the complaint or for other appropriate relief.

(B) Amendment of pleadings. Any pleading may be amended at any time prior to the adjudicatory hearing. After the commencement of the adjudicatory hearing, a pleading may be amended upon agreement of the parties or, if the interests of justice require, upon order of the court. A complaint charging an act of delinquency may not be amended unless agreed by the parties, if the proposed amendment would change the name or identity of the specific violation of law so that it would be considered a change of the crime charged if committed by an adult. Where requested, a court order shall grant a party reasonable time in which to respond to an amendment.

(C) Answer. No answer shall be necessary. A party may file an answer to the complaint, which, if filed, shall contain specific and concise admissions or denials of each material allegation of the complaint.

(D) Prehearing motions. Any defense, objection or request which is capable of determination without hearing on the allegations of the complaint may be raised before the adjudicatory hearing by motion. The following must be heard before the adjudicatory hearing, though not necessarily on a separate date:

(1) Defenses or objections based on defects in the institution of the proceeding;

(2) Defenses or objections based on defects in the complaint (other than failure to show jurisdiction in the court or to charge an offense which objections shall be noticed by the court at any time during the pendency of the proceeding);

(3) Motions to suppress evidence on the ground that it was illegally obtained;

(4) Motions for discovery;

(5) Motions to determine whether the child is eligible to receive a sentence as a serious youthful offender.

(E) Motion time. Except for motions filed under division (D)(5) of this rule, all prehearing motions shall be filed by the earlier of:

(1) seven days prior to the hearing, or

(2) ten days after the appearance of counsel.

Rule 22(D)(5) motions shall be filed by the later of:

(1) Twenty days after the date of the child's initial appearance in juvenile court; or

(2) Twenty days after denial of a motion to transfer.

The filing of the Rule 22(D)(5) motion shall constitute notice of intent to pursue a serious youthful offender disposition.

The court in the interest of justice may extend the time for making prehearing motions.

The court for good cause shown may permit a motion to suppress evidence under division (D)(3) of this rule to be made at the time the evidence is offered.

(F) State's right to appeal upon granting a motion to suppress. In delinquency proceedings the state may take an appeal as of right from the granting of a motion to suppress evidence if, in addition to filing a notice of appeal, the prosecuting attorney certifies that (1) the appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay and (2) the granting of the motion has rendered proof available to the state so weak in its entirety that any reasonable possibility of proving the complaint's allegations has been destroyed.

Such appeal shall not be allowed unless the notice of appeal and the certification by the prosecuting attorney are filed with the clerk of the juvenile court within seven days after the date of the entry of the judgment or order granting the motion. Any appeal which may be taken under this rule shall be diligently prosecuted.

A child in detention or shelter care may be released pending this appeal when the state files the notice of appeal and certification.

This appeal shall take precedence over all other appeals.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-01 AMENDMENT

RULE 22(D) PREHEARING MOTIONS

Rule 22(D) was amended to add a fifth category of prehearing motions, the motion of the prosecuting attorney to have the court hold a probable cause hearing to determine whether or not a child is eligible under Revised Code sections 2152.11 or 2152.13 to receive a sentence as a serious youthful offender. These motions provide a timely opportunity for the needed probable cause determination of eligibility for treatment as a serious youthful offender, in circumstances in which the prosecuting attorney does not have sufficient time to seek a grand jury determination of such eligibility.

RULE 22(E) MOTION TIME

Rule 22(E) was amended to conform to Sub. Sen. Bill 179 (effective date January 1, 2002) by reflecting that motions for determination of eligibility for treatment as a serious youthful offender are subject to a different time frame than other prehearing motions. It is important for the prosecuting attorney to have sufficient time to investigate before making the significant charging decision to pursue serious youthful offender sentencing. Revised Code section 2152.13(B) provides that the prosecuting attorney has twenty days after a child's initial appearance within which to file a notice of intent to pursue a serious youthful offender dispositional sentence. Juvenile rule time frames applicable in all other cases would truncate this statutory latitude. For instance, Juvenile Rule 29(A) contemplates that ordinarily the adjudicatory hearing of a child held in detention must occur within ten days. Since these are the most serious cases, it is not unlikely that the child will be in detention. Thus, the ordinary time frames of Rule 22(E) would require the motion to be filed well before the statutory period of twenty days has elapsed. Amended Rule 22(E) also clarifies that the prosecuting attorney has the statutory twenty-day time period for filing a notice of intent to pursue serious youthful offender dispositional sentencing after a transfer is denied.

Finally, Rule 22(E) as amended specifically provides that a Rule 22(D)(5) motion shall serve as the statutory "notice of intent" to pursue serious youthful offender dispositional sentencing. This serves to create a recognized procedural mechanism for the notice and to clarify that a motion is indeed the required notice. It also clarifies that the motion starts the speedy trial time clock running [see also Revised Code section 2152.13(D)(1)].

Other changes to Rule 22(E) were in form only, and were not intended to be substantive.

RULE 22 PLEADINGS AND MOTIONS; DEFENSES AND OBJECTIONS

The revision to Juv. R. 22(B) prohibits the amendment of a pleading after the commencement or termination of the adjudicatory hearing unless the amendment conforms to the evidence presented and also amounts to a lesser included offense of the crime charged. Because juveniles can be bound over as adults and become subject to the jurisdiction of the criminal division of the common pleas courts, it is important that Juv. R. 22(B) conform with Crim. R. 7(D), which similarly prohibits any amendment which would result in a change in the identity of the crime charged.

Inasmuch as JuvR 22(A) provides that a party may move "for other appropriate relief," a juvenile presumably may move to limit the court's use of social histories before and during the adjudication. If it does not authorize such relief, then JuvR 45 provides the procedure when no procedure is specifically prescribed: J. P. v. DeSanti, 653 F.2d 1080, 1981 U.S. App. LEXIS 11411 (6th Cir. 1981).

Amendment of complaint

Juvenile Rule 22(B) prohibits amendment of a pleading after commencement or termination of the adjudicatory hearing unless the amendment conforms to the evidence presented and also amounts to a lesser included offense of the crime charged: In re Reed, 147 Ohio App. 3d 182, 2002 Ohio 43, 769 N.E.2d 412, 2002 Ohio App. LEXIS 113 (2002).

Where a juvenile was charged with delinquency, the court did not err by finding that unruliness was a lesser included offense and then amending the complaint accordingly: In re Felton, 124 Ohio App. 3d 500, 706 N.E.2d 809, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 5827 (1997).

The court abused its discretion by amending a complaint charging a violation of RC § 4301.63.2 at the end of trial and finding the juvenile to be "unruly" instead: State v. Aller, 82 Ohio App. 3d 9, 610 N.E.2d 1170, 1992 Ohio App. LEXIS 4004 (1992).

Appeal by state

Pursuant to RC § 2945.67 and JuvR 22(F), the state may appeal the granting of a motion to suppress as a matter of right. However, double jeopardy protections preclude a retrial where the court held a combined proceeding, ending in a dismissal of charges: In re Mojica, 107 Ohio App. 3d 461, 669 N.E.2d 35, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 4995 (1995).

The state is not barred from prosecution following an unsuccessful appeal from the sustaining of a motion to suppress so long as the state's certification upon appeal pursuant to JuvR 22(F) [or CrimR 12(J)], that the evidence suppressed was of such nature that the prosecution could not be successful without it, was made in good faith. If such certification were not made in good faith, the time consumed in determining the appeal from the motion to suppress must be charged to the state as undue delay in prosecution of the accused with respect to a determination of whether there has been a violation of the accused's right to a speedy trial: In re Hester, 3 Ohio App. 3d 458, 446 N.E.2d 202, 3 Ohio B. 539, 1982 Ohio App. LEXIS 10942 (1982).

Where the state has timely filed a notice of appeal from the granting of a motion to suppress, but has failed to make a proper certification as required by JuvR 22(F), a court of appeals may, pursuant to AppR 3(E), allow the amendment of the timely filed notice of appeal and certification so that there may be full compliance with JuvR 22(F): In re Hester, 1 Ohio App. 3d 24, 437 N.E.2d 1218, 1 Ohio B. 85, 1981 Ohio App. LEXIS 9852 (1981).

Pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 22(D), any defects in a complaint must be raised before the adjudicatory hearing by motion; a father failed to raise challenges to the complaint to adjudicate his child as neglected, and therefore, the trial court properly denied his challenge to the proceedings. In re I.M., 2003 Ohio 7069, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 6437 (2003).

An objection based on a defect in the complaint must be heard before the adjudicatory hearing by a pre-hearing motion. Failure to make a timely objection constitutes a waiver: In re Dukes, 81 Ohio App. 3d 145, 610 N.E.2d 513, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 4735 (1991).

Jurisdiction

When, in a juvenile delinquency proceeding, appellant did not contest, either before or at the beginning of his adjudicatory hearing, the trial court's personal jurisdiction over him, he waived any defense based on personal jurisdiction, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 22(D), so his motion to dismiss, claiming the State did not submit evidence of his age, was properly denied. In re C.W., 2005 Ohio 3905, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3579 (2005).

In a juvenile proceeding an objection, raised after trial and submission, based on a failure of the testimony to establish the age of the accused juvenile relates to jurisdiction over the person and not to jurisdiction in the court, and is waived under JuVR 22(D)(2): In re Fudge, 59 Ohio App. 2d 129, 392 N.E.2d 1262, 13 Ohio Op. 3d 176, 1977 Ohio App. LEXIS 7107 (1977).

Motion to dismiss

There was no error in refusing to dismiss the case because the father waived his right to an adjudication hearing and a dispositional hearing within the applicable statutory time periods, pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.28, and failed to file his motion to dismiss in compliance with Ohio R. Juv. P. 22(E) since he did not file his motion to dismiss until the day of the hearing. In re A.P., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2717, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2551 (May 30, 2006).

Motion to suppress

Sustaining of magistrate's decision not to suppress defendant's waiver of rights and statement to officers was proper since defendant knew his rights and his waiver of them was voluntarily. In re Hill, 2003 Ohio 6185, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5504 (2003).

RULE 23. Continuance

Continuances shall be granted only when imperative to secure fair treatment for the parties.

Discretion of court

Denial

Mother's prior failures to appear at court hearings and the fact that she was represented by counsel compelled the conclusion that the trial court did not err in denying the mother's motions for a continuance of a permanent custody hearing under Ohio R. Juv. P. 23. In re Distafano, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4430, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4347 (Aug. 28, 2006).

Discretion of court

There was no error in failing to grant a continuance as the trial court struck an appropriate balance between the mother's right to a fair hearing and its interest in timely disposing of the case. The trial court noted that the case, a petition for permanent custody, had been pending for two and a half years and that the mother bore some fault for her attorney not being as prepared as he would have liked. In re Brown, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2863, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2719 (May 26, 2006).

When, in a custody proceeding before the Franklin County, Ohio, Court of Common Pleas, Domestic Relations Division, Juvenile Branch, a non-appearing mother's counsel sought a continuance after the proceedings started, it was not an abuse of discretion to deny the motion because no good cause was shown, as the mother had notice of the hearing, her counsel had made diligent efforts to contact her in the months before the hearing, which had been continued at least five times, and no explanation for the mother's non-appearance was offered. In re I.R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 6622, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 5937 (Dec. 13, 2005).

Trial court's denial of a continuance on the basis of its busy docket, the child's detention, and defense counsel's failure to pursue other remedies for the state's delay in providing discovery was not an abuse of discretion: In re Fortney, 162 Ohio App. 3d 170, 2005 Ohio 3618, 832 N.E.2d 1257, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3341 (2005).

Time limitation

Where the continuances granted by the trial court in the dependency case caused the temporary custody hearing to be pushed beyond the 90-day period for such a hearing under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.28(B)(3) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(B)(1), the mother waived the statutory limitations period claim by failing to raise the claim before the trial court, and the trial court was within its discretion in granting continuances pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 23. In re Jessica M.B., 2004 Ohio 1040, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 926 (2004).

RULE 24. Discovery

(A) Request for discovery. Upon written request, each party of whom discovery is requested shall, to the extent not privileged, produce promptly for inspection, copying, or photographing the following information, documents, and material in that party's custody, control, or possession:

(1) The names and last known addresses of each witness to the occurrence that forms the basis of the charge or defense;

(2) Copies of any written statements made by any party or witness;

(3) Transcriptions, recordings, and summaries of any oral statements of any party or witness, except the work product of counsel;

(4) Any scientific or other reports that a party intends to introduce at the hearing or that pertain to physical evidence that a party intends to introduce;

(5) Photographs and any physical evidence which a party intends to introduce at the hearing;

(6) Except in delinquency and unruly child proceedings, other evidence favorable to the requesting party and relevant to the subject matter involved in the pending action. In delinquency and unruly child proceedings, the prosecuting attorney shall disclose to respondent's counsel all evidence, known or that may become known to the prosecuting attorney, favorable to the respondent and material either to guilt or punishment.

(B) Order granting discovery: limitations; sanctions. If a request for discovery is refused, application may be made to the court for a written order granting the discovery. Motions for discovery shall certify that a request for discovery has been made and refused. An order granting discovery may make such discovery reciprocal for all parties to the proceeding, including the party requesting discovery. Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivision (A), the court may deny, in whole or part, or otherwise limit or set conditions on the discovery authorized by such subdivision, upon its own motion, or upon a showing by a party upon whom a request for discovery is made that granting discovery may jeopardize the safety of a party or, witness, or confidential informant, result in the production of perjured testimony or evidence, endanger the existence of physical evidence, violate a privileged communication, or impede the criminal prosecution of a minor as an adult or of an adult charged with an offense arising from the same transaction or occurrence.

(C) Failure to comply. If at any time during the course of the proceedings it is brought to the attention of the court that a person has failed to comply with an order issued pursuant to this rule, the court may grant a continuance, prohibit the person from introducing in evidence the material not disclosed, or enter such other order as it deems just under the circumstances.

RULE 24 DISCOVERY

Juv. R. 24 governs the scope of discovery. It adds a new category under Juv. R. 24(A)(6) permitting the requesting party to discover relevant evidence which is favorable to the requesting party, except that in delinquency and unruly child proceedings, the requirement imposed upon prosecuting attorneys is to disclose only such favorable evidence which is material to guilt or punishment of the respondent. All categories of discovery are subject to the assertion of a privilege.

Generally

Because a surviving cohabiting partner agreed to a discovery order allowing the trial court to determine which of a child's records to release in a custody case, she was not allowed to complain that it was contrary to law. Nothing indicated that the trial court erred in releasing the records, and the denial of the partner's request for release of additional records pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 24 was proper. In re J.W., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3753, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3719 (July 21, 2006).

Trial court properly denied a father's motion to compel the release of a mother's psychological records as the father knew that the mother took anti-anxiety medication before the parties' daughter was conceived; further, the father was a pharmacist and was aware of the conditions for which the medication was prescribed and the potential side effects of the drug. Steven D.C. v. Carrie Anne P., 2005 Ohio 3858, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3548 (2005).

Full discovery is necessary to meet the "best interests of the child" standard in matters involving children. The restrictive nature of JuvR 24 does not obviate the necessity or right of liberal discovery in permanent custody cases. RC § 5153.17 does not preclude discovery in such a case. Parties have a right to access and copy original children services agency documents, rather than a computer disc containing the documents: In re Jeter Children, 118 Ohio Misc. 2d 101, 2001 Ohio 4362, 769 N.E.2d 911, 2001 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 44 (CP 2001).

Motions for discovery are to be filed in accord with JuvR 22 prior to the adjudicatory hearing. A probable cause hearing pursuant to RC § 2151.26 and JuvR 30 is not an adjudicatory hearing as defined in JuvR 2: In re Hunter, 99 Ohio Misc. 2d 107, 716 N.E.2d 802, 1999 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 25 (CP 1999).

Juvenile Rule 24(B) provides that discovery may be limited where it may impede criminal prosecution of a minor as an adult or of an adult involved in the same occurrence: National Am. Ins. Co. v. Clermont County Bd. of Comm'rs, 65 Ohio Misc. 2d 5, 640 N.E.2d 616, 1993 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 84 (CP 1994).

Access of media, public

Prohibition will not issue to require the court to exclude the media and the public from a hearing on transfer of jurisdiction: State ex rel. Fyffe v. Pierce, 40 Ohio St. 3d 8, 531 N.E.2d 673, 1988 Ohio LEXIS 391 (1988).

Bindover for prosecution

The discovery provisions of JuvR 24 apply to bindover proceedings: In re A.M., 92 Ohio Misc. 2d 4, 699 N.E.2d 574, 1998 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 7 (CP 1998).

In a case involving, as a preliminary matter, the question of the transfer of a juvenile proceeding to a common pleas court for the purpose of trying a juvenile as an adult for an alleged criminal offense, a juvenile court may limit discovery in the juvenile court to evidence relevant to the probable cause hearing. State v. Gilbert, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2350, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2239 (May 13, 2005).

In the absence of an order limiting discovery pursuant to JuvR 24(B), a juvenile facing a bindover hearing is entitled to discovery coextensive with the issues to be determined at that hearing: In re A.M., 139 Ohio App. 3d 303, 743 N.E.2d 937, 2000 Ohio App. LEXIS 3811 (2000).

Discretion of court

In a juvenile court proceeding in which both a child's aunt and uncle and the child's foster parents had filed competing petitions for the child's custody, and the aunt and uncle's discovery request was not complied with, it was not an abuse of discretion to refuse to exclude the evidence that was not provided pursuant to this request, as the discovery request was filed 14 days before the hearing, and the aunt and uncle did not move to compel or seek any sanction prior to moving in limine to exclude the evidence. In re Halstead, 2005 Ohio 403, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 902 (2004).

Duties of state

Juvenile court did not abuse its discretion in failing to dismiss a termination of parental rights proceeding due to the State's failure to turn over all relevant discovery in light of the potential harm that could occur to the children. The mother did not request dismissal and all of the relevant records were provided without redaction shortly after the juvenile court ordered that the records be produced and stated that if another motion to compel was filed, the keeper of the records would be required to appear and to show cause as to why he or she should not be held in contempt. In re Nelson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 6600, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 5926 (Dec. 9, 2005).

A prosecutor violates JuvR 24 by failing to provide defense counsel with a summary of the victim's oral statement to the police on the date of the incident: In re Johnson, 61 Ohio App. 3d 544, 573 N.E.2d 184, 1989 Ohio App. LEXIS 967 (1989).

A prosecutor is under a duty imposed by the due process clauses of the Ohio and United States Constitutions and JuvR 24 to disclose to a juvenile respondent all evidence in the state's possession favorable to the juvenile respondent and material either to guilt or punishment that is known at the time of a mandatory bindover hearing held pursuant to RC § 2151.26 and that may become known to the prosecuting attorney after the bindover: State v. Iacona, 93 Ohio St. 3d 83, 2001 Ohio 1292, 752 N.E.2d 937, 2001 Ohio LEXIS 2169 (2001).

Motion in limine

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in denying an aunt and uncle's (relatives) motion in limine seeking to exclude the admission of evidence not produced in the foster parents' response to their discovery request as the request was filed 14 days before the hearing and the relatives did not seek to compel production or any other sanction before filing her motion in limine. In re Halstead, 2005 Ohio 403, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 902 (2004).

Motion to intervene

Trial court did not err in denying the motion to intervene based on its finding that the grandparents had not stood in loco parentis because they had never been in a position where they were required to make medical, dental, or other parental decisions on behalf of the children; they did not have care and control of the children before the agency's intervention existed in the absence of supervision by the mother; and the children's services agency retained temporary custody of the children, including access to medical and educational records. In re I. S., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 47, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 42 (Jan. 10, 2007).

Sanctions

Plain language of Ohio R. Juv. P. 24 only allows a juvenile court to impose discovery sanctions after a party has obtained an order compelling that discovery. In re Halstead, 2005 Ohio 403, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 902 (2004).

RULE 25. Depositions

The court upon good cause shown may grant authority to take the deposition of a party or other person upon such terms and conditions and in such manner as the court may fix.

NOTES TO DECISIONSOut-of-state witnesses

In delinquency proceeding, where proffered testimony of out-of-state alibi witnesses would have been merely cumulative, it was not error to deny motion to depose witnesses in New York at state expense: In re Vaughn, 1990 Ohio App. LEXIS 3456 (12th Dist. 1990).

RULE 26. [Reserved]RULE 27. Hearings: general

(A) General Provisions. Unless otherwise stated in this rule, the juvenile court may conduct its hearings in an informal manner and may adjourn its hearings from time to time.

The court may excuse the attendance of the child at the hearing in neglect, dependency, or abuse cases.

(1) Public access to hearings. In serious youthful offender proceedings, hearings shall be open to the public. In all other proceedings, the court may exclude the general public from any hearing, but may not exclude either of the following:

- (a) Persons with a direct interest in the case;
- (b) Persons who demonstrate, at a hearing, a countervailing right to be present.

(2) Separation of juvenile and adult cases. Cases involving children shall be heard separate and apart from the trial of cases against adults, except for cases involving chronic or habitual truancy.

(3) Jury trials. The court shall hear and determine all cases of children without a jury, except for the adjudication of a serious youthful offender complaint, indictment, or information in which trial by jury has not been waived.

(B) Special provisions for abuse, neglect, and dependency proceedings.

(1) In any proceeding involving abuse, neglect, or dependency at which the court removes a child from the child's home or continues the removal of a child from the child's home, or in a proceeding where the court orders detention, the court shall determine whether the person who filed the complaint in the case and removed the child from the child's home has custody of the child or will be given custody and has made reasonable efforts to do any of the following:

(a) Prevent the removal of the child from the child's home;

(b) Eliminate the continued removal of the child from the child's home;

(c) Make it possible for the child to return home.

(2) In a proceeding involving abuse, neglect, or dependency, the examination made by the court to determine whether a child is a competent witness shall comply with all of the following:

(a) Occur in an area other than a courtroom or hearing room;

(b) Be conducted in the presence of only those individuals considered necessary by the court for the conduct of the examination or the well being of the child;

(c) Be recorded in accordance with Juv. R. 37 or Juv. R. 40. The court may allow the prosecutor, guardian ad litem, or attorney for any party to submit questions for use by the court in determining whether the child is a competent witness.

(3) In a proceeding where a child is alleged to be an abused child, the court may order that the testimony of the child be taken by deposition in the presence of a judge or a magistrate. On motion of the prosecuting attorney, guardian ad litem, or a party, or in its own discretion, the court may order that the deposition be videotaped. All or part of the deposition is admissible in evidence where all of the following apply:

(a) It is filed with the clerk;

(b) Counsel for all parties had an opportunity and similar motive at the time of the taking of the deposition to develop the testimony by direct, cross, or redirect examination;

(c) The judge or magistrate determines there is reasonable cause to believe that if the child were to testify in person at the hearing, the child would experience emotional trauma as a result of the child's participation at the hearing.

History: Amended, eff 7-1-76; 7-1-94; 7-1-96; 7-1-01.

STAFF NOTES7-1-01 AMENDMENT*RULE 27(A) GENERAL PROVISIONS

Rule 27(A) was completely rewritten and reorganized to conform to changes necessitated by Sub. Sen. Bill 179 (serious youthful offenders) (effective date January 1, 2002), and Sub. Sen. Bill 181 (chronic and habitual truants) (effective date September 4, 2000).

Rule 27(A) as amended deals separately with the informality of hearings [division (A)], public access to hearings [division (A)(1)], separation of juvenile and adult cases [division (A)(2)], and jury trials [division (A)(3)].

Division (A)(1) clarifies that in serious youthful offender proceedings, adult rules about public access shall apply, and thus a qualified presumption of public access is appropriate. The rule seeks to conform to the Supreme Court's ruling in State ex rel. New World Communications of Ohio, Inc. v. Geauga County Court of Common Pleas, Juvenile Division, (2000) 90 Ohio St.3d 79, 734 N.E.2d 1214. In juvenile proceedings, there is no qualified right of public access, and no presumption that the proceedings be either open or closed.

The amended rule recognizes that the policies of confidentiality and rehabilitation important in juvenile proceedings may justify closure to those without a direct interest after a hearing. In that hearing, the party seeking closure bears the burden of proof, but Rule 27(A)(1)(b) clarifies that closure is justified unless there is a "comparable competing interest" for public access, which the rule describes as a countervailing right. The amendment also conforms to Revised Code section 2151.35(A) as amended by Sub. Sen. Bill 179.

Rule 27(A)(2) conforms to Revised Code section 2151.35(A)(1), which provides that in cases in which both a child and an adult are charged for chronic or habitual truancy, the cases need not be heard separately, while preserving separate proceedings in all other cases.

Rule 27(A)(3) conforms to Revised Code section 2152.13(D) providing for a jury determination in cases seeking a serious youthful offender dispositional sentence, while preserving nonjury proceedings in all other cases.

RULE 27(B) SPECIAL PROVISIONS FOR ABUSE, NEGLECT, AND DEPENDENCY PROCEEDINGS

Rule 27(B) was not amended, but was recaptioned to clarify that its provisions apply to abuse, neglect and dependency proceedings.

7-1-96 AMENDMENT

RULE 27(B) SPECIAL PROVISIONS

The amendment changed the rule's reference from "referee" to "magistrate" in divisions (B)(3) and (B)(3)(c) in order to harmonize the rule with the language adopted in the 1995 amendments to Juv. R. 40. The amendment is technical only and no substantive change is intended.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 27 HEARINGS: GENERAL

S.B. 89 set forth several additional criteria to be observed in the course of hearings in juvenile court. The revisions to Juv. R. 27 reflect the general policy of that legislation to protect children and to assure that all reasonable measures have been taken to keep children with their original families.

Juv. R. 27(B)(1) specifies the "reasonable efforts" determination necessary to assure that, as much as possible, children can remain with their families or return to them without undue trauma. Revised Code 2151.419.

Juv. R. 27(B)(1) sets forth the requirements of the court's determination as to whether a child is a competent witness. Revised Code 2317.01.

Juv. R. 27(B)(3) details a procedure to permit a child's testimony to be taken by deposition in the presence of a judge or a referee. Revised Code 2151.35(G).

Where a county children service agency filed a dependency complaint, and a dispositional hearing was held by a magistrate within 90 days thereof, the time requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(A) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(B)(1) were met. The mother's claim on appeal that she did not present evidence at the hearing was waived where she stipulated to her daughters' dispositions, and she did not object to her son's disposition, nor did she attempt to present witnesses, and the magistrate had the right to conduct an informal hearing, pursuant to § 2151.35(A)(1) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 27(A). In re Ohm, 2005 Ohio 3500, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3245 (2005).

Juvenile Rule 27 and RC § 2151.35 state that a juvenile hearing may, but need not be, held in an informal manner. In re Corcoran, 68 Ohio App. 3d 213, 587 N.E.2d 957, 1990 Ohio App. LEXIS 2547 (1990).

Access of media, public

When appellant, a juvenile, moved a trial court to exclude the press, close the courtroom, order non-disclosure of information from the police to the press, and non-disclosure of personal information of the juvenile parties to appellant's trial for gross sexual imposition and unlawful restraint, it was not an abuse of discretion, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 27 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35, for the trial court to deny the motion because it properly considered potential harm to appellant, the benefits of public access, and ordered a reasonable alternative when it ordered that the media could not disclose the identities of appellant or his parents and barred the use of video or photographs of appellant. In re K.J.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1677, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1533 (Apr. 9, 2007).

The court abused its discretion by closing a detention hearing to the media without a motion for closure and without holding a hearing or making the required findings: State ex rel. Dispatch Printing Co. v. Loudon, 91 Ohio St. 3d 61, 2001 Ohio 268, 741 N.E.2d 517, 2001 Ohio LEXIS 228 (2001).

The public does not have a qualified constitutional right of access to juvenile delinquency proceedings. Such proceedings are not presumed open or presumed closed. The burden of proof is on a party seeking closure: State ex rel. Plain Dealer Publishing Co. v. Geauga Cty. Court of Common Pleas, Juv. Div., 90 Ohio St. 3d 79, 2000 Ohio 35, 734 N.E.2d 1214, 2000 Ohio LEXIS 1999 (2000).

A juvenile court should not summarily deny closure of a hearing where no party objects to closure and evidence is likely to be presented that will be psychologically damaging to an abused child if made public: In re Joanne M., 103 Ohio App. 3d 447, 659 N.E.2d 864, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 1977 (1995).

A two-stage proceeding is required where a motion to transfer a child for prosecution as an adult is filed. The preliminary hearing is presumptively open to the public, while the amenability hearing is presumptively closed: In re D.R., 63 Ohio Misc. 2d 273, 624 N.E.2d 1120, 1993 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 53 (CP 1993).

The public has an interest in access to delinquency proceedings which corresponds to the public's interest in criminal matters. However, the public's right of access must be weighed against the unique confidentiality concerns of a juvenile court. Any limitations on access must be narrowly drawn: In re N.H., 63 Ohio Misc. 2d 285, 626 N.E.2d 697, 1992 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 79 (CP 1992).

Proceedings in juvenile court to determine if a child is abused, neglected, or dependent, or to determine custody of a minor child, are neither presumptively open nor presumptively closed to the public. The juvenile court may restrict public access to these proceedings pursuant to JuvR 27 and RC § 2151.35 if the court finds, after hearing evidence and argument on the issue, (1) that there exists a reasonable and substantial basis for believing that public access could harm the child or endanger the fairness of the adjudication, and (2) the potential for harm outweighs the benefits of public access: In re T.R., 52 Ohio St. 3d 6, 556 N.E.2d 439, 1990 Ohio LEXIS 248 (1990).

Although a juvenile court may conduct a hearing in an informal manner, witnesses should be placed under oath before testifying:

In re Ramsey Children, 102 Ohio App. 3d 168, 656 N.E.2d 1311, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 1510 (1995).

Presence of juvenile

When a magistrate took the disposition of a juvenile delinquency case under advisement, after conducting adjudicatory and dispositional hearings, and then issued a sentencing decision without holding a hearing, Ohio R. Juv. P. 27 did not require that the juvenile who was the subject of the delinquency petition be physically present when the dispositional order was entered as the Rule only required that persons with a direct interest in a case could not be excluded from any hearing. In re Gibson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5145, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5109 (Oct. 2, 2006).

A juvenile's right to be present at a dispositional hearing may be waived by a deliberate failure to appear: In re Jason R., 77 Ohio Misc. 2d 37, 666 N.E.2d 666, 1995 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 93 (CP 1995).

Public access

Prohibition may be granted to prevent a judge from closing juvenile court proceedings without conducting an evidentiary hearing and without making the required findings. When a party requests that a juvenile court proceeding be closed, but the court fails to hold an appropriate evidentiary hearing and make the required findings before closing the proceeding, a person or entity successfully challenging that practice is not automatically entitled to release of the transcript of the improperly closed proceeding. Instead, the person or entity challenging the improper closure is entitled to a writ of mandamus to compel the judge to conduct the closure hearing that should have been held in order to determine if release of the transcript is warranted. Mandamus may be granted to compel a juvenile court to make publicly available notice of (1) motions to close proceedings, (2) when hearings on closure motions will be held, and (3) court rulings on closure motions: State ex rel. Plain Dealer Publ. Co. v. Floyd, 111 Ohio St. 3d 56, 2006 Ohio 4437, 855 N.E.2d 35, 2006 Ohio LEXIS 2573, 34 Media L. Rep. (BNA) 2325 (2006).

Termination of parental rights

RC § 2151.419(A)(1) does not apply in a hearing on a motion for permanent custody filed pursuant to RC § 2151.413. However, except for some narrowly defined statutory exceptions, the state must still make reasonable efforts to reunify the family during the child custody proceedings prior to the termination of parental rights. If the agency has not established that reasonable efforts have been made prior to the hearing on a motion for permanent custody, then it must demonstrate such efforts at that time. The trial court satisfied its duty under RC § 2151.414(D) and properly exercised its discretion to consider the wishes of the children as expressed through their guardian ad litem. The statute does not impose the additional requirement that the trial court also consider whether the children want to testify or whether testifying would be detrimental to them: In re C.F., 113 Ohio St. 3d 73, 2007 Ohio 1104, 862 N.E.2d 816, 2007 Ohio LEXIS 673 (2007).

Testimony by child

Record supported the trial court's decision to quash the mother's subpoena of her daughter to testify at the permanent custody hearing because the trial court conducted in camera interviews of the children at mother's request and informed the mother of their statements; the mother's desire to make the daughter testify after the in camera interview would defeat its purpose. Additionally, the daughter's therapist, attorney, and guardian ad litem all stated that she was frightened to testify in front of everyone, did not wish to testify, and would be traumatized and stressed if made to do so. In re J.P., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1903, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1755 (Apr. 23, 2007).

Opinions of Attorney General

Both the existing juvenile code and the Juvenile Rules require a hearing before a temporary commitment to the Ohio youth commission can be made permanent, which hearing requires the presence of the youth involved: OAG No. 72-071 (1972).

RULE 28. [Reserved]

RULE 29. Adjudicatory hearing

(A) Scheduling the hearing. The date for the adjudicatory hearing shall be set when the complaint is filed or as soon thereafter as is practicable. If the child is the subject of a complaint alleging a violation of a section of the Revised Code that may be violated by an adult and that does not request a serious youthful offender sentence, and if the child is in detention or shelter care, the hearing shall be held not later than fifteen days after the filing of the complaint. Upon a showing of good cause, the adjudicatory hearing may be continued and detention or shelter care extended.

The prosecuting attorney's filing of either a notice of intent to pursue or a statement of an interest in pursuing a serious youthful offender sentence shall constitute good cause for continuing the adjudicatory hearing date and extending detention or shelter care.

The hearing of a removal action shall be scheduled in accordance with Juv. R. 39(B).

If the complaint alleges abuse, neglect, or dependency, the hearing shall be held no later than thirty days after the complaint is filed. For good cause shown, the adjudicatory hearing may extend beyond thirty days either for an additional ten days to allow any party to obtain counsel or for a reasonable time beyond thirty days to obtain service on all parties or complete any necessary evaluations. However, the adjudicatory hearing shall be held no later than sixty days after the complaint is filed.

The failure of the court to hold an adjudicatory hearing within any time period set forth in this rule does not affect the ability of the court to issue any order otherwise provided for in statute or rule and does not provide any basis for contesting the jurisdiction of the court or the validity of any order of the court.

(B) Advisement and findings at the commencement of the hearing. At the beginning of the hearing, the court shall do all of the following:

(1) Ascertain whether notice requirements have been complied with and, if not, whether the affected parties waive compliance;

(2) Inform the parties of the substance of the complaint, the purpose of the hearing, and possible consequences of the hearing, including the possibility that the cause may be transferred to the appropriate adult court under Juv. R. 30 where the complaint alleges that a child fourteen years of age or over is delinquent by conduct that would constitute a felony if committed by an adult;

(3) Inform unrepresented parties of their right to counsel and determine if those parties are waiving their right to counsel;

(4) Appoint counsel for any unrepresented party under Juv. R. 4(A) who does not waive the right to counsel;

(5) Inform any unrepresented party who waives the right to counsel of the right to obtain counsel at any stage of the proceedings, to remain silent, to offer evidence, to cross-examine witnesses, and, upon request, to have a record of all proceedings made, at public expense if indigent.

(C) Entry of admission or denial. The court shall request each party against whom allegations are being made in the complaint to admit or deny the allegations. A failure or refusal to admit the allegations shall be deemed a denial, except in cases where the court consents to entry of a plea of no contest.

(D) Initial procedure upon entry of an admission.

The court may refuse to accept an admission and shall not accept an admission without addressing the party personally and determining both of the following:

(1) The party is making the admission voluntarily with understanding of the nature of the allegations and the consequences of the admission;

(2) The party understands that by entering an admission the party is waiving the right to challenge the witnesses and evidence against the party, to remain silent, and to introduce evidence at the adjudicatory hearing.

The court may hear testimony, review documents, or make further inquiry, as it considers appropriate, or it may proceed directly to the action required by division (F) of this rule.

(E) Initial procedure upon entry of a denial. If a party denies the allegations, the court shall:

(1) Direct the prosecuting attorney or another attorney-at-law to assist the court by presenting evidence in support of the allegations of a complaint;

(2) Order the separation of witnesses, upon request of any party;

(3) Take all testimony under oath or affirmation in either question-answer or narrative form; and

(4) Determine the issues by proof beyond a reasonable doubt in juvenile traffic offense, delinquency, and unruly proceedings; by clear and convincing evidence in dependency, neglect, and abuse cases, and in a removal action; and by a preponderance of the evidence in all other cases.

(F) Procedure upon determination of the issues.

Upon the determination of the issues, the court shall do one of the following:

(1) If the allegations of the complaint, indictment, or information were not proven, dismiss the complaint;

(2) If the allegations of the complaint, indictment, or information are admitted or proven, do any one of the following, unless precluded by statute:

(a) Enter an adjudication and proceed forthwith to disposition;

(b) Enter an adjudication and continue the matter for disposition for not more than six months and may make appropriate temporary orders;

(c) Postpone entry of adjudication for not more than six months;

(d) Dismiss the complaint if dismissal is in the best interest of the child and the community.

(3) Upon request make written findings of fact and conclusions of law pursuant to Civ. R. 52.

(4) Ascertain whether the child should remain or be placed in shelter care until the dispositional hearing in an abuse, neglect, or dependency proceeding. In making a shelter care determination, the court shall make written finding of facts with respect to reasonable efforts in accordance with the provisions in Juv. R. 27(B)(1) and to relative placement in accordance with Juv. R. 7(F)(3).

History: Amended, eff 7-1-76; 7-1-94; 7-1-98; 7-1-01; 7-1-04.

The provisions of § 3 of HB 180 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. The General Assembly hereby requests the Supreme Court to promptly modify Rule 29 of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure pursuant to its authority under the Ohio Constitution to make that rule consistent with the amendments of this act to section 2151.28 of the Revised Code.

The General Assembly further requests the Supreme Court to promptly modify Rule 7 of the Rules of Juvenile Procedure pursuant to its authority under the Ohio Constitution to make that rule consistent with the amendments of this act to section 2151.31 of the Revised Code.

STAFF NOTES7-1-04 AMENDMENT

Juvenile Rule 29(A) Scheduling the hearing

Division (A) was amended to conform the language of the rule to R.C. 2151.28, as amended effective May 16, 2002.

Juvenile Rule 29(B) Adversement and findings at the commencement of the hearing

Division (C) was amended to conform the language of the rule to R.C. 2151.10 and 2151.12, which allow the transfer of juveniles age fourteen and over to adult court for trial.

7-1-01 AMENDMENT

RULE 29(A) SCHEDULING THE HEARING

Rule 29(A) was amended to conform to Revised Code section 2152.13(B), which provides that the prosecuting attorney has twenty days after a child's initial appearance in juvenile court within which to file a notice of intent to pursue a serious youthful offender dispositional sentence. The rule preserves the ten-day time period within which to hold an adjudicatory hearing for all other cases in which the child is in detention or shelter care. However, because the rule contemplates a hearing within ten days, but the statute grants a twenty-day time period for making the charging decision, the amended rule also provides a mechanism by which a prosecuting attorney can preserve the twenty-day time period by filing a "statement of interest in pursuing a serious youthful offender sentence". The amended rule states that either the notice of intent (i.e., a Rule 22(D)(5) motion) or a statement of interest shall be good cause for extending both the date for an adjudicatory hearing and detention or shelter care. If the prosecuting attorney does not file a notice of intent to pursue a serious youthful offender sentence before the twenty-day time period lapses, the ordinary juvenile time frames again become operative. If the prosecuting attorney does not obtain an indictment or information, or the court denies the Rule 22(D)(5) motion, the ordinary juvenile time frames will again become operative. If the child is determined to be eligible for a serious youthful offender sentence, the ordinary juvenile time frames do not apply. Instead, adult time frames, i.e., speedy trial provisions, become operative [Revised Code section 2152.13(D)(1)].

RULE 29(C) ENTRY OF ADMISSION OR DENIAL

Rule 29(C) was amended in response to Section 3 of Sub. Sen. Bill 179 (effective January 1, 2002), in which the General Assembly encouraged the Supreme Court to amend Rule 29(C) to permit "no contest" pleas with the consent of the court, similar to the provisions in Criminal Rule 11.

RULE 29(F) PROCEDURE UPON DETERMINATION OF THE ISSUES

Rule 29(F) was amended in response to both the chronic and habitual truancy act and the serious youthful offender act. Divisions (F)(1) and (2) include recognition that a serious youthful offender case will proceed by indictment or information. Division (F)(2) also recognizes that certain dispositions within the power of the juvenile court may be precluded by statute for certain types of cases. The amendment removes any perception of conflict between statutorily authorized dispositions and those authorized in the rule. Specifically, the division conforms to Revised Code section 2152.13(E), which controls the dispositions in serious youthful offender cases. The division also recognizes that chronic or habitual truant dispositions are heavily regulated by statute.

7-1-98 AMENDMENT

RULE 29 ADJUDICATORY HEARING

The 1998 amendment to Juv. R. 29(A) makes reference to Juv. R. 39(B), which governs service of process and the scheduling of hearings in removal actions.

The 1998 amendment to Juv. R. 29(E)(4) establishes a clear and convincing standard in removal actions for determining whether the child is causing a significant and unreasonable disruption to the educational process. This standard recognizes the significant consequences that will result if the allegations of the complaint are established.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 29 ADJUDICATORY HEARING

The 1994 amendment revised Juv. R. 29(A) to require specific time deadlines for holding the adjudicatory hearing in abuse, neglect, and dependency cases. Specifically in abuse, neglect, and dependency cases, an adjudicatory hearing is to be conducted no later than thirty days after the complaint is filed, with the possibility of a ten day extension for obtaining counsel, and a reasonable time extension to perfect service of process. In any event, the time for the adjudicatory hearing is not to exceed ninety days from the filing of a complaint. Revised Code 2151.28 (amended by S.B. 89).

Constitutionality

Trial by jury in the juvenile court's adjudicative stage is not a constitutional requirement: McKeiver v. Pennsylvania, 403 U.S. 528, 91 S. Ct. 1976, 29 L. Ed. 2d 647, 1971 U.S. LEXIS 26 (1971).

Generally

When, in an adjudicatory hearing held pursuant to JuvR 29, the only evidence of guilt utilized by the court is testimony presented at the preliminary hearing, where the accused exercised adequate rights of cross-examination, he is denied no constitutional right: In re Gantt, 61 Ohio App. 2d 44, 398 N.E.2d 800, 15 Ohio Op. 3d 67, 1978 Ohio App. LEXIS 7661 (1978).

Abused child, generally

Minor child properly was adjudicated as having suffered "serious physical harm" despite the child's happy disposition where the trial court had photographs of the child's bruised body, a physician's affidavit opining that the child was abused, and medical records indicating extensive bruising. In re K.B., 2003 Ohio 3784, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3402 (2003).

Acceptance of admissions

Juvenile court's failure to personally address a juvenile in order to determine whether he understood the nature of charges against him of delinquency arising from gross sexual imposition against his younger siblings was not substantial compliance with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D), such that the denial of the juvenile's motion to set aside his admissions thereto required reversal. The juvenile's affirmative response to the juvenile court's query as to whether he understood the nature of the charges against him was alone insufficient to constitute substantial compliance. In re J. T. C., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 436, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 375 (Feb. 2, 2007).

Appellant, who failed to file objections to a magistrate's decision as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(D)(3)(b)(iv), failed to demonstrate that the magistrate committed plain error in accepting appellant's admission in a juvenile delinquency proceeding without first informing appellant that he had the right to subpoena witnesses; instead, the magistrate substantially complied with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) by informing appellant of the consequences of his plea and advising him that he was giving up the opportunity to question witnesses, to remain silent, and to call his own witnesses. Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) does not require a magistrate to inform an appellant of his right to subpoena witnesses. In re T.K.W., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1205, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1026 (Mar. 13, 2007).

Trial court substantially complied with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) when it accepted appellant's admission and waiver of counsel because both were made voluntarily, knowingly, and intelligently, as (1) the elements and category of each charge filed against appellant were explained to him, (2) he was informed of the possible consequences of being found delinquent or admitting to the charges, (3) he was informed that he had the right to a lawyer and that, if he could not afford a lawyer, one would be appointed for him if he qualified, (4) he was told he had the right to remain silent and the right to go to trial to present evidence in his defense, (5) he was told he had the right to cross-examine witnesses and that the State had the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that he committed the offenses, (6) he said there had been no promises or threats made to coerce him into pleading guilty, (7) he was told that by entering an admission the court would proceed directly to decide what punishment he should receive, (8) he said he understood what the Department of Youth Services was and that by entering an admission he could be committed there for at least six months and as long as until his 21st birthday, (9) he said he understood all the rights he was advised of, (10) he was days short of his 14th birthday when he entered the admissions, (11) he had a previous record in juvenile court, (12) his mother was present when his rights were explained, and she concurred in his decision to waive counsel, (13) she and appellant were both informed of the right to object to the magistrate's decision, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40, and both acknowledged receipt of the magistrate's decision and waived the right to file written objections to that decision, and (14) both appellant and his mother signed a written waiver of rights form before the plea. In re Spears, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1920, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1761 (Apr. 17, 2006).

Juvenile did not make his admission to charges knowingly, voluntarily, and intelligently pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) because the juvenile court failed to inform him, on the record, why he was required to enter new admissions and pleas under Ohio R. Crim. P. 11, based on the fact that he had been previously misinformed as to the consequences for the entry of his pleas and admissions pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2152.13(D)(2). There was no indication given to the juvenile upon his second set of admissions and pleas as to why the first set were considered null and void. In re Smith, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2788, — N.E.2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2625 (June 5, 2006).

Defendant was improperly adjudicated a juvenile delinquent based on an admission for, inter alia, fleeing and eluding as the trial court conducted an insufficient allocation under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D)(2). The trial court failed to explain that defendant would be waiving his rights to challenge the witnesses and evidence against him, to remain silent, and to introduce evidence at the adjudicatory hearing. In re Higgins, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 6826, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6735 (Dec. 22, 2006).

Juvenile court properly conducted an amenability hearing to determine whether defendant, a juvenile, was amenable to the juvenile court system or whether he should be bound over to the general trial court for criminal charges, and the fact that defendant stipulated to the admission of his psychological evaluation and his family records did not constitute admissions or error by the juvenile court, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) and 30. State v. Goodwin, 166 Ohio App. 3d 709, 2006 Ohio 2311, 852 N.E. 2d 1282, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2176 (May 11, 2006).

Juvenile admission under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29 was analogous to a guilty plea and a juvenile offender who entered an admission to an offense waived the right to challenge evidentiary issues on appeal, including a motion to suppress; defendant waived his right to contest the denial of his motion to suppress when he entered his plea of true to a drug possession charge. In re S.L., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1895, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1748 (Apr. 17, 2006).

Magistrate's explanation of the potential consequences of the admission was insufficient: In re William B., 163 Ohio App. 3d 201, 2005 Ohio 4428, 837 N.E.2d 414, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 4019 (2005).

Mother's claim that her admission that the children were abused or dependent violated Ohio R. Juv. P. 29 was rejected as the mother failed to file a transcript of the hearing in which the admission was made and there was no Ohio R. App. P. 9 equivalent. Without the transcript or Rule 9 equivalent, the regularity of the juvenile court proceedings had to be presumed. In re Nelson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 6600, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 5926 (Dec. 9, 2005).

Trial court committed plain error as it did not sufficiently comply with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) in accepting the admissions to the amended complaint, alleging that the child was neglected (for the purpose of permanent custody), because neither admission was made with an understanding of the nature of the allegations and the consequences of the admission. The trial judge did not ascertain that the mother or the grandmother understood that the purpose of the hearing was to determine whether the child was neglected, the trial judge did not inform them that, by entering an admission, they were admitting to the truth of the allegations in the amended complaint and to a finding of neglect by the court, and the trial judge told both the mother and the grandmother that their rights applied at the dispositional hearing and at no time informed them that they were giving up their rights at the adjudicatory hearing by entering an admission to the amended complaint. In re M.C., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 1968, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1916 (Apr. 28, 2005).

Prior to accepting defendant juvenile's admission to grand theft auto (Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2913.02), the trial court failed to advise him of his eligibility for a commitment to the Ohio Department of Youth Services for a minimum period of six months, and a maximum period of his 21st birthday. Therefore, it was not found that the trial court substantially complied with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29, by personally engaging in a discussion with defendant to make sure that he understood the consequences of making an admission and the potential penalty before finding defendant had waived his rights knowingly, voluntarily, or intelligently. In re Stone, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 1831, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1741 (Apr. 13, 2005).

Trial court did not err by accepting defendant juvenile's knowing and voluntary admission to assault as it complied with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29. The trial court informed defendant of the charge against him, advised him of the rights he would be waiving by entering an admission, and conducted a comprehensive inquiry to establish that he understood the nature of the charge against him and the consequences of an admission. In re C.P., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 1819, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1743 (Apr. 20, 2005).

Trial court's failure to comply with JuvR 29(D), concerning admissions, constitutes plain error in cases involving termination of parental rights: In re A.C., 160 Ohio App. 3d 457, 2005 Ohio 1742, 827 N.E.2d 824, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1669 (2005).

Because a magistrate failed to ask a juvenile defendant whether defendant understood that defendant was waiving constitutional rights in pleading guilty, and the transcript was so poor that the appellate court could not determine the sufficiency of the allocation, the trial court failed to comply with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D)(2), 37. In re Dawson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2088, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1984 (Apr. 29, 2005).

Where a juvenile's remorse was questionable and the juvenile was informed of the maximum penalty under RC § 2152.16(A)(1)(e) for gross sexual imposition, the trial court complied with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D); there was no indication that the juvenile was prejudiced by the failure to be informed of the penalties for disorderly conduct. In re Wisdom, 2005 Ohio 930, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 949 (2005).

Because the trial court, before accepting the parents' admissions that their children were dependent, did not address them to ensure that they understood the nature of the allegations or the consequences of the admissions as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(A), it committed plain error in finding the children to be dependent based on those admissions. In re Elliott, 2004 Ohio 2770, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2461 (2004).

Where the trial court engaged in a lengthy colloquy with appellant mother at the adjudication phase, read the allegations of abuse to her, asked her if she understood what each allegation and subsequent admission meant, and she acknowledged that by admitting to the allegations of abuse, she was waiving her right to challenge the witnesses and evidence on that issue, waiving her right to remain silent, and waiving her right to introduce evidence on that issue, because the trial court followed the mandates of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) in accepting appellant's admissions at the adjudication phase, it did not violate her due process rights. In re K.P., 2004 Ohio 1674, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1494 (2004).

Magistrate complied with the juvenile rule by determining whether defendant was making the admissions voluntarily with a complete understanding of the consequences before accepting the admission to rape and gross sexual imposition. In re J.W., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5096, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4604 (Sept. 26, 2003).

Where a juvenile was informed only that if he entered an admission to an assault charge he would not have the right to a trial, and it was not explained to him that by entering a plea he would be waiving the other constitutional rights referenced in Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D)(2), his entry of an admission to that charge had to be vacated. In re Adams, 2003 Ohio 4112, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3664 (2003).

Juvenile court did not err in accepting defendant's admission to two charges against him and ordering his placement in the Ohio Department of Youth Services, as the juvenile court followed the mandates of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29 regarding the proper way to conduct an adjudicatory hearing. State v. D.M., 2003 Ohio 3228, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2901 (2003).

Juvenile court's colloquy with the juvenile was inadequate to inform the juvenile of the juvenile's rights under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D)(1), as the juvenile court failed to determine that the juvenile fully understood the consequences of the juvenile's admission to a charge of gross sexual imposition since it did not inform the juvenile of the maximum potential term of commitment available. In re A.H., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 1953, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 1861 (Apr. 17, 2003).

Juvenile court properly accepted the juvenile's admissions to two charges and ordered that he be placed with the Ohio Department of Youth Services, as the record showed that the juvenile court determined personally that the juvenile's admissions were voluntarily made, and with an understanding of the nature of the allegations and the consequences of the admissions. State v. D.M., 2003 Ohio 3228, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2901 (2003).

Juvenile's admissions to two charges were properly accepted and the juvenile was properly placed in the Ohio Department of Youth Services, as the juvenile court properly informed him of the purpose of the juvenile's adjudicatory hearing, its substance, and the possible consequences of the hearing. State v. D.M., 2003 Ohio 3228, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2901 (2003).

That a juvenile only answered "yes" or "yeah" to questions from the trial court as to whether he understood the constitutional rights he was waiving by entering an admission did not oblige the trial court to make a further inquiry to determine that he was making a knowing, intelligent, and voluntary waiver of his constitutional rights, as the court had no reason to doubt the juvenile's answers that he understood the rights he was waiving. In re Adams, 2003 Ohio 4112, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3664 (2003).

The court failed to comply with JuvR 29(D) prior to accepting the admission: In re Graham, 147 Ohio App. 3d 452, 2002 Ohio 2407, 770 N.E.2d 1123, 2002 Ohio App. LEXIS 2435 (2002).

The court did not substantially comply with JuvR 29(D)(1) where it failed to inform the juvenile of the term of his possible commitment: In re Holcomb, 147 Ohio App. 3d 31, 2002 Ohio 2042, 768 N.E.2d 722, 2002 Ohio App. LEXIS 191 (2002).

The court violated JuvR 29(B) and (D) by failing to sufficiently explain the juvenile's rights and the effect of an admission: In re Royal, 132 Ohio App. 3d 496, 725 N.E.2d 685, 1999 Ohio App. LEXIS 854 (1999).

The court failed even to minimally comply with JuvR 29(D): In re West, 128 Ohio App. 3d 356, 714 N.E.2d 988, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 2404 (1998).

The court's initial questions prior to accepting the admissions were proper. Subsequent questions revealed the juvenile was contesting an element of an offense, and defense counsel should not have elicited incriminating information from the juvenile: In re Terrace P., 129 Ohio App. 3d 418, 717 N.E.2d 1160, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 3686 (1998).

The court's failure to address the juvenile personally concerning waiver of the privilege against self-incrimination before accepting the admission constituted prejudicial error. Substantial compliance with JuvR 29(D) is not sufficient where a constitutional right is concerned: In re Onion, 128 Ohio App. 3d 498, 715 N.E.2d 604, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 2762 (1998).

The court did not comply with JuvR 4 and 29 when it adopted the referee's report and proposed entry without sufficient findings to enable the court to make an independent determination that the juvenile properly waived counsel and entered an admission: In re Montgomery, 117 Ohio App. 3d 696, 691 N.E.2d 349, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 35 (1997).

The juvenile's rights to counsel and due process were violated where the court accepted her admissions while addressing almost all of its remarks to the juvenile's mother: In re Rogers, 124 Ohio App. 3d 392, 706 N.E.2d 390, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 5471 (1997).

Collectively advising a group of juveniles of the effect of an admission did not satisfy JuvR 29(D): In re Miller, 119 Ohio App. 3d 52, 694 N.E.2d 500, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 1399 (1997).

The court violated JuvR 29(B) and (D) by not advising defendant of his constitutional rights and of the effect of the admission: In re Kimble, 114 Ohio App. 3d 136, 682 N.E.2d 1066, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 4306 (1996).

Without substantial compliance with JuvR 29(D), a juvenile's admissions are invalid: In re Brooks, 112 Ohio App. 3d 54, 677 N.E.2d 1229, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 2656 (1996).

Juvenile Rule 29(D)(1) requires that a juvenile be apprised of the dispositional options. Advising a juvenile that an admission waived the right to trial did not satisfy JuvR 29(D)(2): In re Hendrickson, 114 Ohio App. 3d 290, 683 N.E.2d 76, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 4240 (1996).

The court's noncompliance with JuvR 29(D)(1) in accepting a plea from a mentally handicapped thirteen-year-old required reversal: In re Beechler, 115 Ohio App. 3d 567, 685 N.E.2d 1257, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 3215 (1996).

The requirements of CrimR 11(C)(2) do not apply to JuvR 29(D)(2). The referee's failure to comply was neither prejudicial nor plain error: In re Harris, 104 Ohio App. 3d 324, 662 N.E.2d 34, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 1827 (1995).

The failure of a juvenile court to substantially comply with the requirements of JuvR 29(D) has the same prejudicial effect as does failure to substantially comply with CrimR 11(C)(2), necessitating a reversal of the adjudication so that the juvenile may plead anew: In re Christopher R., 101 Ohio App. 3d 245, 655 N.E.2d 280, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 2422 (1995).

The failure of a juvenile court to substantially comply with the requirements of JuvR 29(D) has the same prejudicial effect as does failure to substantially comply with CrimR 11(C)(2), necessitating a reversal of the adjudication so that the juvenile may plead anew: In re Jenkins, 101 Ohio App. 3d 177, 655 N.E.2d 238, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 518 (1995).

Juvenile Rule 29(D) requires the court to apprise the juvenile of the rights being waived by an admission. The duty may not be delegated to defense counsel: In re Flynn, 101 Ohio App. 3d 778, 656 N.E.2d 737, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 2158 (1995).

The failure of the juvenile court to substantially comply with JuvR 29(D) by personally addressing the juvenile defendant to ensure the validity of a waiver, necessitates a reversal of the adjudication so that the juvenile may plead anew: In re Robert Meyer, 1992 Ohio App. LEXIS 109 (1st Dist. 1992).

The court failed to comply with JuvR 29(D) when it accepted the parents' admissions of neglect without advising them of their rights or of the effects of the admissions: In re Smith, 77 Ohio App. 3d 1, 601 N.E.2d 45, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 4120 (1991).

Admission of dependency

When parents entered dependency admissions as to two children, and then, years later, after a third child was born and an agency sought permanent custody of all three children, the parents filed pleas of deny, this effectively withdrew the prior admissions, where the trial court did not adjudicate the children to be dependent when the prior admissions were entered, so, once the pleas of deny were entered, the trial court could not adjudicate the children to be dependent and/or abused based on the withdrawn pleas, and, as it did not otherwise adjudicate the children, its subsequent grant of their permanent custody to an agency without an adjudication was contrary to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. ch. 2151 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(F) and 34. In re J.H., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3237, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3151 (June 26, 2006).

Admissions

Defendant juvenile's admission in a delinquency proceeding was not knowingly, intelligently, and voluntarily entered where the juvenile court failed to substantially comply with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D), in that it failed to engage in any meaningful exchange with defendant to ascertain whether he understood the nature of the charge against him or the rights he was waiving by admitting the charge. In re M.T., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2446, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2258 (May 21, 2007).

JuvR 29(D) was violated where the magistrate failed to determine whether the juvenile understood the nature of the rape allegation and also misinformed the juvenile as to the consequences of the admission: In re B.M.S., 165 Ohio App. 3d 609, 2006 Ohio 981, 847 N.E.2d 506, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 906 (2006).

Alford plea

Ohio bars juvenile offenders from entering an Alford plea simultaneously admitting to criminal conduct and maintaining their innocence: In re Kirby, 101 Ohio St. 3d 312, 2004 Ohio 970, 804 N.E.2d 476, 2004 Ohio LEXIS 475 (2004).

Appeal

Where children are found to be neglected and dependent and temporary custody is then awarded to the children services board, the custody order is appealable under RC § 2501.02: Smith, 61 Ohio App. 3d 788, 573 N.E.2d 1170, 1989 Ohio App. LEXIS 2111 (1989).

Clear and convincing evidence

Weight of the evidence supported the trial court's determination that a father's minor child was an abused and dependent child pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 2151.031 and 2151.04(C), as she was a credible witness who testified that her father beat her with an extension cord and that he touched her "private parts"; although there was no physical evidence, such would have only strengthened the child's testimony but the lack of it did not require a conclusion that she was not credible where there was clear and convincing evidence to support the findings pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4). In re A.R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1548, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1444 (Mar. 31, 2006).

There was sufficient evidence to allow the trial court to find by clear and convincing evidence that the elements of Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.04(D)(1) were met for a finding that the child was dependent. The mother had substance abuse problems, mental problems, and used sex offenders as caregivers and the child's three siblings had been adjudicated abused, neglected, and dependent. In re C.M., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1908, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1752 (Apr. 19, 2006).

Clear and convincing evidence pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4) supported a trial court's determination that a child was dependent pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.04(C), as she was diagnosed with mental health issues, she had homicidal and suicidal tendencies, and had run away from home to avoid auditory hallucinations telling her to kill herself and her family. The parents' conduct adversely impacted the child and the severity of her condition, and it created a risk to her safety. In re E. R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4816, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4745 (Sept. 18, 2006).

Clear and convincing evidence, as required by Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(A)(1) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4), supported a trial court's decision that a child was dependent, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.04(B) and (C) because (1) the child's mother admitted that her mental state prevented her from adequately caring for the child, (2) she testified that the child's father was inconsistent in being willing to help her care for the child, (3) she testified the father's epilepsy caused him to "zone out" at times, (4) she accused the father of physically abusing the child but did not seek proper treatment for the child for weeks, (5) her claims of physical abuse, if true, showed the child suffered actual harm in the home and was not given appropriate treatment, and, if false, showed the mother's inability to make appropriate decisions about the child's care. In re S.J.J., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 6354, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6318 (Dec. 4, 2006).

Child was properly adjudicated a dependent child under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.04(D) and adjudication was supported by clear and convincing evidence under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4). Although the caseworker for the children services board had never observed the parent's home or their interactions with the week-old child prior to removal, the magistrate's finding that the child was dependent on the ground that the conditions of the household rendered the child in danger of being abused and neglected was not against the manifest weight of the evidence because the mother's parental rights to her other four children had been terminated, and the father had been convicted of child endangering, in that he had shaken a seven-month old child. The child was in danger of being abused, and the father's presence in the household constituted a condition in the household, which placed the child in danger. In re W.C., 2005 Ohio 2968, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2767 (2005).

Adjudications of abuse and dependence were affirmed because the uncontested expert testimony that a child's injury was not accidental and that disciplinary methods used on the child were concerning was sufficient to support a finding that the youngest child was abused and the oldest child was dependent as defined by RC § 2151.031 by clear and convincing evidence under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4). In re Anthony, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5712, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5075 (Oct. 24, 2003).

Competency of child

While a child may be incompetent to stand trial in adult court, he or she may be competent to enter an admission and stand for adjudication in juvenile court because of the differences in the complexities of adult criminal proceedings versus juvenile proceedings: In re Bailey, 150 Ohio App. 3d 664, 2002 Ohio 6792, 782 N.E.2d 1177, 2002 Ohio App. LEXIS 6577 (2002).

Delinquency proceedings generally

Juvenile court's determination that defendant, a juvenile, was a delinquent pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(A) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4) for committing a robbery, in violation of Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2911.02(A)(2), was not against the manifest weight of the evidence, as the identification of defendant as the perpetrator was supported by testimony from the victim which was deemed reliable, and there was sufficient evidence that money was taken from the victim's pocket during the criminal incident. In re Lower, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1735, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1581 (Apr. 5, 2007).

In a delinquency proceeding, a trial judge had to find, based on the evidence produced at an adjudicatory hearing, whether the State proved delinquency beyond a reasonable doubt, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(A) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E), so it was error for him to consider, in a rape trial, comments made by his wife about feminine hygiene. In re K.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1647, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1501 (Apr. 9, 2007).

Although a juvenile failed to object to a magistrate's determination in his delinquency matter, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(D)(3)(b)(i), the exception to waiver under Rule 40(D)(4) applied, as the magistrate committed prejudicial, plain error under Ohio R. Crim. P. 52 when she failed to personally address the juvenile to ascertain that he voluntarily, knowingly, and intelligently waived his rights as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D). The magistrate's reliance on counsel's statement that he had explained the waiver of rights to the juvenile was improper, as was reliance on the juvenile's written waiver form, such that there was no substantial compliance with Rule 29(D). In re Tabler, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 411, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 366 (Jan. 29, 2007).

Defendant juvenile's adjudication of delinquency for the act of arson (Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2909.02(A)) was against the manifest weight of the evidence as the State failed to prove that defendant knowingly (Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2901.22(B)) started or accelerated the fire. The conclusion was based on the improbability of the timeline for the sequence of events that the State presented; the illogical conclusions of the State's expert testimony; and statements and omissions by defendant's step-mother, which logically could only have been construed to support defendant's contention that the fire was accidental. In re Horton, 2005 Ohio 3502, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3249 (2005).

Juvenile was improperly found guilty of domestic violence under RC § 2919.25(C), and a trial court erred in denying his motion to dismiss pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(F), where his threat was a conditional one and there was no threat of imminent harm to a family member; the word "imminent" meant "about to occur at any moment." In re Jenkins, 2004 Ohio 2657, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2360 (2004).

Though the trial court did not explain the elements of burglary to appellant, the record showed he gained an understanding of the factual circumstances surrounding the charges from his counsel; therefore, the court was not required to go through a superfluous explanation of the elements of burglary or the alleged factual circumstances surrounding the charge. In re Adams, 2003 Ohio 4112, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3664 (2003).

Where a juvenile enters a no contest plea to a delinquency complaint apparently on the basis that she would be able to appeal the juvenile court's ruling on the pretrial motion to suppress, as would be true in an adult criminal case, the court erroneously disposes of the case on such plea (JuvR 29, construed): In re Green, 4 Ohio App. 3d 196, 447 N.E.2d 129, 4 Ohio B. 300, 1982 Ohio App. LEXIS 10984 (1982).

The due process clause protects a juvenile against conviction except upon proof beyond a reasonable doubt of every fact necessary to constitute the crime with which he is charged: In re

Winship, 397 U.S. 358, 90 S. Ct. 1068, 25 L. Ed. 2d 368, 1970 U.S. LEXIS 56, 51 Ohio Op. 2d 323 (1970).

Due process in a juvenile proceeding must include: adequate written notice; advice as to the right to counsel, retained or appointed; confrontation and cross-examination of witnesses; and the privilege against self-incrimination: In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S. Ct. 1428, 18 L. Ed. 2d 527, 1967 U.S. LEXIS 1478, 40 Ohio Op. 2d 378 (1967).

Denial, generally

Failure of the court to seek an admission or denial to each allegation is not prejudicial where a party's prior conduct makes a denial obvious: In re Dukes, 81 Ohio App. 3d 145, 610 N.E.2d 513, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 4735 (1991).

The no contest plea in a juvenile proceeding is not the unequivocal admission of the allegations of the complaint contemplated by JuvR 29(D). Being something less than an admission, it must be construed as a denial and the prosecuting attorney must prove the issues of delinquency beyond a reasonable doubt (JuvR 29(E)): In re Green, 4 Ohio App. 3d 196, 447 N.E.2d 129, 4 Ohio B. 300, 1982 Ohio App. LEXIS 10984 (1982).

Dependent child, generally

Where the mother had few financial resources, had been unable to find employment, did not get routine medical treatment for her children, depended upon others for her own maintenance and was on the verge of losing her residence, and psychological tests indicated a lack of efficacy and a lack of independence, there was sufficient evidence presented to the trial court from which it could find by clear and convincing evidence that the minor child was a dependent child. In re Barker, 2003 Ohio 6406, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5758 (2003).

Double jeopardy

In cases where a juvenile court fails to hold an adjudicatory hearing within ten days as required by JuvR 29(A), dismissal of the complaint with prejudice may be required where double jeopardy provisions are applicable: In re Carlos O., 96 Ohio App. 3d 252, 644 N.E.2d 1084, 1994 Ohio App. LEXIS 3307 (1994).

Subsequent criminal prosecution on the same charges was barred where jeopardy had already attached in the delinquency proceeding: State v. Penrod, 62 Ohio App. 3d 720, 577 N.E.2d 424, 1989 Ohio App. LEXIS 1637 (1989).

An appeal by the state from a finding of not guilty, on a charge of "delinquency by reason of murder," by the juvenile division of the Court of Common Pleas is barred by the constitutional protection against former jeopardy. A court proceeding which may result in incarceration places a person, adult or juvenile in jeopardy: In re Gilbert, 45 Ohio App. 2d 308, 74 Ohio Op. 2d 480, 345 N.E.2d 79, 1974 Ohio App. LEXIS 2759 (1974).

Evidence

—Sufficient

Judgment that newborn child was dependent under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §2151.04(D) was supported by clear and convincing evidence as required by Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(A)(1) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4), which established that if allowed to live with his parents, the child would be living in a household where at least one of the four caretakers had committed acts of abuse on the child's sibling that resulted in the sibling's adjudication as dependent. In re S.M., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2297, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2153 (May 14, 2007).

Evidence generally

Where there are no requests for findings of fact and conclusions of law pursuant to JuvR 29(F)(3), or where the trial court did not refer to the challenged testimony in its entry or explicitly limit evidence, there can be no evidence that a trial court improperly utilized any hearsay evidence: In re Stackhouse, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 1175 (4th Dist. 1991).

Despite the mandate of JuvR 29 that juvenile proceedings be conducted in an informal manner, otherwise inadmissible hearsay evidence is not admissible at the adjudicatory stage of a neglect and dependency proceeding, because the importance of the parental interests involved demand an accurate determination of the facts surrounding a complaint alleging neglect or dependency and requires substantial compliance with the Rules of Evidence: In re Sims, 13 Ohio App. 3d 37, 468 N.E.2d 111, 13 Ohio B. 40, 1983 Ohio App. LEXIS 11369 (1983).

Eyewitness identification

There was no plain error under Ohio R. Crim. P. 52(B), based on defendant's failure to object at trial pursuant to Ohio R. Evid. 103(A)(1), in a juvenile court's admission of a victim's identification of defendant, a juvenile, as the perpetrator of a criminal offense, as the victim indicated that he knew defendant by his face although he did not immediately know his name and the victim had an adequate amount of time to observe defendant during commission of the crime. Although the one man "show-up" identification procedure at the police station was unduly suggestive pursuant to U.S. Const. amend. V, Ohio Const. art. I, §§ 10 and 16, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4), it did not present a very substantial likelihood of irreparable misidentification. In re Lower, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1735, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1581 (Apr. 5, 2007).

Hearings

When an agency filed a complaint which both alleged that a child was dependent and sought permanent custody of the child, Ohio R. Juv. P. 29 and 34 required the trial court to bifurcate proceedings as to dependency from dispositional proceedings as to permanent custody, so the trial court committed reversible error because it held one evidentiary hearing on both issues, with no clear demarcation between its considerations of each issue. In re J.H., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3237, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3151 (June 26, 2006).

Insanity defense

In delinquency proceedings, a juvenile may not raise the defense of insanity: In re Chambers, 116 Ohio App. 3d 312, 688 N.E.2d 25, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 5686 (1996).

Jurisdiction

The juvenile court has exclusive original jurisdiction, pursuant to RC § 2151.23(A), concerning any child who is alleged in a proper complaint to be neglected, and the court does not lose jurisdiction by failing to adhere to the time limits set forth in JuvR 29(A) and JuvR 34(A): Linger v. Weiss, 57 Ohio St. 2d 97, 386 N.E.2d 1354, 11 Ohio Op. 3d 281, 1979 Ohio LEXIS 373 (1979).

Modification of custody order

A party seeking to modify a dispositional custody order must prove by clear and convincing evidence that the modification is in the best interests of the child: In re Patterson, 16 Ohio App. 3d 214, 475 N.E.2d 160, 16 Ohio B. 229, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 12343 (1984).

Neglected child, generally

Where a trial court failed to advise a mother of any of the rights she would be waiving in exchange for her admission that her children were neglected, the trial court did not substantially comply with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D)(2); as satisfaction with both subsections of Rule 29(D) was required before substantial compliance could be found, a mother's admission to allegations involving neglect were not deemed voluntarily or knowingly entered, requiring reversal. In re S.G., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 1163, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1147 (Mar. 17, 2005).

Pleadings

When the complaint charges the child with being "delinquent," the court cannot sua sponte amend the complaint after the adjudicatory hearing and find the child to be a "juvenile traffic offender": In re Elliott, 87 Ohio App. 3d 816, 623 N.E.2d 217, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 3596 (1993).

Where a complaint is filed alleging that a child is dependent or neglected in violation of RC § § 2151.03(B) and 2151.04(A), (B) and (C), JuvR 29(D)(2) does not prohibit the child's mother from participating in the adjudicatory hearing just because she entered a plea of "admitted" to the allegations in the complaint: In re Sims, 13 Ohio App. 3d 37, 468 N.E.2d 111, 13 Ohio B. 40, 1983 Ohio App. LEXIS 11369 (1983).

The procedure for pleas in Juvenile Court in relation to a delinquency complaint differs substantially from the pleas provided by CrimR 11 in an adult criminal proceeding. There is no statement in CrimR 11 that a no contest plea results in a waiver of a defendant's right to challenge evidence against him as is specifically provided for by JuvR 29(D)(2) in relation to an admission of allegations of the complaint: In re Green, 4 Ohio App. 3d 196, 447 N.E.2d 129, 4 Ohio B. 300, 1982 Ohio App. LEXIS 10984 (1982).

Probation revocation

When, at a probation revocation hearing, appellant was informed that he waived the right to cross-examination and his right to appeal if he admitted the charge against him, but the trial court did not mention that he waived the right to present evidence and call witnesses and the right to remain silent, Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) was applied, and it was found that appellant did not receive the required advisement. In re Lohr, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1130, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1046 (Mar. 7, 2007).

Juvenile Rule 35(B), not 29(D), governs probation revocation proceedings: In re Motley, 110 Ohio App. 3d 641, 674 N.E.2d 1268, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 1785 (1996).

Trial court erred in failing to determine whether appellant child knowingly and voluntarily waived his right to an attorney. The trial court should have explained the elements and seriousness of the charge against him and should have determined that appellant child was not being coerced or pressured into waiving his right to counsel, addressed his parents to ensure there was no conflict of interest and that the parents also understood the proceedings. In re Mills, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 924, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 882 (Mar. 5, 2007).

Juvenile court violated defendant juvenile's right to counsel in his delinquency proceeding pursuant to U.S. Const. amends. V, VI, and XIV, Ohio Const. art. I, § 16, Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 and 29 where a valid waiver of counsel was not obtained during the adjudicatory and disposition hearings and counsel was not appointed. Although defendant and his adoptive mother signed a standard form regarding his rights, the form was not accurately filled out and the court failed to review it to ascertain that defendant fully understood the rights therein. In re M.T., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2446, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2258 (May 21, 2007).

Juvenile's constitutional right to counsel was violated where he indicated at the arraignment that he wanted an attorney, but the issue was never raised or considered again in the proceedings: In re R.B., 166 Ohio App. 3d 626, 2006 Ohio 264, 852 N.E.2d 1219, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 212 (2006).

When, at the arraignment of appellant, a juvenile, he responded affirmatively to a question asking if he wanted counsel, and the issue was not further discussed throughout his proceedings before the trial court, his constitutional right to counsel, also provided in Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(B)(3), was violated, as it could not be inferred from the record that appellant, at any time, knowingly and intelligently waived his right to counsel. In re R.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 264, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 212 (Jan. 13, 2006).

Based on a review of the record as a whole, and in consideration of the affirmations of the minor and her mother that they wished to proceed without counsel on her delinquency charge for drug possession, the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(B) were met and the minor's waiver of counsel was voluntarily, knowingly and understandingly given. The trial court explained to the minor her right to counsel, the nature, elements, and category of the charge, her right to a trial, the possible commitment, her right to remain silent, her right to present evidence in her defense and her right to cross-examine witnesses and, as each right was explained, the minor answered that she understood the right and then the minor and her mother agreed to proceed without counsel. In re Loos, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3932, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3891 (July 31, 2006).

Record did not support a conclusion that defendant, a juvenile, waived his right to legal counsel, pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, at either the adjudicatory hearing or the sexual offender classification hearing because defendant was never afforded the opportunity to request the assistance of legal counsel in connection with the hearing at which his admission was tendered and accepted, and he never indicated that he was waiving that right and, at the sexual classification hearing, the trial court elicited a waiver of counsel from defendant's mother, but never ascertained whether defendant, himself, was willing to waive his right to legal counsel. In re C.A.C., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4003, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3934 (Aug. 4, 2006).

Although the trial court substantially complied with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) when it accepted defendant juvenile's waiver of counsel during the adjudication hearing, the trial court failed to reiterate defendant's right to counsel during disposition or allow him either to invoke or to waive his right to counsel at that stage as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 34. In re S. J., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4467, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4395 (Aug. 30, 2006).

As a magistrate substantially complied with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(B)(1) and (4), although he erroneously notified the juvenile in a probation revocation proceeding that he had a right to be represented by a lawyer if he wished and if his family could not afford a lawyer, such was not plain error under Ohio R. Crim. P. 52(B), as the magistrate carefully outlined the rights and responsibilities of the juvenile, and he made sure he understood the rights and the implications of his waiver; as the juvenile's waiver of his right to counsel was deemed knowing, voluntary, and intelligent, there was no violation of his right to counsel pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4. In re J-M, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6131 (Nov. 22, 2006).

Because the hearing on the motion to modify temporary custody to permanent custody was a dispositional hearing, rather than an adjudicatory hearing, Ohio R. Juv. P. 29 did not apply; rather, the hearing was governed by Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(I) where there was no obligation to inform the mother of her right to counsel. In re Williams, 2004 Ohio 678, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 592 (2004).

Although Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(B)(3) requires a court to inform unrepresented parties of their right to counsel, there was no plain error in a magistrate's failure to inform a juvenile defendant of her right to counsel where she had already obtained counsel; likewise, there was no plain error stemming from defendant's appearance with substitute counsel. In re Harper, 2003 Ohio 6666, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5962 (2003).

An adjudication proceeding cannot go forward unless the juvenile is represented by counsel or there has been a valid waiver. Delegating the task of hiring counsel to the juvenile is inappropriate: In re Johnston, 142 Ohio App. 3d 314, 755 N.E.2d 457, 2001 Ohio App. LEXIS 1937 (2001).

Juvenile Rules 4(A) and 29(B) and RC § 2151.35.2 entitle a juvenile to be represented by counsel at all stages of the proceedings. However, that right may be waived: In re East, 105 Ohio App. 3d 221, 663 N.E.2d 983, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 2851 (1995).

Standard of proof

Appellate court did not have to determine whether the proper standard for granting legal custody of a child to a maternal great grandmother was clear and convincing evidence under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4) or a preponderance of the evidence under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4), 34 where a substantial amount of evidence that was competent and credible under either standard supported the trial court's judgment. In re Rowe, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 6062, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5403 (Nov. 13, 2003).

A finding of dependency should be made only upon the presentation of clear and convincing evidence. However, if the parties agree to waive such a hearing and stipulate to certain facts, then JuvR 29(D) must be fully complied with and the facts set forth in the record must sufficiently support a finding of dependency: Elmer v. Lucas Cty. Children Serv. Bd., 36 Ohio App. 3d 241, 523 N.E.2d 540, 1987 Ohio App. LEXIS 10553 (1987).

In an action seeking temporary custody of a child who is alleged to be a "dependent child" pursuant to RC § 2151.04(C), the standard of proof in the adjudicatory portion of the proceedings is by clear and convincing evidence and the standard of proof in the dispositional portion of the proceedings is by a preponderance of the evidence: In re Willmann, 24 Ohio App. 3d 191, 493 N.E.2d 1380, 24 Ohio B. 313, 1986 Ohio App. LEXIS 7370 (1986).

Stipulations

Juvenile court's acceptance of the juvenile's stipulations to his psychological evaluation and his family records during the amenability hearing did not take the place of the required hearing. The stipulations did not constitute "admissions" under JuvR 29: State v. Goodwin, 166 Ohio App. 3d 709, 2006 Ohio 2311, 852 N.E.2d 1282, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2176 (2006).

Temporary custody

Evidence that mother used prescription drugs heavily and provided drugs to minors, was arrested four times in three years, placed her children at risk, and did not comply with court-ordered drug testing or use social services appropriately supported the trial court's award of temporary custody of the children to social services. In re Barnosky, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 1127, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 994 (Mar. 9, 2004).

Where a mother argued that a trial court erred in awarding temporary custody to a father and grandmother because there was no motion pending and no finding of suitability was determined, the appellate court was without jurisdiction to address the argument because the order was granted "until further order" of the court, and, as such, was merely a temporary order, not a final order. In re S.M., 2004 Ohio 1243, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1101 (2004).

A temporary order of a juvenile court changing custody under JuvR 13 or 29, is not a dispositional order under JuvR 34, and hence is not a final appealable order: Morrison v. Morrison, 45 Ohio App. 2d 299, 74 Ohio Op. 2d 441, 344 N.E.2d 144, 1973 Ohio App. LEXIS 784 (1973).

Although a mother failed to raise as an error that a trial court failed to comply with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) in the trial court proceeding, the appellate court chose to review it under a plain error standard in the mother's termination of parental rights proceeding due to the fundamental nature of the right to raise one's children; the mother's appeal of the trial court's adjudication of neglect and temporary disposition order was timely filed under Ohio R. App. P. 4(B)(5) where the order was not entered under Ohio R. Civ. P. 54(B), and the fact that she did not include a copy of the order of adjudication in her notice of appeal did not preclude that review, pursuant to Ohio R. App. P. 3(D), as such failure was not a jurisdictional defect. In re S.G., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 1163, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1147 (Mar. 17, 2005).

Trial court improperly awarded permanent custody (Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353) to the agency without first adjudicating the child dependent. The evidence introduced at the temporary emergency custody hearing did not support a dependency determination and no subsequent hearing was held to determine dependency. In re Nibert, 2005 Ohio 2797, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2641 (2005).

Father's stipulation to terminate his parental rights did not violate his due process rights as the stipulation did comply with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) where such was executed while he was represented by counsel, he was apprised of all his rights set out in Rule 29(D), his initials were printed next to each of his rights, and he indicated that he understood the nature and effect of the proceedings and the rights he had with respect to them. In re Foresha/Kinkel Children, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 578, — N.E.2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 547 (Feb. 9, 2004).

Juvenile Rule 34 does not require the court to engage in a colloquy with a parent in a RC § 2151.41.4 proceeding. A parent's admission in a dispositional hearing that a child's best interest would be served by permanent placement elsewhere than with the parent is not a matter that requires protections similar to JuvR 29(D): In re Lakes, 149 Ohio App. 3d 128, 2002 Ohio 3917, 776 N.E.2d 510, 2002 Ohio App. LEXIS 3991 (2002).

In proceedings where parental rights are subject to termination, both the Juvenile Rules and the Revised Code prescribe that such proceedings be bifurcated into separate adjudicatory and dispositional hearings (RC § 2151.35 and JuvR 29 and 34, construed and applied.): In re Baby Girl Baxter, 17 Ohio St. 3d 229, 479 N.E.2d 257, 17 Ohio B. 469, 1985 Ohio LEXIS 345 (1985).

A juvenile court does not err in failing to bifurcate a hearing on a motion for permanent custody into adjudicatory and dispositional stages where no dispositional option is available, i.e., either the motion is granted, in which case the mother's parental rights are terminated, or else the motion is denied: In re Jones, 29 Ohio App. 3d 176, 504 N.E.2d 719, 29 Ohio B. 206, 1985 Ohio App. LEXIS 10399 (1985).

Hearings for permanent custody under RC § 2151.41.4 must conform to the Rules of Juvenile Procedure. Hence, pursuant to JuvR 29 and 34, the proceedings should be bifurcated into separate adjudicatory and dispositional stages: In re Vickers Children, 14 Ohio App. 3d 201, 470 N.E.2d 438, 14 Ohio B. 228, 1983 Ohio App. LEXIS 11449 (1983).

Time limitations

Because the mother moved to dismiss the dependency complaint due to untimeliness, but never petitioned for an extraordinary writ, any failure by the trial court to complete the dispositional hearing within 90 days was waived. In re Matsko, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2060, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1919 (Apr. 27, 2007).

The ten-day period of limitations in JuvR 29(A) is procedural only and such rule confers no substantive right upon an accused to have his case dismissed if he is not tried within the designated time: In re Therkliden, 54 Ohio App. 2d 195, 376 N.E.2d 970, 8 Ohio Op. 3d 335, 1977 Ohio App. LEXIS 7034 (1977).

The time limits of RC § 2945.71 et seq., for the prosecution of criminal offenders do not apply to an adjudicatory hearing on a complaint alleging a child to be a juvenile traffic offender. The only applicable time limit, outside JuvR 29, is the six months limitation for prosecution of a minor misdemeanor stated in RC § 2901.13(A)(3): In re TLK, 2 Ohio Op. 3d 324 (JC 1976).

When appellant was charged with offenses in juvenile court, Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 did not require that counsel be appointed to represent him because the statute, as well as Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and 29(B), allowed him to waive counsel, which he knowingly, intelligently, and voluntarily did. In re Spears, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1920, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1761 (Apr. 17, 2006).

Where a trial court determined that defendant, a juvenile, waived his right to counsel in his juvenile delinquency proceeding without having conducted the type of dialogue contemplated by the Ohio Juvenile Procedure Rules, the waiver was insufficient and defendant's admission of true should not have been accepted; defendant, as a juvenile, had a right to counsel under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4(A) and 29(B), and the trial court was required to make a sufficient inquiry as to his knowing, intelligent, and voluntary waiver of that right in order to avoid violating defendant's right to due process under U.S. Const. amends. V and XIV and Ohio Const. art. I, § 16. In re Christner, 2004 Ohio 4252, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3864 (2004).

In determining whether a juvenile's waiver of counsel is knowing, intelligent and voluntary, a court is required to give close scrutiny to such factors as the juvenile's age, emotional stability, mental capacity, and prior criminal experience: In re Kindred, 2004 Ohio 3647, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3281 (2004).

Colloquy in a juvenile proceeding was insufficient to establish a knowing waiver of the right to counsel since it failed to ascertain whether defendant understood the nature of the right he was waiving; the conviction based on an admission made without counsel was reversed. In re Ofa, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5496, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4937 (Oct. 16, 2003).

Pursuant to the 1996 amendment to JuvR 37, a notation in a journal entry that the juvenile waived counsel at a dispositional hearing is no longer sufficient: In re Solis, 124 Ohio App. 3d 547, 706 N.E.2d 839, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 5527 (1997).

The waiver of counsel was not valid where the magistrate's explanation seemed to state that the right to counsel was triggered only if the juvenile elected to proceed to trial. A waiver of rights form signed after the charge was admitted was not effective: In re Doyle, 122 Ohio App. 3d 767, 702 N.E.2d 970, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 4471 (1997).

The court erred by accepting the thirteen-year-old's waiver of counsel without fully explaining his rights and inquiring into the circumstances of the waiver. JuvR 29(B) protects the rights of juveniles and the court from second-guessing after the adjudication: In re Johnson, 106 Ohio App. 3d 38, 665 N.E.2d 247, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 3418 (1995).

The statements by the prosecutor that the youth had discussed the admission with his attorney and the concurrence in this statement by appellant's attorney were not sufficient to demonstrate a knowing and voluntary waiver in compliance with JuvR 29(D): In re McKenzie, 102 Ohio App. 3d 275, 656 N.E.2d 1377, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 1187 (1995).

Withdrawal of admission

Trial court did not err when it denied the juvenile's motion to withdraw his admission of guilt to rape because it conducted a comprehensive inquiry in substantial compliance with Rule 29(D). The trial court questioned the juvenile concerning his awareness of the charge against him, the possible penalties stemming from his admission, and the rights that he would be waiving by entering an admission, and there was nothing in the record to support the juvenile's contention that he did not understand the implications of entering a guilty plea. In re J.J., 2004 Ohio 1429, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1286 (2004).

Opinions of Attorney General

Commitment to youth commission

Both the existing juvenile code and the Juvenile Rules require a hearing before a temporary commitment to the Ohio youth commission can be made permanent, which hearing requires the presence of the youth involved: OAG No. 72-071 (1972).

RULE 30. Relinquishment of jurisdiction for purposes of criminal prosecution

(A) Preliminary hearing. In any proceeding where the court considers the transfer of a case for criminal prosecution, the court shall hold a preliminary hearing to determine if there is probable cause to believe that the child committed the act alleged and that the act would be an offense if committed by an adult. The hearing may be upon motion of the court, the prosecuting attorney, or the child.

(B) Mandatory transfer. In any proceeding in which transfer of a case for criminal prosecution is required by statute upon a finding of probable cause, the order of transfer shall be entered upon a finding of probable cause.

(C) Discretionary transfer. In any proceeding in which transfer of a case for criminal prosecution is permitted, but not required, by statute, and in which probable cause is found at the preliminary hearing, the court shall continue the proceeding for full investigation. The investigation shall include a mental examination of the child by a public or private agency or by a person qualified to make the examination. When the investigation is completed, an amenability hearing shall be held to determine whether to transfer jurisdiction. The criteria for transfer shall be as provided by statute.

(D) Notice. Notice in writing of the time, place, and purpose of any hearing held pursuant to this rule shall be given to the state, the child's parents, guardian, or other custodian and the child's counsel at least three days prior to the hearing, unless written notice has been waived on the record.

(E) Retention of jurisdiction. If the court retains jurisdiction, it shall set the proceedings for hearing on the merits.

(F) Waiver of mental examination. The child may waive the mental examination required under division (C) of this rule. Refusal by the child to submit to a mental and physical examination or any part of the examination shall constitute a waiver of the examination.

(G) Order of transfer. The order of transfer shall state the reasons for transfer.

(H) Release of child. With respect to the transferred case, the juvenile court shall set the terms and conditions for release of the child in accordance with Crim. R. 46.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-97 AMENDMENT

RULE 30 RELINQUISHMENT OF JURISDICTION FOR PURPOSES OF CRIMINAL PROSECUTION

With the passage of 1995 H1, effective January 1, 1996, major conflicts resulted between the statute governing bindover proceedings (Revised Code 2151.26) and the provisions of Juv. R. 30. The 1997 amendment to Juv. R. 30 eliminates these conflicts by removing from the rule all provisions governing substantive law, thus confining the rule to procedural matters. A significant amendment to Juv. R. 30(A) is the deletion of any reference to a minimum age at which a juvenile could be subject to bindover, since age jurisdiction is more appropriately covered by statute.

Revisions to Juv. R. 30(B) and (C) recognize the statutory distinctions between mandatory and discretionary bindover. Once probable cause has been established for mandatory bindover under Juv. R. 30(B), the only procedural step remaining is to enter the order of transfer. All references to the investigation contained in the former version of Juv. R. 30(B) have been removed from the current version. Similarly, Juv. R. 30(C) provides that the transfer of jurisdiction with respect to discretionary bindover shall be governed by statute.

The notice requirements of Juv. R. 30(D) (formerly Juv. R. 30(C)) have been changed to clarify that the three-day notice is required before any hearing held under Juv. R. 30. This language is consistent with similar language contained in Revised Code 2151.26(D).

In conformity with the decision to remove substantive law language from the rule, the amenability factors included in the former version of Juv. R. 30(F) have been deleted in their entirety, and the jurisdictional language in the former Juv. R. 30(I) has been eliminated from the new version of Juv. R. 30(H).

H. B. 1 also deleted the requirement for a physical examination of the juvenile as part of the background investigation in connection with a discretionary bindover. Accordingly, the requirement was deleted from divisions (C) and (F) of this rule (formerly divisions (B) and (G)).

RULE 30 RELINQUISHMENT OF JURISDICTION FOR PURPOSES OF CRIMINAL PROSECUTION

Juv. R. 30 deals with bindover proceedings to determine whether or not to transfer a juvenile to the adult criminal justice system. The revision to Juv. R. 30(C) clarifies that written notice of the time, place, and purpose of any hearing under this rule be given in writing at least three days prior to the hearing to the state, the child's parents, guardian or other custodian, and the child's counsel, as required by Revised Code 2151.26(D), unless notice is waived on the record.

Revisions to Juv. R. 30(F) present an additional criterion for the court to consider in determining if the juvenile is amenable to rehabilitation. Juvenile courts may now consider the specific facts relating to the offense for which probable cause was found, to the extent relevant to the child's mental or physical condition, along with the other criteria specified in Juv. R. 30. While there is a danger that taking note of the facts surrounding a particularly heinous crime could prejudice a court's deliberations on the rehabilitation question, the Supreme Court of Ohio approved a court's ability to consider the totality of the circumstances which have brought the juvenile before the court in State v. Watson (1989), 47 Ohio St.3d 93.

Constitutionality

Revised Code § 2151.26 and JuvR 30 are constitutional in that they impose a burden on the state, do not use the terms "reasonable grounds" in a constitutionally vague way, and do not violate due process in the way they determine the needs of the safety of the community: State v. Parsons, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 1008 (9th Dist. 1991).

A juvenile court's reliance on facts and information not formally introduced into evidence at the bindover hearing does not violate a defendant's constitutional rights: Oviedo v. Jago, 809 F.2d 326, 1987 U.S. App. LEXIS 1202 (6th Cir. 1987).

The latitude a juvenile court possesses within which to determine whether it should retain or waive jurisdiction "assumes procedural regularity sufficient in the particular circumstances to satisfy the basic requirements of due process and fairness, as well as compliance with the statutory requirements of a 'full investigation': Kent v. United States, 383 U.S. 541, 86 S. Ct. 1045, 16 L. Ed. 2d 84, 1966 U.S. LEXIS 2015, 11 Ohio Misc. 53, 40 Ohio Op. 2d 270 (1966).

Generally

Where there was no indication in a juvenile court bindover order that a juvenile's waiver of a probable cause and amenability hearing was knowingly, competently, and intelligently made, a later delinquency charge against him on a new criminal matter required an appropriate bindover proceeding under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2152.12 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 3. The hearing on the bindover issue was a critical phase that was mandatory under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. ch. 2152 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 30. State v. Brown, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4393, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4330 (Aug. 25, 2006).

Trial court was not required to find that the juvenile was guilty of the charged offense, only that the evidence presented supported a finding of probable cause. Juvenile court's acceptance of the juvenile's stipulations to his psychological evaluation and his family records during the amenability hearing did not take the place of the required hearing. The stipulations did not constitute "admissions" under JuvR 29: State v. Goodwin, 166 Ohio App. 3d 709, 2006 Ohio 2311, 852 N.E.2d 1282, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2176 (2006).

Juvenile court did not err in finding that there were sufficient facts to establish probable cause that defendant, a juvenile, committed offenses charged against him, arising from a car-jacking incident and a subsequent attempt to escape from the police, such that the bind-over to the trial court was proper pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.26(B) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 30; the juvenile court did not have to find that defendant was guilty of the charged offenses to support its bind-over determination. State v. Goodwin, 166 Ohio App. 3d 709, 2006 Ohio 2311, 852 N.E. 2d 1282, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2176 (May 11, 2006).

Where a juvenile court treated the offenses of carrying concealed weapons and aggravated robbery, in violation of RC §§ 2923.12(A) and 2911.01(A)(1) respectively, as mandatory bind-over offenses per RC §§ 2152.01(A) and 2152.12(A), although the weapons charge was a non-mandatory bind-over offense that required that findings be made pursuant to RC § 2152.12(B)(3) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 30(C), a meritorious issue on appeal was raised as to whether the error deprived the trial court of jurisdiction to convict defendant of the weapons charge; accordingly, the court set aside defendant's counsel's Anders brief, which had pointed out that potential issue, and indicated that new counsel would be appointed for purposes of pursuing the appeal. State v. Washington, 2005 Ohio 58, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 41 (2005).

Since a bindover proceeding is not adjudicative of guilt or innocence, statutory and constitutional questions as to admissibility of evidence are premature and need not be addressed. A juvenile is not entitled to appointment of an independent psychologist to assist in determining whether the juvenile should submit to or waive a mental examination: State v. Whisenant, 127 Ohio App. 3d 75, 711 N.E.2d 1016, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 1541 (1998).

The mandatory bindover provisions of RC § 2151.26(B) are substantive and control over JuvR 30: In re Langston, 119 Ohio App. 3d 1, 694 N.E.2d 468, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 1038 (1997).

Any evidence that reasonably supports a juvenile court's decision to relinquish jurisdiction will suffice to sustain the judgment: State v. Hopper, 112 Ohio App. 3d 521, 679 N.E.2d 321, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 3063 (1996).

For purposes of honesty and appellate review, a juvenile court deciding whether or not to transfer jurisdiction should articulate its findings and rationale. The violent nature of an offense may compel transfer: In re Snitzky, 73 Ohio Misc. 2d 52, 657 N.E.2d 1379, 1995 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 42 (CP 1995).

The notice requirements of RC § 2151.26(D) are satisfied when the notice described therein is given to the child's counsel and to the child's "custodian." The juvenile court does not err in finding that the child's grandmother is the child's "custodian" where the record contains evidence that the grandmother stated to police that she had legal custody of the child: State v. Parks, 51 Ohio App. 3d 194, 555 N.E.2d 671, 1988 Ohio App. LEXIS 2985 (1988).

In a bindover proceeding, the court may consider the violent nature of the offense: State v. Lopez, 112 Ohio App. 3d 659, 679 N.E.2d 1155, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 3082 (1996).

In ordering a bindover, a juvenile court is not required to make written findings as to the factors listed in JuvR 30(E): State v. Douglas, 20 Ohio St. 3d 34, 485 N.E.2d 711, 20 Ohio B. 282, 1985 Ohio LEXIS 542 (1985).

Once a juvenile is bound over in any county in Ohio pursuant to RC § 2151.26 and JuvR 30, that juvenile is bound over for all felonies committed in other counties of this state, as well as for future felonies he may commit: State v. Adams, 69 Ohio St. 2d 120, 431 N.E.2d 326, 1982 Ohio LEXIS 548 (1982).

The duty upon the juvenile court before ordering a relinquishment of jurisdiction for purposes of criminal prosecution is, after investigation, to find there are reasonable grounds to believe that the child is one who will not be readily brought to yield, submit and respond to care, supervision and rehabilitation in any facility designed for such care of delinquent children and that the requirement as to legal restraint exists: State v. Whiteside, 6 Ohio App. 3d 30, 452 N.E.2d 332, 6 Ohio B. 140, 1982 Ohio App. LEXIS 11077 (1982).

Pursuant to JuvR 30(G), an order of transfer is sufficient if it demonstrates that the statutory requirement of "full investigation" has been met and that the issue has received the full attention of the juvenile court: State v. Oviedo, 5 Ohio App. 3d 168, 450 N.E.2d 700, 5 Ohio B. 351, 1982 Ohio App. LEXIS 11043 (1982).

Prohibition will not issue to prevent a common pleas court from trying a juvenile who has been transferred for prosecution as an adult. Any error complained of in a transfer order must be raised in an appeal from the judgment of the Court of Common Pleas: State ex rel. Torres v. Simmons, 68 Ohio St. 2d 118, 428 N.E.2d 862, 1981 Ohio LEXIS 631 (1981).

Appeal

In cases involving challenges to certification of juveniles to adult courts, counsel is required to include specific language in the text of the praecipe to the clerk of courts requesting all pertinent documents from both the juvenile division and the general division of the court of common pleas to establish that the case is a final appealable order: State v. Houston, 70 Ohio App. 3d 152, 590 N.E.2d 839, 1990 Ohio App. LEXIS 4636 (1990).

An order by a juvenile court, pursuant to RC § 2151.26, transferring a child to the court of common pleas for criminal prosecution, is not a final appealable order: In re Becker, 39 Ohio St. 2d 84, 68 Ohio Op. 2d 50, 314 N.E.2d 158, 1974 Ohio LEXIS 401 (1974).

Bail

A juvenile court may admit a juvenile to bail in a case where the state has moved for a bindover. RC § 2151.31 and JuvR 7, taken together, amount to a presumption against detention: In re K.C., 89 Ohio Misc. 2d 16, 693 N.E.2d 1186, 1998 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 1 (CP 1997).

Discovery

In a case involving, as a preliminary matter, the question of the transfer of a juvenile proceeding to a common pleas court for the purpose of trying a juvenile as an adult for an alleged criminal offense, a juvenile court may limit discovery in the juvenile court to evidence relevant to the probable cause hearing. State v. Gilbert, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2350, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2239 (May 13, 2005).

During a probable cause hearing held in juvenile court to determine, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 30(A), if there was probable cause to believe defendant committed an alleged crime, before determining if, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 30(C), defendant was amenable to rehabilitation in the juvenile system, defendant moved for discovery, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 24. While the probable cause hearing was not an adjudicatory hearing, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 2(B), in the sense that evidence was put to the trier of fact or that jeopardy attached, it was "critically important," and had to measure up to the essentials of due process and fair treatment. Defendant had the right to discover evidence the prosecutor would offer to establish probable cause. As the juvenile court had discretion to limit discovery, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 24(B), when the juvenile court merely deleted discovery of evidentiary materials the prosecution intended to use at trial, this was not an abuse of discretion. State v. Gilbert, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2350, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2239 (May 13, 2005).

In the absence of an order limiting discovery pursuant to JuvR 24(B), a juvenile facing a bindover hearing is entitled to discovery coextensive with the issues to be determined at that hearing: In re A.M., 139 Ohio App. 3d 303, 743 N.E.2d 937, 2000 Ohio App. LEXIS 3811 (2000).

Motions for discovery are to be filed in accord with JuvR 22 prior to the adjudicatory hearing. A probable cause hearing pursuant to RC § 2151.26 and JuvR 30 is not an adjudicatory hearing as defined in JuvR 2: In re Hunter, 99 Ohio Misc. 2d 107, 716 N.E.2d 802, 1999 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 25 (CP 1999).

The discovery provisions of JuvR 24 apply to bindover proceedings: In re A.M., 92 Ohio Misc. 2d 4, 699 N.E.2d 574, 1998 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 7 (CP 1998).

Juvenile Rule 24(B) provides that discovery may be limited where it may impede criminal prosecution of a minor as an adult or of an adult involved in the same occurrence: National Am. Ins. Co. v. Clermont County Bd. of Comm'rs, 65 Ohio Misc. 2d 5, 640 N.E.2d 616, 1993 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 84 (CP 1994).

Discretion

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by transferring jurisdiction to the adult court. The court-appointed psychologists did not provide a specific diagnosis of the juvenile's mental condition. There would be no course of medication or treatment without a diagnosis, and the juvenile could not be forced to participate in treatment. Due to the 14-year-old's resistance to treatment and the brutality of the murder, the court reasonably found that there was insufficient time for rehabilitation in the juvenile system: State v. West, 167 Ohio App. 3d 598, 2006 Ohio 3518, 856 N.E.2d 285, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3477 (2006).

Discretionary transfer

Juvenile court abused its discretion in overruling the State's motions to relinquish jurisdiction because it failed to consider whether a discretionary transfer was warranted, pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2152.12(B), Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2152.10(B), and Ohio R. Juv. P. 30, because the juveniles met the requirements for the court to consider discretionary transfers since all five were 14 years or older at the time of the acts charged and they were all charged with acts that would be felonies if committed by an adult. The juvenile court erred in failing to make a finding as to probable cause and, if it made such a finding, it should have then proceeded with an investigation and amenability hearing pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 30(C). In re Stanley, 165 Ohio App. 3d 726, 2006 Ohio 1279, 848 N.E. 2d 540, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1174 (Mar. 14, 2006).

Juvenile court enjoys wide latitude in determining whether to relinquish jurisdiction of a juvenile, and its ultimate decision will not be reversed absent an abuse of discretion. State v. E.C., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2967, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2769 (June 15, 2005).

Juvenile court's decision to waive its jurisdiction over appellant, who was charged with aggravated burglary, escape, disrupting public service, felonious assault, kidnapping, receiving stolen property, and aggravated robbery, was not an abuse of discretion because it followed the proper procedural requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 30 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.26(F) (repealed) and gave its reasons, which were that (1) she had been adjudicated a delinquent and was awaiting disposition; (2) her relationship with the victims facilitated her alleged acts; (3) the victims suffered physical and psychological harm; (4) the results of her prior juvenile sanctions showed rehabilitations would not occur in the juvenile system; (5) she was emotionally, physically, and psychologically mature enough for transfer; and (6) there was insufficient time for her rehabilitation in the juvenile system. State v. E.C., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2967, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2769 (June 15, 2005).

Binding over of juvenile for trial as an adult was proper where the court considered all relevant factors, including the seriousness of his shooting of two people and then following one to a back room to kill him; as well, abundant and competent evidence including juvenile's long-term behavior problems and escalating inability to control his actions demonstrated that he was not amenable to rehabilitation. State v. Moorer, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5698, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5081 (Oct. 24, 2003).

In determining a juvenile's amenability to rehabilitation, a juvenile court may consider the nature and seriousness of the alleged act: State v. Campbell, 74 Ohio App. 3d 352, 598 N.E.2d 1244, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 2473 (1991).

In deciding whether to relinquish jurisdiction over a child, a juvenile court may consider the seriousness of the alleged offense when determining, pursuant to JuvR 30(C)(1), if the juvenile is "not amenable to care or rehabilitation" in the juvenile justice system: State v. Watson, 47 Ohio St. 3d 93, 547 N.E.2d 1181, 1989 Ohio LEXIS 315 (1989).

When the juvenile court makes a determination as to a juvenile offender's amenability to rehabilitation, it must consider the five factors set forth in JuvR 30(E); however, the juvenile court need not resolve all of these factors against the juvenile to warrant the court in relinquishing its jurisdiction and transferring him for prosecution as an adult: State v. Oviedo, 5 Ohio App. 3d 168, 450 N.E.2d 700, 5 Ohio B. 351, 1982 Ohio App. LEXIS 11043 (1982).

Double jeopardy

Where a juvenile court adjudicatory hearing had already begun and the juvenile admitted the allegations, double jeopardy protections prevented a bindover for prosecution: State v. Reddick, 113 Ohio App. 3d 788, 682 N.E.2d 38, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 3838 (1996).

A juvenile court judge's opinion as to whether a juvenile committed the alleged offense is not related to whether the juvenile is amenable to rehabilitation. Jeopardy does not attach to a probable cause determination at a JuvR 30 preliminary hearing: State v. Payne, 118 Ohio App. 3d 699, 693 N.E.2d 1159, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 1144 (1997).

Subsequent criminal prosecution on the same charges was barred where jeopardy had already attached in the delinquency proceeding: State v. Penrod, 62 Ohio App. 3d 720, 577 N.E.2d 424, 1989 Ohio App. LEXIS 1637 (1989).

A bindover decision must be made prior to an adjudication of delinquency in order to avoid double jeopardy problems: Breed v. Jones, 421 U.S. 519, 95 S. Ct. 1779, 44 L. Ed. 2d 346, 1975 U.S. LEXIS 66 (1975).

Due process

Juvenile Rule 30 does not violate the due process clause of U.S. Const. amend. XIV by permitting juvenile courts to relinquish jurisdiction over a child 15 or more years of age and transfer said child to adult court: Deel v. Jago, 967 F.2d 1079, 1992 U.S. App. LEXIS 14010 (6th Cir. 1992).

Hearings

Juvenile court properly conducted an amenability hearing to determine whether defendant, a juvenile, was amenable to the juvenile court system or whether he should be bound over to the general trial court for criminal charges, and the fact that defendant stipulated to the admission of his psychological evaluation and his family records did not constitute admissions or error by the juvenile court, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) and 30. State v. Goodwin, 166 Ohio App. 3d 709, 2006 Ohio 2311, 852 N.E. 2d 1282, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2176 (May 11, 2006).

Under JuvR 30, a preliminary probable cause hearing is mandatory if the juvenile court believes that it might want to relinquish its jurisdiction over the child: State v. Smith, 29 Ohio App. 3d 194, 504 N.E.2d 1121, 29 Ohio B. 237, 1985 Ohio App. LEXIS 10402 (1985).

Magistrate's report

Pro se objections to magistrate's report, which restated defendant's position that juvenile court judgment entry clearly establishes that hearing was delinquency adjudication, should be broadly construed as an objection on the ground that his case falls within the exception to the correctness presumption, i.e., that the presumption is not fairly supported by the record: Sellers v. Morris, 840 F.2d 352, 1988 U.S. App. LEXIS 2430 (6th Cir. 1988).

Motion for reconsideration

Until the juvenile court either begins to hear evidence in an adjudicatory hearing or divests itself of jurisdiction by transferring the child for prosecution as an adult, the determination of the child's amenability is subject to reconsideration upon motion filed by a party: In re K.W., 73 Ohio Misc. 2d 20, 657 N.E.2d 611, 1995 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 46 (CP 1995).

No contest plea

A plea of no contest to the charges of assault and aggravated robbery when defendant was tried as an adult does not constitute waiver of his right to assert that his conviction was obtained in violation of U.S. Const. amend. V and amend XIV prohibition of double jeopardy: Sellers v. Morris, 840 F.2d 352, 1988 U.S. App. LEXIS 2430 (6th Cir. 1988).

Physical examination of child

The juvenile court failed to accomplish a legal transfer of jurisdiction where there was no evidence in the record that the physical examination of the juvenile required by former RC § 2151.26 and JuvR 30 was performed: State v. Golphin, 81 Ohio St. 3d 543, 1998 Ohio 336, 692 N.E.2d 608, 1998 Ohio LEXIS 1197 (1998).

Remand to juvenile court

There is no procedure in Ohio to remand a juvenile back to the juvenile court subsequent to the bindover from that court: State v. Jacobsen, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 3589 (5th Dist. 1995).

Psychiatric examinations

In relinquishment proceedings in the juvenile court pursuant to JuvR 30, a juvenile is not entitled to the appointment of a private psychiatric examiner of the court's choosing and at the state's expense, instead of the court's psychologist: State ex rel. A Juvenile v. Hoose, 43 Ohio App. 3d 109, 539 N.E.2d 704, 1988 Ohio App. LEXIS 1632 (1988).

Recording of proceedings

Where the juvenile court complied with RC § 2152.12 and JuvR 30 in transferring a juvenile for criminal prosecution, the trial court had subject matter jurisdiction to hear the case despite the juvenile court's failure to record the proceeding pursuant to JuvR 37(A): State v. Mock, 136 Ohio Misc. 2d 21, 2005 Ohio 7142, 846 N.E.2d 108, 2005 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 603 (2005).

Time for trial

When a minor is held by the juvenile court for acts which would be a felony, and the juvenile court relinquishes jurisdiction over the minor, the 90-day time limit of RC § 2945.71 for bringing him to trial as an adult felon starts to run at the time the juvenile court relinquishes jurisdiction: State ex rel. Williams v. Court of Common Pleas of Lucas County, 42 Ohio St. 2d 433, 71 Ohio Op. 2d 410, 329 N.E.2d 680, 1975 Ohio LEXIS 511 (1975).

Vacation of judgment

A juvenile court lacks jurisdiction to consider a CivR 60(B) motion where it has transferred a case for criminal prosecution, even where an indictment has not yet issued: In re Williams, 111 Ohio App. 3d 120, 675 N.E.2d 1254, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 1986 (1996).

RULE 31. [Reserved]

RULE 32. Social history; physical examination; mental examination; investigation involving the allocation of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of children

(A) Social history and physical or mental examination: availability before adjudication. The court may order and utilize a social history or physical or mental examination at any time after the filing of a complaint under any of the following circumstances:

(1) Upon the request of the party concerning whom the history or examination is to be made;

(2) Where transfer of a child for adult prosecution is an issue in the proceeding;

(3) Where a material allegation of a neglect, dependency, or abused child complaint relates to matters that a history or examination may clarify;

(4) Where a party's legal responsibility for the party's acts or the party's competence to participate in the proceedings is an issue;

(5) Where a physical or mental examination is required to determine the need for emergency medical care under Juv. R. 13; or

(6) Where authorized under Juv. R. 7(1).

(B) Limitations on preparation and use. Until there has been an admission or adjudication that the child who is the subject of the proceedings is a juvenile traffic offender, delinquent, unruly, neglected, dependent, or abused, no social history, physical examination or mental examination shall be ordered except as authorized under subdivision (A) and any social history, physical examination or mental examination ordered pursuant to subdivision (A) shall be utilized only for the limited purposes therein specified. The person preparing a social history or making a physical or mental examination shall not testify about the history or examination or information received in its preparation in any juvenile traffic offender, delinquency, or unruly child adjudicatory hearing, except as may be required in a hearing to determine whether a child should be transferred to an adult court for criminal prosecution.

(C) Availability of social history or investigation report. A reasonable time before the dispositional hearing, or any other hearing at which a social history or physical or mental examination is to be utilized, counsel shall be permitted to inspect any social history or report of a mental or physical examination. The court may, for good cause shown, deny such inspection or limit its scope to specified portions of the history or report. The court may order that the contents of the history or report, in whole or part, not be disclosed to specified persons. If inspection or disclosure is denied or limited, the court shall state its reasons for such denial or limitation to counsel.

(D) Investigation: allocation of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of children; habeas corpus. On the filing of a complaint for the allocation of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of children or for a writ of habeas corpus to determine the allocation of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of a child, or on the filing of a motion for change in the allocation of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of children, the court may cause an investigation to be made as to the character, health, family relations, past conduct, present living conditions, earning ability, and financial worth of the parties to the action. The report of the investigation shall be confidential, but shall be made available to the parties or their counsel upon written request not less than three days before hearing. The court may tax as costs all or any part of the expenses of each investigation.

Generally

The court did not err by considering the amended psychological report under JuvR 32. In re Lawson, 98 Ohio App. 3d 456, 648 N.E.2d 889, 1994 Ohio App. LEXIS 5065 (1994).

Admissibility

Where the county department of jobs and family services alleged the mother appeared to be mentally delayed, had lost custody of two other children, had a history of homelessness and/or poor home conditions, a history of lack of case plan compliance, and an inability to care for the two young children she had lost in a previous case, the doctor's psychological report clarified the department's allegations for the court and thus was admissible in the child dependency hearing. In re Barker, 2003 Ohio 6406, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5758 (2003).

Trial court erred by failing to appoint an expert to evaluate the juvenile's competency where defense counsel, the guardian ad litem, and the aunt who had helped raise the juvenile all were of the opinion that she was not competent. In re Harris, 169 Ohio App. 3d 331, 2006 Ohio 5534, 862 N.E.2d 881, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5509 (2006).

Pursuant to JuvR 32(A)(4), RC § 2945.37, and due process, if the issue of competency is properly raised before trial, the trial court must hold a hearing on that issue and after considering the evidence presented by the parties at that hearing make a finding as to the juvenile's competency. In re B.M.S., 165 Ohio App. 3d 609, 2006 Ohio 981, 847 N.E.2d 506, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 906 (2006).

It was reversible error for a trial court not to appoint an expert, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 32(A), to evaluate the competency of appellant, a juvenile, because all witnesses who were in more intense contact with appellant than the trial court supported such an evaluation, and the trial court's cursory "competency" dialogue with appellant did not mitigate against those opinions. In re Harris, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5534, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5509 (Oct. 24, 2006).

That a juvenile's psychological evaluation report showed he was mildly mentally retarded did not per se raise a "sufficient indicia of incompetence" as to require the trial court to sua sponte raise the competency issue and order a hearing, and defense counsel was not ineffective for failing to raise the juvenile's alleged incompetence. In re Adams, 2003 Ohio 4112, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3664 (2003).

The standard enunciated in RC § 2945.37(G) governs competency evaluations of juveniles so long as it is applied in light of juvenile rather than adult norms. While a child may be incompetent to stand trial in adult court, he or she may be competent to enter an admission and stand for adjudication in juvenile court because of the differences in the complexities of adult criminal

Due process requires procedures sufficient to safeguard a child's right not to be adjudicated delinquent while incompetent to stand trial: In re D.G., 91 Ohio Misc. 2d 226, 698 N.E.2d 533, 1998 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 6 (CP 1998).

The standard enunciated in RC § 2945.37(A) governs competency evaluations of juveniles, so long as it is applied in light of juvenile rather than adult norms: In re Williams, 116 Ohio App. 3d 237, 687 N.E.2d 507, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 2189 (1997).

Disclosure of information

Where a minor and a parent executed waivers pursuant to RC § 1347.08, permitting access to the minor's juvenile records and the records concerning the minor's criminal history were relevant to prove the issues of notice and foreseeability in a civil action, good cause was demonstrated; consequently, the trial court did not abuse its discretion or breach the confidentiality considerations of RC §§ 2151.14 and 5153.17, and Ohio R. Juv. P. 32 in compelling production of the records under Ohio R. Civ. P. 26(B)(1). Grantz v. Discovery for Youth, 2005 Ohio 680, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 701 (2005).

An indigent parent in a custody hearing who has the right to a free court-ordered psychological evaluation may not limit disclosure of adverse results of such testing unless the court order granting the evaluation limits the purpose of the report solely for the parent's defense: In re Green, 18 Ohio App. 3d 43, 480 N.E.2d 492, 18 Ohio B. 155, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 9133 (1984).

Disclosure of juvenile court records, including social histories, to appropriate governmental and social agencies is not unconstitutional: J. P. v. DeSanti, 653 F.2d 1080, 1981 U.S. App. LEXIS 11411 (6th Cir. 1981).

Discretion of court

Where the court granted a motion that the father undergo a psychological evaluation, the court did not abuse its discretion in refusing to order the father's second wife to also undergo an evaluation: In re Reynolds, 2 Ohio App. 3d 309, 441 N.E.2d 1141, 2 Ohio B. 341, 1982 Ohio App. LEXIS 10888 (1982).

Expert assistance for indigent

Where the court orders an indigent parent to undergo a psychological evaluation by the examiner selected and paid by the non-parent party seeking to destroy parental rights, the parent is entitled to an expert of his or her own and funds to pay such expert: In re Stanley, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 5848 (10th Dist. 1993).

In relinquishment proceedings in the juvenile court pursuant to JuvR 30, a juvenile is not entitled to the appointment of a private psychiatric examiner of the court's choosing and at the state's expense, instead of the court's psychologist: State ex rel. a Juvenile v. Hoose, 43 Ohio App. 3d 109, 539 N.E.2d 704, 1988 Ohio App. LEXIS 1632 (1988).

Privileged communication

The physician-patient privilege did not apply to a psychiatrist who was retained by defense counsel to provide favorable testimony at a bindover proceeding: State v. Hopper, 112 Ohio App. 3d 521, 679 N.E.2d 321, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 3063 (1996).

Guardian ad litem

In a parental rights termination proceeding pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414, there was no error in the trial court's appointment of an agency volunteer as the children's guardian ad litem, as there was no statutory requirement that a guardian also be a licensed attorney pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 32. In re D.R., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3513, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3471 (July 7, 2006).

Opinions of Attorney General

Disclosure of information

Pursuant to JuvR 32(B), and RC § 2151.14, juvenile court records, the records of social, mental and physical examinations pursuant to court order, and records of the juvenile court probation department are not public records under RC § 149.43: OAG No. 90-101 (1990).

RULE 33. [Reserved].

RULE 34. Dispositional hearing

(A) Scheduling the hearing. Where a child has been adjudicated as an abused, neglected, or dependent child, the court shall not issue a dispositional order until after it holds a separate dispositional hearing. The dispositional hearing for an adjudicated abused, neglected, or dependent child shall be held at least one day but not more than thirty days after the adjudicatory hearing is held. The dispositional hearing may be held immediately after the adjudicatory hearing if all parties were served prior to the adjudicatory hearing with all documents required for the dispositional hearing and all parties consent to the dispositional hearing being held immediately after the adjudicatory hearing. Upon the request of any party or the guardian ad litem of the child, the court may continue a dispositional hearing for a reasonable time not to exceed the time limit set forth in this division to enable a party to obtain or consult counsel. The dispositional hearing shall not be held more than ninety days after the date on which the complaint in the case was filed. If the dispositional hearing is not held within this ninety day period of time, the court, on its own motion or the motion of any party or the guardian ad litem of the child, shall dismiss the complaint without prejudice.

In all other juvenile proceedings, the dispositional hearing shall be held pursuant to Juv. R. 29(F)(2)(a) through (d) and the ninety day requirement shall not apply. Where the dispositional hearing is to be held immediately following the adjudicatory hearing, the court, upon the request of any party, shall continue the hearing for a reasonable time to enable the party to obtain or consult counsel.

(B) Hearing procedure. The hearing shall be conducted in the following manner:

(1) The judge or magistrate who presided at the adjudicatory hearing shall, if possible, preside;

(2) Except as provided in division (1) of this rule, the court may admit evidence that is material and relevant, including, but not limited to, hearsay, opinion, and documentary evidence;

(3) Medical examiners and each investigator who prepared a social history shall not be cross-examined, except upon consent of all parties, for good cause shown, or as the court in its discretion may direct. Any party may offer evidence supplementing, explaining, or disputing any information contained in the social history or other reports that may be used by the court in determining disposition.

(C) Judgment. After the conclusion of the hearing, the court shall enter an appropriate judgment within seven days. A copy of the judgment shall be given to any party requesting a copy. In all cases where a child is placed on probation, the child shall receive a written statement of the conditions of probation. If the judgment is conditional, the order shall state the conditions. If the child is not returned to the child's home, the court shall determine the school district that shall bear the cost of the child's education and may fix an amount of support to be paid by the responsible parent or from public funds.

(D) Dispositional orders. Where a child is adjudicated an abused, neglected, or dependent child, the court may make any of the following orders of disposition:

(1) Place the child in protective supervision;

(2) Commit the child to the temporary custody of a public or private agency, either parent, a relative residing within or outside the state, or a probation officer for placement in a certified foster home or approved foster care;

(3) Award legal custody of the child to either parent or to any other person who, prior to the dispositional hearing, files a motion requesting legal custody;

(4) Commit the child to the permanent custody of a public or private agency, if the court determines that the child cannot be placed with one of the child's parents within a reasonable time or should not be placed with either parent and determines that the permanent commitment is in the best interest of the child;

(5) Place the child in a planned permanent living arrangement with a public or private agency if the agency requests the court for placement, if the court finds that a planned permanent living arrangement is in the best interest of the child, and if the court finds that one of the following exists:

(a) The child because of physical, mental, or psychological problems or needs is unable to function in a family-like setting;

(b) The parents of the child have significant physical, mental or psychological problems and are unable to care for the child, adoption is not in the best interest of the child and the child retains a significant and positive relationship with a parent or relative;

(c) The child is sixteen years of age or older, has been counseled, is unwilling to accept or unable to adapt to a permanent placement and is in an agency program preparing the child for independent living.

(E) Protective supervision. If the court issues an order for protective supervision, the court may place any reasonable restrictions upon the child, the child's parents, guardian, or any other person including, but not limited to, any of the following:

(1) Ordering a party within forty-eight hours to vacate the child's home indefinitely or for a fixed period of time;

(2) Ordering a party, parent, or custodian to prevent any particular person from having contact with the child;

(3) Issuing a restraining order to control the conduct of any party.

(F) Case plan. As part of its dispositional order, the court shall journalize a case plan for the child. The agency required to maintain a case plan shall file the case plan with the court prior to the child's adjudicatory hearing but not later than thirty days after the earlier of the date on which the complaint in the case was filed or the child was first placed in shelter care. The plan shall specify what additional information, if any, is necessary to complete the plan and how the information will be obtained. All parts of the case plan shall be completed by the earlier of thirty days after the adjudicatory hearing or the date of the dispositional hearing for the child. If all parties agree to the content of the case plan and the court approves it, the court shall journalize the plan as part of its dispositional order. If no agreement is reached, the court, based upon the evidence presented at the dispositional hearing and the best interest of the child, shall determine the contents of the case plan and journalize it as part of the dispositional order for the child.

(G) Modification of temporary order. The department of human services or any other public or private agency or any party, other than a parent whose parental rights have been terminated, may at any time file a motion requesting that the court modify or terminate any order of disposition. The court shall hold a hearing upon the motion as if the hearing were the original dispositional hearing and shall give all parties and the guardian ad litem notice of the hearing pursuant to these rules. The court, on its own motion and upon proper notice to all parties and any interested agency, may modify or terminate any order of disposition.

(H) Restraining orders. In any proceeding where a child is made a ward of the court, the court may grant a restraining order controlling the conduct of any party if the court finds that the order is necessary to control any conduct or relationship that may be detrimental or harmful to the child and tend to defeat the execution of a dispositional order.

(I) Bifurcation; Rules of Evidence. Hearings to determine whether temporary orders regarding custody should be modified to orders for permanent custody shall be considered dispositional hearings and need not be bifurcated. The Rules of Evidence shall apply in hearings on motions for permanent custody.

(J) Advisement of rights after hearing. At the conclusion of the hearing, the court shall advise the child of the child's right to record expungement and, where any part of the proceeding was contested, advise the parties of their right to appeal.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-02 AMENDMENT

RULE 34(D) DISPOSITIONAL ORDERS

The July 1, 2002, amendment to Juv. R. 34(D)(5) substituted the language of "planned permanent living arrangement" for the former language of "long term foster care," to conform to the new legislative designation for these child-placing arrangements.

The amendment to Juv. R. 34(D)(5) conforms to section 2151.353(A)(5) of the Revised Code. Juvenile Rules 2, 10, and 15 also were amended effective July 1, 2002 to reflect this change in terminology.

7-1-96 AMENDMENT

RULE 34(B) HEARING PROCEDURE

The amendment changed the rule's reference from "referee" to "magistrate" in division (B)(1) in order to harmonize the rule with the language adopted in the 1995 amendments to Juv. R. 40. The amendment is technical only and no substantive change is intended.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 34 DISPOSITIONAL HEARING

Changes in Juv. R. 34 now bring the rule into conformity with Revised Code 2151.35 as amended by S.B. 89.

Juv. R. 34(A) delineates the ninety day deadline for dispositional hearings in abuse, neglect, and dependency cases and clarifies that the ninety day rule does not apply in unruly and delinquency cases. Revised Code 2151.35(B)(1).

Juv. R. 34(B)(1) specifies that the judge or referee who presided at the adjudicatory hearing shall, if possible, preside at the dispositional hearing. Revised Code 2151.35(B)(2)(a).

Juv. R. 34(D) restates the dispositional alternatives for an adjudicated abused, neglected, or dependent child as set forth in Revised Code 2151.353(A)(1), (2), (3), (4), and (5).

Juv. R. 34(F) sets forth the utilization of the case plan as part of the dispositional order and restates the provisions of Revised Code 2151.353(D) and 2151.412.

Juv. R. 34(G) restates Revised Code 2151.353(E) regarding the procedure for modifying a temporary order.

Juv. R. 34(I) is new and attempts to eliminate the need to bifurcate a motion for permanent custody into adjudicatory and dispositional hearings. A good explanation of the state of current case law in appellate courts in Ohio on the subject of bifurcation is found in In the Matter of Amy Lyons, Alleged Dependent Child, No. 1411 (4th District Court of Appeals of Ohio, Ross County, decided August 1, 1987). A concurring opinion states:

"There is a conflict in Ohio law as to whether hearings for permanent custody under Revised Code 2151.414 must be bifurcated into separate adjudicatory and dispositional stages. Kurtz and Giannelli, Ohio Juvenile Law (1985), T 13.04(D)(5). The Third and Twelfth District Courts of Appeals have held the Juv. R. 29 and Juv. R. 34 control over R.C. 2151.414 to require a bifurcated hearing. In re Vickers Children (1983), 14 OApp3d 201; In re Lucas (1985), 29 OApp3d 165. However, the Eighth District Court of Appeals has held that only one hearing which is purely adjudicatory is required and that, contrary to Vickers, supra, there is no conflict between R.C. 2151.414 and the applicable Juvenile Rules.

"By contrast, however, in the case at bar, there is no dispositional option. Either the motion is granted, in which case the mother's parental rights are terminated, or else the motion is denied. The single hearing prescribed by R.C. 2151.414 is purely adjudicatory. The foregoing analysis is consistent with Juv. R. 2(1), which states:

"Adjudicatory hearing" means a hearing to determine whether a child is a juvenile traffic offender, delinquent, unruly, neglected, or dependent or otherwise within the jurisdiction of the court or whether temporary legal custody should be converted to permanent custody. (Emphasis added.)

"Consequently, this court holds that the juvenile court did not err in failing to bifurcate the permanent custody hearing into separate adjudicatory and dispositional stages." In re Jones (1985), 29 OApp3d 176, 179.

"Although permanent custody is clearly a dispositional order, Juv. R. 2(1)'s definition of "adjudicatory hearing" appears sufficiently broad to require only one hearing or one "stage". See Kurtz and Giannelli, Ohio Juvenile Law (1985), T 13.04, p. 164 at fn. 155. When a permanent custody motion is filed pursuant to R.C. 2151.414, unlike an original disposition pursuant to R.C. 2151.353(A), there is no dispositional option in that the trial court, as the majority opinion notes, can only either terminate parental rights by granting the permanent custody motion or not terminate parental rights by overruling the permanent custody motion. Jones, supra; Juv. R. 2(1).

"Assuming, arguendo, that pursuant to Vickers and Lucas, supra, a bifurcated hearing was required herein, any error was waived by the failure of appellate to object to the lack of such bifurcation below. Jones, supra at p. 179; Vickers, supra. Accordingly, I concur in the judgment."

Footnote 1: A motion to certify the record in Lucas, supra, to the Supreme Court of Ohio was overruled on May 21, 1986.

Because the cases cited seemed to interpret the need for bifurcation based upon the current Juvenile Rules, Juv. R. 34(I) now seeks to clarify that the need to bifurcate a permanent custody hearing is unnecessary.

Generally

Since appellant entered admissions and waived the right to contest the facts relative to the admissions, and since Ohio R. Juv. P. 34 contemplates an informal dispositional hearing, appellant's arguments that he was denied his right of confrontation and contended that inadmissible evidence was presented were without merit. State v. McGrath, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4696, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4634 (Sept. 11, 2006).

Juvenile court's order granting legal custody in the absence of a motion violated the mandatory statutory and procedural requirements of Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 34, and also was in direct contravention of Ohio R. Juv. P. 19, mandating that requests for relief be made by motion, Ohio R. Juv. P. 22(E), requiring that prehearing motions be filed at least seven days prior to the proceeding, Ohio R. Juv. P. 20, establishing filing and service requirements for written motions and other papers, and Ohio R. Civ. P. 5(D), imposing a proof of service requirement. In re L.R.T., 165 Ohio App. 3d 77, 2006 Ohio 207, 844 N.E. 2d 914, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 173 (Jan. 23, 2006).

Any person who seeks an award of legal custody of a child must, in accordance with the Ohio Rules of Juvenile Procedure, file a motion, prior to the dispositional hearing, requesting such custody. In re L.R.T., 165 Ohio App. 3d 77, 2006 Ohio 207, 844 N.E. 2d 914, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 173 (Jan. 23, 2006).

Trial court erred as a matter of law when, in a review of a magistrate's decision granting a child's permanent custody to an agency, it overturned that decision and granted the child's legal custody to the child's great-aunt, because the great-aunt did not file a motion for the child's custody at least seven days preceding the dispositional hearing before the magistrate, pursuant to the

It is inappropriate to follow the reasoning used in In re Callier, 2002 Ohio 2406, 2002 Ohio App. LEXIS 7304, with respect to compliance with the procedural requirements set forth in Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 34, regarding motions for custody, and compliance with those procedural requirements is mandatory. In re L.R.T., 165 Ohio App. 3d 77, 2006 Ohio 207, 844 N.E. 2d 914, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 173 (Jan. 23, 2006).

Because compliance with the statutory mandates in RC § 2151.01, et seq. and the rules of juvenile procedure is mandatory, and because any person wishing legal custody of a child must, prior to the dispositional hearing, file a written motion requesting such custody, the juvenile court erred as a matter of law in awarding legal custody of the mother's son to his maternal aunt when no such motion for custody had been filed prior to the dispositional hearing. In re C.T., 2005 Ohio 887, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 916 (2005).

Juvenile Rule 34(B) requires that the referee or judge who presided at the adjudicatory hearing, if possible, preside at the dispositional hearing: In re Johnson, 106 Ohio App. 3d 38, 665 N.E.2d 247, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 3418 (1995).

Appeal

Temporary custody orders entered pursuant to JuvR 34 are final and appealable when they are entered, and failure to timely appeal the orders precludes any further consideration of the hearings conducted prior to those orders: Ackerman v. Lucas Cty. Children Services Bd., 49 Ohio App. 3d 14, 550 N.E.2d 549, 1989 Ohio App. LEXIS 3536 (1989).

A further dispositional order continuing an original temporary custody order, issued pursuant to JuvR 34, constitutes a final appealable order: In re Patterson, 16 Ohio App. 3d 214, 475 N.E.2d 160, 16 Ohio B. 229, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 12343 (1984).

Where no part of a proceeding conducted pursuant to JuvR 34(E) is contested, a Juvenile Court is not required to advise an accused of his right to appeal: In re Haas, 45 Ohio App. 2d 187, 74 Ohio Op. 2d 231, 341 N.E.2d 638, 1975 Ohio App. LEXIS 5806 (1975).

A temporary order of a juvenile court changing custody under JuvR 13 or 29, is not a dispositional order under JuvR 34, and hence is not a final appealable order: Morrison v. Morrison, 45 Ohio App. 2d 299, 74 Ohio Op. 2d 441, 344 N.E.2d 144, 1973 Ohio App. LEXIS 784 (1973).

Continuance

Error cannot be predicated on the juvenile court's holding a dispositional hearing immediately following an adjudicatory hearing and its failure to continue the dispositional hearing for a reasonable time to enable the party to obtain or consult counsel, as prescribed by JuvR 34(A), unless it affirmatively appears in the record that the affected non-indigent party has requested such continuance: In re Bolden, 37 Ohio App. 2d 7, 66 Ohio Op. 2d 26, 306 N.E.2d 166, 1973 Ohio App. LEXIS 796 (1973).

Custody

Father's dispositional hearing testimony supported a trial court's order, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353(A)(2) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(D)(2), placing his children with their maternal grandmother, upon finding it was not in the children's best interests to place them with their mother, due to a lack of adequate housing, or to place them with their father, due to his mental instability. In re Washington, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 522, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 466 (Feb. 7, 2007).

Evidence that a father had been physically violent with police when they responded to his home, that a loaded handgun was found under a recliner in the father's home five feet from where the father's child was sitting on a couch, that the father heard voices threatening him with harm, and that the father believed that he was an enemy of the state overwhelmingly supported a trial court's decision to grant temporary custody of the father's children to their maternal grandmother pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353(A)(2) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(D)(2). In re Dependent, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 467 (Feb. 7, 2007).

Clear and convincing evidence was available at the time of disposition for the trial court's consideration of each of the Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414(D) factors, and the evidence supported a finding that a grant of permanent custody was in the child's best interests. The mother had voluntarily admitted herself for psychiatric hospitalization when she became afraid of physically harming her son (she admitted to thoughts of suffocating him with a pillow and cutting the throats of two other young children in the home); the child had significant developmental delays but an adoptive home had been identified that was able to meet his special needs; and the guardian ad litem report was properly before the trial court for consideration, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(B)(2), as it was relevant and material. In re Erich L., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2945, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2748 (June 10, 2005).

An indigent parent in a custody hearing who has the right to a free court-ordered psychological evaluation may not limit disclosure of adverse results of such testing unless the court order granting the evaluation limits the purpose of the report solely for the parent's defense: In re Green, 18 Ohio App. 3d 43, 480 N.E.2d 492, 18 Ohio B. 155, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 9133 (1984).

When parents entered dependency admissions as to two children, and then, years later, after a third child was born and an agency sought permanent custody of all three children, the parents filed pleas of deny, this effectively withdrew the prior admissions, where the trial court did not adjudicate the children to be dependent when the prior admissions were entered, so, once the pleas of deny were entered, the trial court could not adjudicate the children to be dependent and/or abused based on the withdrawn pleas, and, as it did not otherwise adjudicate the children, its subsequent grant of their permanent custody to an agency without an adjudication was contrary to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. ch. 2151 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(F) and 34. In re J.H., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3237, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3151 (June 26, 2006).

Trial court improperly awarded permanent custody (Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353) to the agency without first adjudicating the child dependent. The evidence introduced at the temporary emergency custody hearing did not support a dependency determination and no subsequent hearing was held to determine dependency. In re Nibert, 2005 Ohio 2797, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2641 (2005).

Evidence

Nothing prohibited the trial court from considering and relying upon evidence that occurred after the children's services agency filed the permanent custody request. The court could properly have considered the mother's conduct, as well as other relevant evidence, when it considered the children's best interests. In re Brown, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2863, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2719 (May 26, 2006).

As a grandmother did not seek permanent custody of a child who was adjudicated as dependent, Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(I) did not apply and the juvenile court acted within its discretion in considering hearsay testimony in making its dispositional decision. In re Brown, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3189, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3090 (June 23, 2006).

Trial court's consideration of hearsay evidence contained in a guardian's report for purposes of making a permanent custody determination in a parental rights termination proceeding was error pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 34 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414(C); however, such error was deemed harmless where the consideration given to that evidence was minimal and there was an abundance of admissible evidence that supported the trial court's determination that permanent custody should be granted to a county social service agency. In re Hilyard, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1977, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1808 (Apr. 13, 2006).

Admittance of a referral report from a children's services agency was proper because the witness, in laying the business records foundation under Ohio R. Evid. 803(6), testified as to the procedure of creating the report, that the report was kept in the normal course of the agency's business, and that it was the agency's regular practice to make such a report; moreover, as the report was primarily cumulative of other evidence, appellant mother was not prejudiced by its admission. In re Joiner, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 1158, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1017 (Feb. 13, 2004).

Juvenile Rule 34(B) provides that at a dispositional hearing, the court may admit hearsay, opinion and documentary evidence that is material and relevant. Since the focus of the dispositional phase of a neglect or dependency matter is the future care and best interests of the child, RC § 2151.35.3(A), then testimony relative to the child's home environment and parental care is material and relevant to the case. In re Smith, 77 Ohio App. 3d 1, 601 N.E.2d 45, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 4120 (1991).

Guardian ad litem's report

Trial court erred in considering a guardian ad litem's report with respect to its determination in a parental rights termination proceeding pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414(C), as such was not to be considered as substantive evidence in such a decision pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 34. The error was harmless where the consideration by the trial court was minimal and only as to a factor under § 2151.414(D)(2), the father was not prejudiced by the trial court's consideration, and there was ample other evidence in the record to support the trial court's permanent custody award to a county agency. In re Hilyard, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1965, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1807 (Apr. 13, 2006).

Hearings

When an agency filed a complaint which both alleged that a child was dependent and sought permanent custody of the child, Ohio R. Juv. P. 29 and 34 required the trial court to bifurcate proceedings as to dependency from dispositional proceedings as to permanent custody, so the trial court committed reversible error because it held one evidentiary hearing on both issues, with no clear demarcation between its considerations of each issue. In re J.H., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3237, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3151 (June 26, 2006).

Review of Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(B)(1) showed that it was inconsistent with Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(A) as Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(B)(1) allowed a trial court to hold a dispositional hearing for an adjudicated dependent child immediately after the adjudicatory hearing if all parties were served prior to the adjudicatory hearing with all documents required for the dispositional hearing, while Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(A) was stricter because it also required that all parties consent to the dispositional hearing being held immediately after the adjudicatory hearing, and it was well-established that in instances of procedural conflict the Ohio Rules of Juvenile Procedure, which were prepared and submitted by the Ohio Supreme Court to the legislature, controlled over inconsistent statutory provisions purporting to govern procedural matters. In re J.H., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3237, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3151 (June 26, 2006).

Trial court did not fail to conduct the permanent custody dispositional hearing within 30 days of the adjudication hearing as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 34 because the father implicitly waived his right to invoke the statute to have the case dismissed for exceeding the statutory time limits. The father participated in the scheduling of the dispositional hearing, failed to object when the hearing was continued, and filed his own motion to continue the dispositional hearing. In re Burton, 2004 Ohio 4021, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3652 (2004).

In proceedings where parental rights are subject to termination, both the Juvenile Rules and the Revised Code prescribe that such proceedings be bifurcated into separate adjudicatory and dispositional hearings (RC § 2151.35 and JuvR 29 and 34, construed and applied.): In re Baby Girl Baxter, 17 Ohio St. 3d 229, 479 N.E.2d 257, 17 Ohio B. 469, 1985 Ohio LEXIS 345 (1985).

A juvenile court does not err in failing to bifurcate a hearing on a motion for permanent custody into adjudicatory and dispositional stages where no dispositional option is available, i.e., either the motion is granted, in which case the mother's parental rights are terminated, or else the motion is denied: In re Jones, 29 Ohio App. 3d 176, 504 N.E.2d 719, 29 Ohio B. 206, 1985 Ohio App. LEXIS 10399 (1985).

Hearings for permanent custody under RC § 2151.41.4 must conform to the Rules of Juvenile Procedure. Hence, pursuant to JuvR 29 and 34, the proceedings should be bifurcated into separate adjudicatory and dispositional stages: In re Vickers Children, 14 Ohio App. 3d 201, 470 N.E.2d 438, 14 Ohio B. 228, 1983 Ohio App. LEXIS 11449 (1983).

Jurisdiction

The juvenile court has exclusive original jurisdiction, pursuant to RC § 2151.23(A), concerning any child who is alleged in a proper complaint to be neglected, and the court does not lose jurisdiction by failing to adhere to the time limits set forth in JuvR 29(A) and JuvR 34(A): Linger v. Weiss, 57 Ohio St. 2d 97, 386 N.E.2d 1354, 11 Ohio Op. 3d 281, 1979 Ohio LEXIS 373 (1979).

Modification of custody order

A party seeking to modify a dispositional custody order must prove by clear and convincing evidence that the modification is in the best interests of the child: In re Patterson, 16 Ohio App. 3d 214, 475 N.E.2d 160, 16 Ohio B. 229, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 12343 (1984).

Motion for custody

Trial court erred as a matter of law in awarding custody to a relative when the relative failed to file a motion for legal custody before the dispositional hearing. Any person who seeks an award of legal custody of a child must, under the Rules of Juvenile Procedure, file a motion requesting custody prior to the dispositional hearing: In re L.R.T., 165 Ohio App. 3d 77, 2006 Ohio 207, 844 N.E. 2d 914, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 173 (2006).

Oath of witness

Although a juvenile court may conduct a hearing in an informal manner, witnesses should be placed under oath before testifying: In re Ramsey Children, 102 Ohio App. 3d 168, 656 N.E.2d 1311, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 1510 (1995).

Presence of juvenile

When a magistrate took the disposition of a juvenile delinquency case under advisement, after conducting adjudicatory and dispositional hearings, and then issued a sentencing decision without holding a hearing, Ohio R. Juv. P. 34 provided the procedure for dispositional hearings in juvenile delinquency cases and did not require the juvenile to be present for sentencing, so the Ohio R. Crim. P. 43 requirement that the defendant be present for the imposition of sentence did not apply. In re Gibson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5145, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5109 (Oct. 2, 2006).

Although the trial court substantially complied with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) when it accepted defendant juvenile's waiver of counsel during the adjudication hearing, the trial court failed to reiterate defendant's right to counsel during disposition or allow him either to invoke or to waive his right to counsel at that stage as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 34. In re S. J., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4467, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4395 (Aug. 30, 2006).

Because the hearing on the motion to modify temporary custody to permanent custody was a dispositional hearing, rather than an adjudicatory hearing, Ohio R. Juv. P. 29 did not apply; rather, the hearing was governed by Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(I) where there was no obligation to inform the mother of her right to counsel. In re Williams, 2004 Ohio 678, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 592 (2004).

School district

In determining which school district shall bear the cost of educating a delinquent child who has been committed to the permanent custody of the Department of Youth Services, the court, in complying with JuvR 34(C), is to follow the procedure set forth in RC § 2151.35.7 and 3313.64(C)(2): Christman v. Washington Court House (School Dist.), 30 Ohio App. 3d 228, 507 N.E.2d 384, 30 Ohio B. 386, 1986 Ohio App. LEXIS 10075 (1986).

Standard of proof

Appellate court did not have to determine whether the proper standard for granting legal custody of a child to a maternal great grandmother was clear and convincing evidence under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4) or a preponderance of the evidence under Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(E)(4), 34 where a substantial amount of evidence that was competent and credible under either standard supported the trial court's judgment. In re Rowe, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 6062, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5403 (Nov. 13, 2003).

Termination of parental rights

Juvenile Rule 34 does not require the court to engage in a colloquy with a parent in a RC § 2151.41.4 proceeding. A parent's admission in a dispositional hearing that a child's best interest would be served by permanent placement elsewhere than with the parent is not a matter that requires protections similar to JuvR 29(D): In re Lakes, 149 Ohio App. 3d 128, 2002 Ohio 3917, 776 N.E.2d 510, 2002 Ohio App. LEXIS 3991 (2002).

Time limitations

Where the trial court held the dispositional hearing 10 days after the adjudicatory hearing in which the trial court announced the judgment of dependency, that timeframe was within that required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 34. In re Spangler, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 3450, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3210 (July 5, 2005).

Where a county children service agency filed a dependency complaint, and a dispositional hearing was held by a magistrate within 90 days thereof, the time requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 34(A) and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(B)(1) were met. The mother's claim on appeal that she did not present evidence at the hearing was waived where she stipulated to her daughters' dispositions, and she did not object to her son's disposition, nor did she attempt to present witnesses, and the magistrate had the right to conduct an informal hearing, pursuant to § 2151.35(A)(1) and Ohio R. Juv. P. 27(A). In re Ohm, 2005 Ohio 3500, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3245 (2005).

A juvenile's right to be present at a dispositional hearing may be waived by a deliberate failure to appear: In re Jason R., 77 Ohio Misc. 2d 37, 666 N.E.2d 666, 1995 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 93 (CP 1995).

The seven-day period for entry of judgment set forth in RC § 2151.35(B)(3) and JuvR 34(C) is mandatory. The proper remedy for the court's failure to comply is to file a writ of procedendo in the court of appeals: In re Fleming, 76 Ohio App. 3d 30, 600 N.E.2d 1112, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 4134 (1991).

The seven day period under RC § 2151.35(B)(3) and JuvR 34(C) for entry of final judgment is mandatory. However, non-compliance does not deprive the court of jurisdiction: In re Galloway, 77 Ohio App. 3d 61, 601 N.E.2d 83, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 4182 (1991).

Opinions of Attorney General

Juvenile Rule 34(C) and RC § 2151.35.7 require a court that commits a child to the custody of the Department of Youth Services to determine which school district shall bear the cost of educating the child: OAG No. 88-023 (1988).

Both the existing juvenile code and the Juvenile Rules require a hearing before a temporary commitment to the Ohio youth commission can be made permanent, which hearing requires the presence of the youth involved: OAG No. 72-071 (1972).

RULE 35. Proceedings after judgment

(A) Continuing jurisdiction; invoked by motion.

The continuing jurisdiction of the court shall be invoked by motion filed in the original proceeding, notice of which shall be served in the manner provided for the service of process.

(B) Revocation of probation. The court shall not revoke probation except after a hearing at which the child shall be present and apprised of the grounds on which revocation is proposed. The parties shall have the right to counsel and the right to appointed counsel where entitled pursuant to Juv. R. 4(A). Probation shall not be revoked except upon a finding that the child has violated a condition of probation of which the child had, pursuant to Juv. R. 34(C), been notified.

(C) Detention. During the pendency of proceedings under this rule, a child may be placed in detention in accordance with the provisions of Rule 7.

Generally

After it decided to forbid contact between a mother and her son, the trial court should have scheduled a time soon afterwards for the mother to present her side of the story, if different from that of her son and her son's custodian, and anything else bearing on the matter of visitation, Ohio R. Juv. P. 35(A). In re Boucher, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5719, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5119 (Oct. 24, 2003).

Even though RC § 2152.61 did not apply directly, since the trial court did not adjudicate a child to be delinquent, the statute provided guidance for the appeals court's decision regarding the proper notice to be given to a mother of the possibility of losing her right to have contact with her child. In re Boucher, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5719, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5119 (Oct. 24, 2003).

Child support

Juvenile court erred in denying the father's motion to vacate judgment because the father did not receive notice of the hearing on the motion to set support as the docket sheet clearly showed that the father was served with the motion to set child support by ordinary mail only and thus, the service requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 35(A) were not satisfied; therefore, the continuing jurisdiction of the juvenile court was not invoked. In re Brandon P., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 1861, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 1782 (Apr. 11, 2003).

Credit for time served

An adjudged delinquent who is confined as an adult in an adult jail may be granted credit for time served while waiting his dispositional hearing: In re Smith, 32 Ohio App. 3d 82, 513 N.E.2d 1387, 1986 Ohio App. LEXIS 10189 (1986).

Probation revocation

Appellant's purported waiver of counsel at a probation revocation hearing was not valid, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 and 35(B), because the trial court's advisement as to that right appeared to state that appellant had the right if he wanted an evidentiary hearing, but not if he wanted to admit the violation he was charged with, which was not the law. In re Lohr, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1130, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1046 (Mar. 7, 2007).

Trial court complied with Juv. R. 35 when it revoked defendant's probation as it wrote in its judgment entry that defendant had failed to comply with the terms and conditions of the previous judgment as he had failed to comply with conditions 1 and 3 of that judgment. Nothing in the juvenile rules required the trial court to make any further findings. In re Kiser, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5970, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5905 (Nov. 13, 2006).

When appellant received commitments to the Department of Youth Services upon her admissions to certain charges against her and, then, when she appeared before the juvenile court on new cases, which were continued, the court reimposed the previously suspended commitments, under Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.355(A)(22), without notice or any finding that she had violated a condition of probation, much less what condition, the court did not comply with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 35(B), and it committed reversible error. In re Shine, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 7050, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6977 (Dec. 20, 2006).

Violations of probation terms are governed by JuvR 35(B). A contempt proceeding was not a proper remedy: In re Nowak, 133 Ohio App. 3d 396, 728 N.E.2d 411, 1999 Ohio App. LEXIS 1857 (1999).

While a court may impose a previously suspended commitment under RC § 2151.35.5, it must comply with JuvR 35 concerning probation before doing so: In re Royal, 132 Ohio App. 3d 496, 725 N.E.2d 685, 1999 Ohio App. LEXIS 854 (1999).

The judgment entry revoking probation did not comply with JuvR 35(B): In re Edwards, 117 Ohio App. 3d 108, 690 N.E.2d 22, 1996 Ohio App. LEXIS 5614 (1996).

Treatment programs

Where the juvenile refused to participate in the treatment program, the court did not violate JuvR 35(B) by rescinding its stay and committing the juvenile for a minimum period of six months: In re William H., 105 Ohio App. 3d 761, 664 N.E.2d 1361, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 3357 (1995).

RULE 36. Dispositional review

(A) Court review. A court that issues a dispositional order in an abuse, neglect, or dependency case may review the child's placement or custody arrangement, the case plan, and the actions of the public or private agency implementing that plan at any time. A court that issues a dispositional order shall hold a review hearing one year after the earlier of the date on which the complaint in the case was filed or the child was first placed into shelter care. The court shall schedule the review hearing at the time that it holds the dispositional hearing. The court shall hold a similar review hearing no later than every twelve months after the initial review hearing until the child is adopted, returned to the child's parents, or the court otherwise terminates the child's placement or custody arrangement. A hearing pursuant to section 2151.415 of the Revised Code shall take the place of the first review hearing. The court shall schedule each subsequent review hearing at the conclusion of the review hearing immediately preceding the review hearing to be scheduled. Review hearings may be conducted by a judge or magistrate.

(B) Citizens' review board. The court may appoint a citizens' review board to conduct review hearings, subject to the review and approval by the court.

(C) Agency review. Each agency required to prepare a case plan for a child shall complete a semiannual administrative review of the case plan no later than six months after the earlier of the date on which the complaint in the case was filed or the child was first placed in shelter care. After the first administrative review, the agency shall complete semiannual administrative reviews no later than every six months. The agency shall prepare and file a written summary of the semiannual administrative review that shall include an updated case plan. If the agency, parents, guardian, or custodian of the child and guardian ad litem stipulate to the revised case plan, the plan shall be signed by all parties and filed with the written summary of the administrative review no later than seven days after the completion of the administrative review. If the court does not object to the revised case plan, it shall journalize the case plan within fourteen days after it is filed with the court. If the court does not approve of the revised case plan or if the agency, parties, guardian ad litem, and the attorney of the child do not agree to the need for changes to the case plan and to all of the proposed changes, the agency shall file its written summary and request a hearing. The court shall schedule a review hearing to be held no later than thirty days after the filing of the case plan or written summary or both, if required. The court shall give notice of the date, time, and location of the hearing to all interested parties and the guardian ad litem of the child. The court shall take one of the following actions:

- (1) Approve or modify the case plan based upon the evidence presented;
- (2) Return the child home with or without protective supervision and terminate temporary custody or determine which agency shall have custody;
- (3) If the child is in permanent custody determine what actions would facilitate adoption;
- (4) Journalize the terms of the updated case plan.

RULE 36(A) COURT REVIEW

The amendment changed the rule's reference from "referee" to "magistrate" in division (A) in order to harmonize the rule with the language adopted in the 1995 amendments to Juv. R. 40. The amendment is technical only and no substantive change is intended.

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 36 DISPOSITIONAL REVIEW

Juv. R. 36 was previously reserved. The 1994 amendment was drafted to address requirements of dispositional review imposed by S.B. 89.

Revised Code 2151.353 and 2151.417(B) permit the court on its own motion or any public children's services agency or private child placing agency, the Department of Human Services, or any party at any time to move to modify or terminate any dispositional order on an abused, neglected, or dependent child.

Juv. R. 34 sets out the procedures for such a hearing to terminate or modify a dispositional order. Juv. R. 36(A) provides requirements for notice to all parties and the guardian ad litem.

Revised Code 2151.417(G) allows the appointment of a citizens' review board to review dispositional orders. Juv. R. 36(B) delineates that provision.

Juv. R. 36(C) delineates procedures for preparing case plans and conducting administrative reviews in accordance with Revised Code 2151.416(F).

Applicability
Change of custody

Applicability

Where a mother sought to vacate a prior court order that had awarded legal custody of her child to custodians, Ohio R. Juv. P. 36 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.417 were deemed inapplicable to the proceeding, as those dealt with modification or termination of a child custody arrangement upon a showing of a change in circumstances and a finding that such change was in the child's best interest; as no modification or termination was contemplated by the mother's motion, but rather, an examination of the circumstances at the time of the original custody award was mandated, there could have been no changed circumstances. In re H.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2124, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1969 (Apr. 28, 2006).

Change of custody

Revised Code § 2151.41.7 and JuvR 36(A) allow a court to review a child's placement or custody arrangement at any time. However, a party with current custody of the child is entitled to prior notice that a change of custody will be considered at a hearing ostensibly concerning visitation rights: In re Bowman, 101 Ohio App. 3d 599, 656 N.E.2d 355, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 872 (1995).

Treatment programs

Upon a determination during reviewing hearings held pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.417 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 36(A) that a juvenile was not benefitting from a residential treatment program that he was originally committed to upon being declared a delinquent pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.35(A)(1) and that he was acting out, a juvenile court's placement of the juvenile with the Department of Youth Services was not error pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.354(5) and (6); the juvenile was not amenable to treatment or rehabilitation due to his conduct at the residential treatment facility. In re D.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2891, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2738 (June 8, 2006).

RULE 37. Recording of proceedings

(A) Record of proceedings. The juvenile court shall make a record of adjudicatory and dispositional proceedings in abuse, neglect, dependent, unruly, and delinquent cases; permanent custody cases; and proceedings before magistrates. In all other proceedings governed by these rules, a record shall be made upon request of a party or upon motion of the court. The record shall be taken in shorthand, stenotype, or by any other adequate mechanical, electronic, or video recording device.

(B) Restrictions on use of recording or transcript. No public use shall be made by any person, including a party, of any juvenile court record, including the recording or a transcript of any juvenile court hearing, except in the course of an appeal or as authorized by order of the court or by statute.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-01 AMENDMENT

RULE 37(B) RESTRICTIONS ON USE OF RECORDING OR TRANSCRIPT

Division (B) of this rule was amended to conform the rule with Revised Code section 2151.358 (E)(2), which provides for law enforcement personnel to have access to certain juvenile court records. The amendment was not intended to designate juvenile court records as public documents or to enlarge access to juvenile records beyond that specifically designated by a statute directed at juvenile court records.

7-1-96 AMENDMENT

RULE 37 RECORD OF PROCEEDINGS

Division (A) of this rule was modified to require the making of a record in adjudication and dispositional proceedings in abuse, neglect, dependent, unruly, and delinquent cases; in permanent custody cases; and in all proceedings before magistrates. It should be noted that the making of a record is mandatory in adjudicatory and dispositional proceedings. "Proceedings" includes the receiving of any admission or denial, as well as evidentiary hearings. The rule is consistent with section 2151.35(A) of the Revised Code requiring a record of permanent custody proceedings.

Division (B), which was not changed by the 1996 amendment, further provides that no public use shall be made of a transcript except upon appeal or upon authorization of the court.

The preparation of a transcript shall be at public expense if the party is indigent, in accordance with Juvenile Rule 29(B)(5).

Constitutionality

A law making it a crime to publish truthful information, lawfully obtained, concerning the identity of a youth charged as a juvenile offender is violative of U.S. Const. amend. I: Smith v. Daily Mail Publishing Co., 443 U.S. 97, 99 S. Ct. 2667, 61 L. Ed. 2d 399, 1979 U.S. LEXIS 139 (1979).

A pretrial order enjoining the news media from disseminating the identity of a juvenile in any manner in connection with juvenile proceedings violates the first amendment where members of the press were present at an initial hearing with full knowledge of and within objection by the court and defense and prosecution counsel: Oklahoma Pub. Co. v. District Court of Oklahoma, 430 U.S. 308, 97 S. Ct. 1045, 51 L. Ed. 2d 355, 1977 U.S. LEXIS 58 (1977).

Generally

When a magistrate took the disposition of a juvenile delinquency case under advisement, after conducting adjudicatory and dispositional hearings, and then issued a sentencing decision without holding a hearing, this was not a violation of Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A), requiring that hearings be recorded, because the decision was based on adjudicatory and dispositional hearings which were recorded, and the sentencing decision itself was not a proceeding which Rule 37(A) required to be recorded. In re Gibson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5145, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5109 (Oct. 2, 2006).

Juvenile court's failure to follow the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 37 mandated reversal, and defendant's obligation under Ohio R. App. P. 9(C) did not excuse an obligation to provide a complete record as required under Ohio R. Juv. P. 37; where the transcript of the second day of a two day juvenile delinquency trial was unavailable, the juvenile court's delinquency finding was reversed. In re A.F., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 1119, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 1004 (Mar. 11, 2004).

Although failure to make any record of adjudicatory and dispositional proceedings clearly violates Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A), failure to create a complete record does not always violate the rule; however, pursuant to Ohio R. App. P. 9(E), an appellant has a duty to exemplify any alleged errors by reference to matters in the record, and that duty is discharged by the filing of a verbatim transcript, a narrative statement of the evidence, or an agreed statement of the record; because a GAL failed to inform the appellate court with specificity what evidence or prejudicial errors were contained in inaudible taped testimony, and the GAL did not supplement the record, a juvenile court decision awarding custody was affirmed. In re Mitchell, 2003 Ohio 4102, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3647 (2003).

Even though transcripts for two hearings were not provided by the trial court, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A), this was not shown to be prejudicial where no evidence was accepted or offered and the only action taken by the trial court at the two hearings in question was the continuance of the trial to a later date; a transcript of the adjudication hearing and transcripts of the five dispositional hearings were provided and filed. In re D.F., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 3221, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2883 (June 19, 2003).

The court's failure to comply with JuvR 37(A) mandated reversal and remand: In re Collins, 127 Ohio App. 3d 278, 712 N.E.2d 798, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 1510 (1998).

Juvenile Rule 37 requires recording of all proceedings only upon request: In re Hannah, 106 Ohio App. 3d 766, 667 N.E.2d 76, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 4441 (1995).

Pursuant to RC § 2151.35(A), a transcript is not required unless requested: In re East, 105 Ohio App. 3d 221, 663 N.E.2d 983, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 2851 (1995).

In cases not involving permanent custody, the court is required to make a transcript of oral proceedings only on the request of a party: In re Wright, 88 Ohio App. 3d 539, 624 N.E.2d 347, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 3441 (1993).

Trial court recorded the dispositional hearing, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A), even though the testimony of one witness was not recorded because the tape recorder inadvertently failed; however, since the trial court remedied that problem by allowing for the creation of a statement of the evidence provided by that witness, the trial court did not ignore the mandates of Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A) to create a complete record of the hearing. In re Myers, 2003 Ohio 2776, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2492 (2003).

Appeal

Although there were portions of a transcript from a juvenile's parole-violation hearing that were not transcribable due to the juvenile's "inaudible" responses, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A) there was no violation of the right to a recorded proceeding, as the transcript that was recorded was sufficient to show that the juvenile had waived his right to have counsel represent him in a knowing, voluntary, and intelligent manner. The juvenile failed in his burden to supplement the record with a statement pursuant to Ohio R. App. P. 9(C) where he failed to file such a statement. In re Andrew, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1021, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 927 (Mar. 9, 2007).

Where a juvenile court failed to comply with the recording requirement pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A) in a juvenile's delinquency proceeding, and the juvenile was unable to prepare an Ohio R. App. P. 9(C) statement for appellate purposes because he could not reach his prior counsel, the lack of clarity as to whether the juvenile was adjudicated as delinquent for a felony-level offense in order to determine if he was eligible for commitment to the Ohio Department of Youth Services required a remand for a new adjudication hearing. In re G.W., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5327, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5320 (Oct. 12, 2006).

Since a trial court did not employ an adequate method of recording a change of plea hearing in a juvenile delinquency case, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 37, the appellate court was unable to ensure that the trial court properly complied with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) and that appellant's plea was entered voluntarily, knowingly, and intelligently; thus, the trial court's judgment was reversed. In re Stoutamire, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5365, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5374 (Oct. 13, 2006).

Because a magistrate failed to ask a juvenile defendant whether defendant understood that defendant was waiving constitutional rights in pleading guilty, and the transcript was so poor that the appellate court could not determine the sufficiency of the allocution, the trial court failed to comply with Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D)(2), 37. In re Dawson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2088, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1984 (Apr. 29, 2005).

Where the juvenile court complied with RC § 2152.12 and JuvR 30 in transferring a juvenile for criminal prosecution, the trial court had subject matter jurisdiction to hear the case despite the juvenile court's failure to record the proceeding pursuant to JuvR 37(A): State v. Mock, 136 Ohio Misc. 2d 21, 2005 Ohio 7142, 846 N.E.2d 108, 2005 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 603 (2005).

When a juvenile court fails to comply with the recording requirements of JuvR 37(A) and an appellant attempts but is unable to submit an AppR 9(C) statement to correct or supplement the record, the matter must be remanded to the juvenile court for a rehearing: Cuyahoga County Dep't of Children & Family Servs. v. Evans (In re B.E.), 102 Ohio St. 3d 388, 2004 Ohio 3361, 811 N.E.2d 76, 2004 Ohio LEXIS 1583 (2004).

The court's failure to make a record of the hearings warranted reversal: In re Amos, 154 Ohio App. 3d 434, 2003 Ohio 5014, 797 N.E.2d 568, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4514 (2003).

Even though the mother could have filed a statement pursuant to Ohio R. App. P. 9(C) detailing the hearing testimony missing from a tape recording that ended prematurely, termination of parental rights was reversible error because the trial court was unable to provide a complete record as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A). In re B.E., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 3949, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3525 (July 24, 2003).

Where a child custody proceeding involving two unmarried parents was conducted before a magistrate judge, the magistrate was obligated to record the proceedings under Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A); however, since tape recording of the proceeding was inaudible, the magistrate's findings, derived from the hearing, set forth factual details sufficiently specific to permit appellate review and approval of the magistrate's decision to award custody of the child to the father. In re Knight, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 7222, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 6514 (Dec. 19, 2003).

An indigent parent has a right to a transcript of proceedings for purposes of appealing from a state-instituted permanent custody action. State ex rel. Howard v. Ferreri, 70 Ohio St. 3d 587, 1994 Ohio 130, 639 N.E.2d 1189, 1994 Ohio LEXIS 2303 (1994).

Closing of proceedings

Prohibition may be granted to prevent a judge from closing juvenile court proceedings without conducting an evidentiary hearing and without making the required findings. When a party requests that a juvenile court proceeding be closed, but the court fails to hold an appropriate evidentiary hearing and make the required findings before closing the proceeding, a person or entity successfully challenging that practice is not automatically entitled to release of the transcript of the improperly closed proceeding. Instead, the person or entity challenging the improper closure is entitled to a writ of mandamus to compel the judge to conduct the closure hearing that should have been held in order to determine if release of the transcript is warranted. Mandamus may be granted to compel a juvenile court to make publicly available notice of (1) motions to close proceedings, (2) when hearings on closure motions will be held, and (3) court rulings on closure motions: State ex rel. Plain Dealer Publ. Co. v. Floyd, 111 Ohio St. 3d 56, 2006 Ohio 4437, 855 N.E.2d 35, 2006 Ohio LEXIS 2573, 34 Media L. Rep. (BNA) 2325 (2006).

Confrontation clause

The confrontation clause requires that a defendant in a criminal case be allowed to impeach the credibility of a prosecution witness by cross-examination concerning probationary status as juvenile offender: Davis v. Alaska, 415 U.S. 308, 94 S. Ct. 1105, 39 L. Ed. 2d 347, 1974 U.S. LEXIS 104 (1974).

Harmless error

Although a juvenile court erred under Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(A) in failing to record an amenability hearing, wherein it relinquished jurisdiction over a juvenile defendant with respect to a criminal charge against him in favor of the general trial court, such was harmless error where a statement of evidence under Ohio R. App. P. 9(C) was deemed adequate to determine the question of whether the relinquishment of jurisdiction by the juvenile court was proper. State v. Lucas, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 188, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 178 (Jan. 19, 2007).

Release of transcript

Juvenile Rule 37(B) does not prevent release of a transcript of a juvenile court proceeding pursuant to RC § 149.43 when there is no evidence that release of the particular transcript will result in any harm to the child involved: State ex rel. Scripps Howard Broadcasting Co. v. Cuyahoga Cty. Court of Common Pleas, Juv. Div., 73 Ohio St. 3d 19, 652 N.E.2d 179, 1995 Ohio LEXIS 2681 (1995).

Transcript

Summary judgment was granted to a judge in an action by a prosecutor, seeking a writ of prohibition which was more appropriately considered as a writ of mandamus pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2731.04, wherein a juvenile transcript from a bindover proceeding was sought, as the conditions under both Ohio R. Juv. P. 37(B) and Cuyahoga County, Ohio, Ct. C.P. Juv. R. 48(C)(4) were not met. The complaint was procedurally defective under Ohio Eighth Dist. Ct. App. R. 45(B)(1)(a), as it was in the form of a motion with a supportive brief rather than in the form of a complaint, and the supportive affidavit was lacking. State ex rel. Mason v. Floyd, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2368, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 2209 (May 15, 2007).

Waiver of counsel

Former JuvR 37 did not require a transcript to show a valid waiver of counsel: Douglas v. Boykin, 121 Ohio App. 3d 140, 699 N.E.2d 123, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 2978 (1997).

Pursuant to the 1996 amendment to JuvR 37, a notation in a journal entry that the juvenile waived counsel at a dispositional hearing is no longer sufficient: In re Solis, 124 Ohio App. 3d 547, 706 N.E.2d 839, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 5527 (1997).

Opinions of Attorney General

Pursuant to JuvR 32(B), and RC § 2151.14, juvenile court records, the records of social, mental and physical examinations pursuant to court order, and records of the juvenile court probation department are not public records under RC § 149.43: OAG No. 90-101 (1990).

Revised Code § 1347.04 does not operate to exempt juvenile courts from the provisions of RC Chapter 1347, with respect to the courts' records of matters pertaining to juveniles; however, if a juvenile court has any personal information systems which are comprised of investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes, such systems are exempt from RC Chapter 1347, under

Under RC § 1347.08, a juvenile court must permit a juvenile or a duly-authorized attorney who represents the juvenile to inspect court records pertaining to the juvenile unless the records are exempted under RC § 1347.04(A)(1)(e) or RC § 1347.08(C) or (E)(2). Under JuvR 37(B), the records may not, however, be put to any public use except in the course of an appeal or as authorized by order of the court: OAG No. 84-077 (1984).

RULE 38. Voluntary surrender of custody

(A) Temporary custody.

(1) A person with custody of a child may enter into an agreement with any public or private children services agency giving the agency temporary custody for a period of up to thirty days without the approval of the juvenile court. The agency may request the court to grant a thirty day extension of the original agreement. The court may grant the original extension if it determines the extension to be in the best interest of the child. A case plan shall be filed at the same time the request for extension is filed. At the expiration of the original thirty day extension period, the agency may request the court to grant an additional thirty day extension. The court may grant the additional extension if it determines the extension is in the child's best interest. The agency shall file an updated case plan at the same time it files the request for additional extension. At the expiration of the additional thirty day extension period, or at the expiration of the original thirty day extension period if no additional thirty day extension was requested, the agency shall either return the child to the custodian or file a complaint requesting temporary or permanent custody and a case plan.

(2) Notwithstanding division (A)(1) of this rule, the agreement may be for a period of sixty days if executed solely for the purpose of obtaining the adoption of a child less than six months of age. The agency may request the court to extend the temporary custody agreement for thirty days. A case plan shall be filed at the same time the request for extension is filed. At the expiration of the thirty day extension, the agency shall either return the child to the child's custodian or file a complaint with the court requesting temporary or permanent custody and a case plan.

(B) Permanent custody.

(1) A person with custody of a child may make an agreement with court approval surrendering the child into the permanent custody of a public children service agency or private child placing agency. A public children service agency shall request and a private child placing agency may request the juvenile court of the county in which the child had residence or legal settlement to approve the permanent surrender agreement. The court may approve the agreement if it determines it to be in the best interest of the child. The agency requesting the approval shall file a case plan at the same time it files its request for approval of the permanent surrender agreement.

(2) An agreement for the surrender of permanent custody of a child to a private service agency is not required to be approved by the court if the agreement is executed solely for the purpose of obtaining an adoption of a child who is less than six months of age on the date of the execution of the agreement.

One year after the agreement is entered and every subsequent twelve months after that date, the court shall schedule a review hearing if a final decree of adoption has not been entered for a child who is the subject of an agreement for the surrender of permanent custody.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-94 AMENDMENT

RULE 38 VOLUNTARY SURRENDER OF CUSTODY

Prior to July 1, 1994, this rule was reserved. The 1994 amendment implements the provisions of Revised Code 5103.15 as amended by S.B. 89, regarding the procedure for making voluntary agreements of temporary custody to a public or private agency where extensions are requested.

Pursuant to the above-referenced statute, Juv. R. 38(A) provides that requests for extension of voluntary surrenders of custody must be accompanied by an updated case plan and the court may grant the extension if it determines the extension to be in the best interest of the child. Two such extensions may be granted for up to sixty days. If the agency desires a further extension, a new complaint for temporary or permanent custody must be filed. An agreement for temporary custody may be for sixty days if executed solely for the purpose of obtaining the adoption of a child less than six months of age.

Juv. R. 38(B) sets out procedures for the voluntary surrender of permanent custody. Agreements for permanent custody must have the approval of the juvenile court of the county in which the child resides or has legal settlement. Then, on an annual basis until a final decree of adoption is entered, the court must conduct a review hearing of the agreement.

RULE 39. Out of county removal hearings

(A) Notice of removal hearing. Upon the filing of a removal action, the court in which the complaint is filed shall contact the court that issued the original dispositional order for information necessary for service of summons and issuance of notice of the removal hearing. The court that issued the original dispositional order shall respond within five days after receiving the request.

Summons shall issue pursuant to Juv. R. 15 and 16.

Notice of the removal hearing shall be sent by first class mail, as evidenced by a certificate of mailing filed with the clerk of court, to the following, not otherwise summoned, at least five days before the hearing:

- (1) The court issuing the dispositional order;
- (2) The guardian ad litem for the child;
- (3) Counsel for the child;
- (4) The placing entity;
- (5) The custodial entity;
- (6) The complainant;
- (7) The guardian ad litem and counsel presently representing the child in the court that issued the original dispositional order;
- (8) Any other persons the court determines to be appropriate.

(B) Removal hearing. The removal hearing shall be held not later than thirty days after service of summons is obtained. If, after the removal hearing, the court grants relief in favor of the complainant, the court shall send written notice of such relief to the juvenile court that issued the original dispositional order.

History: Effective, 7-1-98.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-98 AMENDMENT

RULE 39 OUT-OF-COUNTY REMOVAL HEARINGS

The 1998 addition of Juv. R. 39 was intended to establish procedures for removal actions, as defined in Juv. R. 2(E), which also was added by the 1998 amendments. Pursuant to Juv. R. 15(A), as in other cases within the purview of the Juvenile Rules, a summons must be issued to "the child, the parents, guardian, custodian, and any other persons who appear to the court to be proper or necessary parents." Juv. R. 39(A) includes a list of other entities and persons whose presence at the removal hearing may not be necessary, but who should be aware that the hearing will be conducted. This list includes, but is not limited to, the guardian ad litem and counsel for the child from the original proceeding in which the dispositional order was made, resulting in the child's out-of-county foster home placement.

Nothing contained in Juv. R. 39 is designed to obviate the authority of the court to regulate the proceedings.

Pursuant to Juv. R. 39(B), the time requirements for the scheduling of the hearing are predicated on service of summons.

Additional 1998 amendments governing removal actions were made to Juv. R. 2(E), 4(B), 10(A), 11(B), 15(B), and 29(A) and (E).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Jurisdiction

Where a mother sought to preclude a juvenile court judge from exercising post-judgment jurisdiction over visitation and custody motions filed by the father of her child after the mother had filed her intent to relocate to North Carolina with the child, her claim that the judge no longer had jurisdiction over the matter lacked merit, as the juvenile court and the judge had general statutory authority over such issues pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. §§ 2151.23 and 2151.231. The mother also failed to show entitlement to the writ where she had an adequate remedy at law through either an appeal or a request to transfer the proceedings to North Carolina, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 11 and 39, such that dismissal of the complaint was warranted. Rivers v. Ramsey, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1744, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1610 (Apr. 3, 2006).

RULE 40. Magistrates

(A) Appointment. The court may appoint one or more magistrates who shall be attorneys at law admitted to practice in Ohio. A magistrate appointed under this rule also may serve as a magistrate under Crim. R. 19. The court shall not appoint as a magistrate any person who has contemporaneous responsibility for working with, or supervising the behavior of, children who are subject to dispositional orders of the appointing court or any other juvenile court.

(B) Compensation. The compensation of magistrates shall be fixed by the court, and no part of the compensation shall be taxed as costs.

(C) Authority.

(1) Scope. To assist juvenile courts of record and pursuant to reference under Juv. R. 40(D)(1), magistrates are authorized, subject to the terms of the relevant reference, to do any of the following:

(a) Determine any motion in any case, except a case involving the determination of a child's status as a serious youthful offender;

(b) Conduct the trial of any case that will not be tried to a jury, except the adjudication of a case against an alleged serious youthful offender;

(c) Upon unanimous written consent of the parties, preside over the trial of any case that will be tried to a jury; except the adjudication of a case against an alleged serious youthful offender;

(d) Exercise any other authority specifically vested in magistrates by statute and consistent with this rule.

(2) Regulation of proceedings. In performing the responsibilities described in Juv. R. 40(C)(1), magistrates are authorized, subject to the terms of the relevant reference, to regulate all proceedings as if by the court and to do everything necessary for the efficient performance of those responsibilities, including but not limited to, the following:

(a) Issuing subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence;

(b) Ruling upon the admissibility of evidence;

(c) Putting witnesses under oath and examining them;

(d) Calling the parties to the action and examining them under oath;

(e) When necessary to obtain the presence of an alleged contemnor in cases involving direct or indirect contempt of court, issuing an attachment for the alleged contemnor and setting the type, amount, and any conditions of bail pursuant to Crim. R. 46;

(f) Imposing, subject to Juv. R. 40(D)(8), appropriate sanctions for civil or criminal contempt committed in the presence of the magistrate.

(D) Proceedings in Matters Referred to Magistrates

(1) Reference by court of record.

(a) Purpose and method. A court may, for one or more of the purposes described in Juv. R. 40(C)(1), refer a particular case or matter or a category of cases or matters to a magistrate by a specific or general order of reference or by rule.

(b) Limitation. A court may limit a reference by specifying or limiting the magistrate's powers, including but not limited to, directing the magistrate to determine only particular issues, directing the magistrate to perform particular responsibilities, directing the magistrate to receive and report evidence only, fixing the time and place for beginning and closing any hearings, or fixing the time for filing any magistrate's decision on the matter or matters referred.

(2) Magistrate's order; motion to set aside magistrate's order.

(a) Magistrate's order.

(i) Nature of order. Subject to the terms of the relevant reference, a magistrate may enter orders without judicial approval if necessary to regulate the proceedings and if not dispositive of a claim or defense of a party.

(ii) Form, filing, and service of magistrate's order. A magistrate's order shall be in writing, identified as a magistrate's order in the caption, signed by the magistrate, filed with the clerk, and served on all parties or their attorneys.

(iii) Magistrate's order include. A magistrate's order includes any of the following:

(A) Pretrial proceedings under Civ. R. 16;

(B) Discovery proceedings under Civ. R. 26 to 37, Juv.

R. 24, and Juv. R.25;

(C) Appointment of an attorney or guardian ad litem pursuant to Juv. R. 4 and Juv. R.29(B)(4);

(D) Taking a child into custody pursuant to Juv. R. 6;

(E) Detention hearings pursuant to Juv. R. 7;

(F) Temporary orders pursuant to Juv. R. 13;

(G) Extension of temporary orders pursuant to Juv. R. 14;

(H) Summons and warrants pursuant to Juv. R. 15;

(I) Preliminary conferences pursuant to Juv. R. 21;

(J) Continuances pursuant to Juv. R. 23;

(K) Deposition orders pursuant to Juv. R. 27(B)(3);

(L) Orders for social histories, physical and mental examinations pursuant to Juv. R. 32;

(M) Proceedings upon application for the issuance of a temporary protection order as authorized by law;

(N) Other orders as necessary to regulate the proceedings.

(b) Motion to set aside magistrate's order. Any party may file a motion with the court to set aside a magistrate's order. The motion shall state the moving party's reasons with particularity and shall be filed not later than ten days after the magistrate's order is filed. The pendency of a motion to set aside does not stay the effectiveness of the magistrate's order, though the magistrate or the court may by order stay the effectiveness of a magistrate's order.

(3) Magistrate's decision; objections to magistrate's decision.

(a) Magistrate's decision.

(i) When required. Subject to the terms of the relevant reference, a magistrate shall prepare a magistrate's decision respecting any matter referred under Juv. R. 40(D)(1).

(ii) Findings of fact and conclusions of law. Subject to the terms of the relevant reference, a magistrate's decision may be general unless findings of fact and conclusions of law are timely requested by a party or otherwise required by law. A request for findings of fact and conclusions of law shall be made before the entry of a magistrate's decision or within seven days after the filing of a magistrate's decision. If a request for findings of fact and conclusions of law is timely made, the magistrate may require any or all of the parties to submit proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law.

(iii) Form, filing, and service of magistrate's decision. A magistrate's decision shall be in writing, identified as a magistrate's decision in the caption, signed by the magistrate, filed with the clerk, and served on all parties or their attorneys no later than three days after the decision is filed. A magistrate's decision shall indicate conspicuously that a party shall not assign as error on appeal the court's adoption of any factual finding or legal conclusion, whether or not specifically designated as a finding of fact or conclusion of law under Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii), unless the party timely and specifically objects to that factual finding or legal conclusion as required by Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b).

(b) Objections to magistrate's decision.

(i) Time for filing. A party may file written objections to a magistrate's decision within fourteen days of the filing of the decision, whether or not the court has adopted the decision during that fourteen-day period as permitted by Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(e)(i). If any party timely files objections, any other party may also file objections not later than ten days after the first objections are filed. If a party makes a timely request for findings of fact and conclusions of law, the time for filing objections begins to run when the magistrate files a decision that includes findings of fact and conclusions of law.

(ii) Specificity of objection. An objection to a magistrate's decision shall be specific and state with particularity all grounds for objection.

(iii) Objection to magistrate's factual finding; transcript or affidavit. An objection to a factual finding, whether or not specifically designated as a finding of fact under Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii), shall be supported by a transcript of all the evidence submitted to the magistrate relevant to that finding or an affidavit of that evidence if a transcript is not available. With leave of court, alternative technology or manner of reviewing the relevant evidence may be considered. The objecting party shall file the transcript or affidavit with the court within thirty days after filing objections unless the court extends the time in writing for preparation of the transcript or other good cause. If a party files timely objections prior to the date on which a transcript is prepared, the party may seek leave of court to supplement the objections.

(iv) Waiver of right to assign adoption by court as error on appeal. Except for a claim of plain error, a party shall not assign as error on appeal the court's adoption of any factual finding or legal conclusion, whether or not specifically designated as a finding of fact or conclusion of law under Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii), unless the party has objected to that finding or conclusion as required by Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b).

(4) Action of court on magistrate's decision and on any objections to magistrate's decision; entry of judgment or interim order by court.

(a) Action of court required. A magistrate's decision is not effective unless adopted by the court.

(b) Action on magistrate's decision. Whether or not objections are timely filed, a court may adopt or reject a magistrate's decision in whole or in part, with or without modification. A court may hear a previously-referred matter, take additional evidence, or return a matter to a magistrate.

(c) If no objections are filed. If no timely objections are filed, the court may adopt a magistrate's decision, unless it determines that there is an error of law or other defect evident on the face of the magistrate's decision.

(d) Action on objections. If one or more objections to a magistrate's decision are timely filed, the court shall rule on those objections. In ruling on objections, the court shall undertake an independent review as to the objected matters to ascertain that the magistrate has properly determined the factual issues and appropriately applied the law. Before so ruling, the court may hear additional evidence but may refuse to do so unless the objecting party demonstrates that the party could not, with reasonable diligence, have produced that evidence for consideration by the magistrate.

(e) Entry of judgment or interim order by court. A court that adopts, rejects, or modifies a magistrate's decision shall also enter a judgment or interim order.

(i) Judgment. The court may enter a judgment either during the fourteen days permitted by Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(i) for the filing of objections to a magistrate's decision or after the fourteen days have expired. If the court enters a judgment during the fourteen days permitted by Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(i) for the filing of objections, the timely filing of objections to the magistrate's decision shall operate as an automatic stay of execution of the judgment until the court disposes of those objections and vacates, modifies, or adheres to the judgment previously entered.

(ii) Interim order. The court may enter an interim order on the basis of a magistrate's decision without waiting for or ruling on timely objections by the parties where immediate relief is justified. The timely filing of objections does not stay the execution of an interim order, but an interim order shall not extend more than twenty-eight days from the date of entry, subject to extension by the court in increments of twenty-eight additional days for good cause shown.

(5) Extension of time. For good cause shown, the court shall allow a reasonable extension of time for a party to file a motion to set aside a magistrate's order or file objections to a magistrate's decision. "Good cause" includes, but is not limited to, a failure by the clerk to timely serve the party seeking the extension with the magistrate's order or decision.

(6) Disqualification of a magistrate. Disqualification of a magistrate for bias or other cause is within the discretion of the court and may be sought by motion filed with the court.

(7) Recording of proceedings before a magistrate. Except as otherwise provided by law, all proceedings before a magistrate shall be recorded in accordance with procedures established by the court.

(8) Contempt in the presence of a magistrate.

(a) Contempt order. Contempt sanctions under Juv. R. 40(C)(2)(f) may be imposed only by a written order that recites the facts and certifies that the magistrate saw or heard the conduct constituting contempt.

(b) Filing and provision of copies of contempt order. A contempt order shall be filed and copies provided forthwith by the clerk to the appropriate judge of the court and to the subject of the order.

(c) Review of contempt order by court; bail. The subject of a contempt order may by motion obtain immediate review by a judge. A judge or the magistrate entering the contempt order may set bail pending judicial review of the order.

The provisions of § 3 of HB 393 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. The General Assembly hereby encourages the Supreme Court to amend the Juvenile Rules to make clear that, while a magistrate may not try or sentence a case involving an alleged or adjudicated serious youthful offender, a magistrate may handle ministerial duties in that type of case, including arraignment and setting bail.

STAFF NOTES

7-1-06 AMENDMENT

Rule 40 has been reorganized in an effort to make it more helpful to bench and bar and reflective of developments since the rule was last substantially revised effective July 1, 1995. The relatively-few significant changes included in the reorganization are noted below.

Rule 40(A) Appointment

Juv. R. 40(A) is similar to former Juv. R. 40(A), except that it now requires all magistrates appointed pursuant to the rule to be attorneys admitted to practice in Ohio. The former rule allowed magistrates first appointed prior to July 1, 1995 to be nonattorneys.

Rule 40(B) Compensation

Juv. R. 40(B) is the same as former Juv. R. 40(B).

Rule 40(C) Authority

Juv. R. 40(C) is drawn largely from former Juv. R. 40(C)(1) and (2) and reflects the admonition of the Supreme Court that "a [magistrate's] oversight of an issue or issues, or even an entire trial, is not a substitute for the judicial functions but only an aid to them." Hart v. Munobe (1993), 67 Ohio St.3d 3, 6, 1993-Ohio-177, 615 N.E.2d 617 (emphases added). Juv. R. 40(C) specifies that juvenile court magistrates may determine motions and conduct trials but may not preside over the determination or trial of a serious youthful offender.

Rule 40(D) Proceedings in Matters Referred to Magistrates

Juv. R. 40(D)(1) through (4) treat each of the steps that potentially occur if a magistrate participates: (1) reference to a magistrate; (2) magistrate's orders and motions to set aside magistrate's orders; (3) magistrate's decisions and objections to magistrate's decisions; and (4) action of the court on magistrate's decisions and on any objections to magistrate's decisions and entry of judgment or interim order by the court. Juv. R. 40(D)(5) through (8) deal with good cause extensions of time, disqualification of a magistrate, recording of proceedings before a magistrate, and contempt in the presence of a magistrate.

Reference by court of record

Juv. R. 40(D)(1), unlike former Juv. R. 40(C)(1)(b), specifically authorizes reference of types of matters by rule as well as by a specific or general order of reference. In so doing, it recognizes existing practice in some courts. See, e.g., Loc. R. 99.02, Franklin Cty. Ct. of Common Pleas; Loc. R. 23(B), Hamilton Cty. Ct. of Common Pleas; State ex rel. Nalls v. Russo, 96 Ohio St.3d 410, 412-13, 2002-Ohio-4907 at ¶¶ 20-24, 775 N.E.2d 522; Davis v. Reed (Aug. 31, 2000), 8th Dist. App. No. 76712, 2000 WL 1231462 at *2 (citing White v. White (1977), 50 Ohio App.2d 263, 266-268, 362 N.E.2d 1013), and Partridge v. Partridge (Aug. 27, 1999), 2nd Dist. App. No. 98 CA 38, 1999 WL 945046 at *2, (treating a local rule of the Greene Cty. Ct. of Common Pleas, Dom. Rel. Div., as a standing order of reference).

Magistrate's order; motion to set aside magistrate's order

Juv. R. 40(D)(2)(a)(i) generally authorizes a magistrate to enter orders without judicial approval if necessary to regulate the proceedings and, adapting language from Crim. R. 19(B)(5)(a), if "not dispositive of a claim or defense of a party." The new language removes the arguably limiting title of former Juv. R. 40(C)(3)(a) ["Pretrial orders"] and is intended to more accurately reflect proper and existing practice. This language is not intended to narrow the power of a magistrate to enter orders without judicial approval. Juv. R. 40(D)(2)(a) lists certain actions that are included as magistrate orders. These are similar to those listed in former Juv. R. 40(C)(3), with the addition of division (D)(2)(a)(iii)(M) regarding the issuance of a temporary protection order. However, consistent with the admonition in Hart, supra, any temporary protection order issued as a result of such proceedings must be signed by a judge.

Juv. R. 40(D)(2)(b) replaces language in former Juv. R. 40(C)(3)(b), which purported to authorize "[a]ny person" to "appeal to the court" from any order of a magistrate "by filing a motion to set the order aside." The new language refers to the appropriate challenge to a magistrate's order as solely a "motion to set aside" the order. Juv. R. 40(D)(2)(b) likewise limits the authorization to file a motion to "any party," though an occasional nonparty may be entitled to file a motion to set aside a magistrate's order. Sentence two of Juv. R. 40(D)(2)(b) changes the trigger for the ten days permitted to file a motion to set aside a magistrate's order from entry of the order to filing of the order, as the latter date is definite and more easily available to counsel. Juv. R. 40(D)(2)(b) retains the provision of former Juv. R. 40(C)(3)(b) that the pendency of a motion to set aside a magistrate's order does not stay the effectiveness of the magistrate's order, although the magistrate or the court, by order, may stay the magistrate's order.

Magistrate's decision; objections to magistrate's decision

Juv. R. 40(D)(3) prescribes procedures for preparation of a magistrate's decision and for any objections to a magistrate's decision.

Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii), unlike former Juv. R. 40(E)(2), adapts language from Civ. R. 52 rather than simply referring to Civ. R. 52. The change is intended to make clear that, e.g., a request for findings of fact and conclusions of law in a referred matter should be directed to the magistrate rather than to the court. Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii) explicitly authorizes a magistrate's decision, subject to the terms of the relevant reference, to be general absent a timely request for findings of fact and conclusions of law or a provision of law that provides otherwise. Occasional decisions under former Juv. R. 40 said as much. See, e.g., In re Chapman (Apr. 21, 1997), 12th Dist. App. No. CA96-07-127, 1997 WL 194879 at *2; Burke v. Brown, 4th Dist. App. No. 01CA731, 2002-Ohio-6164 at ¶ 21; and Rush v. Schlagetter (Apr. 15, 1997), 4th Dist. App. No. 96CA2215, 1997 WL 193169 at *3. For a table of sections of the Ohio Revised Code that purport to make findings of fact by judicial officers mandatory in specified circumstances, see 2 Klein-Darling, Ohio Civil Practice § 52-4, 2002 Pocket Part at 136 (West Group 1997).

Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(iii) now requires that the magistrate's decision be served on the parties or their attorneys no later than three days after the decision was filed. The former rule contained no specific time requirement. The provision further requires that a magistrate's decision include a conspicuous warning of the waiver rule prescribed by amended Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(iv). The latter rule now provides that a party shall not assign as error on appeal a court's adoption of any factual finding or legal conclusion of a magistrate, whether or not specifically designated as a finding of fact or conclusion of law under Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii), unless that party has objected to that finding or conclusion as required by Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b). While the prior waiver rule, prescribed by former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(b) (effective July 1, 1995) and former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(d) (effective July 1, 2003), arguably applied only to findings of fact or conclusions of law specifically designated as such, the amended waiver rule applies to any factual finding or legal conclusion in a magistrate's decision and the required warning is broadened accordingly.

Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(i) retains the fourteen-day time for filing written objections to a magistrate's decision. While the rule continues to authorize filing of objections by a "party," it has been held that a non-party attorney can properly object to a magistrate's decision imposing sanctions on the attorney. All Climate Heating & Cooling, Inc. v. Zee Properties, Inc. (May 17, 2001), 10th Dist. App. No. 00AP-1141, 2001 WL 521408 at *3.

Sentence one of Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(iii) requires that an objection to a factual finding in a magistrate's decision, whether or not specifically designated as a finding of fact under Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii), be supported by a transcript of all the evidence submitted to the magistrate relevant to that fact or by an affidavit of that evidence if a transcript is not available. The Supreme Court has prescribed the consequences on appeal of failure to supply the requisite transcript or affidavit as follows: (1) "appellate review of the court's findings is limited to whether the trial court abused its discretion in adopting the [magistrate's decision]" and (2) "the appellate court is precluded from considering the transcript of the hearing submitted with the appellate record." State ex rel. Duncan v. Chippewa Twp. Trustees (1995), 73 Ohio St.3d 728, 730, 654 N.E.2d 1254.

Sentence two of Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(iii) adds a new requirement, adapted from Loc. R. 99.05, Franklin Cty. Ct. of Common Pleas, that the requisite transcript or affidavit be filed within thirty days after filing objections unless the court extends the time in writing for preparation of the transcript or other good cause. The last sentence of Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(iii) allows an objecting party to seek leave of court to supplement previously filed objections where the additional objections become apparent after a transcript has been prepared.

Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(iv), as noted above, expands the "waiver rule" prescribed by former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(b) (effective July 1, 1995) and former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(d)

(effective July 1, 2003) to include any factual finding or legal conclusion in a magistrate's decision, whether or not specifically designated as a finding of fact or conclusion of law under Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii). The Rules Advisory Committee was unable to discern a principled reason to apply different requirements to, e.g., a factual finding depending on whether or not that finding is specifically designated as a finding of fact under Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(a)(ii). An exception to the "waiver rule" exists for plain error, which cannot be waived based on a party's failure to object to a magistrate's decision.

Action of court on magistrate's decision and on any objections to magistrate's decision; entry of judgment or interim order by the court

Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(a), like sentence one of former Juv. R. 40(E)(4)(a), confirms that a magistrate's decision is not effective unless adopted by the court.

Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(b) provides that a court may properly choose among a wide range of options in response to a magistrate's decision, whether or not objections are timely filed. See, e.g., Johnson v. Brown 2nd Dist. App. No. 2002 CA 76, 2003-Ohio-1257 at ¶ 12 (apparently concluding that former Civ. R. 53(E)(4)(b) permitted the trial court to modify an aspect of the magistrate's decision to which no objection had been made).

Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(c) provides that if no timely objections are filed, the court may adopt a magistrate's decision, unless the court determines that there is an error of law or other defect evident on the face of the decision. A similar result was reached under sentence two of former Civ. R. 53(E)(4)(a). See, e.g., Perrine v. Perrine, 9th Dist. App. No. 20923, 2002-Ohio-4351 at ¶ 9; City of Ravenna Police Dept. v. Sicuro (Apr. 30, 2002), 11th Dist. App. No. 2001-P-0037; and In re Weingart (Jan. 17, 2002), 8th Dist. App. No. 79489, 2002 WL 68204 at *4. The language of Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(c) has been modified in an attempt to make clear that the obligation of the court does not extend to any "error of law" whatever but is limited to errors of law that are evident on the face of the decision. To the extent that decisions such as In re Kelley, 11th Dist. App. No. 2002-A-0088, 2003-Ohio-194 at ¶ 8 suggest otherwise, they are rejected. The "evident on the face" standard does not require that the court conduct an independent analysis of the magistrate's decision. The amended rule does not speak to the effect, if any, on the waiver rule prescribed by amended Juv. R. 40(D)(3)(b)(iv) of the "evident on the face" requirement. At least two courts have explicitly held that the "evident on the face" standard generates an exception to the waiver rule. Dean-Kitts v. Dean, 2nd Dist. App. No. 2002CA18, 2002-Ohio-5590 at ¶ 13 and Hennessy v. Hennessy (Mar. 24, 2000), 6th Dist. App. No. L-99-1170, 2000 WL 299450 at *1. Other decisions have indicated that the standard may generate an exception to the waiver rule. Ohlin v. Ohlin (Nov. 12, 1999), 11th Dist. App. No. 98-PA-87, 1999 WL 1580977 at *2; Group One Realty, Inc. v. Dixie Intl. Co. (1998), 125 Ohio App.3d 767, 769, 709 N.E.2d 589; In re Williams (Feb. 25, 1997), 10th Dist. App. No. 96APF06-778, 1997 WL 84659 at *1. However, the Supreme Court applied the waiver rule three times without so much as referring to the "evident on the face" standard as a possible exception. State ex rel. Wilson v. Industrial Comm'n. (2003), 100 Ohio St. 3d 23, 24, 2003-Ohio-4832 at ¶ 4, 795 N.E.2d 662; State ex rel. Abate v. Industrial Comm'n. (2002), 96 Ohio St.3d 343, 2002-Ohio-4796, 774 N.E.2d 1212; State ex rel. Booher v. Honda of America Mfg. Co., Inc. (2000), 88 Ohio St.3d 52, 2000-Ohio-269, 723 N.E.2d 571.

As noted above, even if no timely objection is made, a court may, pursuant to Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(b), properly choose a course of action other than adopting a magistrate's decision, even if there is no error of law or other defect evident on the face of the magistrate's decision.

Sentence one of Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(d), like sentence one of former Juv. R. 40(E)(4)(b), requires that the court rule on timely objections. Sentence two of Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(d) requires that, if timely objection is made to a magistrate's decision, the court give greater scrutiny than if no objections are made. The "independent review as to the objected matters" standard that applies if timely objection is made should be distinguished from the lesser scrutiny permitted if no objections to a magistrate's decision are timely filed, the latter standard having been first adopted by former Juv. R. 40(E)(4)(a), effective July 1, 1995, and retained by new Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(c), discussed above.

The "independent review as to the objected matters" standard is intended to exclude the more limited appellate standards of review and codify the practice approved by most courts of appeals. The Second District Court of Appeals has most clearly and consistently endorsed and explained that standard. See, e.g., Crosby v. McWilliam, 2nd Dist. App. No. 19856, 2003-Ohio-6063; Quick v. Kwiatkowski (Aug. 3, 2001), 2nd Dist. App. No. 18620, 2001 WL 871406 (acknowledging that "Magistrates truly do the 'heavy lifting' on which we all depend"); Knauer v. Keener (2001), 143 Ohio App.3d 789, 758 N.E.2d 1234. Other district courts of appeal have followed suit. Reese v. Reese, 3rd Dist. App. No. 14-03-42, 2004-Ohio-1395; Palenshus v. Smile Dental Group, Inc., 3rd Dist. App. No. 3-02-46, 2003-Ohio-3095; Huffer v. Chafin, 5th Dist. App. No. 01 CA 74, 2002-Ohio-356; Rhoads v. Arthur (June 30, 1999), 5th Dist. App. No. 98CAF10050, 1999 WL 547574; Barker v. Barker (May 4, 2001), 6th Dist. App. No. L-00-1346, 2001 WL 477267; In re Day, 7th Dist. App. No. 01 BA 28, 2003-Ohio-1215; State ex rel. Ricart Auto. Personnel, Inc. v. Industrial Comm'n. of Ohio, 10th Dist. App. No. 03AP-246, 2003-Ohio-7030; Holland v. Holland (Jan. 20, 1998), 10th Dist. App. No. 97APF08-974, 1998 WL 30179; In re Gibbs (Mar. 13, 1998), 11th Dist. App. No. 97-L-067, 1998 WL 257317.

Only one court of appeals appears consistently and knowingly to have taken a different approach. Lowery v. Keystone Bd. of Ed. (May 9, 2001), 9th Dist. App. No. 99CA007407, 2001 WL 490017; Weber v. Weber (June 30, 1999), 9th Dist. App. No. 2846-M, 1999 WL 459359; Meadows v. Meadows (Feb. 11, 1998), 9th Dist. App. No. 18382, 1998 WL 78686; Rogers v. Rogers (Dec. 17, 1997), 9th Dist. App. No. 18280, 1997 WL 795820.

The Rules Advisory Committee believes that the view adopted by the majority of courts of appeals is correct and that no change was made by the 1995 amendments to Juv. R. 40 in the review required of a trial judge upon the filing of timely objections to a magistrate's report.

The phrase "as to the objected matters" permits a court to choose to limit its independent review to those matters raised by proper objections. If a court need apply only the "defect evident on the face" standard if no objections are filed at all, then, if one or more objections are filed, a court logically need apply the more stringent independent review only to those aspects of the magistrate's decision that are challenged by that objection or those objections.

Sentence three of Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(d) provides that, before ruling on objections, a court may hear additional evidence and that it may refuse to hear additional evidence unless the objecting party demonstrates that the party could not, with reasonable diligence, have produced that evidence for consideration by the magistrate.

Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(e) is similar to former Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(c) and requires that a court that adopts, rejects, or modifies a magistrate's decision also enter a judgment or interim order. Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(e)(i) permits the court to enter a judgment during the fourteen days permitted for the filing of objections to a magistrate's decision but provides that the timely filing of objections operates as an automatic stay of execution of the judgment until the court disposes of those objections and vacates, modifies, or adheres to the judgment previously entered. Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(e)(ii) permits the court, if immediate relief is justified, to enter an interim order during the fourteen days permitted for the filing of objections to a magistrate's decision. The timely filing of objections does not stay such an interim order, but the order may not properly extend more than twenty-eight days from the date of entry, subject to extension by the court in increments of twenty-eight additional days for good cause shown. Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(e)(iii) allows multiple twenty-eight day extensions, whereas the former Juv. R. 40(D)(4)(c) allowed only one such extension.

Extension of time

Juv. R. 40(D)(5) is new and requires the court, for good cause shown, to provide an objecting party with a reasonable extension of time to file a motion to set aside a magistrate's order or file objections to a magistrate's decision. "Good cause" would include the failure of a party to receive timely service of the magistrate's order or decision.

Disqualification of a magistrate

Juv. R. 40(D)(6) has no counterpart in former Juv. R. 40. The statutory procedures for affidavits of disqualification apply to judges rather than magistrates. Rev. Code §§ 2101.39, 2501.13, 2701.03, 2701.131; In re Disqualification of Light (1988), 36 Ohio St.3d 604, 522 N.E.2d 458. The new provision is based on the observation of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court that "[t]he removal of a magistrate is within the discretion of the judge who referred the matter to the magistrate and should be brought by a motion filed with the trial court." In re Disqualification of Wilson (1996), 77 Ohio St. 3d 1250, 1251, 674 N.E.2d 260; see also Mascorro v. Mascorro (June 9, 2000), 2nd Dist. App. No. 17945, 2000 WL 731751 at *3 (citing In re Disqualification of Wilson); Reece v. Reece (June 22, 1994), 2nd Dist. App. No. 93-CA-45, 1994 WL 286282 at *2 ("Appointment of a referee is no different from any other process in which the trial court exercises discretion it is granted by statute or rule. * * * If the defect concerns possible bias or prejudice on the part of the referee, that may be brought to the attention of the court by motion."); Moton v. Ford Motor Credit Co., 5th Dist. App. No. 1427, 1990 WL 178162 at *5 ("Although referees are not judges and arguably, are not bound by Canon 3(C)(1) of the Code of Judicial Conduct, it would appear axiomatic that a party should be able to petition the court to have a referee removed from the case if the referee is unable to render a fair and impartial decision."); In re Reiner (1991), 74 Ohio App.3d 213, 220, 598 N.E.2d 768 ("where a referee affirmatively states that he is biased on the matter before him, it is an abuse of the court's discretion to fail to recuse the referee"). Particularly because "a [magistrate's] oversight of an issue or issues, or even an entire trial, is not a substitute for the judicial functions but only an aid to them," Hart v. Munobe (1993), 67 Ohio St.3d 3, 6, 1993-Ohio-177, 615 N.E.2d 617 (emphases added), Juv. R. 40(D)(6) contemplates that disqualification on a ground other than bias may sometimes be appropriate.

Recording of proceedings before a magistrate

Juv. R. 40(D)(7), generally requiring recording of proceedings before a magistrate, is taken verbatim from former Juv. R. 40(D)(2).

Contempt in the presence of a magistrate

Juv. R. 40(D)(8) is adapted from sentences two, three, and four of former Juv. R. 40(C)(3)(c). Juv. R. 40(D)(8)(b), unlike its predecessor, explicitly requires that the clerk provide a copy of a contempt order to the subject of the order.

7-1-01 AMENDMENT

RULE 40(C) REFERENCE AND POWERS

Divisions (C)(1)(a)(i), (ii), and (iii) were amended to reflect that certain proceedings involving serious youthful offenders shall not be referred to a magistrate, i.e., the hearing on a motion to determine if there is probable cause to prosecute the child as a serious youthful offender, and the adjudication itself, whether to a jury or not. These restrictions recognize the seriousness of the charges and their determination, and are consistent with the restrictions upon the use of magistrates within the Criminal Rules.

Substitute Senate Bill 179, effective January 1, 2002, created the new category of serious youthful offender. Juv. R. 2(KK) was added effective July 1, 2001, defining serious youthful offender as "a child eligible for sentencing as described in sections 2152.11 and 2152.13 of the Revised Code."

7-1-98 AMENDMENT

RULE 40(E) DECISIONS IN REFERRED MATTERS

The 1998 amendment was to division (E)(4)(b) of this rule. The amendment was made because some trial judges apparently had avoided ruling upon objections to magistrates' reports since the previous rule appeared to require only "consideration" of the objections. The amendment should clarify that the judge is to rule upon, not just consider, any objections.

An identical amendment was made to division (E)(4)(b) of Civ. R. 53, also effective July 1, 1998.

RULE 40 MAGISTRATES

Juvenile Rule 40 has been extensively revised. To the extent possible, the revisions mirror similar changes in Civ. R. 53 also effective July 1, 1995. For further clarification reference is made to those staff notes.

RULE 40(A) APPOINTMENT

Changes the title from referee to magistrate in juvenile court; requires all magistrates of juvenile courts to be attorneys; permits those who are not attorneys and are presently serving as referees (prior to July 1, 1995) to continue to serve as magistrates.

It is intended that this grandfather clause is personal to the non-attorney magistrate and is not extended to the position itself. Subsequent appointment of a non-attorney magistrate who otherwise qualifies under this rule will not affect the status of that non-attorney magistrate.

If otherwise applicable, this rule is intended to apply to "referees" as that term continues to exist in rule and statute.

RULE 40(B) COMPENSATION

Clarifies that the compensation of magistrates shall be fixed by the court; eliminates language that allows compensation to be taxed as costs in certain situations.

RULE 40(C) REFERENCE AND POWERS

(C)(1) Order of Reference. Division (C)(1)(a)(i) and (ii) set forth the subject matter and types of cases that may be referred to a magistrate by the court pursuant to an order of reference.

Division (C)(1)(a)(iii) adds specific language, consistent with the court's ruling in Hart v. Munobe (1993), 67 Ohio St.3d 3, that permits magistrates to conduct jury trials and, in order to obviate the consent issue in Munobe, requires that consent of the parties must be in writing.

Language is also added, as extracted from Civ. R. 53, which makes it clear that, except in cases under division (C)(1)(a)(iii), the consent of the parties to the order of reference is not required. This is consistent with the existing practice in the court.

Divisions (C)(1)(b) and (c) otherwise leave to the discretion of the court the form and contents of the order of reference and restates existing language in the rule.

(C)(2) General Powers. Subpoena language is updated; unnecessary language describing the handling of account cases is deleted. Division (C)(2)(e) incorporates language adopted July 1, 1993 in Civ. R. 53 which permits magistrates to issue attachments.

(C)(3) Power to Enter Orders. Division (C)(3)(a) grants to magistrates the power to enter specified orders that are temporary or interlocutory in nature. Due process guarantees to the parties are preserved by allowing any party to file a timely motion to set the order aside and requiring the court itself to address that motion. This expansion of magistrate's power is consistent with similar provisions found elsewhere in rule and statute and is designed to expedite the processing of cases and the time limitations imposed by S.B. 89.

(C)(3)(c) Contempt in the Magistrate's Presence. Provides the magistrate with specific power to impose appropriate contempt sanctions where necessary and addresses conflicting case authority regarding the power of the magistrate to control the courtroom. Safeguards have been provided to assure due process guarantees.

(C)(3)(d) Other Orders. Clarifies that the amended rule is not intended to supersede existing authority which grants to magistrates or referees the power to enter certain orders but is designed to supplement that existing authority. As other rules and statutes continue to carry the term "referee," reference is also made to referees.

RULE 40(D) PROCEEDINGS

Prior division (C) is deleted; amended division (D) requires that all proceedings before a magistrate be recorded. If, due to the nature of the facility, the magistrate is not provided with a courtroom separate from chambers, those informal proceedings, such as conferences that would normally take place in chambers, need not be recorded.

RULE 40(E) DECISIONS IN REFERRED MATTERS

Eliminates the report-writing requirement unless specifically required by the order of reference; substitutes the requirement that, except in situations in which the magistrate may issue an order, a magistrate issue a written decision, which does not become effective until approved by the court; requires a magistrate to issue findings of fact and conclusions of law in three specific situations: 1) where the order of reference requires them, 2) where otherwise required by law, 3) where findings and conclusions are requested by any party pursuant to Civ. R. 52, assures due process guarantees by retaining the right to file objections; adds to Juv. R. 40 a provision originally found in Civ. R. 53 that allows a party additional time to file counterobjections; and specifies the action to be taken by the court in acting upon a magistrate's decision.

Division (E)(4)(b) contains a new provision that limits the court's power to hear additional evidence or hear the matter itself in certain situations thereby eliminating the double jeopardy issues raised in Swisher v. Brady (1978), 438 U.S. 204.

Division (E)(4)(c) addresses the issue of permanent and interim orders. All of these provisions reflect what has been existing practice in many courts in response to increased pressure on the court system to process a burgeoning caseload efficiently and expeditiously. Due process considerations mandate that access to the court via the objection process be retained. Findings and conclusions are restricted to those situations where required by the court or by law or where, in fact, the parties themselves believe findings and conclusions to be necessary. The amendment is designed to facilitate the expeditious resolution of cases while preserving to the parties rights similar to those afforded previously by Juv. R. 40.

Staff Note (July 1, 2003 Amendment)

Juvenile Rule 40(E) Decisions in referred matters

The amendment to this rule is identical to an amendment to Civ. R. 53(E), also effective July 1, 2003.

It was suggested to the Rules Advisory Committee that the waiver rule prescribed by sentence four of former Civ. R. 53(E)(3)(b) [identical to sentence four of former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(b)] sometimes surprised counsel and pro se litigants because they did not expect to be required to object to a finding of fact or conclusion of law in a magistrate's decision in order to assign its adoption by the trial court as error on appeal. A review of relevant appellate decisions seemed to confirm that suggestion.

It was further suggested that counsel or a pro se litigant was particularly likely to be surprised by the waiver rule of sentence four of former Civ. R. 53(E)(3)(b) if a trial court, as authorized by sentence two of Civ. R. 53(E)(4)(a), adopted a magistrate's decision prior to expiration of the fourteen days permitted for the filing of objections. See, e.g., Riolo v. Navin, 2002 WL 502408, 2002-Ohio-1551, (8th Dist. Ct. App., 4-19-2002).

Since 1995, the potential for surprise posed by the waiver rule may have been, exacerbated by the fact that, under the original versions of Juv. R. 40 and Civ. R. 53, a party did not, by failing to file an objection, waive the right to assign as error on appeal the adoption by the trial court of a finding or fact or conclusion of law of a referee. See 30 Ohio St. 3d xlii-xliii (1972) (original version of Juv. R. 40); Normandy Place Associates v. Beyer, 2 Ohio St.3d 102, 103 (1982) (syl. 1)(noting absence of waiver rule in original version of Civ. R. 53). As of July 1, 1985, sentence one of Juv. R. 40(E)(6) and sentence one of Civ. R. 53(E)(6) were amended to read "[a] party may not assign as error the court's adoption of a referee's finding of fact unless an objection to that finding is contained in that party's written objections to the referee's report" (emphasis added). See 18 Ohio St.2d xxxv (1985)(Juv. R. 40(E)(6)); State ex rel. Donah v. Windham Exempted Village Sch. Dist. Bd. of Ed., 69 Ohio St.3d 114, 118 (1994) (confirming that the waiver rule of sentence one of the 1985 version of Civ. R. 53 applied only to findings of fact by referee). The wording of the waiver rule of sentence one of Juv. R. 40(E)(6) was modified slightly effective July 1, 1992. See 64 Ohio St.3d cxlv (1992); In re McClure, 1995 WL 423391, No. 7-95-2 (3d Dist. Ct. App., 7-19-95) (applying 1992 version of the waiver rule of sentence one of Juv. R. 40(E)(6)). The present waiver rule, which applies to both findings of fact and conclusions of law, took effect July 1, 1995, and represents a complete reversal of the position of the original Juv. R. 40. See State ex rel. Booher v. Honda of America Mfg., Inc., 88 Ohio St. 3d 52 (2000) (confirming that the waiver rule of sentence four of Civ. R. 53(E)(3)(b), which is identical to the waiver rule of sentence four of Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(b), now applies to conclusions of law as well as to findings of fact by a magistrate).

The amendment thus makes three changes in Juv. R. 40(E), none of which are intended to modify the substantive scope or effect of the waiver rule contained in sentence four of former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(b) [now division (E)(3)(d)]. First, the amendment retains, but breaks into three appropriately-titled subdivisions, the four sentences which comprised former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(b). Sentences two and three of former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(b) are included in a new subdivision (c) entitled "Objections to magistrate's findings of fact." Sentence four of former Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(b), which prescribes the waiver rule, is a new subdivision (d) entitled "Waiver of right to assign adoption by court as error on appeal."

Second, new language is inserted at the beginning of Juv. R. 40(E)(3)(a) to make it more evident that a party may properly file timely objections to a magistrate's decision even if the trial court has previously adopted that decision as permitted by Juv. R. 40(E)(4)(c).

Third, the amendment adds a new sentence to Juv. R. 40(E)(2), which sentence requires that a magistrate who files a decision which includes findings of fact and conclusions of law also provide a conspicuous warning that timely and specific objection as required by Juv. R. 40(E)(3) is necessary to assign as error on appeal adoption by the trial court of any finding of fact or conclusion of law. It is ordinarily assumed that rule language which prescribes a procedural requirement (see, e.g., sentence six of Civ. R. 51(A), which is analogous to the waiver rule of sentence four of Juv. R. 40(E)(3)) constitutes sufficient notice to counsel and to pro se litigants of that requirement. The Committee nonetheless concluded that the additional provision requiring that a magistrate's decision that includes findings of fact and conclusions of law call attention of counsel and pro se litigants to the waiver rule is justified because, as noted above, the original version of Juv. R. 40 imposed no waiver at all and even the 1985 and 1992 versions imposed waiver only as to findings of fact by referees.

Appellant, who failed to file objections to a magistrate's decision as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(D)(3)(b)(iv), failed to demonstrate that the magistrate committed plain error in accepting appellant's admission in a juvenile delinquency proceeding without first informing appellant that he had the right to subpoena witnesses; instead, the magistrate substantially complied with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) by informing appellant of the consequences of his plea and advising him that he was giving up the opportunity to question witnesses, to remain silent, and to call his own witnesses. Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D) does not require a magistrate to inform an appellant of his right to subpoena witnesses. In re T.K.W., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1205, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1026 (Mar. 13, 2007).

Although a juvenile failed to object to a magistrate's determination in his delinquency matter, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(D)(3)(b)(i), the exception to waiver under Rule 40(D)(4) applied, as the magistrate committed prejudicial, plain error under Ohio R. Crim. P. 52 when she failed to personally address the juvenile to ascertain that he voluntarily, knowingly, and intelligently waived his rights as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 29(D). The magistrate's reliance on counsel's statement that he had explained the waiver of rights to the juvenile was improper, as was reliance on the juvenile's written waiver form, such that there was no substantial compliance with Rule 29(D). In re Tabler, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 411, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 366 (Jan. 29, 2007).

Even if a mother had not waived her right to challenge a decision granting legal custody of her children to their grandparents by failing to file the objections required by former Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(4)(c); the record supported the grant of legal custody to the grandparents as the evidence showed that the children were doing well in the grandparents' home, that the children were attending school on a regular basis, and that the mother's progress on her case plan was slow. In re Christopher M., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 1040, — N.E.2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 975 (Mar. 9, 2007).

In a child custody matter, a mother did not affirmatively demonstrate, under either Ohio R. Juv. P. 40 or Ohio R. Civ. P. 53, that a trial court did not independently review a magistrate's recommendations, because the absence of language in the trial court's judgment that it had conducted such an independent review was insufficient to make this showing. In re Taylor G., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1992, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1824 (Apr. 21, 2006).

Due to a mother's failure to file objections to a magistrate's decision, the trial court only was required to review the magistrate's decision to determine whether an error of law or other defect existed on the face of the magistrate's decision and the trial court found no such defect; the appellate court also found no error of law or other defect on the face of the magistrate's decision. In re K.X., Ohio App. 3d, 2005 Ohio 3791, N.E.2d, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3489 (July 26, 2005).

Trial court did not err in overruling the father's objections to the magistrate's decision that permanent custody of the father's children was in the children's best interest, because the father's objections did not satisfy the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 40 as the father failed to include a transcript of the magistrate hearing; also the father raised the identical issues that were overruled by the trial court in the direct appeal. In re Davis, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 411, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 357 (Feb. 4, 2005).

Because the father failed to submit the transcript or affidavit of the hearing before the magistrate, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(c), the trial court was required to accept as true the magistrate's findings of fact regarding the father's unsuitability to parent his child. In re : M. O., — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E.2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 238 (Jan. 26, 2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in designating a father as the residential parent of his two minor child where a magistrate found that the children were suffering from mental ailments as a result of the one-sided war prosecuted by the mother against the father, and the mother had engaged in what the magistrate referred to as the worst sort of parental alienation in that the mother had created an alternate sphere of reality, and had convinced the children they were victims of abuse, and where the mother's objections were vague, and did not meet the requirements for specificity, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40. Allen v. Murphy, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 2578, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2285 (May 17, 2004).

Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(4)(b) provides that a trial court shall rule on objections to a magistrate's decision and that a trial court may adopt, reject, or modify a magistrate's decision, hear additional evidence, recommit the matter to the magistrate with instructions, or hear the matter itself. A trial court is not required to hear additional evidence prior to ruling on objections. In re R.N., 2004 Ohio 4420, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 4010 (2004).

Because the materials before the trial court, when it ruled on the mother's objections to the magistrate's decision finding that the Children Services Board was not required to make reasonable efforts to eliminate the continued removal of the four children from the mother's home, did not specify the law under which the mother lost her parental rights with respect to the children's siblings, the validity of the trial court's proceedings was presumed. In re T.W., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 4332, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 3928 (Aug. 18, 2004).

Denial of a father's motion for shared parenting for there being no change in child's or mother's circumstances as required by Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 3109.04(E)(1)(a) was not abuse of discretion; the father failed to preserve the argument by properly objecting to a magistrate's decision under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(c), (d), but the denial of his motion was supported by the evidence. Muirhead v. Boyd, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 6901, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 6238 (Dec. 19, 2003).

The magistrate's noncompliance with JuvR 29(D) constituted plain error, rendering inapplicable the waiver of JuvR 40(E)(3)(b): In re Etter, 134 Ohio App. 3d 484, 731 N.E.2d 694, 1998 Ohio App. LEXIS 2571 (1998).

The court did not comply with JuvR 4 and 29 when it adopted the referee's report and proposed entry without sufficient findings to enable the court to make an independent determination that the juvenile properly waived counsel and entered an admission: In re Montgomery, 117 Ohio App. 3d 696, 691 N.E.2d 349, 1997 Ohio App. LEXIS 35 (1997).

An entry merely incorporating the recommendations of a referee's report does not suffice as a judgment. The report and the entry are to be separate and distinct instruments. In re Zakov, 107 Ohio App. 3d 716, 669 N.E.2d 344, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 6111 (1995).

The mother of the victim of the delinquent act was never specifically designated by the court as a "party," making her objections to the referee's report a nullity. There is an appearance of unfairness where a hearing on objections is conducted without defense counsel present. In re Ross, 107 Ohio App. 3d 35, 667 N.E.2d 1012, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 4791 (1995).

Although reports of referees may frequently be adopted by the trial court, JuvR 40 does not contemplate that the trial court rubber-stamp all reports by referees. In re Bradford, 30 Ohio App. 3d 87, 506 N.E.2d 925, 30 Ohio B. 185, 1986 Ohio App. LEXIS 10034 (1986).

Appeal

Trial court properly adopted a magistrate's custody determination regarding parties' two children where neither party filed objections, and as the trial court thereafter denied the mother's out-of-time objections, the waiver rule of Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(d) applied for purposes of her appeal, such that the custody issue was not reviewable. In re L.G., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 591, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 545 (Feb. 12, 2007).

Because the father failed to file objections to the magistrate's decision which recommended granting permanent custody of his children to the agency, he waived his right to assign as error on appeal the trial court's adoption of the magistrate's decision. Although the father was required to file objections within 14 days of the magistrate's decision, the father did not file objections despite having been advised in a written document of that right. In re Williams, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2082, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1934 (Apr. 30, 2007).

Since a mother did not appeal from a trial court's award of permanent custody, res judicata barred the mother from challenging in her appeal from the trial court's later decision dismissing her motion for alternative disposition the trial court's award of permanent custody. Even if the mother had asserted assignments of error addressing the trial court's adoption of the magistrate's decision, the mother failed to file objections to the decision, and thus, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(d), she was precluded from assigning as error the trial court's adoption of the findings of fact and conclusions of law from that decision. In re K.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3104, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2967 (June 20, 2006).

Since a mother's failure to file objections to the magistrate's decision (and attendant failure to file a transcript with the lower court) prevented the trial court from independently reviewing the error that the mother assigned on appeal, the appellate court's analysis was limited to a review of the trial court's actions in light of the facts reflected in the magistrate's decision. Hence, even though the record on appeal contained a transcript of the proceedings before the magistrate, the appellate court was precluded from considering the transcript on appeal. In re Whaley, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4535, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4512 (Sept. 1, 2006).

Father did not preserve the issue for appeal, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(d), because he failed to specifically object to the preponderance of the evidence standard which the magistrate issued to terminate his visitation rights. Instead, he objected to the result reached when applying the preponderance of evidence standard, not to the use of the standard itself. Antoine v. Lannom, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2354, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2218 (May 10, 2006).

Since a mother failed to raise any objections to the magistrate's custody decision, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(d), she waived for purposes of appeal the issue of the propriety of the custody decision. In re T.C., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5504, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5489 (Oct. 23, 2006).

Pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(D)(3)(a) and Ohio R. Civ. P. 53(D)(3)(b), where a juvenile was adjudicated as delinquent and was thereafter found guilty of committing probation violations, which decisions were adopted by the trial court from a magistrate's determinations, and the juvenile failed to file objections to the magistrate's decision with respect to the failure of the magistrate to appoint a guardian ad litem for him and to determine whether the juvenile's waiver of the right to counsel was voluntary, intelligent, or knowing, he waived any challenge on those issues on appeal except as to possible plain error. In re J-M, — Ohio App. 3d —, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 6131 (Nov. 22, 2006).

Where father's objections to a magistrate's decision, requiring him to have supervised visitation with the parties' daughter, were not specific with respect to issues regarding a psychologist's evaluation, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(b) and (d), they were waived for purposes of review. DePaul v. Phillips, 2005 Ohio 6784, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 6116 (2005).

Since a minor failed to file objections, as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(d), to a magistrate's decision finding the minor delinquent and recommending that he be committed to the legal custody of the youth services department for six months, he waived his right to assign the trial court's adoption of the decision as error on appeal. In re J.H., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 2398, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 2297 (May 18, 2005).

Where appellant, a juvenile, filed objections to a magistrate's decision and recommendation, which found that the juvenile should be adjudicated as a delinquent child, and the trial court overruled the juvenile's objections and adopted the magistrate's decision, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(4)(b), the decision by the trial court was a judgment entry which ruled on the juvenile's objections, and inclusion of the "adoption" language was merely a reiteration of a prior judgment by the trial court; accordingly, the prior judgment clearly satisfied the requirements for determination of the action pursuant to Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2505.02(B)(1) as a final, appealable order, as it was detailed in indicating why the decision of the magistrate was adopted. In re Cox, 2005 Ohio 3899, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3565 (2005).

Appellate court could not determine whether a magistrate's decision was contrary to the evidence as a mother failed to object to the magistrate's decision as required by Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3) and Ohio R. Civ. P. 53(E)(3) and failed to file a transcript of the hearing before the magistrate with the trial court. The appellate court could not consider the supplemental transcript filed by the mother as the trial court did not have the opportunity to review it before determining whether to adopt the magistrate's decision. In re K.X., Ohio App. 3d, 2005 Ohio 3791, N.E.2d, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3489 (July 26, 2005).

Since a mother failed to object to a trial court's adoption of a magistrate's decision holding her in contempt for taking a child dependency exemption in violation of an agreed judgment, she waived all but plain error on appellate review; the case required application of plain error to prevent a manifest miscarriage of justice, and the mother's appellate argument was precluded. In re Moore, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 747, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 725 (Feb. 24, 2005).

Although a dispositional hearing was required by Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.353(E)(2), based upon the fact that a county agency had petitioned for permanent custody of two minor children, because a grandmother failed to file an objection to a magistrate's determination, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(b), the error was not properly preserved for appellate review. In re McCann, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 283, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 260 (Jan. 26, 2004).

Mother's assertions that the trial court erred in terminating her parental rights were not preserved for review where she failed to object to the alleged errors. In re K.M., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5781, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5146 (Oct. 29, 2003).

When, in a child support enforcement proceeding, an obligor father complained, on appeal, that the enforcement agency did not provide him with an accounting, as the trial court had ordered it to do, the father waived this objection, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(b), by not raising it in the trial court within 14 days after a magistrate issued her decision in the father's case. Jones v. Bowens, 2003 Ohio 5224, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4671 (2003).

Juvenile defendant waived all but plain error where she failed to object to a magistrate's decision accepting her admission to charges of delinquency; the judgment was affirmed where defendant failed to show plain error in the magistrate's decision. In re Harper, 2003 Ohio 6666, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5962 (2003).

Where a magistrate awarded a father the income tax dependency exemption for the parties' child and the mother objected, a resolution of the issue necessarily involved a factual analysis of evidence presented before the magistrate and the mother was required to support her objection with a transcript of the proceedings, however, as she failed to do so, she did not preserve the issue for appellate review and was precluded from raising this issue on appeal and, thus, the appellate court did not reach the merits of her argument. Adkins v. Doss, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 7174, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 6622 (Dec. 31, 2003).

Appellate court could not review an objection to the magistrate's finding that the father was underemployed voluntarily and hid income and assets, as the father failed to provide the transcript of the magistrate's proceeding to the trial court; the trial court's requirement of child support was not an abuse of discretion and was affirmed. Howard v. Howard, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5683, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5068 (Oct. 24, 2003).

Where a father failed to object to findings of fact and the conclusions made by a magistrate in a permanent custody and parental rights termination proceeding, he could not assign them as error on appeal pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(b) and accordingly, his claim that some of the findings and conclusions were not supported by the evidence was not reviewable; an appellate court's review of the decision of a magistrate is limited to those issues for which a party filed objections, and such objections are to be filed within 14 days of the magistrate's decision being filed. In re Kincer, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 6356, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 5689 (Nov. 24, 2003).

Parents were deemed to have waived two issues pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(b) by failing to raise them in their objection to a magistrate's decision to terminate parental rights; the parents failed to claim that appointing a guardian ad litem as the children's attorney represented a conflict of interest and that the children's services board failed to comply with Ohio Admin. Code § 5101:2-42-96(D). In re Sessoms, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5281, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4775 (Oct. 6, 2003).

Under JuvR 40, appellant's failure to object to the magistrate's findings of fact precludes appellant from raising matters on appeal that are directly related to those findings of fact and which form the basis of those findings although appellant is not challenging those findings directly. In re Williams, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 2672 (3rd Dist. 1995).

Appeal by state

There is no double jeopardy problem where the state appeals adverse findings of referees so long as there is no trial de novo before a juvenile judge and no new evidence may be introduced by the prosecution without consent of the juvenile. Swisher v. Brady, 438 U.S. 204, 57 L. Ed. 2d 705, 98 S. Ct. 2699, 1978 U.S. LEXIS 4 (1978).

Authority of juvenile judge

Juvenile Rule 40 permits a juvenile judge to appoint one or more referees and by order of reference to direct the referee to hear a specific case or a class of cases. But CFSupR 4 requires that the judge, to whom the case is assigned, be "primarily responsible for the determination of every issue and proceeding in the case until its termination". In re Leonhardt, 62 Ohio Misc. 2d 783, 610 N.E.2d 1238, 1993 Ohio Misc. LEXIS 7 (CP 1993).

A juvenile judge has no authority to commit the trial of a criminal charge against an adult to a referee and any proceedings so committed are null and void. State v. Eddington, 52 Ohio App. 2d 312, 369 N.E.2d 1054, 6 Ohio Op. 3d 317, 1976 Ohio App. LEXIS 5915 (1976).

Compatibility of offices

A person may serve as a part-time administrative hearing officer for a county child support enforcement agency and part-time magistrate of a court of common pleas in an adjacent county, provided that as a magistrate she does not preside over cases involving the child support enforcement agency that employs her as an administrative hearing officer. (1989 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 89-072, distinguished.) Opinion No. 2005-022 (2005).

Confidential records

A referee's release of allegedly confidential records without review by the court is improper. Sharpe v. Sharpe, 85 Ohio App. 3d 638, 620 N.E.2d 916, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 1897 (1993).

Continuance

When a magistrate presiding over a juvenile delinquency proceeding granted appellant juvenile's motion for acquittal after denying the State's motion for a continuance to allow a key witness to appear, and a trial court sustained the State's objection to that ruling, it was not a violation of double jeopardy to remand the matter to the magistrate for a continuation of appellant's trial because, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(D)(4)(a), the magistrate's decision was not effective until it was adopted by the trial court, and the trial court's decision was not an attempt to punish appellant a second time for the same crime. Brown v. State, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 4791, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 4698 (Sept. 11, 2006).

Custody

Even if a mother never agreed to a magistrate's interim custody order, she was incorrect that custody would default to her pursuant to RC § 3109.042, instead, custody defaulted to the father, pursuant to the magistrate's Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(4)(c) temporary order naming the father the custodial parent. Goeller v. Moore, 2005 Ohio 292, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 249 (2005).

Because the mother failed to challenge the grounds for the emergency removal below, she could not argue that the agency failed to make reasonable efforts to prevent the child's removal. In re Lewis, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 5262, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 4763 (Sept. 25, 2003).

The court's failure to prepare and serve the referee's report after the change-of-custody hearing vitiated that hearing. A litigant is entitled to an opportunity to object to the referee's findings of fact. In re Wright, 88 Ohio App. 3d 539, 624 N.E.2d 347, 1993 Ohio App. LEXIS 3441 (1993).

Defamation

As any magistrate's decision rendered in a minor's juvenile delinquency proceedings had absolutely no effect whatsoever, even if it contained recommendations regarding the minor's ultimate level of culpability for the counts with which he was originally charged, the trial court abused its discretion when it found a mother was entitled to judgment as a matter of law on the minor's father's defamation claim based on the substantial truth of the mother's statements that the minor was "a convicted sexual offender." Roe v. Heap, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2004 Ohio 2504, — N.E. 2d —, 2004 Ohio App. LEXIS 2093 (May 11, 2004).

Discretion of court

When objections based on the sufficiency or weight of the evidence are filed to a referee's report and recommendations and a transcript is ordered, a trial court does not have the discretion to overrule the objections and to adopt the referee's report without reviewing and considering the transcript. In re Moorehead, 75 Ohio App. 3d 711, 600 N.E.2d 778, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 4121 (1991).

Where a party objects to the report based on the manifest weight of the evidence, it is an abuse of discretion for the court to deny a request for a transcript without stating a substantial reason. In re Swain, 68 Ohio App. 3d 737, 589 N.E.2d 483, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 73 (1991).

Due process

Where a juvenile court granted extensions to allow a father to file supplemental objections to a magistrate's decision, but the father failed to do so, the juvenile court did not violate Ohio R. Juv. P. 40 or the father's due process rights in entering a custody order well after the time for filing had expired. In re Ballard, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 3233, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 2900 (June 20, 2003).

Evidence

There was no apparent error on the face of the magistrate's decision terminating the father's visitations rights, based on allegations that the father's live-in boyfriend had sexually abused the younger son, that the trial court ignored. The evidence which the trial court elected to credit comfortably satisfied the standard of showing extraordinary circumstances. Antoine v. Lannom, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 2354, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 2218 (May 10, 2006).

Hearing

Juvenile Rule 40(D) does not mandate a hearing whenever objections and an affidavit about evidence have been filed: In re Zindle, 107 Ohio App. 3d 342, 668 N.E.2d 969, 1995 Ohio App. LEXIS 4977 (1995).

By adopting the referee's report and recommendation "as is," without conducting an evidentiary hearing pursuant to JuvR 40(D)(2), the court perfunctorily approved a deficient report without making an independent analysis. Thus the judgment is void: In the Matter of Carlson, 1990 Ohio App. LEXIS 4894 (11th Dist. 1990).

Interim orders

Because the trial court never adopted the magistrate's decision, as required by former Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E), which required the trial court to "adopt, reject, or modify" the magistrate's decision, the child support order never became a final judgment of the trial court and ceased to have any effect after the expiration of the interim order. Therefore, no material facts remained in dispute and the mother was entitled to judgment as a matter of law regarding any child support which had accrued as a result of any of the judgment entries issued after the interim order expired on February 25, 2002. State ex rel. Rangel v. Woodbury, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 2151, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 1998 (May 3, 2007).

Interim order from a magistrate is only valid for 28 days, for the purpose of an interim order is to govern the actions of the parties until the court enters a final judgment; at the end of the 28 days, the judge must do one of the following: (1) extend the interim order for one more 28 day period, (2) if no objections to the magistrate's decision have been filed, adopt, reject, or modify the magistrate's decision and enter judgment accordingly, or (3) if objections to the magistrate's decision have been filed, rule on the objections and adopt, reject, or modify the magistrate's decision and enter judgment accordingly. Regardless, once the court enters an order ruling on a party's objections and adopting, rejecting, or modifying the magistrate's decision, the interim order expires by operation of law. Steven D.C. v. Carrie Anne P., 2005 Ohio 3858, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 3548 (2005).

Judicial code of conduct

A juvenile court referee is an officer of the judicial system who performs judicial functions as outlined in CivR 53 and JuvR 40. The Judicial Code of Conduct, therefore, applies to juvenile court referees. Where a juvenile court referee is unable to be impartial, he should disqualify himself from the case. As a matter of law, where a referee affirmatively states that he is biased on the matter before him, it is an abuse of the court's discretion to fail to recuse the referee: In re Reiner, 74 Ohio App. 3d 213, 598 N.E.2d 768, 1991 Ohio App. LEXIS 2122 (1991).

Magistrate's findings

Absent a review of all of the evidence presented to the magistrate, the trial court lacked a sufficient basis to disregard the magistrate's findings and to render its own: In re L.R.T., 165 Ohio App. 3d 77, 2006 Ohio 207, 844 N.E. 2d 914, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 173 (2006).

Order of reference

Juvenile Rule 40 does not require a specific journalized order of reference. An order authorizing a magistrate to "hear and recommend dispositions on official cases assigned to him as the court shall direct" was sufficient: State ex rel. Nalls v. Russo, 96 Ohio St. 3d 410, 2002 Ohio 4907, 775 N.E.2d 522, 2002 Ohio LEXIS 2398 (2002).

Pro se litigants

Pro se father, who was a convicted child sex offender, failed to state his objections to a magistrate's decision with specificity or particularity Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3) requires, and pro se civil litigants are not to be accorded greater rights than if represented by counsel. In re Tracy, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2003 Ohio 3781, — N.E. 2d —, 2003 Ohio App. LEXIS 3425 (July 3, 2003).

Sentencing decision

When a magistrate took the disposition of a juvenile delinquency case under advisement, after conducting adjudicatory and dispositional hearings, and then issued a sentencing decision without holding a hearing, the subject juvenile did not waive his assignments of error related to the manner in which he was sentenced by not filing objections to the magistrate's decision, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3), because he did not contest any findings of fact or conclusions of law entered by the magistrate, but, rather, only contested the manner of his sentencing. In re Gibson, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5145, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5109 (Oct. 2, 2006).

Supplemental report

Where a juvenile, adjudged to be delinquent by a referee, files objections to the referee's report, and where the court then reserves judgment on the objections and requests the referee to supply a statement as to the evidence in the hearing, and where a supplemental report of the referee is then filed with court, but no copy of the supplemental report is served on the juvenile or his counsel, it is error for the court to then approve the referee's report, as supplemented, for the juvenile was not given an opportunity to object to the supplemental report in compliance with JuvR 40(D): In re Weimer, 19 Ohio App. 3d 130, 483 N.E.2d 173, 19 Ohio B. 219, 1984 Ohio App. LEXIS 12506 (1984).

Termination of parental rights

There was no error in failing to commence the permanent custody hearing (Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.414) anew after counsel was appointed for the children, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 4 and Ohio Rev. Code Ann. § 2151.352, because the conflict between the guardian ad litem's recommendation and the children's wishes only became apparent after the hearing had commenced; the error was waived since the mother failed to object, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(3)(a)(i); the attorney declined the opportunity to call other witnesses who had testified at the earlier hearing, with full knowledge of what those witnesses had said, because the attorney was provided a transcript of that earlier hearing; and after the attorney was appointed to represent the children, the mother could no longer claim standing to object that the children's rights in the subsequent proceedings were violated. In re R.E., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 1256, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 1145 (Mar. 17, 2006).

Time limitations

As a father's objections to a magistrate's decision involving the date that child support was to commence were clearly untimely under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(a) and Ohio R. Civ. P. 53(E)(3), warranting dismissal thereof by the juvenile court, and the father he did not seek to enlarge the time within which to file objections pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 18(B) and Ohio R. Civ. P. 6(B), his time to appeal was not extended by the objections. His failure to appeal within 30 days of the juvenile court's adoption of the magistrate's decision did not preserve his merit issue for appellate review under Ohio R. App. P. 4(A). In re D.K.K., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5576, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5590 (Oct. 20, 2006).

Transcript

Although the grandparents' arguments challenged the magistrate's proceedings, neither of their two motions to set aside the entries of the magistrate was accompanied by a transcript of the evidence relevant to their claims, nor did they explain why a transcript was not available so that an affidavit of that evidence could be presented. Their reliance on two personal affidavits which were attached to their motion and response was misplaced because the affidavits failed to satisfy the requirements of the Ohio Rules of Civil Procedure and the Juvenile Rules for the support of challenges to the factual findings of a magistrate. In re I. S., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2007 Ohio 47, — N.E. 2d —, 2007 Ohio App. LEXIS 42 (Jan. 10, 2007).

In reviewing the decision of a magistrate granting permanent custody of a child to an agency, it was reversible error, under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(b), for a trial court to overrule that decision without reviewing the entire transcript of the dispositional hearing at which that order was entered. In re L.R.T., 165 Ohio App. 3d 77, 2006 Ohio 207, 844 N.E. 2d 914, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 173 (Jan. 23, 2006).

Trial court properly denied objections of a father in a permanent custody proceeding to the findings and decision of a magistrate who recommended the grant of custody to the county agency, as the father failed to file a transcript with the trial court pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(c); accordingly, the matter had not been properly perfected for appeal. In re Edwards, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 3990, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 3919 (Aug. 3, 2006).

Where the state did not demonstrate that a transcript of a competency hearing was unavailable and the state's affidavit was fatally flawed, the transcript did not comply with the requirements of Ohio R. Juv. P. 40(E)(3)(c); consequently, the trial court erred in rejecting a magistrate's decision that found a juvenile incompetent to stand trial. In re E.B., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 401, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 442 (Feb. 3, 2005).

Vacation of judgment

As a trial court had not ruled on a minor child's mother's objections to a magistrate's decision, which had granted legal custody of the child to the maternal aunt and uncle, the decision was not a final order and a motion to vacate under Ohio R. Civ. P. 60(B) was not proper; however, the trial court had jurisdiction to vacate, modify, or adopt the magistrate's decision pursuant to the mother's pending objections under Ohio R. Juv. P. 40. In re Murphy, — Ohio App. 3d —, 2006 Ohio 5527, — N.E. 2d —, 2006 Ohio App. LEXIS 5518 (Oct. 17, 2006).

Visiting judge

There was plain error in the journal entry transferring the permanent custody case to the docket of the visiting judge signed by a magistrate because, pursuant to Ohio R. Juv. P. 40 and Ohio R. Juv. P. 9, the magistrate was not empowered to refer cases to a visiting judge. Additionally, there was no notice of judicial approval by the sitting judge assigned the case. In re S.J., — Ohio App. 3d —, 2005 Ohio 1854, — N.E. 2d —, 2005 Ohio App. LEXIS 1763 (Apr. 21, 2005).

RULE 41. [Reserved]

RULE 42. Consent to marry

(A) Application where parental consent not required. When a minor desires to contract matrimony and has no parent, guardian, or custodian whose consent to the marriage is required by law, the minor shall file an application under oath in the county where the female resides requesting that the judge of the juvenile court give consent and approbation in the probate court for such marriage.

(B) Contents of application. The application required by division (A) of this rule shall contain all of the following:

- (1) The name and address of the person for whom consent is sought;
- (2) The age of the person for whom consent is sought;
- (3) The reason why consent of a parent is not required;
- (4) The name and address, if known, of the parent, where the minor alleges that parental consent is unnecessary because the parent has neglected or abandoned the child for at least one year immediately preceding the application.

(C) Application where female pregnant or delivered of child born out of wedlock. Where a female is pregnant or delivered of a child born out of wedlock and the parents of such child seek to marry even though one or both of them is under the minimum age prescribed by law for persons who may contract marriage, such persons shall file an application under oath in the county where the female resides requesting that the judge of the juvenile court give consent in the probate court to such marriage.

(D) Contents of application. The application required by subdivision (C) shall contain:

- (1) The name and address of the person or persons for whom consent is sought;
- (2) The age of such person;
- (3) An indication of whether the female is pregnant or has already been delivered;
- (4) An indication of whether or not any applicant under eighteen years of age is already a ward of the court; and
- (5) Any other facts which may assist the court in determining whether to consent to such marriage.

If pregnancy is asserted, a certificate from a physician verifying pregnancy shall be attached to the application. If an illegitimate child has been delivered, the birth certificate of such child shall be attached.

The consent to the granting of the application by each parent whose consent to the marriage is required by law shall be indorsed on the application.

(E) Investigation. Upon receipt of an application under subdivision (C), the court shall set a date and time for hearing thereon at its earliest convenience and shall direct that an inquiry be made as to the circumstances surrounding the applicants.

(F) Notice. If neglect or abandonment is alleged in an application under subdivision (A) and the address of the parent is known, the court shall cause notice of the date and time of hearing to be served upon such parent.

(G) Judgment. If the court finds that the allegations stated in the application are true, and that the granting of the application is in the best interest of the applicants, the court shall grant the consent and shall make the applicant referred to in subdivision (C) a ward of the court.

(H) Certified copy. A certified copy of the judgment entry shall be transmitted to the probate court.

Minors

A minor youth who has been committed to the department of youth services pursuant to RC § § 2151.35.5 and 5139.05 and who wishes to get married must first obtain consent, as required by the applicable provisions of RC § 3101.01 and JuvR 42, from one or both parents, from one of the alternative authorities named in RC § 3101.01, or from the juvenile court as provided in JuvR 42(A). Pursuant to RC § 3101.01 and JuvR 42(A), the department of youth services has no authority to either consent or withhold consent to the marriage of a minor committed to the legal custody of the department: OAG No. 89-046 (1989).

RULE 43. Reference to Ohio Revised Code

A reference in these rules to a section of the Revised Code shall mean the section as amended from time to time including the enactment of additional sections, the numbers of which are subsequent to the section referred to in the rules.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Jurisdiction

The juvenile court has exclusive original jurisdiction, pursuant to RC § 2151.23(A), concerning any child who is alleged in a proper complaint to be neglected, and the court does not lose jurisdiction by failing to adhere to the time limits set forth in JuvR 29(A) and 34(A): Linger v. Weiss, 57 Ohio St. 2d 97, 386 N.E.2d 1354, 11 Ohio Op. 3d 281, 1979 Ohio LEXIS 373 (1979).

RULE 45. Rules by juvenile courts; procedure not otherwise specified

(A) Local rules. The juvenile court may adopt rules concerning local practice that are not inconsistent with these rules. Local rules shall be adopted only after the court gives appropriate notice and an opportunity for comment. If the court determines that there is an immediate need for a rule, the court may adopt the rule without prior notice and opportunity for comment but promptly shall afford notice and opportunity for comment. Local rules shall be filed with the Supreme Court.

(B) Procedure not otherwise specified. If no procedure is specifically prescribed by these rules or local rule, the court shall proceed in any lawful manner not inconsistent with these rules or local rule.

RULE 45 RULES BY JUVENILE COURTS; PROCEDURE NOT OTHERWISE SPECIFIED

Division (A) has been added to permit juvenile courts to develop local rules not inconsistent with the Ohio Rules of Juvenile Procedure. This provision is consistent with similar changes in Civ. R. 83 and App. R. 31.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Generally

Inasmuch as JuvR 22(A) provides that a party may move "for other appropriate relief," a juvenile presumably may move to limit the court's use of social histories before and during the adjudication. If it does not authorize such relief, then JuvR 45 provides the procedure when no procedure is specifically prescribed: J. P. v. DeSanti, 653 F.2d 1080, 1981 U.S. App. LEXIS 11411 (6th Cir. 1981).

RULE 46. Forms

The forms contained in the Appendix of Forms which the supreme court from time to time may approve are illustrative and not mandatory.

RULE 47. Effective Date

(A) Effective date of rules. These rules shall take effect on first day of July, 1972. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the rules take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(B) Effective date of amendments. The amendments submitted by the Supreme Court to the General Assembly on January 12, 1973, shall take effect on the first day of July, 1973. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application is a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(C) Effective date of amendments. The amendments submitted by the Supreme Court to the General Assembly on January 10, 1975, and on April 29, 1975, shall take effect on July 1, 1975. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(D) Effective date of amendments. The amendments submitted by the Supreme Court to the General Assembly on January 9, 1976 shall take effect on July 1, 1976. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(E) Effective date of amendments. The amendments submitted by the Supreme Court to the General Assembly on January 14, 1980, shall take effect on July 1, 1980. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(F) Effective date of amendments. The amendments submitted by the Supreme Court to the General Assembly on December 24, 1984 and January 8, 1985 shall take effect on July 1, 1985. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(G) Effective date of amendments. The amendments submitted by the Supreme Court to the General Assembly on January 10, 1991 shall take effect on July 1, 1991. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(H) Effective date of amendments. The amendments filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 14, 1992 and further filed on April 30, 1992, shall take effect on July 1, 1992. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all future proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(I) Effective date of amendments. The amendments filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 14, 1994 and further revised and filed on April 29, 1994 shall take effect on July 1, 1994. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all future proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(J) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Rules 1, 4, and 40 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 11, 1995 and further revised and filed on April 25, 1995 shall take effect on July 1, 1995. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(K) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Rules 6, 8, 13, 27, 34, 36, and 37 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 5, 1996 and refiled on April 26, 1996 shall take effect on July 1, 1996. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(L) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Rule 30 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 10, 1997 and refiled on April 24, 1997 shall take effect on July 1, 1997. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(M) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Rules 2, 4, 10, 11, 15, 16, 29, 39, and 40 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 15, 1998 and further revised and refiled on April 30, 1998 shall take effect on July 1, 1998. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(N) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Juvenile Rules 2, 7, 8, 10, 15, 22, 27, 29, 37, and 40 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 12, 2001, and revised and refiled on April 26, 2001, shall take effect on July 1, 2001. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(O) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Juvenile Rules 2, 10, 15, and 34 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 11, 2002, and refiled on April 18, 2002 shall take effect on July 1, 2002. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(P) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Juvenile Rule 40 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 9, 2003 and refiled on April 28, 2003, shall take effect on July 1, 2003. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(Q) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Juvenile Rule 29 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 7, 2004 and refiled on April 28, 2004 shall take effect on July 1, 2004. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

(R) Effective date of amendments. The amendments to Juvenile Rule 40 filed by the Supreme Court with the General Assembly on January 12, 2006 shall take effect on July 1, 2006. They govern all proceedings in actions brought after they take effect and also all further proceedings in actions then pending, except to the extent that their application in a particular action pending when the amendments take effect would not be feasible or would work injustice, in which event the former procedure applies.

CHAPTER 121: STATE DEPARTMENTS

[SPANISH-SPEAKING AFFAIRS]

§ 121.37 Family and children first cabinet council; county or regional councils; county service coordination mechanism and comprehensive joint service plan.

(A)(1) There is hereby created the Ohio family and children first cabinet council. The council shall be composed of the superintendent of public instruction and the directors of youth services, job and family services, mental health, health, alcohol and drug addiction services, mental retardation and developmental disabilities, and budget and management. The chairperson of the council shall be the governor or the governor's designee and shall establish procedures for the council's internal control and management.

The purpose of the cabinet council is to help families seeking government services. This section shall not be interpreted or applied to usurp the role of parents, but solely to streamline and coordinate existing government services for families seeking assistance for their children.

(2) In seeking to fulfill its purpose, the council may do any of the following:

(a) Advise and make recommendations to the governor and general assembly regarding the provision of services to children;

(b) Advise and assess local governments on the coordination of service delivery to children;

(c) Hold meetings at such times and places as may be prescribed by the council's procedures and maintain records of the meetings, except that records identifying individual children are confidential and shall be disclosed only as provided by law;

(d) Develop programs and projects, including pilot projects, to encourage coordinated efforts at the state and local level to improve the state's social service delivery system;

(e) Enter into contracts with and administer grants to county family and children first councils, as well as other county or multicounty organizations to plan and coordinate service delivery between state agencies and local service providers for families and children;

(f) Enter into contracts with and apply for grants from federal agencies or private organizations;

(g) Enter into interagency agreements to encourage coordinated efforts at the state and local level to improve the state's social service delivery system. The agreements may include provisions regarding the receipt, transfer, and expenditure of funds;

(h) Identify public and private funding sources for services provided to alleged or adjudicated unruly children and children who are at risk of being alleged or adjudicated unruly children, including regulations governing access to and use of the services;

(i) Collect information provided by local communities regarding successful programs for prevention, intervention, and treatment of unruly behavior, including evaluations of the programs;

(j) Identify and disseminate publications regarding alleged or adjudicated unruly children and children who are at risk of being alleged or adjudicated unruly children and regarding programs serving those types of children;

(k) Maintain an inventory of strategic planning facilitators for use by government or nonprofit entities that serve alleged or adjudicated unruly children or children who are at risk of being alleged or adjudicated unruly children.

(3) The cabinet council shall provide for the following:

(a) Reviews of service and treatment plans for children for which such reviews are requested;

(b) Assistance as the council determines to be necessary to meet the needs of children referred by county family and children first councils;

(c) Monitoring and supervision of a statewide, comprehensive, coordinated, multi-disciplinary, interagency system for infants and toddlers with developmental disabilities or delays and their families, as established pursuant to federal grants received and administered by the department of health for early intervention services under the "Individuals with Disabilities Education Act of 2004," 20 U.S.C.A. 1400, as amended.

(4) The cabinet council shall develop and implement the following:

(a) An interagency process to select the indicators that will be used to measure progress toward increasing child well-being in the state and to update the indicators on an annual basis. The indicators shall focus on expectant parents and newborns thriving; infants and toddlers thriving; children being ready for school; children and youth succeeding in school; youth choosing healthy behaviors; and youth successfully transitioning into adulthood.

(b) An interagency system to offer guidance and monitor progress toward increasing child well-being in the state and in each county;

(c) An annual plan that identifies state-level agency efforts taken to ensure progress towards increasing child well-being in the state.

On an annual basis, the cabinet council shall submit to the governor and the general assembly a report on the status of efforts to increase child well-being in the state. This report shall be made available to any other person on request.

(B)(1) Each board of county commissioners shall establish a county family and children first council. The board may invite any local public or private agency or group that funds, advocates, or provides services to children and families to have a representative become a permanent or temporary member of its county council. Each county council must include the following individuals:

(a) At least three individuals who are not employed by an agency represented on the council and whose families are or have received services from an agency represented on the council or another county's council. Where possible, the number of members representing families shall be equal to twenty per cent of the council's membership.

(b) The director of the board of alcohol, drug addiction, and mental health services that serves the county; or, in the case of a county that has a board of alcohol and drug addiction services and a community mental health board, the directors of both boards. If a board of alcohol, drug addiction, and mental health services covers more than one county, the director may designate a person to participate on the county's council.

(c) The health commissioner, or the commissioner's designee, of the board of health of each city and general health district in the county. If the county has two or more health districts, the health commissioner membership may be limited to the commissioners of the two districts with the largest populations.

(d) The director of the county department of job and family services;

(e) The executive director of the public children services agency;

(f) The superintendent of the county board of mental retardation and developmental disabilities;

(g) The superintendent of the city, exempted village, or local school district with the largest number of pupils residing in the county, as determined by the department of education, which shall notify each board of county commissioners of its determination at least biennially;

(h) A school superintendent representing all other school districts with territory in the county, as designated at a biennial meeting of the superintendents of those districts;

(i) A representative of the municipal corporation with the largest population in the county;

(j) The president of the board of county commissioners, or an individual designated by the board;

(k) A representative of the regional office of the department of youth services;

(l) A representative of the county's head start agencies, as defined in section 3301.32 of the Revised Code;

(m) A representative of the county's early intervention collaborative established pursuant to the federal early intervention program operated under the "Individuals with Disabilities Education Act of 2004";

(n) A representative of a local nonprofit entity that funds, advocates, or provides services to children and families.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the public members of a county council are not prohibited from serving on the council and making decisions regarding the duties of the council, including those involving the funding of joint projects and those outlined in the county's service coordination mechanism implemented pursuant to division (C) of this section.

The cabinet council shall establish a state appeals process to resolve disputes among the members of a county council concerning whether reasonable responsibilities as members are being shared. The appeals process may be accessed only by a majority vote of the council members who are required to serve on the council. Upon appeal, the cabinet council may order that state funds for services to children and families be redirected to a county's board of county commissioners.

The county's juvenile court judge senior in service or another judge of the juvenile court designated by the administrative judge or, where there is no administrative judge, by the judge senior in service shall serve as the judicial advisor to the county family and children first council. The judge may advise the county council on the court's utilization of resources, services, or programs provided by the entities represented by the members of the county council and how those resources, services, or programs assist the court in its administration of justice. Service of a judge as a judicial advisor pursuant to this section is a judicial function.

(2) The purpose of the county council is to streamline and coordinate existing government services for families seeking services for their children. In seeking to fulfill its purpose, a county council shall provide for the following:

(a) Referrals to the cabinet council of those children for whom the county council cannot provide adequate services;

(b) Development and implementation of a process that annually evaluates and prioritizes services, fills service gaps where possible, and invents new approaches to achieve better results for families and children;

(c) Participation in the development of a countywide, comprehensive, coordinated, multi-disciplinary, interagency system for infants and toddlers with developmental disabilities or delays and their families, as established pursuant to federal grants received and administered by the department of health for early intervention services under the "Individuals with Disabilities Education Act of 2004";

(d) Maintenance of an accountability system to monitor the county council's progress in achieving results for families and children;

(e) Establishment of a mechanism to ensure ongoing input from a broad representation of families who are receiving services within the county system.

(3) A county council shall develop and implement the following:

(a) An interagency process to establish local indicators and monitor the county's progress toward increasing child well-being in the county;

(b) An interagency process to identify local priorities to increase child well-being. The local priorities shall focus on expectant parents and newborns thriving; infants and toddlers thriving; children being ready for school; children and youth succeeding in school; youth choosing healthy behaviors; and youth successfully transitioning into adulthood and take into account the indicators established by the cabinet council under division (A)(4)(a) of this section.

(c) An annual plan that identifies the county's interagency efforts to increase child well-being in the county.

On an annual basis, the county council shall submit a report on the status of efforts by the county to increase child well-being in the county to the county's board of county commissioners and the cabinet council. This report shall be made available to any other person on request.

(4)(a) Except as provided in division (B)(4)(b) of this section, a county council shall comply with the policies, procedures, and activities prescribed by the rules or interagency agreements of a state department participating on the cabinet council whenever the county council performs a function subject to those rules or agreements.

(b) On application of a county council, the cabinet council may grant an exemption from any rules or interagency agreements of a state department participating on the council if an exemption is necessary for the council to implement an alternative program or approach for service delivery to families and children. The application shall describe the proposed program or approach and specify the rules or interagency agreements from which an exemption is necessary. The cabinet council shall approve or disapprove the application in accordance with standards and procedures it shall adopt. If an application is approved, the exemption is effective only while the program or approach is being implemented, including a reasonable period during which the program or approach is being evaluated for effectiveness.

(5)(a) Each county council shall designate an administrative agent for the council from among the following public entities: the board of alcohol, drug addiction, and mental health services, including a board of alcohol and drug addiction or a community mental health board if the county is served by separate boards; the board of county commissioners; any board of health of the county's city and general health districts; the county department of job and family services; the county agency responsible for the administration of children services pursuant to section 5153.15 of the Revised Code; the county board of mental retardation and developmental disabilities; any of the county's boards of education or governing boards of educational service centers; or the county's juvenile court. Any of the foregoing public entities, other than the board of county commissioners, may decline to serve as the council's administrative agent.

A county council's administrative agent shall serve as the council's appointing authority for any employees of the council. The council shall file an annual budget with its administrative agent, with copies filed with the county auditor and with the board of county commissioners, unless the board is serving as the council's administrative agent. The council's administrative agent shall ensure that all expenditures are handled in accordance with policies, procedures, and activities prescribed by state departments in rules or interagency agreements that are applicable to the council's functions.

The administrative agent of a county council shall send notice of a member's absence if a member listed in division (B)(1) of this section has been absent from either three consecutive meetings of the county council or a county council subcommittee, or from one-quarter of such meetings in a calendar year, whichever is less. The notice shall be sent to the board of county commissioners that establishes the county council and, for the members listed in divisions (B)(1)(b), (c), (e), and (l) of this section, to the governing board overseeing the respective entity; for the member listed in division (B)(1)(f) of this section, to the county board of mental retardation and developmental disabilities that employs the superintendent; for a member listed in division (B)(1)(g) or (h) of this section, to the school board that employs the superintendent; for the member listed in division (B)(1)(i) of this section, to the mayor of the municipal corporation; for the member listed in division (B)(1)(k) of this section, to the director of youth services; and for the member listed in division (B)(1)(n), to that member's board of trustees.

The administrative agent for a county council may do any of the following on behalf of the council:

(i) Enter into agreements or administer contracts with public or private entities to fulfill specific council business. Such agreements and contracts are exempt from the competitive bidding requirements of section 307.86 of the Revised Code if they have been approved by the county council and they are for the purchase of family and child welfare or child protection services or other social or job and family services for families and children.

The approval of the county council is not required to exempt agreements or contracts entered into under section 5139.34, 5139.41, or 5139.43 of the Revised Code from the competitive bidding requirements of section 307.86 of the Revised Code.

(ii) As determined by the council, provide financial stipends, reimbursements, or both, to family representatives for expenses related to council activity;

(iii) Receive by gift, grant, devise, or bequest any moneys, lands, or other property for the purposes for which the council is established. The agent shall hold, apply, and dispose of the moneys, lands, or other property according to the terms of the gift, grant, devise, or bequest. Any interest or earnings shall be treated in the same manner and are subject to the same terms as the gift, grant, devise, or bequest from which it accrues.

(b)(i) If the county council designates the board of county commissioners as its administrative agent, the board may, by resolution, delegate any of its powers and duties as administrative agent to an executive committee the board establishes from the membership of the county council. The board shall name to the executive committee at least the individuals described in divisions (B)(1)(b) to (h) of this section and may appoint the president of the board or another individual as the chair of the executive committee. The executive committee must include at least one family county council representative who does not have a family member employed by an agency represented on the council.

(ii) The executive committee may, with the approval of the board, hire an executive director to assist the county council in administering its powers and duties. The executive director shall serve in the unclassified civil service at the pleasure of the executive committee. The executive director may, with the approval of the executive committee, hire other employees as necessary to properly conduct the county council's business.

(iii) The board may require the executive committee to submit an annual budget to the board for approval and may amend or repeal the resolution that delegated to the executive committee its authority as the county council's administrative agent.

(6) Two or more county councils may enter into an agreement to administer their county councils jointly by creating a regional family and children first council. A regional council possesses the same duties and authority possessed by a county council, except that the duties and authority apply regionally rather than to individual counties. Prior to entering into an agreement to create a regional council, the members of each county council to be part of the regional council shall meet to determine whether all or part of the members of each county council will serve as members of the regional council.

(7) A board of county commissioners may approve a resolution by a majority vote of the board's members that requires the county council to submit a statement to the board each time the council proposes to enter into an agreement, adopt a plan, or make a decision, other than a decision pursuant to section 121.38 of the Revised Code, that requires the expenditure of funds for two or more families. The statement shall describe the proposed agreement, plan, or decision.

Not later than fifteen days after the board receives the statement, it shall, by resolution approved by a majority of its members, approve or disapprove the agreement, plan, or decision. Failure of the board to pass a resolution during that time period shall be considered approval of the agreement, plan, or decision.

An agreement, plan, or decision for which a statement is required to be submitted to the board shall be implemented only if it is approved by the board.

(C) Each county shall develop a county service coordination mechanism. The county service coordination mechanism shall serve as the guiding document for coordination of services in the county. For children who also receive services under the help me grow program, the service coordination mechanism shall be consistent with rules adopted by the department of health under section 3701.61 of the Revised Code. All family service coordination plans shall be developed in accordance with the county service coordination mechanism. The mechanism shall be developed and approved with the participation of the county entities representing child welfare; mental retardation and developmental disabilities; alcohol, drug addiction, and mental health services; health; juvenile judges; education; the county family and children first council; and the county early intervention collaborative established pursuant to the federal early intervention program operated under the "Individuals with Disabilities Education Act of 2004." The county shall establish an implementation schedule for the mechanism. The cabinet council may monitor the implementation and administration of each county's service coordination mechanism.

Each mechanism shall include all of the following:

(1) A procedure for an agency, including a juvenile court, or a family voluntarily seeking service coordination, to refer the child and family to the county council for service coordination in accordance with the mechanism;

(2) A procedure ensuring that a family and all appropriate staff from involved agencies, including a representative from the appropriate school district, are notified of and invited to participate in all family service coordination plan meetings;

(3) A procedure that permits a family to initiate a meeting to develop or review the family's service coordination plan and allows the family to invite a family advocate, mentor, or support person of the family's choice to participate in any such meeting;

(4) A procedure for ensuring that a family service coordination plan meeting is conducted for each child who receives service coordination under the mechanism and for whom an emergency out-of-home placement has been made or for whom a nonemergency out-of-home placement is being considered. The meeting shall be conducted within ten days of an emergency out-of-home placement. The meeting shall be conducted before a nonemergency out-of-home placement. The family service coordination plan shall outline how the county council members will jointly pay for services, where applicable, and provide services in the least restrictive environment.

(5) A procedure for monitoring the progress and tracking the outcomes of each service coordination plan requested in the county including monitoring and tracking children in out-of-home placements to assure continued progress, appropriateness of placement, and continuity of care after discharge from placement with appropriate arrangements for housing, treatment, and education.

(6) A procedure for protecting the confidentiality of all personal family information disclosed during service coordination meetings or contained in the comprehensive family service coordination plan.

(7) A procedure for assessing the needs and strengths of any child or family that has been referred to the council for service coordination, including a child whose parent or custodian is voluntarily seeking services, and for ensuring that parents and custodians are afforded the opportunity to participate;

(8) A procedure for development of a family service coordination plan described in division (D) of this section;

(9) A local dispute resolution process to serve as the process that must be used first to resolve disputes among the agencies represented on the county council concerning the provision of services to children, including children who are abused, neglected, dependent, unruly, alleged unruly, or delinquent children and under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court and children whose parents or custodians are voluntarily seeking services. The local dispute resolution process shall comply with sections 121.38, 121.381 [121.38.1], and 121.382 [121.38.2] of the Revised Code. The local dispute resolution process shall be used to resolve disputes between a child's parents or custodians and the county council regarding service coordination. The county council shall inform the parents or custodians of their right to use the dispute resolution process. Parents or custodians shall use existing local agency grievance procedures to address disputes not involving service coordination. The dispute resolution process is in addition to and does not replace other rights or procedures that parents or custodians may have under other sections of the Revised Code.

The cabinet council shall adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code establishing an administrative review process to address problems that arise concerning the operation of a local dispute resolution process.

Nothing in division (C)(4) of this section shall be interpreted as overriding or affecting decisions of a juvenile court regarding an out-of-home placement, long-term placement, or emergency out-of-home placement.

(D) Each county shall develop a family service coordination plan that does all of the following:

(1) Designates service responsibilities among the various state and local agencies that provide services to children and their families, including children who are abused, neglected, dependent, unruly, or delinquent children and under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court and children whose parents or custodians are voluntarily seeking services;

(2) Designates an individual, approved by the family, to track the progress of the family service coordination plan, schedule reviews as necessary, and facilitate the family service coordination plan meeting process;

(3) Ensures that assistance and services to be provided are responsive to the strengths and needs of the family, as well as the family's culture, race, and ethnic group, by allowing the family to offer information and suggestions and participate in decisions. Identified assistance and services shall be provided in the least restrictive environment possible.

(4) Includes a process for dealing with a child who is alleged to be an unruly child. The process shall include methods to divert the child from the juvenile court system;

(5) Includes timelines for completion of goals specified in the plan with regular reviews scheduled to monitor progress toward those goals;

(6) Includes a plan for dealing with short-term crisis situations and safety concerns.

(E)(1) The process provided for under division (D)(4) of this section may include, but is not limited to, the following:

(a) Designation of the person or agency to conduct the assessment of the child and the child's family as described in division (C)(7) of this section and designation of the instrument or instruments to be used to conduct the assessment;

(b) An emphasis on the personal responsibilities of the child and the parental responsibilities of the parents, guardian, or custodian of the child;

(c) Involvement of local law enforcement agencies and officials.

(2) The method to divert a child from the juvenile court system that must be included in the service coordination process may include, but is not limited to, the following:

(a) The preparation of a complaint under section 2151.27 of the Revised Code alleging that the child is an unruly child and notifying the child and the parents, guardian, or custodian that the complaint has been prepared to encourage the child and the parents, guardian, or custodian to comply with other methods to divert the child from the juvenile court system;

(b) Conducting a meeting with the child, the parents, guardian, or custodian, and other interested parties to determine the appropriate methods to divert the child from the juvenile court system;

(c) A method to provide to the child and the child's family a short-term respite from a short-term crisis situation involving a confrontation between the child and the parents, guardian, or custodian;

(d) A program to provide a mentor to the child or the parents, guardian, or custodian;

(e) A program to provide parenting education to the parents, guardian, or custodian;

(f) An alternative school program for children who are truant from school, repeatedly disruptive in school, or suspended or expelled from school;

(g) Other appropriate measures, including, but not limited to, any alternative methods to divert a child from the juvenile court system that are identified by the Ohio family and children first cabinet council.

(F) Each county may review and revise the service coordination process described in division (D)(2) of this section based on the availability of funds under Title IV-A of the "Social Security Act," 110 Stat. 2113 (1996), 42 U.S.C.A. 601, as amended, or to the extent resources are available from any other federal, state, or local funds.

SECTION 3. Sections 1 and 2 of this act shall take effect January 1, 2002.

The provisions of §§ 4, 5 of HB 57 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 4. Not later than thirty days after the effective date of this section, the Ohio Family and Children First Cabinet Council shall develop and distribute advisory guidance to each county family and children first council and to any other key relevant constituency that the Cabinet Council identifies. The Cabinet Council shall design the advisory guidance to assist a county council in developing under divisions (C), (D), (E), and (F) of section 121.37 of the Revised Code its local service coordination process for diversion of unruly children and children who have committed acts that would be misdemeanors if committed by an adult from the juvenile court system. The Cabinet Council shall include in the advisory guidance suggestions on how to effectively utilize TANF Youth Diversion Program funds, authorized in Section 63.09 of Am. Sub. H.B. 94 of the 124th General Assembly, as amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 299 of the 124th General Assembly, and suggestions on how to effectively utilize other available federal, state, local, or private funds.

This section does not authorize the Cabinet Council to adopt rules setting forth the above-described advisory guidance.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 121.37 of the Revised Code is amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 530 and Sub. H.B. 289 of the 126th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

§ 121.38 Resolution of agency disputes concerning services or funding.

(A) An agency represented on a county family and children first council that disagrees with the council's decision concerning the services or funding for services a child is to receive from agencies represented on the council may initiate the local dispute resolution process established in the county service coordination mechanism applicable to the council. On completion of the process, the decision maker designated in the mechanism shall issue a written determination that directs one or more agencies represented on the council to provide services or funding for services to the child. The determination shall include a plan of care governing the manner in which the services or funding are to be provided. The decision maker shall base the plan of care on the family service coordination plan developed as part of the county's service coordination mechanism and on evidence presented during the local dispute resolution process. The decision maker may require an agency to provide services or funding only if the child's condition or needs qualify the child for services under the laws governing the agency.

(B) An agency subject to a determination issued pursuant to a local dispute resolution process shall immediately comply with the determination, unless the agency objects to the determination by doing one of the following not later than seven days after the date the written determination is issued:

(1) If the child has been alleged or adjudicated to be an abused, neglected, dependent, unruly, or delinquent child or a juvenile traffic offender, filing in the juvenile court of the county having jurisdiction over the child's case a motion requesting that the court hold a hearing to determine which agencies are to provide services or funding for services to the child. .

(2) If the child is not a child described in division (B)(1) of this section; filing in the juvenile court of the county served by the county council a complaint objecting to the determination.

The court shall hold a hearing as soon as possible, but not later than ninety days after the motion or complaint is filed. At least five days before the date on which the court hearing is to be held, the court shall send each agency subject to the determination written notice by first class mail of the date, time, place, and purpose of the court hearing. In the case of a motion filed under division (B)(1) of this section, the court may conduct the hearing as part of the adjudicatory or dispositional hearing concerning the child, if appropriate, and shall provide notice as required for those hearings.

Except in cases in which the hearing is conducted as part of the adjudicatory or dispositional hearing, a hearing held pursuant to this division shall be limited to a determination of which agencies are to provide services or funding for services to the child. At the conclusion of the hearing, the court shall issue an order directing one or more agencies represented on the county council to provide services or funding for services to the child. The order shall include a plan of care governing the manner in which the services or funding are to be provided. The court shall base the plan of care on the family service coordination plan developed as part of the county's service coordination plan and on evidence presented during the hearing. An agency required by the order to provide services or funding shall be a party to any juvenile court proceeding concerning the child. The court may require an agency to provide services or funding for a child only if the child's condition or needs qualify the child for services under the laws governing the agency.

(C) While the local dispute resolution process or court proceedings pursuant to this section are pending, each agency shall provide services and funding as required by the decision made by the county council before dispute resolution was initiated. If an agency that provides services or funds during the local dispute resolution process or court proceedings is determined through the process or proceedings not to be responsible for providing them, it shall be reimbursed for the costs of providing the services or funding by the agencies determined to be responsible for providing them.

[§ 121.38.1] § 121.381 Continuation of services and funding during dispute resolution process.

A parent or custodian who disagrees with a decision rendered by a county family and children first council regarding services for a child may initiate the dispute resolution process established in the county service coordination mechanism pursuant to division (C)(10) of section 121.37 of the Revised Code.

Not later than sixty days after the parent or custodian initiates the dispute resolution process, the council shall make findings regarding the dispute and issue a written determination of its findings.

CHAPTER 131: REVENUES AND FUNDS

§ 131.11 Security required for county funds deposited by certain public officials; service charge.

No money held or controlled by any probate court, juvenile court, clerk of the court of common pleas, clerk of a county court, sheriff, county recorder, director of a county department of job and family services, clerk or bailiff of a municipal court, prosecuting attorney, resident or division deputy director of highways, or treasurer of a university receiving state aid, in excess of that covered by federal deposit insurance as hereinafter described or in excess of that covered by federal savings and loan insurance, shall be deposited in any bank, trust company, or building and loan association as defined in section 1151.01 of the Revised Code until there is a hypothecation of securities as provided for in section 135.18 of the Revised Code, or until there is executed by the bank, trust company, or building and loan association selected, a good and sufficient undertaking, payable to the depositor, in such sum as the depositor directs, but not less than the excess of the sum that is deposited in the depository, at any one time over and above the portion or amount of the sum as is at any time insured by the federal deposit insurance corporation created pursuant to "The Banking Act of 1933," or by the federal savings and loan insurance corporation created pursuant to the "Home Owners' Loan Act of 1933," 40 Stat. 128, 12 U.S.C.A. 1461, or by any other agency or instrumentality of the federal government, pursuant to such acts or any acts of congress amendatory thereof.

Any funds or securities in the possession or custody of any county official in an official capacity or any funds or securities the possession or custody of which is charged to any county official, including funds or securities in transit to or from any bank or trust company, may be insured by the board of county commissioners in such amount as is found necessary in the public interest. All costs of such insurance shall be paid by the county as provided in section 307.55 of the Revised Code.

With respect to any insured or secured deposit mentioned in this section which is active as defined by section 135.01 of the Revised Code, any depositor named in this section may pay a service charge which is the same as that customarily made by the institution or institutions receiving money on deposit subject to check in the city or village where the bank or trust company accepting such active deposit is located.

CHAPTER 181: CRIMINAL SENTENCING COMMISSION; CRIMINAL JUSTICE SERVICES

§ 181.21 State criminal sentencing commission; juvenile committee.

(A) There is hereby created within the supreme court the state criminal sentencing commission, consisting of thirty-one members. One member shall be the chief justice of the supreme court, who shall be the chairperson of the commission. The following ten members of the commission, no more than six of whom shall be members of the same political party, shall be appointed by the chief justice: one judge of a court of appeals, three judges of courts of common pleas who are not juvenile court judges, three judges of juvenile courts, and three judges of municipal courts or county courts. Four members shall be the superintendent of the state highway patrol, the state public defender, the director of youth services, and the director of rehabilitation and correction, or their individual designees. The following twelve members, no more than seven of whom shall be members of the same political party, shall be appointed by the governor after consulting with the appropriate state associations, if any, that are represented by these members: one sheriff; two county prosecuting attorneys, at least one of whom shall be experienced in the prosecution of cases in juvenile court involving alleged delinquent children, unruly children, and juvenile traffic offenders; two peace officers of a municipal corporation or township, at least one of whom shall be experienced in the investigation of cases involving juveniles; one former victim of a violation of Title XXIX [29] of the Revised Code; one attorney whose practice of law primarily involves the representation of criminal defendants; one member of the Ohio state bar association; one attorney whose practice of law primarily involves the representation in juvenile court of alleged delinquent children, unruly children, and juvenile traffic offenders; one full-time city prosecuting attorney; one county commissioner; and one mayor, city manager, or member of a legislative authority of a municipal corporation. Two members shall be members of the senate, one appointed by the president of the senate and one appointed by the minority leader of the senate. Two members shall be members of the house of representatives, one appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives and one appointed by the minority leader of the house of representatives.

The chief justice shall become a member of the commission on August 22, 1990, and the chief justice's successors in office shall become members of the commission on the day that they assume the office of chief justice. The term of office of the chief justice as a member of the commission shall continue for as long as that person holds the office of chief justice. The term of office of the member who is an attorney whose practice of law primarily involves the representation of criminal defendants, the term of office of the member who is an attorney whose practice of law primarily involves the representation in juvenile court of alleged delinquent children, unruly children, and juvenile traffic offenders, and the term of office of the former victim of a violation of Title XXIX [29] of the Revised Code shall be four years. The term of office of the superintendent of the state highway patrol, the state public defender, the director of youth services, and the director of rehabilitation and correction, or their individual designees, as members of the commission shall continue for as long as they hold the office of superintendent of the state highway patrol, state public defender, director of youth services, or director of rehabilitation and correction. The term of office of a municipal corporation or township peace officer as a member of the commission shall be the lesser of four years or until that person ceases to be a peace officer of a municipal corporation or township. Unless the full-time city prosecuting attorney is an elected official, the term of office of the full-time city prosecuting attorney shall be the lesser of four years or until the full-time city prosecuting attorney ceases to be a full-time city prosecuting attorney. All of the members of the commission who are elected officials shall serve the lesser of four years or until the expiration of their term of office. Any vacancy on the commission shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment.

When the chief justice and governor make their appointments to the commission, they shall consider adequate representation by race and gender.

(B) The commission shall select a vice-chairperson and any other necessary officers and adopt rules to govern its proceedings. The commission shall meet as necessary at the call of the chairperson or on the written request of eight or more of its members. Sixteen members of the commission constitute a quorum, and the votes of a majority of the quorum present shall be required to validate any action of the commission. All business of the commission shall be conducted in public meetings.

The members of the commission shall serve without compensation, but each member shall be reimbursed for the member's actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of the member's official duties on the commission. In the absence of the chairperson, the vice-chairperson shall perform the duties of the chairperson.

(C) The commission shall establish an office and shall appoint and fix the compensation of a project director and any other employees necessary to assist the commission in the execution of its authority under sections

181.21 to 181.26 of the Revised Code. The project director shall have a thorough understanding of the criminal laws of this state and experience in committee-oriented research. The other employees may include a research coordinator with experience and training in policy-oriented research; professional staff employees with backgrounds in criminal law, criminal justice, political science, or related fields of expertise; administrative assistants; and secretaries. The commission also may appoint and fix the compensation of part-time data collectors, clerical employees, and other temporary employees as needed to enable the commission to execute its authority under sections 181.21 to 181.26 of the Revised Code.

(D) The sentencing commission shall establish a standing juvenile committee. The committee shall consist of the following commission members: the chief justice of the supreme court or the chief justice's designee, the director of youth services, the three juvenile court judges, one court of common pleas judge who is not a juvenile court judge, one county prosecuting attorney who is experienced in the prosecution of cases in juvenile court involving alleged delinquent children, unruly children, and juvenile traffic offenders, the attorney whose practice of law primarily involves the representation in juvenile court of alleged delinquent children, unruly children, and juvenile traffic offenders, the former victim of a violation of Title XXIX [29] of the Revised Code, the county commissioner, one legislator from each political party, the sheriff, and one municipal corporation or township peace officer who is experienced in the investigation of cases involving juveniles. The members of the commission may serve on the committee by designation of the chief justice. The chief justice shall designate a member to serve as chairperson of the committee. The committee shall meet as necessary at the call of the chairperson or on the written request of four or more of the committee's members. A majority of the members of the committee shall constitute a quorum, and the votes of a majority of the quorum present shall be required to validate any action of the committee, including recommendations to the commission. The committee and the commission shall comply with section 181.26 of the Revised Code.

The provisions of § 4 of SB 107 (148 v —) read in part as follows:

SECTION 4. Sections 181.21 and 181.22 of the Revised Code are presented in this act as composites of the sections as amended by both Sub. H.B. 591 and Sub. H.B. 670 of the 121st General Assembly, with the new language of neither of the acts shown in capital letters. * * * This is in recognition of the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that such amendments are to be harmonized where not substantively irreconcilable and constitutes a legislative finding that such is the resulting version in effect prior to the effective date of this act.

§ 181.26 Additional duties of commission concerning juveniles.

(A) In addition to its duties set forth in sections 181.23 to 181.25 of the Revised Code, the state criminal sentencing commission shall do all of the following:

- (1) Review all statutes governing delinquent child, unruly child, and juvenile traffic offender dispositions in this state;
- (2) Review state and local resources, including facilities and programs, used for delinquent child, unruly child, and juvenile traffic offender dispositions and profile the populations of youthful offenders in the facilities and programs;
- (3) Report to the general assembly no later than October 1, 1999, a comprehensive plan containing recommendations based on the reviews required under divisions (A)(1) and (2) of this section. The recommendations shall do all of the following:
 - (a) Assist in the managing of the number of persons in, and costs of, the facilities, the programs, and other resources used in delinquent child, unruly child, and juvenile traffic offender dispositions;
 - (b) Foster rehabilitation, public safety, sanctions, accountability, and other reasonable goals;
 - (c) Provide greater certainty, proportionality, uniformity, fairness, and simplicity in delinquent child, unruly child, and juvenile traffic offender dispositions while retaining reasonable judicial discretion;
 - (d) Provide for the restoration of victims of juvenile offenses.

(B) The commission shall project the impact of the comprehensive plan recommended by the commission under this section on state and local resources used in delinquent child, unruly child, and juvenile traffic offender dispositions. The commission shall determine whether any additional facilities, programs, or other resources are needed to implement the comprehensive plan.

(C) If the general assembly enacts all or a substantial part of the comprehensive plan recommended by the commission under this section, the commission shall do all of the following:

- (1) Assist in the implementation of the enacted plan;
- (2) Monitor the operation of the plan, periodically report to the general assembly on the plan's operation and the plan's impact on resources used in delinquent child, unruly child, and juvenile traffic offender dispositions, and periodically recommend changes in the plan to the general assembly based on this monitoring;
- (3) Review all bills that are introduced in the general assembly that relate to delinquent child, unruly child, and juvenile traffic offender dispositions and assist the general assembly in making legislation consistent with the plan.

TITLE 3: COUNTIES

CHAPTER 307: BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS — POWERS

§ 307.01 County buildings; appropriations for court of common pleas.

(A) A courthouse, jail, public comfort station, offices for county officers, and a county home shall be provided by the board of county commissioners when, in its judgment, any of them are needed. The buildings and offices shall be of such style, dimensions, and expense as the board determines. All new jails and renovations to existing jails shall be designed, and all existing jails shall be operated in such a manner as to comply substantially with the minimum standards for jails in Ohio adopted by the department of rehabilitation and correction. The board shall also provide equipment, stationery, and postage, as it considers reasonably necessary for the proper and convenient conduct of county offices, and such facilities as will result in expeditious and economical administration of such offices, except that, for the purpose of obtaining federal or state reimbursement, the board may impose on the public children services agency reasonable charges, not exceeding the amount for which reimbursement will be made and consistent with cost-allocation standards adopted by the department of job and family services, for the provision of office space, supplies, stationery, utilities, telephone use, postage, and general support services.

The board of county commissioners shall provide all rooms, fireproof and burglarproof vaults, safes, and other means of security in the office of the county treasurer that are necessary for the protection of public moneys and property in the office.

(B) The court of common pleas shall annually submit a written request for an appropriation to the board of county commissioners that shall set forth estimated administrative expenses of the court that the court considers reasonably necessary for its operation. The board shall conduct a public hearing with respect to the written request submitted by the court and shall appropriate the amount of money each year that it determines, after conducting the public hearing and considering the written request of the court, is reasonably necessary to meet all administrative expenses of the court.

If the court considers the appropriation made by the board pursuant to this division insufficient to meet all the administrative expenses of the court, it shall commence an action under Chapter 2731. of the Revised Code in the court of appeals for the judicial district for a determination of the duty of the board of county commissioners to appropriate the amount of money in dispute. The court of appeals shall give priority to the action filed by the court of common pleas over all cases pending on its docket. The burden shall be on the court of common pleas to prove that the appropriation requested is reasonably necessary to meet all its administrative expenses. If, prior to the filing of an action under Chapter 2731. of the Revised Code or during the pendency of the action, any judge of the court exercises the contempt power of the court of common pleas in order to obtain the amount of money in dispute, the judge shall not order the imprisonment of any member of the board of county commissioners notwithstanding sections 2705.02 to 2705.06 of the Revised Code.

(C) Division (B) of this section does not apply to appropriations for the probate court or the juvenile court that are subject to section 2101.11 or 2151.10 of the Revised Code.

§ 307.02 Providing county facilities; costs and specifications; bids.

The board of county commissioners of any county, in addition to its other powers, may purchase, for cash or by installment payments, enter into lease-purchase agreements, lease with option to purchase, lease, appropriate, construct, enlarge, improve, rebuild, equip, and furnish a courthouse, county offices, jail, county home, juvenile court building, detention facility, public market houses, retail store rooms and offices, if located in a building acquired to house county offices, for which store rooms or offices the board of county commissioners may establish and collect rents or enter into leases as provided in section 307.09 of the Revised Code, county children's home, community mental health facility, community mental retardation or developmental disability facility, facilities for senior citizens, alcohol treatment and control center, other necessary buildings, public stadiums, public auditorium, exhibition hall, zoological park, public library buildings, golf courses, and off-street parking facilities determined by the board of county commissioners to be so situated as to be useful for any of such purposes or any combination of such purposes, for the use of which parking facilities the board of county commissioners may establish and collect rates, charges, or rents, and sites therefore, such real estate adjoining an existing site as is necessary for any of such purposes, including real estate necessary to afford light, air, protection from fire, suitable surroundings, ingress, and egress; such copies of any public records of such county, made or reproduced by miniature photography or microfilm, as are necessary for the protection and preservation of public records of such county.

The board of county commissioners of any county may lease for a period not to exceed forty years, pursuant to a contract providing for the construction thereof under a lease-purchase plan, those buildings, structures, and other improvements enumerated in the first paragraph of this section, and in conjunction therewith, may grant leases, easements, or licenses for lands under the control of the county for a period not to exceed forty years. Such lease-purchase plan shall provide that at the end of the lease period such buildings, structures, and related improvements, together with the land on which they are situated, shall become the property of the county without cost.

Whenever any building, structure or other improvement is to be so leased by a county, the board of county commissioners shall file in the office of the board, if the board has a full-time clerk, or in the office of the county auditor such basic plans, specifications, bills of materials, and estimates of cost with sufficient detail to afford bidders all needed information, or alternatively, shall file the following plans, details, bills of materials, and specifications:

(A) Full and accurate plans, suitable for the use of mechanics and other builders in such construction, improvement, addition, alteration, or installation;

(B) Details to scale and full sized, so drawn and represented as to be easily understood;

(C) Accurate bills showing the exact quantity of different kinds of material necessary to the construction;

(D) Definite and complete specifications of the work to be performed, together with such directions as will enable a competent mechanic or other builder to carry them out and afford bidders all needed information;

(E) A full and accurate estimate of each item of expense and of the aggregate cost thereof.

The board of county commissioners shall invite bids in the manner prescribed in sections 307.86 to 307.92 of the Revised Code. Such bids shall contain the terms upon which the builder would propose to lease the building, structure, or other improvement to the county. The form of the bid approved by the board of county commissioners shall be used and a bid shall be invalid and not considered unless such form is used without change, alteration, or addition.

Before submitting bids pursuant to this section, any builder shall have complied with sections 153.50 to 153.52 of the Revised Code.

On the day and at the place named for receiving bids for entering into lease agreements with the county, the board of county commissioners shall open the bids, and shall publicly proceed immediately to tabulate the bids. No such lease agreement shall be entered into until the bureau of workers' compensation has certified that the corporation, partnership, or person to be awarded the lease agreement has complied with Chapter 4123. of the Revised Code, and until, if the builder submitting the lowest and best bid is a foreign corporation, the secretary of state has certified that such corporation is authorized to do business in this state, and until, if the builder submitting the lowest and best bid is a person or partnership nonresident of this state, such person or partnership has filed with the secretary of state a power of attorney designating the secretary of state as its agent for the purpose of accepting service of summons in any action brought under Chapter 4123. of the Revised Code, and until the agreement is submitted to the county prosecutor and the county prosecutor's approval certified thereon. Within thirty days after the day on which the bids are received, the board of county commissioners shall investigate the bids received and shall determine that the bureau and the secretary of state have made the certifications required by this section of the builder who has submitted the lowest and best bid. Within ten days of the completion of the investigation of the bids the board of county commissioners may award the lease agreement to the builder who has submitted the lowest and best bid and who has been certified by the bureau and secretary of state as required by this section. If bidding for the lease agreement has been conducted upon the basis of basic plans, specifications, bills of materials, and estimates of costs, upon the award to the builder, the board of county commissioners, or the builder with the approval of the board of county commissioners, shall appoint an architect or engineer licensed in Ohio to prepare such further detailed plans, specifications, and bills of materials as are required to construct the buildings, structures, and other improvements enumerated in the first paragraph of this section. The board of county commissioners may reject any bid. Where there is reason to believe there is collusion or combination among the bidders, the bids of those concerned therein shall be rejected.

The effective date is set by section 5 of SB 179.

[§ 307.02.1] § 307.021 State purpose to provide capital facilities for jails, workhouses or community-based corrections; lease to subdivision.

(A) It is hereby declared to be a public purpose and function of the state, and a matter of urgent necessity, that the state acquire, construct, or renovate capital facilities for use as county, multicounty, municipal-county, and multicounty-municipal jail facilities or workhouses, as single county or district community-based correctional facilities authorized under section 2301.51 of the Revised Code, as minimum security misdemeanor jails under sections 341.34 and 753.21 of the Revised Code, and as single-county or joint-county juvenile facilities authorized under section 2151.65 of the Revised Code in order to comply with constitutional standards and laws for the incarceration of alleged and convicted offenders against state and local laws, and for use as county family court centers. For these purposes, counties and municipal corporations are designated as state agencies to perform duties of the state in relation to such facilities, workhouses, jails, and centers, and such facilities, workhouses, jails, and centers are designated as state capital facilities. The Ohio building authority is authorized to issue revenue obligations under sections 152.09 to 152.33 of the Revised Code to pay all or part of the cost of such state capital facilities as are designated by law.

The office of the sheriff, due to its responsibilities concerning alleged and convicted offenders against state laws, is designated as the state agency having jurisdiction over such jail, workhouse, community-based correctional, or county minimum security misdemeanor jail capital facilities in any one county or over any district community-based correctional facilities. The corrections commission, due to its responsibilities in relation to such offenders, is designated as the state agency having jurisdiction over any such multicounty, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal jail, workhouse, or correctional capital facilities. The office of the chief of police or marshal of a municipal corporation, due to its responsibilities concerning certain alleged and convicted criminal offenders, is designated as the state agency having jurisdiction over any such municipal corporation minimum security misdemeanor jail capital facilities in the municipal corporation. The juvenile court, as defined in section 2151.011 [2151.01.1] of the Revised Code, is designated as the branch of state government having jurisdiction over any such family court center or single-county or joint-county juvenile capital facilities. It is hereby determined and declared that such capital facilities are for the purpose of housing such state agencies, their functions, equipment, and personnel.

(B) The capital facilities provided for in this section may be included in capital facilities in which one or more governmental entities are participating or in which other facilities of the county or counties, or any municipal corporations, are included pursuant to section 152.31 or 152.33 of the Revised Code or in an agreement between any county or counties and any municipal corporation or municipal corporations for participating in the joint construction, acquisition, or improvement of public works, public buildings, or improvements benefiting the parties in the same manner as set forth in section 153.61 of the Revised Code.

(C) A county or counties or a municipal corporation or municipal corporations may contribute to the cost of capital facilities authorized under this section.

(D) A county or counties, and any municipal corporations, shall lease capital facilities described in this section that are constructed, reconstructed, otherwise improved, or financed by the Ohio building authority pursuant to sections 152.09 to 152.33 of the Revised Code for the use of the county or counties and any municipal corporations, and may enter into other agreements ancillary to the construction, reconstruction, improvement, financing, leasing, or operation of such capital facilities, including, but not limited to, any agreements required by the applicable bond proceedings authorized by sections 152.09 to 152.33 of the Revised Code.

Such lease may obligate the county or counties and any municipal corporation, as using state agencies under Chapter 152. of the Revised Code, to occupy and operate such capital facilities for such period of time as may be specified by law and to pay such rent as the authority determines to be appropriate. Notwithstanding any other section of the Revised Code, any county or counties or municipal corporation may enter into such a lease, and any such lease is legally sufficient to obligate the political subdivision for the term stated in the lease. Any such lease constitutes an agreement described in division (E) of section 152.24 of the Revised Code.

(E) If rental payments required from the county or counties or municipal corporation by a lease established pursuant to this section are not paid in accordance with such lease, the funds which otherwise would be apportioned to the lessees from the county undivided local government fund, pursuant to sections 5747.51 to 5747.53 of the Revised Code, shall be reduced by the amount of rent payable to the authority. The county treasurer immediately shall pay the amount of such reductions to the authority.

(F) Any lease of capital facilities authorized by this section, the rentals of which are payable in whole or in part from appropriations made by the general assembly, is governed by division (D) of section 152.24 of the Revised Code. Such rentals constitute available receipts as defined in section 152.09 of the Revised Code and may be pledged for the payment of bond service charges as provided in section 152.10 of the Revised Code.

(G) Any provision of section 152.21, 152.22, or 152.26 of the Revised Code that applies to buildings and facilities described in section 152.19 of the Revised Code also applies to the buildings and facilities described in this section, unless it is inconsistent with this section.

§ 307.71 Curfew.

(A) Whenever the adoption of, a curfew for persons under eighteen years of age is deemed necessary by the board of county commissioners for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety in any of the unincorporated areas of such county, the board of county commissioners may adopt a resolution setting forth the provisions of such curfew and the necessity for such curfew together with a statement of the reasons for such necessity, and providing for its enforcement within such unincorporated areas of the county. Upon adoption of the resolution by a majority of the commissioners, the resolution shall become effective immediately.

(B) Any person under the age of eighteen years who violates the provisions of a curfew adopted in accordance with division (A) of this section shall be apprehended and charged as being an unruly child and taken before the juvenile court in the county in which the violation occurred as provided in Chapter 2151. of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 133 v H 1018. Eff 6-23-70.

Not analogous to former RC § 307.71 (RS § 895; S&C 248; 48 v 65; GC § 2459; 110 v 4; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 132 v H 166, eff 11-24-67.

§ 307.86 When competitive bidding required.

Anything to be purchased, leased, leased with an option or agreement to purchase, or constructed, including, but not limited to, any product, structure, construction, reconstruction, improvement, maintenance, repair, or service, except the services of an accountant, architect, attorney at law, physician, professional engineer, construction project manager, consultant, surveyor, or appraiser, by or on behalf of the county or contracting authority, as defined in section 307.92 of the Revised Code, at a cost in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars, except as otherwise provided in division (D) of section 713.23 and in sections 125.04, 125.60 to 125.6012 [125.60.12], 307.022 [307.02.2], 307.041 [307.04.1], 307.861 [307.86.1], 339.05, 340.03, 340.033 [340.03.3], 4115.31 to 4115.35, 5119.16, 5513.01, 5543.19, 5713.01, and 6137.05 of the Revised Code, shall be obtained through competitive bidding. However, competitive bidding is not required when any of the following applies:

(A) The board of county commissioners, by a unanimous vote of its members, makes a determination that a real and present emergency exists, and that determination and the reasons for it are entered in the minutes of the proceedings of the board, when either of the following applies:

(1) The estimated cost is less than fifty thousand dollars.

(2) There is actual physical disaster to structures, radio communications equipment, or computers.

For purposes of this division, "unanimous vote" means all three members of a board of county commissioners when all three members are present, or two members of the board if only two members, constituting a quorum, are present.

Whenever a contract of purchase, lease, or construction is exempted from competitive bidding under division (A)(1) of this section because the estimated cost is less than fifty thousand dollars, but the estimated cost is twenty-five thousand dollars or more, the county or contracting authority shall solicit informal estimates from no fewer than three persons who could perform the contract, before awarding the contract. With regard to each such contract, the county or contracting authority shall maintain a record of such estimates, including the name of each person from whom an estimate is solicited. The county or contracting authority shall maintain the record for the longer of at least one year after the contract is awarded or the amount of time the federal government requires.

(B)(1) The purchase consists of supplies or a replacement or supplemental part or parts for a product or equipment owned or leased by the county, and the only source of supply for the supplies, part, or parts is limited to a single supplier.

(2) The purchase consists of services related to information technology, such as programming services, that are proprietary or limited to a single source.

(C) The purchase is from the federal government, the state, another county or contracting authority of another county, or a board of education, township, or municipal corporation.

(D) The purchase is made by a county department of job and family services under section 329.04 of the Revised Code and consists of family services duties or workforce development activities or is made by a county board of mental retardation and developmental disabilities under section 5126.05 of the Revised Code and consists of program services, such as direct and ancillary client services, child care, case management services, residential services, and family resource services.

(E) The purchase consists of criminal justice services, social services programs, family services, or workforce development activities by the board of county commissioners from nonprofit corporations or associations under programs funded by the federal government or by state grants.

(F) The purchase consists of any form of an insurance policy or contract authorized to be issued under Title XXXIX of the Revised Code or any form of health care plan authorized to be issued under Chapter 1751. of the Revised Code, or any combination of such policies, contracts, or plans that the contracting authority is authorized to purchase, and the contracting authority does all of the following:

(1) Determines that compliance with the requirements of this section would increase, rather than decrease, the cost of the purchase;

(2) Employs a competent consultant to assist the contracting authority in procuring appropriate coverages at the best and lowest prices;

(3) Requests issuers of the policies, contracts, or plans to submit proposals to the contracting authority, in a form prescribed by the contracting authority, setting forth the coverage and cost of the policies, contracts, or plans as the contracting authority desires to purchase;

(4) Negotiates with the issuers for the purpose of purchasing the policies, contracts, or plans at the best and lowest price reasonably possible.

(G) The purchase consists of computer hardware, software, or consulting services that are necessary to implement a computerized case management automation project administered by the Ohio prosecuting attorneys association and funded by a grant from the federal government.

(H) Child care services are purchased for provision to county employees.

(I)(1) Property, including land, buildings, and other real property, is leased for offices, storage, parking, or other purposes, and all of the following apply:

(a) The contracting authority is authorized by the Revised Code to lease the property.

(b) The contracting authority develops requests for proposals for leasing the property, specifying the criteria that will be considered prior to leasing the property, including the desired size and geographic location of the property.

(c) The contracting authority receives responses from prospective lessors with property meeting the criteria specified in the requests for proposals by giving notice in a manner substantially similar to the procedures established for giving notice under section 307.87 of the Revised Code.

(d) The contracting authority negotiates with the prospective lessors to obtain a lease at the best and lowest price reasonably possible considering the fair market value of the property and any relocation and operational costs that may be incurred during the period the lease is in effect.

(2) The contracting authority may use the services of a real estate appraiser to obtain advice, consultations, or other recommendations regarding the lease of property under this division.

(J) The purchase is made pursuant to section 5139.34 or sections 5139.41 to 5139.46 of the Revised Code and is of programs or services that provide case management, treatment, or prevention services to any felony or misdemeanor delinquent, unruly youth, or status offender under the supervision of the juvenile court, including, but not limited to, community residential care, day treatment, services to children in their home, or electronic monitoring.

(K) The purchase is made by a public children services agency pursuant to section 307.92 or 5153.16 of the Revised Code and consists of family services, programs, or ancillary services that provide case management, prevention, or treatment services for children at risk of being or alleged to be abused, neglected, or dependent children.

(L) The purchase is to obtain the services of emergency medical service organizations under a contract made by the board of county commissioners pursuant to section 307.05 of the Revised Code with a joint emergency medical services district.

Any issuer of policies, contracts, or plans listed in division (F) of this section and any prospective lessor under division (I) of this section may have the issuer's or prospective lessor's name and address, or the name and address of an agent, placed on a special notification list to be kept by the contracting authority, by sending the contracting authority that name and address. The contracting authority shall send notice to all persons listed on the special notification list. Notices shall state the deadline and place for submitting proposals. The contracting authority shall mail the notices at least six weeks prior to the deadline set by the contracting authority for submitting proposals. Every five years the contracting authority may review this list and remove any person from the list after mailing the person notification of that action.

Any contracting authority that negotiates a contract under division (F) of this section shall request proposals and renegotiate with issuers in accordance with that division at least every three years from the date of the signing of such a contract.

Any consultant employed pursuant to division (F) of this section and any real estate appraiser employed pursuant to division (I) of this section shall disclose any fees or compensation received from any source in connection with that employment.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 307.86 of the Revised Code is amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 11 and Sub. H.B. 230 of the 125th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

CHAPTER 340: ALCOHOL, DRUG ADDICTION, AND MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

§ 340.15 Referral of parent or other caregiver of at risk child.

(A) A public children services agency that identifies a child by a risk assessment conducted pursuant to section 5153.16 of the Revised Code as being at imminent risk of being abused or neglected because of an addiction of a parent, guardian, or custodian of the child to a drug of abuse or alcohol shall refer the child's addicted parent, guardian, or custodian and, if the agency determines that the child needs alcohol or other drug addiction services, the child to an alcohol and drug addiction program certified by the department of alcohol and drug addiction services under section 3793.06 of the Revised Code. A public children services agency that is sent a court order issued pursuant to division (B) of section 2151.3514 [2151.35.14] of the Revised Code shall refer the addicted parent or other caregiver of the child identified in the court order to an alcohol and drug addiction program certified by the department of alcohol and drug addiction services under section 3793.06 of the Revised Code. On receipt of a referral under this division and to the extent funding identified under division (A) of section 340.033 [340.03.3] of the Revised Code is available, the program shall provide the following services to the addicted parent, guardian, custodian, or caregiver and child in need of alcohol or other drug services:

(1) If it is determined pursuant to an initial screening to be needed, assessment and appropriate treatment;

(2) Documentation of progress in accordance with a treatment plan developed for the addicted parent, guardian, custodian, caregiver, or child;

(3) If the referral is based on a court order issued pursuant to division (B) of section 2151.3514 [2151.35.14] of the Revised Code and the order requires the specified parent or other caregiver of the child to submit to alcohol or other drug testing during, after, or both during and after, treatment, testing in accordance with the court order.

(B) The services described in division (A) of this section shall have a priority as provided in the alcohol and drug addiction services plan established pursuant to section 340.033 [340.03.3] of the Revised Code. Once a referral has been received pursuant to this section, the public children services agency and the alcohol or drug addiction program shall, in accordance with 42 C.F.R. Part 2, share with each other any information concerning the persons and services described in that division that the agency and program determine are necessary to share. If the referral is based on a court order issued pursuant to division (B) of section 2151.3514 [2151.35.14] of the Revised Code, the results and recommendations of the alcohol and drug addiction program also shall be provided and used as described in division (D) of that section. Information obtained or maintained by the agency or program pursuant to this section that could enable the identification of any person described in division (A) of this section is not a public record subject to inspection or copying under section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

TITLE 5: TOWNSHIPS

§ 505.89 Curfew for minors.

(A) Whenever a board of township trustees considers it necessary to adopt a curfew for persons under eighteen years of age in any of the unincorporated areas of the township, the board may adopt a resolution setting forth the provisions of the curfew and declaring the necessity for it, together with a statement of the reasons for the necessity, and providing for its enforcement within the unincorporated area of the township.

(B) Any person under eighteen years of age who violates a curfew adopted under division (A) of this section shall be charged as being an unruly child and taken before juvenile court as provided in Chapter 2151. of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 145 v H 580. Eff 3-9-95.

The effective date is set by section 3 of HB 580.

TITLE 15: CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES

CHAPTER 1533: HUNTING; FISHING

[§ 1533.17.1] § 1533.171 Injury of persons or property by hunters.

(A) No person, in the act of hunting, pursuing, taking, or killing a wild animal, shall act in a negligent, careless, or reckless manner so as to injure persons or property.

(B) The court before whom any person is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A) of this section shall report that fact, together with the violator's name and address, to the chief of the division of wildlife not later than ten days after the date of conviction or plea.

(C) Not later than seven days after receiving a notification under division (B) of this section, the chief shall revoke, for not less than one year nor more than five years, each hunting license, fur taker permit, deer permit, wild turkey permit, and wetlands habitat stamp issued to that person under this chapter. No fee paid for such a license, permit, or stamp shall be returned to the person.

Upon revoking a license, permit, or stamp, or a combination thereof, under this division, the chief immediately shall send a notice of that action by certified mail to the last known address of the person. The notice shall state the action taken, order the person to surrender the revoked license, permit, or stamp, or combination thereof, and state that the department of natural resources will not afford a hearing as required under section 119.06 of the Revised Code.

(D) If, after receiving a notice under division (C) of this section, the person decides to petition for a review of the revocation, the person shall file a petition for such a review not later than thirty days after receiving the notice in the municipal court or the county court, or, if the person is under eighteen years of age, the juvenile court, in whose jurisdiction the violation occurred. The review shall be limited to the question of the appropriateness of the period of revocation. The court shall send a copy of the petition to the chief by certified mail together with timely notice of the date, time, and place of a hearing on the petition. The filing of a petition for a review shall not stay the revocation during the pendency of the appeal.

(E) No person whose license, permit, or stamp, or a combination thereof, has been revoked under this section shall attempt to purchase, purchase, apply for, or receive any hunting license, fur taker permit, deer permit, wild turkey permit, or wetlands habitat stamp issued under this chapter or engage in hunting during the time any such license, permit, or stamp, or a combination thereof, is revoked.

CHAPTER 1547: WATERCRAFT AND WATERWAYS

§ 1547.11 Operation, physical control, or manipulation under influence of alcohol or drug.

(A) No person shall operate or be in physical control of any vessel underway or shall manipulate any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device on the waters in this state if, at the time of the operation, control, or manipulation, any of the following applies:

(1) The person is under the influence of alcohol, a drug of abuse, or a combination of them.

(2) The person has a concentration of eight-hundredths of one per cent or more by weight of alcohol per unit volume in the person's whole blood.

(3) The person has a concentration of ninety-six-thousandths of one per cent or more by weight per unit volume of alcohol in the person's blood serum or plasma.

(4) The person has a concentration of eleven-hundredths of one gram or more by weight of alcohol per one hundred milliliters of the person's urine.

(5) The person has a concentration of eight-hundredths of one gram or more by weight of alcohol per two hundred ten liters of the person's breath.

(6) Except as provided in division (H) of this section, the person has a concentration of any of the following controlled substances or metabolites of a controlled substance in the person's whole blood, blood serum or plasma, or urine that equals or exceeds any of the following:

(a) The person has a concentration of amphetamine in the person's urine of at least five hundred nanograms of amphetamine per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of amphetamine in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least one hundred nanograms of amphetamine per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(b) The person has a concentration of cocaine in the person's urine of at least one hundred fifty nanograms of cocaine per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of cocaine in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least fifty nanograms of cocaine per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(c) The person has a concentration of cocaine metabolite in the person's urine of at least one hundred fifty nanograms of cocaine metabolite per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of cocaine metabolite in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least fifty nanograms of cocaine metabolite per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(d) The person has a concentration of heroin in the person's urine of at least two thousand nanograms of heroin per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of heroin in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least fifty nanograms of heroin per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(e) The person has a concentration of heroin metabolite (6-monoacetyl morphine) in the person's urine of at least ten nanograms of heroin metabolite (6-monoacetyl morphine) per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of heroin metabolite (6-monoacetyl morphine) in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least ten nanograms of heroin metabolite (6-monoacetyl morphine) per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(f) The person has a concentration of L.S.D. in the person's urine of at least twenty-five nanograms of L.S.D. per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of L.S.D. in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least ten nanograms of L.S.D. per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(g) The person has a concentration of marihuana in the person's urine of at least ten nanograms of marihuana per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of marihuana in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least two nanograms of marihuana per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(h) Either of the following applies:

(i) The person is under the influence of alcohol, a drug of abuse, or a combination of them, and, as measured by gas chromatography mass spectrometry, the person has a concentration of marihuana metabolite in the person's urine of at least fifteen nanograms of marihuana metabolite per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of marihuana metabolite in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least five nanograms of marihuana metabolite per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(ii) As measured by gas chromatography mass spectrometry, the person has a concentration of marihuana metabolite in the person's urine of at least thirty-five nanograms of marihuana metabolite per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of marihuana metabolite in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least fifty nanograms of marihuana metabolite per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(i) The person has a concentration of methamphetamine in the person's urine of at least five hundred nanograms of methamphetamine per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of methamphetamine in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least one hundred nanograms of methamphetamine per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(j) The person has a concentration of phencyclidine in the person's urine of at least twenty-five nanograms of phencyclidine per milliliter of the person's urine or has a concentration of phencyclidine in the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma of at least ten nanograms of phencyclidine per milliliter of the person's whole blood or blood serum or plasma.

(B) No person under twenty-one years of age shall operate or be in physical control of any vessel underway or shall manipulate any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device on the waters in this state if, at the time of the operation, control, or manipulation, any of the following applies:

(1) The person has a concentration of at least two-hundredths of one per cent, but less than eight-hundredths of one per cent by weight per unit volume of alcohol in the person's whole blood.

(2) The person has a concentration of at least three-hundredths of one per cent but less than ninety-six-thousandths of one per cent by weight per unit volume of alcohol in the person's blood serum or plasma.

(3) The person has a concentration of at least twenty-eight one-thousandths of one gram, but less than eleven-hundredths of one gram by weight of alcohol per one hundred milliliters of the person's urine.

(4) The person has a concentration of at least two-hundredths of one gram, but less than eight-hundredths of one gram by weight of alcohol per two hundred ten liters of the person's breath.

(C) In any proceeding arising out of one incident, a person may be charged with a violation of division (A)(1) and a violation of division (B)(1), (2), (3), or (4) of this section, but the person shall not be convicted of more than one violation of those divisions.

(D)(1) In any criminal prosecution or juvenile court proceeding for a violation of division (A) or (B) of this section or for an equivalent violation, the court may admit evidence on the concentration of alcohol, drugs of abuse, controlled substances, metabolites of a controlled substance, or a combination of them in the defendant's or child's whole blood, blood serum or plasma, urine, or breath at the time of the alleged violation as shown by chemical analysis of the substance withdrawn, or specimen taken within three hours of the time of the alleged violation. The three-hour time limit specified in this division regarding the admission of evidence does not extend or affect the two-hour time limit specified in division (C) of section 1547.111 [1547.11.1] of the Revised Code as the maximum period of time during which a person may consent to a chemical test or tests as described in that section.

When a person submits to a blood test, only a physician, a registered nurse, or a qualified technician, chemist, or phlebotomist shall withdraw blood for the purpose of determining the alcohol, drug, controlled substance, metabolite of a controlled substance, or combination content of the whole blood, blood serum, or blood plasma. This limitation does not apply to the taking of breath or urine specimens. A person authorized to withdraw blood under this division may refuse to withdraw blood under this division if, in that person's opinion, the physical welfare of the defendant or child would be endangered by withdrawing blood.

The whole blood, blood serum or plasma, urine, or breath shall be analyzed in accordance with methods approved by the director of health by an individual possessing a valid permit issued by the director pursuant to section 3701.143 [3701.14.3] of the Revised Code.

(2) In a criminal prosecution or juvenile court proceeding for a violation of division (A) of this section or for a violation of a prohibition that is substantially equivalent to division (A) of this section, if there was at the time the bodily substance was taken a concentration of less than the applicable concentration of alcohol specified for a violation of division (A)(2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section or less than the applicable concentration of a listed controlled substance or a listed metabolite of a controlled substance specified for a violation of division (A)(6) of this section, that fact may be considered with other competent evidence in determining the guilt or innocence of the defendant or in making an adjudication for the child. This division does not limit or affect a criminal prosecution or juvenile court proceeding for a violation of division (B) of this section or for a violation of a prohibition that is substantially equivalent to that division.

(3) Upon the request of the person who was tested, the results of the chemical test shall be made available to the person or the person's attorney immediately upon completion of the test analysis.

The person tested may have a physician, a registered nurse, or a qualified technician, chemist, or phlebotomist of the person's own choosing administer a chemical test or tests in addition to any administered at the direction of a law enforcement officer, and shall be so advised. The failure or inability to obtain an additional test by a person shall not preclude the admission of evidence relating to the test or tests taken at the direction of a law enforcement officer.

(E)(1) In any criminal prosecution or juvenile court proceeding for a violation of division (A) or (B) of this section or for an equivalent violation, if a law enforcement officer has administered a field sobriety test to the operator or person found to be in physical control of the vessel underway involved in the violation or the person manipulating the water skis, aquaplane, or similar device involved in the violation and if it is shown by clear and convincing evidence that the officer administered the test in substantial compliance with the testing standards for reliable, credible, and generally accepted field sobriety tests for vehicles that were in effect at the time the tests were administered, including, but not limited to, any testing standards then in effect that have been set by the national highway traffic safety administration, that by their nature are not clearly inapplicable regarding the operation or physical control of vessels underway or the manipulation of water skis, aquaplanes, or similar devices, all of the following apply:

(a) The officer may testify concerning the results of the field sobriety test so administered.

(b) The prosecution may introduce the results of the field sobriety test so administered as evidence in any proceedings in the criminal prosecution or juvenile court proceeding.

(c) If testimony is presented or evidence is introduced under division (E)(1)(a) or (b) of this section and if the testimony or evidence is admissible under the Rules of Evidence, the court shall admit the testimony or evidence, and the trier of fact shall give it whatever weight the trier of fact considers to be appropriate.

(2) Division (E)(1) of this section does not limit or preclude a court, in its determination of whether the arrest of a person was supported by probable cause or its determination of any other matter in a criminal prosecution or juvenile court proceeding of a type described in that division, from considering evidence or testimony that is not otherwise disallowed by division (E)(1) of this section.

(F)(1) Subject to division (F)(3) of this section, in any criminal prosecution or juvenile court proceeding for a violation of this section or for an equivalent violation, the court shall admit as prima-facie evidence a laboratory report from any laboratory personnel issued a permit by the department of health authorizing an analysis as described in this division that contains an analysis of the whole blood, blood serum or plasma, breath, urine, or other bodily substance tested and that contains all of the information specified in this division. The laboratory report shall contain all of the following:

(a) The signature, under oath, of any person who performed the analysis;

(b) Any findings as to the identity and quantity of alcohol, a drug of abuse, a controlled substance, a metabolite of a controlled substance, or a combination of them that was found;

(c) A copy of a notarized statement by the laboratory director or a designee of the director that contains the name of each certified analyst or test performer involved with the report, the analyst's or test performer's employment relationship with the laboratory that issued the report, and a notation that performing an analysis of the type involved is part of the analyst's or test performer's regular duties;

(d) An outline of the analyst's or test performer's education, training, and experience in performing the type of analysis involved and a certification that the laboratory satisfies appropriate quality control standards in general and, in this particular analysis, under rules of the department of health.

(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of law regarding the admission of evidence, a report of the type described in division (F)(1) of this section is not admissible against the defendant or child to whom it pertains in any proceeding, other than a preliminary hearing or a grand jury proceeding, unless the prosecutor has served a copy of the report on the defendant's or child's attorney or, if the defendant or child has no attorney, on the defendant or child.

(3) A report of the type described in division (F)(1) of this section shall not be prima-facie evidence of the contents, identity, or amount of any substance if, within seven days after the defendant or child to whom the report pertains or the defendant's or child's attorney receives a copy of the report, the defendant or child or the defendant's or child's attorney demands the testimony of the person who signed the report. The judge in the case may extend the seven-day time limit in the interest of justice.

(G) Except as otherwise provided in this division, any physician, registered nurse, or qualified technician, chemist, or phlebotomist who withdraws blood from a person pursuant to this section, and a hospital, first-aid station, or clinic at which blood is withdrawn from a person pursuant to this section, is immune from criminal and civil liability based upon a claim of assault and battery or any other claim that is not a claim of malpractice, for any act performed in withdrawing blood from the person. The immunity provided in this division is not available to a person who withdraws blood if the person engages in willful or wanton misconduct.

(H) Division (A)(6) of this section does not apply to a person who operates or is in physical control of a vessel underway or manipulates any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device while the person has a concentration of a listed controlled substance or a listed metabolite of a controlled substance in the person's whole blood, blood serum or plasma, or urine that equals or exceeds the amount specified in that division, if both of the following apply:

(1) The person obtained the controlled substance pursuant to a prescription issued by a licensed health professional authorized to prescribe drugs.

(2) The person injected, ingested, or inhaled the controlled substance in accordance with the health professional's directions.

(I) As used in this section and section 1547.111 [1547.11.1] of the Revised Code:

(1) "Equivalent violation" means a violation of a municipal ordinance, law of another state, or law of the United States that is substantially equivalent to division (A) or (B) of this section.

(2) "National highway traffic safety administration" has the same meaning as in section 4511.19 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Operate" means that a vessel is being used on the waters in this state when the vessel is not securely affixed to a dock or to shore or to any permanent structure to which the vessel has the right to affix or that a vessel is not anchored in a designated anchorage area or boat camping area that is established by the United States coast guard, this state, or a political subdivision and in which the vessel has the right to anchor.

(4) "Controlled substance" and "marihuana" have the same meanings as in section 3719.01 of the Revised Code.

(5) "Cocaine" and "L.S.D." have the same meanings as in section 2925.01 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by section 26 of H.B. 87.

The provisions of § 5 of S.B. 123 (149 v —), as amended by § 3 of H.B. 163 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 5. (A) Notwithstanding division (B) of section 1.58 of the Revised Code, the provisions of the Revised Code amended or enacted in Sections 1 and 2 of Am. Sub. S.B. 123 of the 124th General Assembly shall apply only in relation to conduct and offenses committed on or after January 1, 2004. Conduct and offenses committed prior to January 1, 2004, shall be governed by the law in effect on the date the conduct or offense was committed. * * *

(A)(1) Any person who operates or is in physical control of a vessel or manipulates any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device upon any waters in this state shall be deemed to have given consent to a chemical test or tests to determine the alcohol, drug of abuse, controlled substance, metabolite of a controlled substance, or combination content of the person's whole blood, blood serum or plasma, breath, or urine if arrested for operating or being in physical control of a vessel or manipulating any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device in violation of section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance.

(2) The test or tests under division (A) of this section shall be administered at the direction of a law enforcement officer having reasonable grounds to believe the person was operating or in physical control of a vessel or manipulating any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device in violation of section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance. The law enforcement agency by which the officer is employed shall designate which test or tests shall be administered.

(B) Any person who is dead or unconscious or who otherwise is in a condition rendering the person incapable of refusal shall be deemed to have consented as provided in division (A)(1) of this section, and the test or tests may be administered, subject to sections 313.12 to 313.16 of the Revised Code.

(C) Any person under arrest for violating section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance shall be advised of the consequences of refusing to submit to a chemical test or tests designated as provided in division (A) of this section. The advice shall be in a written form prescribed by the chief of the division of watercraft and shall be read to the person. The form shall contain a statement that the form was shown to the person under arrest and read to the person by the arresting officer. The reading of the form shall be witnessed by one or more persons, and the witnesses shall certify to this fact by signing the form. The person must submit to the chemical test or tests, subsequent to the request of the arresting officer, within two hours of the time of the alleged violation, and if the person does not submit to the test or tests within that two-hour time limit, the failure to submit automatically constitutes a refusal to submit to the test or tests.

(D) If a law enforcement officer asks a person under arrest for violating section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance to submit to a chemical test or tests as provided in division (A) of this section, if the arresting officer advises the person of the consequences of the person's refusal as provided in division (C) of this section, and if the person refuses to submit, no chemical test shall be given. Upon receipt of a sworn statement of the officer that the arresting law enforcement officer had reasonable grounds to believe the arrested person, violated section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance and that the person refused to submit to the chemical test upon the request of the officer, and upon receipt of the form as provided in division (C) of this section certifying that the arrested person was advised of the consequences of the refusal, the chief of the division of watercraft shall inform the person by written notice that the person is prohibited from operating or being in physical control of a vessel, from manipulating any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device, and from registering any watercraft in accordance with section 1547.54 of the Revised Code, for one year following the date of the alleged violation. The suspension of these operation, physical control, manipulation, and registration privileges shall continue for the entire one-year period, subject to review as provided in this section.

If the person under arrest is the owner of the vessel involved in the alleged violation, the law enforcement officer who arrested the person shall seize the watercraft registration certificate and tags from the vessel involved in the violation and forward them to the chief. The chief shall retain the impounded registration certificate and tags and shall impound all other registration certificates and tags issued to the person in accordance with sections 1547.54 and 1547.57 of the Revised Code, for a period of one year following the date of the alleged violation, subject to review as provided in this section.

If the arrested person fails to surrender the registration certificate because it is not on the person of the arrested person or in the watercraft, the law enforcement officer who made the arrest shall order the person to surrender it within twenty-four hours to the law enforcement officer or the law enforcement agency that employs the law enforcement officer. If the person fails to do so, the law enforcement officer shall notify the chief of that fact in the statement the officer submits to the chief under this division.

(E) Upon suspending a person's operation, physical control, manipulation, and registration privileges in accordance with division (D) of this section, the chief shall notify the person in writing, at the person's last known address, and inform the person that the person may petition for a hearing in accordance with division (F) of this section. If a person whose operation, physical control, manipulation, and registration privileges have been suspended petitions for a hearing or appeals any adverse decision, the suspension shall begin at the termination of any hearing or appeal unless the hearing or appeal results in a decision favorable to the person.

(F) Any person who has been notified by the chief that the person is prohibited from operating or being in physical control of a vessel or manipulating any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device and from registering any watercraft in accordance with section 1547.54 of the Revised Code, or who has had the registration certificate and tags of the person's watercraft impounded pursuant to division (D) of this section, within twenty days of the notification or impoundment, may file a petition in the municipal court or the county court, or if the person is a minor in juvenile court, with jurisdiction over the place at which the arrest occurred, agreeing to pay the cost of the proceedings and alleging error in the action taken by the chief under division (D) of this section or alleging one or more of the matters within the scope of the hearing as provided in this section, or both. The petitioner shall notify the chief of the filing of the petition and send the chief a copy of the petition.

The scope of the hearing is limited to the issues of whether the law enforcement officer had reasonable grounds to believe the petitioner was operating or in physical control of a vessel or manipulating any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device in violation of section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance, whether the petitioner was placed under arrest, whether the petitioner refused to submit to the chemical test upon request of the officer, and whether the petitioner was advised of the consequences of the petitioner's refusal.

(G)(1) The chief shall furnish the court a copy of the affidavit as provided in division (C) of this section and any other relevant information requested by the court.

(2) In hearing the matter and in determining whether the person has shown error in the decision taken by the chief as provided in division (D) of this section, the court shall decide the issue upon the relevant, competent, and material evidence submitted by the chief or the person whose operation, physical control, manipulation, and registration privileges have been suspended.

In the proceedings, the chief shall be represented by the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the petition is filed if the petition is filed in a county court or juvenile court, except that if the arrest occurred within a city or village within the jurisdiction of the county court in which the petition is filed, the city director of law or village solicitor of that city or village shall represent the chief. If the petition is filed in the municipal court, the chief shall be represented as provided in section 1901.34 of the Revised Code.

(3) If the court finds from the evidence submitted that the person has failed to show error in the action taken by the chief under division (D) of this section or in one or more of the matters within the scope of the hearing as provided in division (F) of this section, or both, the court shall assess the cost of the proceeding against the person and shall uphold the suspension of the operation, physical control, use, and registration privileges provided in division (D) of this section. If the court finds that the person has shown error in the action taken by the chief under division (D) of this section or in one or more of the matters within the scope of the hearing as provided in division (F) of this section, or both, the cost of the proceedings shall be paid out of the county treasury of the county in which the proceedings were held, the chief shall reinstate the operation, physical control, manipulation, and registration privileges of the person without charge, and the chief shall return the registration certificate and tags, if impounded, without charge.

(4) The court shall give information in writing of any action taken under this section to the chief.

(H) At the end of any period of suspension or impoundment imposed under this section, and upon request of the person whose operation, physical control, use, and registration privileges were suspended or whose registration certificate and tags were impounded, the chief shall reinstate the person's operation, physical control, manipulation, and registration privileges by written notice and return the certificate and tags.

(I) No person who has received written notice from the chief that the person is prohibited from operating of being in physical control of a vessel, from manipulating any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device, and from registering a watercraft, or who has had the registration certificate and tags of the person's watercraft impounded, in accordance with division (D) of this section, shall operate or be in physical control of a vessel or manipulate any water skis, aquaplane, or similar device for a period of one year following the date of the person's alleged violation of section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or the substantially equivalent municipal ordinance.

CHAPTER 2111: GUARDIANS; CONSERVATORSHIPS

As used in Chapters 2101. to 2131. of the Revised Code:

(A) "Guardian," other than a guardian under sections 5905.01 to 5905.19 of the Revised Code, means any person, association, or corporation appointed by the probate court to have the care and management of the person, the estate, or both of an incompetent or minor. When applicable, "guardian" includes, but is not limited to, a limited guardian, an interim guardian, a standby guardian, and an emergency guardian appointed pursuant to division (B) of section 2111.02 of the Revised Code. "Guardian" also includes an agency under contract with the department of mental retardation and developmental disabilities for the provision of protective service under sections 5123.55 to 5123.59 of the Revised Code when appointed by the probate court to have the care and management of the person of an incompetent.

(B) "Ward" means any person for whom a guardian is acting or for whom the probate court is acting pursuant to section 2111.50 of the Revised Code.

(C) "Resident guardian" means a guardian appointed by a probate court to have the care and management of property in this state that belongs to a nonresident ward.

(D) "Incompetent" means any person who is so mentally impaired as a result of a mental or physical illness or disability, or mental retardation, or as a result of chronic substance abuse, that the person is incapable of taking proper care of the person's self or property or fails to provide for the person's family or other persons for whom the person is charged by law to provide, or any person confined to a correctional institution within this state.

(E) "Next of kin" means any person who would be entitled to inherit from a ward under Chapter 2105. of the Revised Code if the ward dies intestate.

(F) "Conservator" means a conservator appointed by the probate court in an order of conservatorship issued pursuant to section 2111.021 [2111.02.1] of the Revised Code.

(G) "Parent" means a natural parent or adoptive parent of a minor child whose parental rights and responsibilities have not been terminated by a juvenile court or another court.

The provisions of § 3 of SB 46 (143 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. The amendments to the definition of an incompetent in section 2111.01 of the Revised Code that are made by this act do not affect any guardianship of the person, the estate, or the person and estate of an incompetent that was established prior to the effective date of this act and that was based upon advanced age, chronic alcoholism, or physical disability or infirmity.

§ 2111.02 Appointment of guardian or limited, interim, emergency, or standby guardian.

(A) When found necessary, the probate court on its own motion or on application by any interested party shall appoint, subject to divisions (C) and (D) of this section and to section 2109.21 and division (B) of section 2111.121 [2111.12.1] of the Revised Code, a guardian of the person, the estate, or both, of a minor or incompetent, provided the person for whom the guardian is to be appointed is a resident of the county or has a legal settlement in the county and, except in the case of a minor, has had the opportunity to have the assistance of counsel in the proceeding for the appointment of such guardian. An interested party includes, but is not limited to, a person nominated in a durable power of attorney as described in division (D) of section 1337.09 of the Revised Code or in a writing as described in division (A) of section 2111.121 [2111.12.1] of the Revised Code.

Except when the guardian of an incompetent is an agency under contract with the department of mental retardation and developmental disabilities for the provision of protective services under sections 5123.55 to 5123.59 of the Revised Code, the guardian of an incompetent, by virtue of such appointment, shall be the guardian of the minor children of the guardian's ward, unless the court appoints some other person as their guardian.

When the primary purpose of the appointment of a guardian is, or was, the collection, disbursement, or administration of moneys awarded by the veterans administration to the ward, or assets derived from such moneys, no court costs shall be charged in the proceeding for the appointment or in any subsequent proceedings made in pursuance of the appointment, unless the value of the estate, including the moneys then due under the veterans administration award, exceeds one thousand five hundred dollars.

(B)(1) If the probate court finds it to be in the best interest of an incompetent or minor, it may appoint pursuant to divisions (A) and (C) of this section, on its own motion or on application by an interested party, a limited guardian with specific limited powers. The sections of the Revised Code, rules, and procedures governing guardianships apply to a limited guardian, except that the order of appointment and letters of authority of a limited guardian shall state the reasons for, and specify the limited powers of, the guardian. The court may appoint a limited guardian for a definite or indefinite period. An incompetent or minor for whom a limited guardian has been appointed retains all of the incompetent's or minor's rights in all areas not affected by the court order appointing the limited guardian.

(2) If a guardian appointed pursuant to division (A) of this section is temporarily or permanently removed or resigns, and if the welfare of the ward requires immediate action, at any time after the removal or resignation, the probate court may appoint, ex parte and with or without notice to the ward or interested parties, an interim guardian for a maximum period of fifteen days. If the court appoints the interim guardian ex parte or without notice to the ward, the court, at its first opportunity, shall enter upon its journal with specificity the reason for acting ex parte or without notice, and, as soon as possible, shall serve upon the ward a copy of the order appointing the interim guardian. For good cause shown, after notice to the ward and interested parties and after hearing, the court may extend an interim guardianship for a specified period, but not to exceed an additional thirty days.

(3) If a minor or incompetent has not been placed under a guardianship pursuant to division (A) of this section and if an emergency exists, and if it is reasonably certain that immediate action is required to prevent significant injury to the person or estate of the minor or incompetent, at any time after it receives notice of the emergency, the court, ex parte, may issue any order that it considers necessary to prevent injury to the person or estate of the minor or incompetent, or may appoint an emergency guardian for a maximum period of seventy-two hours. A written copy of any order issued by a court under this division shall be served upon the incompetent or minor as soon as possible after its issuance. Failure to serve such an order after its issuance or prior to the taking of any action under its authority does not invalidate the order or the actions taken. The powers of an emergency guardian shall be specified in the letters of appointment, and shall be limited to those powers that are necessary to prevent injury to the person or estate of the minor or incompetent. If the court acts ex parte or without notice to the minor or incompetent, the court, at its first opportunity, shall enter upon its journal a record of the case and, with specificity, the reason for acting ex parte or without notice. For good cause shown, after notice to the minor or incompetent and interested parties, and after hearing, the court may extend an emergency guardianship for a specified period, but not to exceed an additional thirty days.

(C) Prior to the appointment of a guardian or limited guardian under division (A) or (B)(1) of this section, the court shall conduct a hearing on the matter of the appointment. The hearing shall be conducted in accordance with all of the following:

(1) The proposed guardian or limited guardian shall appear at the hearing and, if appointed, shall swear under oath that the proposed guardian or limited guardian has made and will continue to make diligent efforts to file a true inventory in accordance with section 2111.14 of the Revised Code and find and report all assets belonging to the estate of the ward and that the proposed guardian or limited guardian faithfully and completely will fulfill the other duties of guardian, including the filing of timely and accurate reports and accountings;

(2) If the hearing is conducted by a referee, the procedures set forth in Civil Rule 53 shall be followed;

(3) If the hearing concerns the appointment of a guardian or limited guardian for an alleged incompetent, the burden of proving incompetency shall be by clear and convincing evidence;

(4) Upon request of the applicant, the alleged incompetent for whom the appointment is sought or the alleged incompetent's counsel, or any interested party, a recording or record of the hearing shall be made;

(5) Evidence of a less restrictive alternative to guardianship may be introduced, and when introduced, shall be considered by the court;

(6) The court may deny a guardianship based upon a finding that a less restrictive alternative to guardianship exists;

(7) If the hearing concerns the appointment of a guardian or limited guardian for an alleged incompetent, the alleged incompetent has all of the following rights:

(a) The right to be represented by independent counsel of his choice;

(b) The right to have a friend or family member of his choice present;

(c) The right to have evidence of an independent expert evaluation introduced;

(d) If the alleged incompetent is indigent, upon his request:

(i) The right to have counsel and an independent expert evaluator appointed at court expense;

(ii) If the guardianship, limited guardianship, or standby guardianship decision is appealed, the right to have counsel appointed and necessary transcripts for appeal prepared at court expense.

(D) When a person has been nominated to be a guardian of the estate of a minor in or pursuant to a durable power of attorney as described in division (D) of section 1337.09 of the Revised Code or a writing as described in division (A) of section 2111.121 [2111.12.1] of the Revised Code, the person nominated has preference in appointment over a person selected by the minor. A person who has been nominated to be a guardian of the person of a minor in or pursuant to a durable power of attorney or writing of that nature does not have preference in appointment over a person selected by the minor, but the probate court may appoint the person named in the durable power of attorney or the writing, the person selected by the minor, or another person as guardian of the person of the minor.

§ 2111.03 Application for appointment as guardian.

A person applying for appointment as a guardian, including, but not limited to, as a limited guardian, pursuant to section 2111.02 of the Revised Code, shall file with the probate court an application that contains a statement of the whole estate of the ward, its probable value, and the probable annual rents of the ward's real property, and that also contains the following:

(A) A statement whether the applicant ever has been charged with or convicted of any crime involving theft, physical violence, or sexual, alcohol, or substance abuse, and, if the applicant has been so charged or convicted, the date and place of each charge and each conviction;

(B) A statement whether a limited guardianship is sought and, if sought, a specification of the limited powers that are requested and a statement whether the limited guardianship is to be for a definite or indefinite period;

(C) In the case of an application for the appointment of a guardian of a minor, all of the following:

(1) Name, age, and residence of the minor;

(2) Name and residence of each parent of the minor;

(3) Name, degree of kinship, age, and address of next of kin of the minor, if no parent is living or if a parent of the minor is absent, under disability, or for other reason cannot be notified;

(4) Name and residence address of the person having custody of the minor.

(D) In the case of an application for the appointment of a guardian of an alleged incompetent, all of the following:

(1) Name, age, and residence of the person for whom such appointment is sought;

(2) Facts upon which the application is based;

(3) Name, degree of kinship, age, and address of the next of kin of the alleged incompetent.

The court, on its own motion, shall proceed as provided in this chapter, upon suggestion by the bureau of workers' compensation that any person who has made application for or been awarded compensation or death benefits as an employee or the dependent of a killed employee is a minor or incompetent. In that case, no application need be filed and the bureau shall furnish the court with the name and residence of such person and the name, degree of kinship, age, and address of the father, mother, or next of kin of such person insofar as known by the bureau.

[§ 2111.03.1] § 2111.031 Appointment of physicians and other persons to determine need for guardianship.

In connection with an application for the appointment of a guardian for an alleged incompetent, the court may appoint physicians and other qualified persons to examine, investigate, or represent the alleged incompetent, to assist the court in deciding whether a guardianship is necessary. If the person is determined to be an incompetent and a guardian is appointed for him, the costs, fees, or expenses incurred to so assist the court shall be charged either against the estate of the person or against the applicant, unless the court determines, for good cause shown, that the costs, fees, or expenses are to be recovered from the county, in which case they shall be charged against the county. If the person is not determined to be an incompetent or a guardian is not appointed for him, the costs, fees, or expenses incurred to so assist the court shall be charged against the applicant, unless the court determines, for good cause shown, that the costs, fees, or expenses are to be recovered from the county, in which case they shall be charged against the county.

A court may require the applicant to make an advance deposit of an amount that the court determines is necessary to defray the anticipated costs of examinations of an alleged incompetent and to cover fees or expenses to be incurred to assist it in deciding whether a guardianship is necessary.

This section does not affect or apply to the duties of a probate court investigator under sections 2111.04 and 2111.041 [2111.04.1] of the Revised Code.

§ 2111.04 Notice of appointment.

(A) Except for an interim or emergency guardian appointed under division (B)(2) or (3) of section 2111.02 of the Revised Code, no guardian of the person, the estate, or both shall be appointed until at least seven days after the probate court has caused written notice, setting forth the time and place of the hearing, to be served as follows:

(1) In the appointment of the guardian of a minor, notice shall be served:

(a) Upon the minor, if over the age of fourteen, by personal service;

(b) Upon each parent of the minor whose name and address is known or with reasonable diligence can be ascertained, provided the parent is free from disability other than minority;

(c) Upon the next of kin of the minor who are known to reside in this state, if there is no living parent, the name and address of the parent cannot be ascertained, or the parent is under disability other than minority;

(d) Upon the person having the custody of the minor.

(2) In the appointment of the guardian of an incompetent, notice shall be served:

(a)(i) Upon the person for whom appointment is sought by personal service by a probate court investigator, or in the manner provided in division (A)(2)(a)(ii) of this section. The notice shall be in boldface type and shall inform the alleged incompetent, in boldface type, of his rights to be present at the hearing, to contest any application for the appointment of a guardian for his person, estate, or both, and to be represented by an attorney and of all of the rights set forth in division (C)(7) of section 2111.02 of the Revised Code.

(ii) If the person for whom appointment is sought is a resident of, or has a legal settlement in, the county in which the court has jurisdiction, but is absent from that county, the probate court may designate, by order, a temporary probate court investigator, in lieu of a regular probate court investigator appointed or designated under section 2101.11 of the Revised Code, to make the personal service of the notice described in division (A)(2)(a)(i) of this section upon the person for whom appointment is sought.

(b) Upon the next of kin of the person for whom appointment is sought who are known to reside in this state.

(B) After service of notice in accordance with division (A) of this section and for good cause shown, the court may appoint a guardian prior to the time limitation specified in that division.

(C) Notice may not be waived by the person for whom the appointment is sought.

(D) From the service of notice until the hearing, no sale, gift, conveyance, or encumbrance of the property of an alleged incompetent shall be valid as to persons having notice of the proceeding.

The effective date is set by section 4 of SB 46.

§ 2111.06 Guardian of the person.

If the powers of the person appointed as guardian of a minor or incompetent are not limited by the order of appointment, such person shall be guardian both of the person and estate of the ward. In every instance the court shall appoint the same person as guardian of the person and estate of any such ward, unless in the opinion of the court the interests of the ward will be promoted by the appointment of different persons as guardians of the person and of the estate.

A guardian of the person of a minor shall be appointed as to a minor having neither father nor mother, or whose parents are unsuitable persons to have the custody and tuition of such minor, or whose interests, in the opinion of the court, will be promoted thereby. A guardian of the person shall have the custody and provide for the maintenance of the ward, and if the ward is a minor, such guardian shall also provide for the education of such ward.

Before exercising its jurisdiction to appoint a guardian of a minor, the court shall comply with the jurisdictional standards of sections 3127.01 to 3127.53 of the Revised Code.

§ 2111.07 Powers of guardian of person and estate.

Each person appointed guardian of the person and estate of a minor shall have the custody and tuition of his ward and the management of such ward's estate during minority, unless such guardian is removed or discharged from such trust or the guardianship terminates from any of the causes specified in Chapters 2101. to 2131., inclusive, of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: GC § 10507-7; 114 v 320(385); Bureau of Code Revision. Eff 10-1-53.

The wife and husband are the joint natural guardians of their minor children and are equally charged with their care, nurture, welfare, and education and the care and management of their estates. The wife and husband have equal powers, rights, and duties and neither parent has any right paramount to the right of the other concerning the parental rights and responsibilities for the care of the minor or the right to be the residential parent and legal custodian of the minor, the control of the services or the earnings of such minor, or any other matter affecting the minor; provided that if either parent, to the exclusion of the other, is maintaining and supporting the child, that parent shall have the paramount right to control the services and earnings of the child. Neither parent shall forcibly take a child from the guardianship of the parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian of the child.

If the wife and husband live apart, the court may award the guardianship of a minor to either parent, and the state in which the parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian or who otherwise has the lawful custody of the minor resides has jurisdiction to determine questions concerning the minor's guardianship.

§ 2111.13 Duties of guardian of person; use of ward's estate; consent to autopsy or post-mortem examination; authorization of autopsy or disposition of ward's body.

(A) When a guardian is appointed to have the custody and maintenance of a ward, and to have charge of the education of the ward if the ward is a minor, the guardian's duties are as follows:

- (1) To protect and control the person of the ward;
- (2) To provide suitable maintenance for the ward when necessary, which shall be paid out of the estate of such ward upon the order of the guardian of the person;
- (3) To provide such maintenance and education for such ward as the amount of the ward's estate justifies when the ward is a minor and has no father or mother, or has a father or mother who fails to maintain or educate the ward, which shall be paid out of such ward's estate upon the order of the guardian of the person;
- (4) To obey all the orders and judgments of the probate court touching the guardianship.

(B) Except as provided in section 2111.131 [2111.13.1] of the Revised Code, no part of the ward's estate shall be used for the support, maintenance, or education of such ward unless ordered and approved by the court.

(C) A guardian of the person may authorize or approve the provision to the ward of medical, health, or other professional care, counsel, treatment, or services unless the ward or an interested party files objections with the probate court, or the court, by rule or order, provides otherwise.

(D) Unless a person with the right of disposition for a ward under section 2108.70 or 2108.81 of the Revised Code has made a decision regarding whether or not consent to an autopsy or post-mortem examination on the body of the deceased ward under section 2108.50 of the Revised Code shall be given, a guardian of the person of a ward who has died may consent to the autopsy or post-mortem examination.

(E) If a deceased ward did not have a guardian of the estate, the estate is not required to be administered by a probate court, and a person with the right of disposition for a ward, as described in section 2108.70 or 2108.81 of the Revised Code, has not made a decision regarding the disposition of the ward's body or remains, the guardian of the person of the ward may authorize the burial or cremation of the ward.

(F) A guardian who gives consent or authorization as described in divisions (D) and (E) of this section shall notify the probate court as soon as possible after giving the consent or authorization.

§ 2111.23 Guardian ad litem.

Whenever a ward, for whom a guardian of the estate or of the person and estate has been appointed, is interested in any suit or proceeding in the probate court, such guardian shall in all such suits or proceedings act as guardian ad litem for such ward, except as to suits or proceedings in which the guardian has an adverse interest. Whenever a minor or other person under legal disability, for whom no guardian of the estate or of the person and estate has been appointed, is interested in any suit or proceeding in such court, the court may appoint a guardian or a guardian ad litem. In a suit or proceeding in which the guardian has an adverse interest, the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem to represent such minor or other person under legal disability.

HISTORY: GC § 10507-26; 114 v 320(389); Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 125 v 411. Eff 10-16-53.

When a guardian has been appointed for a minor before such minor is over fourteen years of age, such guardian's power shall continue until the ward arrives at the age of majority, unless removed for good cause or unless such ward selects another suitable guardian. After such selection is made and approved by the probate court and the person selected is appointed and qualified, the powers of the former guardian shall cease. Thereupon his final account as guardian shall be filed and settled in court.

Upon the termination of a guardianship of the person, estate, or both of a minor before such minor reaches eighteen years of age, if a successor guardian is not appointed and if the court finds that such minor is without proper care, the court shall certify a copy of its finding together with as much of the record and such further information as the court deems necessary, or as the juvenile court may request, to the juvenile court for further proceedings and thereupon such court shall have exclusive jurisdiction respecting such child.

TITLE 23: COURTS — COMMON PLEAS

CHAPTER 2301: ORGANIZATION

(A) In Franklin county, the judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 1, 1953, January 2, 1953, January 5, 1969, January 5, 1977, and January 2, 1997, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Franklin county and shall be elected and designated as judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations. They shall have all the powers relating to juvenile courts, and all cases under Chapters 2151. and 2152. of the Revised Code, all parentage proceedings under Chapter 3111. of the Revised Code over which the juvenile court has jurisdiction, and all divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases shall be assigned to them. In addition to the judge's regular duties, the judge who is senior in point of service shall serve on the children services board and the county advisory board and shall be the administrator of the domestic relations division and its subdivisions and departments.

(B) In Hamilton county:

(1) The judge of the court of common pleas, whose term begins on January 1, 1957, and successors, and the judge of the court of common pleas, whose term begins on February 14, 1967, and successors, shall be the juvenile judges as provided in Chapters 2151. and 2152. of the Revised Code, with the powers and jurisdiction conferred by those chapters.

(2) The judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 5, 1957, January 16, 1981, and July 1, 1991, and successors, shall be elected and designated as judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, and shall have assigned to them all divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases coming before the court. On or after the first day of July and before the first day of August of 1991 and each year thereafter, a majority of the judges of the division of domestic relations shall elect one of the judges of the division as administrative judge of that division. If a majority of the judges of the division of domestic relations are unable for any reason to elect an administrative judge for the division before the first day of August, a majority of the judges of the Hamilton county court of common pleas, as soon as possible after that date, shall elect one of the judges of the division of domestic relations as administrative judge of that division. The term of the administrative judge shall begin on the earlier of the first day of August of the year in which the administrative judge is elected or the date on which the administrative judge is elected by a majority of the judges of the Hamilton county court of common pleas and shall terminate on the date on which the administrative judge's successor is elected in the following year.

In addition to the judge's regular duties, the administrative judge of the division of domestic relations shall be the administrator of the domestic relations division and its subdivisions and departments and shall have charge of the employment, assignment, and supervision of the personnel of the division engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases, including any referees considered necessary by the judges in the discharge of their various duties.

The administrative judge of the division of domestic relations also shall designate the title, compensation, expense allowances, hours, leaves of absence, and vacations of the personnel of the division, and shall fix the duties of its personnel. The duties of the personnel, in addition to those provided for in other sections of the Revised Code, shall include the handling, servicing, and investigation of divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases and counseling and conciliation services that may be made available to persons requesting them, whether or not the persons are parties to an action pending in the division.

The board of county commissioners shall appropriate the sum of money each year as will meet all the administrative expenses of the division of domestic relations, including reasonable expenses of the domestic relations judges and the division counselors and other employees designated to conduct the handling, servicing, and investigation of divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases, conciliation and counseling, and all matters relating to those cases and counseling, and the expenses involved in the attendance of division personnel at domestic relations and welfare conferences designated by the division, and the further sum each year as will provide for the adequate operation of the division of domestic relations.

The compensation and expenses of all employees and the salary and expenses of the judges shall be paid by the county treasurer from the money appropriated for the operation of the division, upon the warrant of the county auditor, certified to by the administrative judge of the division of domestic relations.

The summonses, warrants, citations, subpoenas, and other writs of the division may issue to a bailiff, constable, or staff investigator of the division or to the sheriff of any county or any marshal, constable, or police officer, and the provisions of law relating to the subpoenaing of witnesses in other cases shall apply insofar as they are applicable. When a summons, warrant, citation, subpoena, or other writ is issued to an officer, other than a bailiff, constable, or staff investigator of the division, the expense of serving it shall be assessed as a part of the costs in the case involved.

(3) The judge of the court of common pleas of Hamilton county whose term begins on January 3, 1997, and the successor to that judge whose term begins on January 3, 2003, shall each be elected and designated for one term only as the drug court judge of the court of common pleas of Hamilton county. The successors to the judge whose term begins on January 3, 2003, shall be elected and designated as judges of the general division of the court of common pleas of Hamilton county and shall not have the authority granted by division (B)(3) of this section. The drug court judge may accept or reject any case referred to the drug court judge under division (B)(3) of this section. After the drug court judge accepts a referred case, the drug court judge has full authority over the case, including the authority to conduct arraignment, accept pleas, enter findings and dispositions, conduct trials, order treatment, and if treatment is not successfully completed pronounce and enter sentence.

A judge of the general division of the court of common pleas of Hamilton county and a judge of the Hamilton county municipal court may refer to the drug court judge any case, and any companion cases, the judge determines meet the criteria described under divisions (B)(3)(a) and (b) of this section. If the drug court judge accepts referral of a referred case, the case, and any companion cases, shall be transferred to the drug court judge. A judge may refer a case meeting the criteria described in divisions (B)(3)(a) and (b) of this section that involves a violation of a condition of a community control sanction to the drug court judge, and, if the drug court judge accepts the referral, the referring judge and the drug court judge have concurrent jurisdiction over the case.

A judge of the general division of the court of common pleas of Hamilton county and a judge of the Hamilton county municipal court may refer a case to the drug court judge under division (B)(3) of this section if the judge determines that both of the following apply:

(a) One of the following applies:

(i) The case involves a drug abuse offense, as defined in section 2925.01 of the Revised Code, that is a felony of the third or fourth degree if the offense is committed prior to July 1, 1996, a felony of the third, fourth, or fifth degree if the offense is committed on or after July 1, 1996, or a misdemeanor.

(ii) The case involves a theft offense, as defined in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code, that is a felony of the third or fourth degree if the offense is committed prior to July 1, 1996, a felony of the third, fourth, or fifth degree if the offense is committed on or after July 1, 1996, or a misdemeanor, and the defendant is drug or alcohol dependent or in danger of becoming drug or alcohol dependent and would benefit from treatment.

(b) All of the following apply:

(i) The case involves an offense for which a community control sanction may be imposed or is a case in which a mandatory prison term or a mandatory jail term is not required to be imposed.

(ii) The defendant has no history of violent behavior.

(iii) The defendant has no history of mental illness.

(iv) The defendant's current or past behavior, or both, is drug or alcohol driven.

(v) The defendant demonstrates a sincere willingness to participate in a fifteen-month treatment process.

(vi) The defendant has no acute health condition.

(vii) If the defendant is incarcerated, the county prosecutor approves of the referral.

(4) If the administrative judge of the court of common pleas of Hamilton county determines that the volume of cases pending before the drug court judge does not constitute a sufficient caseload for the drug court judge, the administrative judge, in accordance with the Rules of Superintendence for Courts of Common Pleas, shall assign individual cases to the drug court judge from the general docket of the court. If the assignments so occur, the administrative judge shall cease the assignments when the administrative judge determines that the volume of cases pending before the drug court judge constitutes a sufficient caseload for the drug court judge.

(5) As used in division (B) of this section, "community control sanction," "mandatory prison term," and "mandatory jail term" have the same meanings as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

(C)(1) In Lorain county:

(a) The judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 3, 1959, January 4, 1989, January 2, 1999, and February 9, 2009, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as the other judges of the court of common pleas of Lorain county and shall be elected and designated as the judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations. They shall have all of the powers relating to juvenile courts, and all cases under Chapters 2151. and 2152. of the Revised Code, all parentage proceedings over which the juvenile court has jurisdiction, and all divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases shall be assigned to them, except cases that for some special reason are assigned to some other judge of the court of common pleas.

(b) On and after January 1, 2006, the judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, in addition to the powers and jurisdiction set forth in division (C)(1)(a) of this section, shall have jurisdiction over matters that are within the jurisdiction of the probate court under Chapter 2101. and other provisions of the Revised Code. From January 1, 2006, through February 8, 2009, the judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, shall exercise probate jurisdiction concurrently with the probate judge.

(c) The judge of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, whose term begins on February 9, 2009, is the successor to the probate judge who was elected in 2002 for a term that began on February 9, 2003.

(2)(a) From January 1, 2006, through February 8, 2009, with respect to Lorain county, all references in law to the probate court shall be construed as references to both the probate court and the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, and all references in law to the probate judge shall be construed as references to both the probate judge and the judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations. On and after February 9, 2009, with respect to Lorain county, all references in law to the probate court shall be construed as references to the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, and all references to the probate judge shall be construed as references to the judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations.

(b) On and after February 9, 2009, with respect to Lorain county, all references in law to the clerk of the probate court shall be construed as references to the judge who is serving pursuant to Rule 4 of the Rules of Superintendence for the Courts of Ohio as the administrative judge of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations.

(D) In Lucas county:

(1) The judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 1, 1955, and January 3, 1965, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Lucas county and shall be elected and designated as judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations. All divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases shall be assigned to them.

The judge of the division of domestic relations, senior in point of service, shall be considered as the presiding judge of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, and shall be charged exclusively with the assignment and division of the work of the division and the employment and supervision of all other personnel of the domestic relations division.

(2) The judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 5, 1977, and January 2, 1991, and successors shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Lucas county, shall be elected and designated as judges of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, and shall be the juvenile judges as provided in Chapters 2151. and 2152. of the Revised Code with the powers and jurisdictions conferred by those chapters. In addition to the judge's regular duties, the judge of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, senior in point of service, shall be the administrator of the juvenile division and its subdivisions and departments and shall have charge of the employment, assignment, and supervision of the personnel of the division engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating juvenile cases, including any referees considered necessary by the judges of the division in the discharge of their various duties.

The judge of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, senior in point of service, also shall designate the title, compensation, expense allowance, hours, leaves of absence, and vacation of the personnel of the division and shall fix the duties of the personnel of the division. The duties of the personnel, in addition to other statutory duties include the handling, servicing, and investigation of juvenile cases and counseling and conciliation services that may be made available to persons requesting them, whether or not the persons are parties to an action pending in the division.

(3) If one of the judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, or one of the judges of the juvenile division is sick, absent, or unable to perform that judge's judicial duties or the volume of cases pending in that judge's division necessitates it, the duties shall be performed by the judges of the other of those divisions.

(E) In Mahoning county:

(1) The judge of the court of common pleas whose term began on January 1, 1955, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Mahoning county, shall be elected and designated as judge of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, and shall be assigned all the divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases coming before the court. In addition to the judge's regular duties, the judge of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, shall be the administrator of the domestic relations division and its subdivisions and departments and shall have charge of the employment, assignment, and supervision of the personnel of the division engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases, including any referees considered necessary in the discharge of the various duties of the judge's office.

The judge also shall designate the title, compensation, expense allowances, hours, leaves of absence, and vacations of the personnel of the division and shall fix the duties of the personnel of the division. The duties of the personnel, in addition to other statutory duties, include the handling, servicing, and investigation of divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases and counseling and conciliation services that may be made available to persons requesting them, whether or not the persons are parties to an action pending in the division.

(2) The judge of the court of common pleas whose term began on January 2, 1969, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Mahoning county, shall be elected and designated as judge of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, and shall be the juvenile judge as provided in Chapters 2151. and 2152. of the Revised Code, with the powers and jurisdictions conferred by those chapters. In addition to the judge's regular duties, the judge of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, shall be the administrator of the juvenile division and its subdivisions and departments and shall have charge of the employment, assignment, and supervision of the personnel of the division engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating juvenile cases, including any referees considered necessary by the judge in the discharge of the judge's various duties.

The judge also shall designate the title, compensation, expense allowances, hours, leaves of absence, and vacation of the personnel of the division and shall fix the duties of the personnel of the division. The duties of the personnel, in addition to other statutory duties, include the handling, servicing, and investigation of juvenile cases and counseling and conciliation services that may be made available to persons requesting them, whether or not the persons are parties to an action pending in the division.

(3) If a judge of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations or juvenile division, is sick, absent, or unable to perform that judge's judicial duties, or the volume of cases pending in that judge's division necessitates it, that judge's duties shall be performed by another judge of the court of common pleas.

(F) In Montgomery county:

(1) The judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 2, 1953, and January 4, 1977, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Montgomery county and shall be elected and designated as judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations. These judges shall have assigned to them all divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases.

The judge of the division of domestic relations, senior in point of service, shall be charged exclusively with the assignment and division of the work of the division and shall have charge of the employment and supervision of the personnel of the division engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases, including any necessary referees, except those employees who may be appointed by the judge, junior in point of service, under this section and sections 2301.12, 2301.18, and 2301.19 of the Revised Code. The judge of the division of domestic relations, senior in point of service, also shall designate the title, compensation, expense allowances, hours, leaves of absence, and vacation of the personnel of the division and shall fix their duties.

(2) The judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 1, 1953, and January 1, 1993, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Montgomery county, shall be elected and designated as judges of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, and shall be, and have the powers and jurisdiction of, the juvenile judge as provided in Chapters 2151. and 2152. of the Revised Code.

In addition to the judge's regular duties, the judge of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, senior in point of service, shall be the administrator of the juvenile division and its subdivisions and departments and shall have charge of the employment, assignment, and supervision of the personnel of the juvenile division, including any necessary referees, who are engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating juvenile cases. The judge, senior in point of service, also shall designate the title, compensation, expense allowances, hours, leaves of absence, and vacation of the personnel of the division and shall fix their duties. The duties of the personnel, in addition to other statutory duties, shall include the handling, servicing, and investigation of juvenile cases and of any counseling and conciliation services that are available upon request to persons, whether or not they are parties to an action pending in the division.

If one of the judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, or one of the judges of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, is sick, absent, or unable to perform that judge's duties or the volume of cases pending in that judge's division necessitates it, the duties of that judge may be performed by the judge or judges of the other of those divisions.

(G) In Richland county:

(1) The judge of the court of common pleas whose term begins on January 1, 1957, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as the other judges of the court of common pleas of Richland county and shall be elected and designated as judge of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations. That judge shall be assigned and hear all divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases, all domestic violence cases arising under section 3113.31 of the Revised Code, and all post-decree proceedings arising from any case pertaining to any of those matters. The division of domestic relations has concurrent jurisdiction with the juvenile division of the court of common pleas of Richland county to determine the care, custody, or control of any child not a ward of another court of this state, and to hear and determine a request for an order for the support of any child if the request is not ancillary to an action for divorce, dissolution of marriage, annulment, or legal separation, a criminal or civil action involving an allegation of domestic violence, or an action for support brought under Chapter 3115. of the Revised Code. Except in cases that are subject to the exclusive original jurisdiction of the juvenile court, the judge of the division of domestic relations shall be assigned and hear all cases pertaining to paternity or parentage, the care, custody, or control of children, parenting time or visitation, child support, or the allocation of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of children, all proceedings arising under Chapter 3111. of the Revised Code, all proceedings arising under the uniform interstate family support act contained in Chapter 3115. of the Revised Code, and all post-decree proceedings arising from any case pertaining to any of those matters.

In addition to the judge's regular duties, the judge of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations, shall be the administrator of the domestic relations division and its subdivisions and departments. The judge shall have charge of the employment, assignment, and supervision of the personnel of the domestic relations division, including any magistrates the judge considers necessary for the discharge of the judge's duties. The judge shall also designate the title, compensation, expense allowances, hours, leaves of absence, vacation, and other employment-related matters of the personnel of the division and shall fix their duties.

(2) The judge of the court of common pleas whose term begins on January 3, 2005, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Richland county, shall be elected and designated as judge of the court of common pleas, juvenile division, and shall be, and have the powers and jurisdiction of, the juvenile judge as provided in Chapters 2151. and 2152. of the Revised Code. Except in cases that are subject to the exclusive original jurisdiction of the juvenile court, the judge of the juvenile division shall not have jurisdiction or the power to hear, and shall not be assigned, any case pertaining to paternity or parentage, the care, custody, or control of children, parenting time or visitation, child support, or the allocation of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of children or any post-decree proceeding arising from any case pertaining to any of those matters. The judge of the juvenile division shall not have jurisdiction or the power to hear, and shall not be assigned, any proceeding under the uniform interstate family support act contained in Chapter 3115. of the Revised Code.

In addition to the judge's regular duties, the judge of the juvenile division shall be the administrator of the juvenile division and its subdivisions and departments. The judge shall have charge of the employment, assignment, and supervision of the personnel of the juvenile division who are engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating juvenile cases, including any magistrates whom the judge considers necessary for the discharge of the judge's various duties.

The judge of the juvenile division also shall designate the title, compensation, expense allowances, hours, leaves of absence, and vacation of the personnel of the division and shall fix their duties. The duties of the personnel, in addition to other statutory duties, include the handling, servicing, and investigation of juvenile cases and providing any counseling, conciliation, and mediation services that the court makes available to persons, whether or not the persons are parties to an action pending in the court, who request the services.

(H) In Stark county, the judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 1, 1953, January 2, 1959, and January 1, 1993, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Stark county and shall be elected and designated as judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations. They shall have all the powers relating to juvenile courts, and all cases under Chapters 2151. and 2152. of the Revised Code, all parentage proceedings over which the juvenile court has jurisdiction, and all divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases, except cases that are assigned to some other judge of the court of common pleas for some special reason, shall be assigned to the judges.

The judge of the division of domestic relations, second most senior in point of service, shall have charge of the employment and supervision of the personnel of the division engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases, and necessary referees required for the judge's respective court.

The judge of the division of domestic relations, senior in point of service, shall be charged exclusively with the administration of sections 2151.13, 2151.16, 2151.17, and 2152.71 of the Revised Code and with the assignment and division of the work of the division and the employment and supervision of all other personnel of the division, including, but not limited to, that judge's necessary referees, but excepting those employees who may be appointed by the judge second most senior in point of service. The senior judge further shall serve in every other position in which the statutes permit or require a juvenile judge to serve.

(I) In Summit county:

(1) The judges of the court of common pleas whose terms begin on January 4, 1967, and January 6, 1993, and successors, shall have the same qualifications, exercise the same powers and jurisdiction, and receive the same compensation as other judges of the court of common pleas of Summit county and shall be elected and designated as judges of the court of common pleas, division of domestic relations. The judges of the division of domestic relations shall have assigned to them and hear all divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases that come before the court. Except in cases that are subject to the exclusive original jurisdiction of the juvenile court, the judges of the division of domestic relations shall have assigned to them and hear all cases pertaining to paternity, custody, visitation, child support, or the allocation of parental rights and responsibilities for the care of children and all post-decree proceedings arising from any case pertaining to any of those matters. The judges of the division of domestic relations shall have assigned to them and hear all proceedings under the uniform interstate family support act contained in Chapter 3115. of the Revised Code.

The judge of the division of domestic relations, senior in point of service, shall be the administrator of the domestic relations division and its subdivisions and departments and shall have charge of the employment, assignment, and supervision of the personnel of the division, including any necessary referees, who are engaged in handling, servicing, or investigating divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases. That judge also shall designate the title, compensation, expense allowances, hours, leaves of absence, and vacations of the personnel of the division and shall fix their duties. The duties of the personnel, in addition to other statutory duties, shall include the handling, servicing, and investigation of divorce, dissolution of marriage, legal separation, and annulment cases and of any counseling and conciliation services that are available upon request to all persons, whether or not they are parties to an action pending in the division.

The provisions of §§ 7 and 8, H.B. 38 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 7. The General Assembly hereby declares that its intent in amending division (AA) of section 2301.03 of the Revised Code in Sections 1 and 2 of this act is to clarify the jurisdiction and the administration of the Division of Domestic Relations of the Muskingum County Court of Common Pleas, that it does not believe that the amendments so made to that division are substantive in nature, and that it believes that the version of that division resulting from this act is substantively the same as the version of that division in existence immediately prior to the effective date of this act.

SECTION 8. Section 2301.03 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by Sub. H.B. 26, Am. Sub. H.B. 86 (effective January 1, 2004), and Am. Sub. H.B. 95 (effective January 1, 2004), all of the 125th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

The provisions of § 7 of H.B. 86 (150 v —) read as follows:

Section 7. Section 2301.03 of the Revised Code is presented in Section 3 of this act as a composite of the section as amended by Sub. H.B. 26 of the 125th General Assembly and Am. Sub. H.B. 490 and Am. Sub. H.B. 530, both of the 124th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in Section 3 of this act.

The provisions of § 219 of H.B. 95 (150 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 219. The version of section 2301.03 of the Revised

Code that is scheduled to take effect January 1, 2004, is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Am. Sub. H.B. 490 and Am. Sub. H.B. 530 of the 124th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

The provisions of § 7 of HB 530 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 7. The amendment by this act to division (B)(3) of section 2301.33 [RC § 2301.33 is not affected by HB 530. The reference should be to 2301.03, amended by HB 8 and HB 530.] of the Revised Code is identical to the amendment of that division of that section by Sub. H.B. 8 of the 124th General Assembly. The United States District Court of the Southern District of Ohio, in Bookfriends, Inc. v. Taft, 232 F. Supp.2d 932 (2002), issued a preliminary injunction enjoining to an uncertain extent the operation of Sub. H.B. 8. By thus re-enacting the amendment of Sub. H.B. 8 to division (B)(3) of section 2301.33 of the Revised Code, the General Assembly intends to confirm that the amendment is nevertheless effective as part of the law.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2301.03 of the Revised Code is amended (effective January 1, 2004) in Section 3.13 of [Am. Sub. H.B. 95 of the 125th General Assembly] and also by Am. Sub. H.B. 490 of the 124th General Assembly and Sub. H.B. 26 of the 125th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

TITLE 25: COURTS — APPELLATE

CHAPTER 2501: COURT OF APPEALS

§ 2501.02 Qualifications and term of judge; jurisdiction.

Each judge of a court of appeals shall have been admitted to practice as an attorney at law in this state and have, for a total of six years preceding the judge's appointment or commencement of the judge's term, engaged in the practice of law in this state or served as a judge of a court of record in any jurisdiction in the United States, or both. One judge shall be chosen in each court of appeals district every two years, and shall hold office for six years, beginning on the ninth day of February next after the judge's election.

In addition to the original jurisdiction conferred by Section 3 of Article IV, Ohio Constitution, the court shall have jurisdiction upon an appeal upon questions of law to review, affirm, modify, set aside, or reverse judgments or final orders of courts of record inferior to the court of appeals within the district, including the finding, order, or judgment of a juvenile court that a child is delinquent, neglected, abused, or dependent, for prejudicial error committed by such lower court.

The court, on good cause shown, may issue writs of supersedeas in any case, and all other writs, not specially provided for or prohibited by statute, necessary to enforce the administration of justice.

Publisher's Note:

Section 2.02(B) of SB 108 (149 v —) repeals the HB 350 (146 v —) version and section 3(A)(3) revises and amends the former version.

CHAPTER 2505: PROCEDURE ON APPEAL

[§ 2505.07.3] § 2505.073 Minor may appeal denial of abortion without notice to parent, guardian or custodian.

(A) A complainant whose complaint under section 2151.85 of the Revised Code is dismissed by a juvenile court, may appeal in accordance with this section. Within four days after a notice of appeal is filed in an action arising under that section, the clerk of the juvenile court shall deliver a copy of the notice of appeal and the record on appeal to the clerk of the court of appeals named in the notice. Upon receipt of the notice and record, the clerk of the court of appeals shall place the appeal on the docket of the court.

The appellant shall file her brief within four days after the appeal is docketed. Unless the appellant waives the right to oral argument, the court of appeals shall hear oral argument within five days after the appeal is docketed. The court of appeals shall enter judgment in the appeal immediately after the oral argument or, if oral argument has been waived, within five days after the appeal is docketed.

No filing fee shall be required of, and no court costs shall be assessed against, an appellant who appeals under this section.

Upon motion of the appellant and for good cause shown, the court of appeals may shorten or extend any of the maximum times set forth in this division. However, in any case, if judgment is not entered within five days after the appeal is docketed, the failure to enter the judgment shall be considered to be a constructive order of the court authorizing the appellant to consent to the performance or inducement of an abortion without the notification of her parent, guardian, or custodian, and the appellant and any other person may rely on the constructive order to the same extent as if the court actually had entered a judgment under this section authorizing the appellant to consent to the performance or inducement of an abortion without such notification.

In the interest of justice, the court of appeals, in an appeal in accordance with this section, shall liberally modify or dispense with the formal requirements that normally apply as to the contents and form of an appellant's brief.

(B) All proceedings under division (A) of this section shall be conducted in a manner that will preserve the anonymity of the appellant on appeal. All papers and records that pertain to an appeal under this section shall be kept confidential and are not public records under section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

TITLE 27: COURTS — GENERAL PROVISIONS — SPECIAL REMEDIES

CHAPTER 2743: COURT OF CLAIMS

§ 2743.70 Additional court costs and bail to be charged.

(A)(1) The court, in which any person is convicted of or pleads guilty to any offense other than a traffic offense that is not a moving violation, shall impose the following sum as costs in the case in addition to any other court costs that the court is required by law to impose upon the offender:

- (a) Thirty dollars, if the offense is a felony;
- (b) Nine dollars, if the offense is a misdemeanor.

The court shall not waive the payment of the thirty or nine dollars court costs, unless the court determines that the offender is indigent and waives the payment of all court costs imposed upon the indigent offender. All such moneys shall be transmitted on the first business day of each month by the clerk of the court to the treasurer of state and deposited by the treasurer in the reparations fund.

(2) The juvenile court in which a child is found to be a delinquent child or a juvenile traffic offender for an act which, if committed by an adult, would be an offense other than a traffic offense that is not a moving violation, shall impose the following sum as costs in the case in addition to any other court costs that the court is required or permitted by law to impose upon the delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender:

- (a) Thirty dollars, if the act, if committed by an adult, would be a felony;
- (b) Nine dollars, if the act, if committed by an adult, would be a misdemeanor.

The thirty or nine dollars court costs shall be collected in all cases unless the court determines the juvenile is indigent and waives the payment of all court costs, or enters an order on its journal stating that it has determined that the juvenile is indigent, that no other court costs are to be taxed in the case, and that the payment of the thirty or nine dollars court costs is waived. All such moneys collected during a month shall be transmitted on or before the twentieth day of the following month by the clerk of the court to the treasurer of state and deposited by the treasurer in the reparations fund.

(B) Whenever a person is charged with any offense other than a traffic offense that is not a moving violation and posts bail pursuant to sections 2937.22 to 2937.46 of the Revised Code, Criminal Rule 46, or Traffic Rule 4, the court shall add to the amount of the bail the thirty or nine dollars required to be paid by division (A)(1) of this section. The thirty or nine dollars shall be retained by the clerk of the court until the person is convicted, pleads guilty, forfeits bail, is found not guilty, or has the charges dismissed. If the person is convicted, pleads guilty, or forfeits bail, the clerk shall transmit the thirty or nine dollars to the treasurer of state, who shall deposit it in the reparations fund. If the person is found not guilty or the charges are dismissed, the clerk shall return the thirty or nine dollars to the person.

(C) No person shall be placed or held in jail for failing to pay the additional thirty or nine dollars court costs or bail that are required to be paid by this section.

(D) As used in this section:

(1) "Moving violation" means any violation of any statute or ordinance, other than section 4513.263 [4513.26.3] of the Revised Code or an ordinance that is substantially equivalent to that section, that regulates the operation of vehicles, streetcars, or trackless trolleys on highways or streets or that regulates size or load limitations or fitness requirements of vehicles. "Moving violation" does not include the violation of any statute or ordinance that regulates pedestrians or the parking of vehicles.

(2) "Bail" means cash, a check, a money order, a credit card, or any other form of money that is posted by or for an offender pursuant to sections 2937.22 to 2937.46 of the Revised Code, Criminal Rule 46, or Traffic Rule 4 to prevent the offender from being placed or held in a detention facility, as defined in section 2921.01 of the Revised Code.

[IN GENERAL]

§ 2901.01 Definitions.

(A) As used in the Revised Code:

(1) "Force" means any violence, compulsion, or constraint physically exerted by any means upon or against a person or thing.

(2) "Deadly force" means any force that carries a substantial risk that it will proximately result in the death of any person.

(3) "Physical harm to persons" means any injury, illness, or other physiological impairment, regardless of its gravity or duration.

(4) "Physical harm to property" means any tangible or intangible damage to property that, in any degree, results in loss to its value or interferes with its use or enjoyment. "Physical harm to property" does not include wear and tear occasioned by normal use.

(5) "Serious physical harm to persons" means any of the following:

(a) Any mental illness or condition of such gravity as would normally require hospitalization or prolonged psychiatric treatment;

(b) Any physical harm that carries a substantial risk of death;

(c) Any physical harm that involves some permanent incapacity, whether partial or total, or that involves some temporary, substantial incapacity;

(d) Any physical harm that involves some permanent disfigurement or that involves some temporary, serious disfigurement;

(e) Any physical harm that involves acute pain of such duration as to result in substantial suffering or that involves any degree of prolonged or intractable pain.

(6) "Serious physical harm to property" means any physical harm to property that does either of the following:

(a) Results in substantial loss to the value of the property or requires a substantial amount of time, effort, or money to repair or replace;

(b) Temporarily prevents the use or enjoyment of the property or substantially interferes with its use or enjoyment for an extended period of time.

(7) "Risk" means a significant possibility, as contrasted with a remote possibility, that a certain result may occur or that certain circumstances may exist.

(8) "Substantial risk" means a strong possibility, as contrasted with a remote or significant possibility, that a certain result may occur or that certain circumstances may exist.

(9) "Offense of violence" means any of the following:

(a) A violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, 2903.03, 2903.04, 2903.11, 2903.12, 2903.13, 2903.15, 2903.21, 2903.211 [2903.21.1], 2903.22, 2905.01, 2905.02, 2905.11, 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.05, 2909.02, 2909.03, 2909.24, 2911.01, 2911.02, 2911.11, 2917.01, 2917.02, 2917.03, 2917.31, 2919.25, 2921.03, 2921.04, 2921.34, or 2923.161 [2923.16.1], of division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of section 2911.12, or of division (B)(1), (2), (3), or (4) of section 2919.22 of the Revised Code or felonious sexual penetration in violation of former section 2907.12 of the Revised Code;

(b) A violation of an existing or former municipal ordinance or law of this or any other state or the United States, substantially equivalent to any section, division, or offense listed in division (A)(9)(a) of this section;

(c) An offense, other than a traffic offense, under an existing or former municipal ordinance or law of this or any other state or the United States, committed purposely or knowingly, and involving physical harm to persons or a risk of serious physical harm to persons;

(d) A conspiracy or attempt to commit, or complicity in committing, any offense under division (A)(9)(a), (b), or (c) of this section.

(10)(a) "Property" means any property, real or personal, tangible or intangible, and any interest or license in that property. "Property" includes, but is not limited to, cable television service, other telecommunications service, telecommunications devices, information service, computers, data, computer software, financial instruments associated with computers, other documents associated with computers, or copies of the documents, whether in machine or human readable form, trade secrets, trademarks, copyrights, patents, and property protected by a trademark, copyright, or patent. "Financial instruments associated with computers" include, but are not limited to, checks, drafts, warrants, money orders, notes of indebtedness, certificates of deposit, letters of credit, bills of credit or debit cards, financial transaction authorization mechanisms, marketable securities, or any computer system representations of any of them.

(b) As used in division (A)(10) of this section, "trade secret" has the same meaning as in section 1333.61 of the Revised Code, and "telecommunications service" and "information service" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(c) As used in divisions (A)(10) and (13) of this section, "cable television service," "computer," "computer software," "computer system," "computer network," "data," and "telecommunications device" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(11) "Law enforcement officer" means any of the following:

(a) A sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, police officer of a township or joint township police district, marshal, deputy marshal, municipal police officer, member of a police force employed by a metropolitan housing authority under division (D) of section 3735.31 of the Revised Code, or state highway patrol trooper;

(b) An officer, agent, or employee of the state or any of its agencies, instrumentalities, or political subdivisions, upon whom, by statute, a duty to conserve the peace or to enforce all or certain laws is imposed and the authority to arrest violators is conferred, within the limits of that statutory duty and authority;

(c) A mayor, in the mayor's capacity as chief conservator of the peace within the mayor's municipal corporation;

(d) A member of an auxiliary police force organized by county, township, or municipal law enforcement authorities, within the scope of the member's appointment or commission;

(e) A person lawfully called pursuant to section 311.07 of the Revised Code to aid a sheriff in keeping the peace, for the purposes and during the time when the person is called;

(f) A person appointed by a mayor pursuant to section 737.01 of the Revised Code as a special patrolling officer during riot or emergency, for the purposes and during the time when the person is appointed;

(g) A member of the organized militia of this state or the armed forces of the United States, lawfully called to duty to aid civil authorities in keeping the peace or protect against domestic violence;

(h) A prosecuting attorney, assistant prosecuting attorney, secret service officer, or municipal prosecutor;

(i) A veterans' home police officer appointed under section 5907.02 of the Revised Code;

(j) A member of a police force employed by a regional transit authority under division (Y) of section 306.35 of the Revised Code;

(k) A special police officer employed by a port authority under section 4582.04 or 4582.28 of the Revised Code;

(l) The house of representatives sergeant at arms if the house of representatives sergeant at arms has arrest authority pursuant to division (E)(1) of section 101.311 [101.31.1] of the Revised Code and an assistant house of representatives sergeant at arms;

(m) A special police officer employed by a municipal corporation at a municipal airport, or other municipal air navigation facility, that has scheduled operations, as defined in section 119.3 of Title 14 of the Code of Federal Regulations, 14 C.F.R. 119.3, as amended, and that is required to be under a security program and is governed by aviation security rules of the transportation security administration of the United States department of transportation as provided in Parts 1542. and 1544. of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations, as amended.

(12) "Privilege" means an immunity, license, or right conferred by law, bestowed by express or implied grant, arising out of status, position, office, or relationship, or growing out of necessity.

(13) "Contraband" means any property that is illegal for a person to acquire or possess under a statute, ordinance, or rule, or that a trier of fact lawfully determines to be illegal to possess by reason of the property's involvement in an offense. "Contraband" includes, but is not limited to, all of the following:

(a) Any controlled substance, as defined in section 3719.01 of the Revised Code, or any device or paraphernalia;

(b) Any unlawful gambling device or paraphernalia;

(c) Any dangerous ordinance or obscene material.

(14) A person is "not guilty by reason of insanity" relative to a charge of an offense only if the person proves, in the manner specified in section 2901.05 of the Revised Code, that at the time of the commission of the offense, the person did not know, as a result of a severe mental disease or defect, the wrongfulness of the person's acts.

(B)(1)(a) Subject to division (B)(2) of this section, as used in any section contained in Title XXIX [29] of the Revised Code that sets forth a criminal offense, "person" includes all of the following:

(i) An individual, corporation, business trust, estate, trust, partnership, and association;

(ii) An unborn human who is viable.

(b) As used in any section contained in Title XXIX [29] of the Revised Code that does not set forth a criminal offense, "person" includes an individual, corporation, business trust, estate, trust, partnership, and association.

(c) As used in division (B)(1)(a) of this section:

(i) "Unborn human" means an individual organism of the species Homo sapiens from fertilization until live birth.

(ii) "Viable" means the stage of development of a human fetus at which there is a realistic possibility of maintaining and nourishing of a life outside the womb with or without temporary artificial life-sustaining support.

(2) Notwithstanding division (B)(1)(a) of this section, in no case shall the portion of the definition of the term "person" that is set forth in division (B)(1)(a)(ii) of this section be applied or construed in any section contained in Title XXIX [29] of the Revised Code that sets forth a criminal offense in any of the following manners:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (B)(2)(a) of this section, in a manner so that the offense prohibits or is construed as prohibiting any pregnant woman or her physician from performing an abortion with the consent of the pregnant woman, with the consent of the pregnant woman implied by law in a medical emergency, or with the approval of one otherwise authorized by law to consent to medical treatment on behalf of the pregnant woman. An abortion that violates the conditions described in the immediately preceding sentence may be punished as a violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, 2903.03, 2903.04, 2903.05, 2903.06, 2903.08, 2903.11, 2903.12, 2903.13, 2903.14, 2903.21, or 2903.22 of the Revised Code, as applicable. An abortion that does not violate the conditions described in the second immediately preceding sentence, but that does violate section 2919.12, division (B) of section 2919.13, or section

2919.151 [2919.15.1], 2919.17, or 2919.18 of the Revised Code, may be punished as a violation of section 2919.12, division (B) of section 2919.13, or section 2919.151 [2919.15.1], 2919.17, or 2919.18 of the Revised Code, as applicable. Consent is sufficient under this division if it is of the type otherwise adequate to permit medical treatment to the pregnant woman, even if it does not comply with section 2919.12 of the Revised Code.

(b) In a manner so that the offense is applied or is construed as applying to a woman based on an act or omission of the woman that occurs while she is or was pregnant and that results in any of the following:

- (i) Her delivery of a stillborn baby;
- (ii) Her causing, in any other manner, the death in utero of a viable, unborn human that she is carrying;
- (iii) Her causing the death of her child who is born alive but who dies from one or more injuries that are sustained while the child is a viable, unborn human;
- (iv) Her causing her child who is born alive to sustain one or more injuries while the child is a viable, unborn human;
- (v) Her causing, threatening to cause, or attempting to cause, in any other manner, an injury, illness, or other physiological impairment, regardless of its duration or gravity, or a mental illness or condition, regardless of its duration or gravity, to a viable, unborn human that she is carrying.

(C) As used in Title XXIX [29] of the Revised Code:

(1) "School safety zone" consists of a school, school building, school premises, school activity, and school bus.

(2) "School," "school building," and "school premises" have the same meanings as in section 2925.01 of the Revised Code.

(3) "School activity" means any activity held under the auspices of a board of education of a city, local, exempted village, joint vocational, or cooperative education school district; a governing authority of a community school established under Chapter 3314. of the Revised Code; a governing board of an educational service center; or the governing body of a nonpublic school for which the state board of education prescribes minimum standards under section 3301.07 of the Revised Code.

(4) "School bus" has the same meaning as in section 4511.01 of the Revised Code.

The provisions of § 3(A) of 151 v H 241 read as follows:

SECTION 3. (A) Section 2901.01 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by Sub. H.B. 364, Sub. H.B. 545, and H.B. 675 of the 124th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composites are the resulting versions of the sections in effect prior to the effective date of the sections as presented in this act.

The provisions of § 4 of 151 v H 241 read as follows:

SECTION 4. Sections 1, 2, and 3 of this act shall take effect on July 1, 2007. If a criminal or civil forfeiture action relating to misconduct under Title XXIX of the Revised Code was or is commenced before July 1, 2007, and is still pending on that date, the court in which the case is pending shall, to the extent practical, apply the provisions of Chapter 2981. of the Revised Code in the case.

Analogous to former RC § 2901.01 (134 v H 511; 139 v H 437; 139 v S 199; 140 v S 183; 140 v H 632; 140 v H 129, §§ 1, 3; 141 v H 49, §§ 1, 3; 141 v S 69, §§ 1, 3; 141 v H 428; 142 v H 231; 142 v H 261), repealed 142 v H 708, § 2, eff 12-31-87.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

* * * Section 2901.01 [of] the Revised Code is amended by this act [H.B. 675] and also by Sub. H.B. 364 and Sub. H.B. 545, all of the 124th General Assembly. * * * Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

§ 2901.02 Classification of offenses.

As used in the Revised Code:

(A) Offenses include aggravated murder, murder, felonies of the first, second, third, fourth, and fifth degree, misdemeanors of the first, second, third, and fourth degree, minor misdemeanors, and offenses not specifically classified.

(B) Aggravated murder when the indictment or the count in the indictment charging aggravated murder contains one or more specifications of aggravating circumstances listed in division (A) of section 2929.04 of Revised Code, and any other offense for which death may be imposed as a penalty, is a capital offense.

(C) Aggravated murder and murder are felonies.

(D) Regardless of the penalty that may be imposed, any offense specifically classified as a felony is a felony, and any offense specifically classified as a misdemeanor is a misdemeanor.

(E) Any offense not specifically classified is a felony if imprisonment for more than one year may be imposed as a penalty.

(F) Any offense not specifically classified is a misdemeanor if imprisonment for not more than one year may be imposed as a penalty.

(G) Any offense not specifically classified is a minor misdemeanor if the only penalty that may be imposed is one of the following:

(1) For an offense committed prior to the effective date of this amendment, a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars;

(2) For an offense committed on or after the effective date of this amendment, a fine not exceeding one hundred fifty dollars, community service under division (C) of section 2929.27 of the Revised Code, or a financial sanction other than a fine under section 2929.28 of the Revised Code.

§ 2901.03 Common law offenses abrogated.

(A) No conduct constitutes a criminal offense against the state unless it is defined as an offense in the Revised Code.

(B) An offense is defined when one or more sections of the Revised Code state a positive prohibition or enjoin a specific duty, and provide a penalty for violation of such prohibition or failure to meet such duty.

(C) This section does not affect any power of the general assembly under section 8 of Article II, Ohio Constitution, nor does it affect the power of a court to punish for contempt or to employ any sanction authorized by law to enforce an order, civil judgment, or decree.

The effective date is set by section 4 of HB 511.

§ 2901.04 Rules of construction; references to previous conviction; interpretation of statutory references that define or specify a criminal offense.

(A) Except as otherwise provided in division (C) or (D) of this section, sections of the Revised Code defining offenses or penalties shall be strictly construed against the state, and liberally construed in favor of the accused.

(B) Rules of criminal procedure and sections of the Revised Code providing for criminal procedure shall be construed so as to effect the fair, impartial, speedy, and sure administration of justice.

(C) Any provision of a section of the Revised Code that refers to a previous conviction or of plea of guilty to a violation of a section of the Revised Code or of a division of a section of the Revised Code shall be construed to also refer to a previous conviction or of plea of guilty to a substantially equivalent offense under an existing or former law of this state, another state, or the United States or under an existing or former municipal ordinance.

(D) Any provision of the Revised Code that refers to a section, or to a division of a section, of the Revised Code that defines or specifies a criminal offense shall be construed to also refer to an existing or former law of this state, another state, or the United States, to an existing or former municipal ordinance, or to an existing or former division of any such existing or former law or ordinance that defines or specifies, or that defined or specified, a substantially equivalent offense.

Not analogous to former RC § 2901.04 (GC § 12402-1; 109 v 545; 111 v 77; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2901.05 Burden and degree of proof.

(A) Every person accused of an offense is presumed innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, and the burden of proof for all elements of the offense is upon the prosecution. The burden of going forward with the evidence of an affirmative defense, and the burden of proof, by a preponderance of the evidence, for an affirmative defense, is upon the accused.

(B) As part of its charge to the jury in a criminal case, the court shall read the definitions of "reasonable doubt" and "proof beyond a reasonable doubt," contained in division (D) of this section.

(C) As used in this section, an "affirmative defense" is either of the following:

(1) A defense expressly designated as affirmative;

(2) A defense involving an excuse or justification peculiarly within the knowledge of the accused, on which he can fairly be required to adduce supporting evidence.

(D) "Reasonable doubt" is present when the jurors, after they have carefully considered and compared all the evidence, cannot say they are firmly convinced of the truth of the charge. It is a doubt based on reason and common sense. Reasonable doubt is not mere possible doubt, because everything relating to human affairs or depending on moral evidence is open to some possible or imaginary doubt. "Proof beyond a reasonable doubt" is proof of such character that an ordinary person would be willing to rely and act upon it in the most important of his own affairs.

§ 2901.06 Battered woman syndrome testimony as evidence relevant to claim of self-defense.

(A) The general assembly hereby declares that it recognizes both of the following, in relation to the "battered woman syndrome:"

(1) That the syndrome currently is a matter of commonly accepted scientific knowledge;

(2) That the subject matter and details of the syndrome are not within the general understanding or experience of a person who is a member of the general populace and are not within the field of common knowledge.

(B) If a person is charged with an offense involving the use of force against another and the person, as a defense to the offense charged, raises the affirmative defense of self-defense, the person may introduce expert testimony of the "battered woman syndrome" and expert testimony that the person suffered from that syndrome as evidence to establish the requisite belief of an imminent danger of death or great bodily harm that is necessary, as an element of the affirmative defense, to justify the person's use of the force in question. The introduction of any expert testimony under this division shall be in accordance with the Ohio Rules of Evidence.

§ 2901.07 DNA testing of offenders.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "DNA analysis" and "DNA specimen" have the same meanings as in section 109.573 [109.57.3] of the Revised Code.

(2) "Jail" and "community-based correctional facility" have the same meanings as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Post-release control" has the same meaning as in section 2967.01 of the Revised Code.

(B)(1) Regardless of when the conviction occurred or the guilty plea was entered, a person who has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a felony offense and who is sentenced to a prison term or to a community residential sanction in a jail or community-based correctional facility for that offense pursuant to section 2929.16 of the Revised Code, and a person who has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section and who is sentenced to a term of imprisonment for that offense shall submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail or other detention facility in which the person is serving the term of imprisonment. If the person serves the prison term in a state correctional institution, the director of rehabilitation and correction shall cause the DNA specimen to be collected from the person during the intake process at the reception facility designated by the director. If the person serves the community residential sanction or term of imprisonment in a jail, a community-based correctional facility, or another county, multicounty, municipal, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal detention facility, the chief administrative officer of the jail, community-based correctional facility, or detention facility shall cause the DNA specimen to be collected from the person during the intake process at the jail, community-based correctional facility, or detention facility. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(2) Regardless of when the conviction occurred or the guilty plea was entered, if a person has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a felony offense or a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section, is serving a prison term, community residential sanction, or term of imprisonment for that offense, and does not provide a DNA specimen pursuant to division (B)(1) of this section, prior to the person's release from the prison term, community residential sanction, or imprisonment, the person shall submit to, and the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail, community-based correctional facility, or detention facility in which the person is serving the prison term, community residential sanction, or term of imprisonment shall administer, a DNA specimen collection procedure at the state correctional institution, jail, community-based correctional facility, or detention facility in which the person is serving the prison term, community residential sanction, or term of imprisonment. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(3)(a) Regardless of when the conviction occurred or the guilty plea was entered, if a person has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a felony offense or a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section and the person is on probation, released on parole, under transitional control, on community control, on post-release control, or under any other type of supervised release under the supervision of a probation department or the adult parole authority for that offense, the person shall submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the chief administrative officer of the probation department or the adult parole authority. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section. If the person refuses to submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure as provided in this division, the person may be subject to the provisions of section 2967.15 of the Revised Code.

(b) If a person to whom division (B)(3)(a) of this section applies is sent to jail or is returned to a jail, community-based correctional facility, or state correctional institution for a violation of the terms and conditions of the probation, parole, transitional control, other release, or post-release control, if the person was or will be serving a term of imprisonment, prison term, or community residential sanction for committing a felony offense or for committing a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section, and if the person did not provide a DNA specimen pursuant to division (B)(1), (2) or (3)(a) of this section, the person shall submit to, and the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail or community-based correctional facility shall administer, a DNA specimen collection procedure at the jail, community-based correctional facility, or state correctional institution in which the person is serving the term of imprisonment, prison term, or community residential sanction. The DNA specimen shall be collected from the person in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(4) Regardless of when the conviction occurred or the guilty plea was entered, if a person has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a felony offense or a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section, the person is not sentenced to a prison term, a community residential sanction in a jail or community-based correctional facility, a term of imprisonment, or any type of supervised release under the supervision of a probation department or the adult parole authority, and the person does not provide a DNA specimen pursuant to division (B)(1), (2), (3)(a), or (3)(b) of this section, the sentencing court shall order the person to report to the county probation department immediately after sentencing to submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the chief administrative officer of the county probation office. If the person is incarcerated at the time of sentencing, the person shall submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail or other detention facility in which the person is incarcerated. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(C) If the DNA specimen is collected by withdrawing blood from the person or a similarly invasive procedure, a physician, registered nurse, licensed practical nurse, duly licensed clinical laboratory technician, or other qualified medical practitioner shall collect in a medically approved manner the DNA specimen required to be collected pursuant to division (B) of this section. If the DNA specimen is collected by swabbing for buccal cells or a similarly noninvasive procedure, this section does not require that the DNA specimen be collected by a qualified medical practitioner of that nature. No later than fifteen days after the date of the collection of the DNA specimen, the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail, community-based correctional facility, or other county, multicounty, municipal, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal detention facility, in which the person is serving the prison term, community residential sanction, or term of imprisonment shall cause the DNA specimen to be forwarded to the bureau of criminal identification and investigation in accordance with procedures established by the superintendent of the bureau under division (H) of section 109.573 [109.57.3] of the Revised Code. The bureau shall provide the specimen vials, mailing tubes, labels, postage, and instructions needed for the collection and forwarding of the DNA specimen to the bureau.

(D) The director of rehabilitation and correction, the chief administrative officer of the jail, community-based correctional facility, or other county, multicounty, municipal, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal detention facility, or the chief administrative officer of a county probation department or the adult parole authority shall cause a DNA specimen to be collected in accordance with divisions (B) and (C) of this section from a person in its custody or under its supervision who has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to any felony offense or any of the following misdemeanor offenses:

(1) A misdemeanor violation, an attempt to commit a misdemeanor violation, or complicity in committing a misdemeanor violation of section 2907.04 of the Revised Code;

(2) A misdemeanor violation of any law that arose out of the same facts and circumstances and same act as did a charge against the person of a violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, 2905.01, 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.05, or 2911.11 of the Revised Code that previously was dismissed or amended or as did a charge against the person of a violation of section 2907.12 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to September 3, 1996, that previously was dismissed or amended;

(3) A misdemeanor violation of section 2919.23 of the Revised Code that would have been a violation of section 2905.04 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to July 1, 1996, had it been committed prior to that date;

(4) A sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense, both as defined in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code, that is a misdemeanor, if, in relation to that offense, the offender has been adjudicated a sexual predator, child-victim predator, habitual sex offender, or habitual child-victim offender, all as defined in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code

(E) The director of rehabilitation and correction may prescribe rules in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code to collect a DNA specimen, as provided in this section, from an offender whose supervision is transferred from another state to this state in accordance with the interstate compact for adult offender supervision described in section 5149.21 of the Revised Code.

§ 2901.07 DNA testing of offenders.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "DNA analysis" and "DNA specimen" have the same meanings as in section 109.573 [109.57.3] of the Revised Code.

(2) "Jail" and "community-based correctional facility" have the same meanings as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Post-release control" has the same meaning as in section 2967.01 of the Revised Code.

(B)(1) Regardless of when the conviction occurred or the guilty plea was entered, a person who has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a felony offense and who is sentenced to a prison term or to a community residential sanction in a jail or community-based correctional facility for that offense pursuant to section 2929.16 of the Revised Code, and a person who has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section and who is sentenced to a term of imprisonment for that offense shall submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail or other detention facility in which the person is serving the term of imprisonment. If the person serves the prison term in a state correctional institution, the director of rehabilitation and correction shall cause the DNA specimen to be collected from the person during the intake process at the reception facility designated by the director. If the person serves the community residential sanction or term of imprisonment in a jail, a community-based correctional facility, or another county, multicounty, municipal, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal detention facility, the chief administrative officer of the jail, community-based correctional facility, or detention facility shall cause the DNA specimen to be collected from the person during the intake process at the jail, community-based correctional facility, or detention facility. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(2) Regardless of when the conviction occurred or the guilty plea was entered, if a person has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a felony offense or a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section, is serving a prison term, community residential sanction, or term of imprisonment for that offense, and does not provide a DNA specimen pursuant to division (B)(1) of this section, prior to the person's release from the prison term, community residential sanction, or imprisonment, the person shall submit to, and the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail, community-based correctional facility, or detention facility in which the person is serving the prison term, community residential sanction, or term of imprisonment shall administer, a DNA specimen collection procedure at the state correctional institution, jail, community-based correctional facility, or detention facility in which the person is serving the prison term, community residential sanction, or term of imprisonment. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(3)(a) Regardless of when the conviction occurred or the guilty plea was entered, if a person has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a felony offense or a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section and the person is on probation, released on parole, under transitional control, on community control, on post-release control, or under any other type of supervised release under the supervision of a probation department or the adult parole authority for that offense, the person shall submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the chief administrative officer of the probation department or the adult parole authority. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section. If the person refuses to submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure as provided in this division, the person may be subject to the provisions of section 2967.15 of the Revised Code.

(b) If a person to whom division (B)(3)(a) of this section applies is sent to jail or is returned to a jail, community-based correctional facility, or state correctional institution for a violation of the terms and conditions of the probation, parole, transitional control, other release, or post-release control, if the person was or will be serving a term of imprisonment, prison term, or community residential sanction for committing a felony offense or for committing a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section, and if the person did not provide a DNA specimen pursuant to division (B)(1), (2) or (3)(a) of this section, the person shall submit to, and the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail or community-based correctional facility shall administer, a DNA specimen collection procedure at the jail, community-based correctional facility, or state correctional institution in which the person is serving the term of imprisonment, prison term, or community residential sanction. The DNA specimen shall be collected from the person in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(4) Regardless of when the conviction occurred or the guilty plea was entered, if a person has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to a felony offense or a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of this section, the person is not sentenced to a prison term, a community residential sanction in a jail or community-based correctional facility, a term of imprisonment, or any type of supervised release under the supervision of a probation department or the adult parole authority, and the person does not provide a DNA specimen pursuant to division (B)(1), (2), (3)(a), or (3)(b) of this section, the sentencing court shall order the person to report to the county probation department immediately after sentencing to submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the chief administrative officer of the county probation office. If the person is incarcerated at the time of sentencing, the person shall submit to a DNA specimen collection procedure administered by the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail or other detention facility in which the person is incarcerated. The DNA specimen shall be collected in accordance with division (C) of this section.

(C) If the DNA specimen is collected by withdrawing blood from the person or a similarly invasive procedure, a physician, registered nurse, licensed practical nurse, duly licensed clinical laboratory technician, or other qualified medical practitioner shall collect in a medically approved manner the DNA specimen required to be collected pursuant to division (B) of this section. If the DNA specimen is collected by swabbing for buccal cells or a similarly noninvasive procedure, this section does not require that the DNA specimen be collected by a qualified medical practitioner of that nature. No later than fifteen days after the date of the collection of the DNA specimen, the director of rehabilitation and correction or the chief administrative officer of the jail, community-based correctional facility, or other county, multicounty, municipal, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal detention facility, in which the person is serving the prison term, community residential sanction, or term of imprisonment shall cause the DNA specimen to be forwarded to the bureau of criminal identification and investigation in accordance with procedures established by the superintendent of the bureau under division (H) of section 109.573 [109.57.3] of the Revised Code. The bureau shall provide the specimen vials, mailing tubes, labels, postage, and instructions needed for the collection and forwarding of the DNA specimen to the bureau.

(D) The director of rehabilitation and correction, the chief administrative officer of the jail, community-based correctional facility, or other county, multicounty, municipal, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal detention facility, or the chief administrative officer of a county probation department or the adult parole authority shall cause a DNA specimen to be collected in accordance with divisions (B) and (C) of this section from a person in its custody or under its supervision who has been convicted of, is convicted of, has pleaded guilty to, or pleads guilty to any felony offense or any of the following misdemeanor offenses:

(1) A misdemeanor violation, an attempt to commit a misdemeanor violation, or complicity in committing a misdemeanor violation of section 2907.04 of the Revised Code;

(2) A misdemeanor violation of any law that arose out of the same facts and circumstances and same act as did a charge against the person of a violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, 2905.01, 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.05, or 2911.11 of the Revised Code that previously was dismissed or amended or as did a charge against the person of a violation of section 2907.12 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to September 3, 1996, that previously was dismissed or amended;

(3) A misdemeanor violation of section 2919.23 of the Revised Code that would have been a violation of section 2905.04 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to July 1, 1996, had it been committed prior to that date;

(4) A sexually oriented offense or a child-victim oriented offense, both as defined in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code, that is a misdemeanor, if, in relation to that offense, the offender is a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, as defined in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code

(E) The director of rehabilitation and correction may prescribe rules in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code to collect a DNA specimen, as provided in this section, from an offender whose supervision is transferred from another state to this state in accordance with the interstate compact for adult offender supervision described in section 5149.21 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

The provisions of § 3 of 151 v S 262 read as follows:

SECTION 3. (A) The General Assembly hereby declares that its purpose in amending section 2901.07 of the Revised Code in Sections 1 and 2 of this act is to reaffirm that it is the General Assembly's intent that, under that section as it existed prior to the effective date of this act, a person who is in any of the categories of offenders described in division (B)(1), (2), (3), or (4) of that section in relation to a conviction of or plea of guilty to a felony offense or a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of that section is subject to the DNA specimen collection provisions of divisions (B) and (C) of that section regardless of when the conviction of or plea of guilty to the felony offense or the misdemeanor offense occurs or is entered.

(B) The General Assembly declares that it believes that the amendments to section 2901.07 of the Revised Code made in Sections 1 and 2 of this act are not substantive in nature and merely clarify that divisions (B)(1), (2), (3), and (4) and (C) of that section operate as described in division (A) of this Section, and that the amendments to section 2901.07 of the Revised Code made in Sections 1 and 2 of this act thus are remedial in nature. The General Assembly declares that it intends that the clarifying, remedial amendments to section 2901.07 of the Revised Code made in Sections 1 and 2 of this act apply to all convicted offenders described in division (A) of this Section, regardless of when they were convicted of or pleaded guilty to the felony or the specified misdemeanor or are convicted of or plead guilty to the felony or the specified misdemeanor.

(C) In compliance with the Ohio Supreme Court decision in Van Fossen v. Babcock & Wilcox Co. (1988), 36 Ohio St.3d 100, and with section 1.48 of the Revised Code, the General Assembly expressly states its intent that the amendments to section 2901.07 of the Revised Code made in Sections 1 and 2 of this act shall apply retrospectively.

The provisions of § 4 of 151 v S 262 read as follows:

SECTION 4. This act is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety. The reason for such necessity is that the amendments made in Sections 1 and 2 of this act to section 2901.07 of the Revised Code are crucially needed to protect the residents of this state from the consequences that might result if crimes go unsolved because the DNA specimen collection provisions of that section are not applied to all persons who have been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a felony offense or a misdemeanor offense listed in division (D) of that section and are in any of the categories of offenders described in division (B)(1), (2), (3), or (4) of that section. Therefore, this act shall go into immediate effect.

151 v S 262, effective July 11, 2006, rewrote the section.

The effective date is set by § 612.12 of 151 v H 66.

Not analogous to former RC § 2901.07 (GC § 12401-1; 124 v 177; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, Eff 1-1-74.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

† Section 2901.07 of the Revised Code is amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 66 of the 126th General Assembly and Sub. H.B. 525 of the 125th General Assembly. H.B. 525 prevails, making the amendment by H.B. 66 ineffective. The amendment by H.B. 525 in effect repealed the section H.B. 66 attempted to amend.

§ 2901.08 Status of juvenile adjudication as prior conviction.

(A) If a person is alleged to have committed an offense and if the person previously has been adjudicated a delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender for a violation of a law or ordinance, except as provided in division (B) of this section, the adjudication as a delinquent child or as a juvenile traffic offender is a conviction for a violation of the law or ordinance for purposes of determining the offense with which the person should be charged and, if the person is convicted of or pleads guilty to an offense, the sentence to be imposed upon the person relative to the conviction or guilty plea.

(B) A previous adjudication of a person as a delinquent child or juvenile traffic offender for a violation of a law or ordinance is not a conviction for a violation of the law or ordinance for purposes of determining whether the person is a repeat violent offender, as defined in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code, or whether the person should be sentenced as a repeat violent offender under division (D)(2) of section 2929.14 and section 2941.149 [2941.14.9] of the Revised Code.

[JURISDICTION, VENUE, AND LIMITATION OF PROSECUTIONS]

§ 2901.11 Criminal law jurisdiction.

(A) A person is subject to criminal prosecution and punishment in this state if any of the following occur:

(1) The person commits an offense under the laws of this state, any element of which takes place in this state.

(2) While in this state, the person attempts to commit, or is guilty of complicity in the commission of, an offense in another jurisdiction, which offense is an offense under both the laws of this state and the other jurisdiction, or, while in this state, the person conspires to commit an offense in another jurisdiction, which offense is an offense under both the laws of this state and the other jurisdiction, and a substantial overt act in furtherance of the conspiracy is undertaken in this state by the person or another person involved in the conspiracy, subsequent to the person's entrance into the conspiracy. In any case in which a person attempts to commit, is guilty of complicity in the commission of, or conspires to commit an offense in another jurisdiction as described in this division, the person is subject to criminal prosecution and punishment in this state for the attempt, complicity, or conspiracy, and for any resulting offense that is committed or completed in the other jurisdiction.

(3) While out of this state, the person conspires or attempts to commit, or is guilty of complicity in the commission of, an offense in this state.

(4) While out of this state, the person omits to perform a legal duty imposed by the laws of this state, which omission affects a legitimate interest of the state in protecting, governing, or regulating any person, property, thing, transaction, or activity in this state.

(5) While out of this state, the person unlawfully takes or retains property and subsequently brings any of the unlawfully taken or retained property into this state.

(6) While out of this state, the person unlawfully takes or entices another and subsequently brings the other person into this state.

(7) The person, by means of a computer, computer system, computer network, telecommunication, telecommunications device, telecommunications service, or information service, causes or knowingly permits any writing, data, image, or other telecommunication to be disseminated or transmitted into this state in violation of the law of this state.

(B) In homicide, the element referred to in division (A)(1) of this section includes the act that causes death, the physical contact that causes death, the death itself, or any other element that is set forth in the offense in question. If any part of the body of a homicide victim is found in this state, the death is presumed to have occurred within this state.

(C)(1) This state includes the land and water within its boundaries and the air space above that land and water, with respect to which this state has either exclusive or concurrent legislative jurisdiction. Where the boundary between this state and another state or foreign country is disputed, the disputed territory is conclusively presumed to be within this state for purposes of this section.

(2) The courts of common pleas of Adams, Athens, Belmont, Brown, Clermont, Columbiana, Gallia, Hamilton, Jefferson, Lawrence, Meigs, Monroe, Scioto, and Washington counties have jurisdiction beyond the north or northwest shore of the Ohio river extending to the opposite shore line, between the extended boundary lines of any adjacent counties or adjacent state. Each of those courts of common pleas has concurrent jurisdiction on the Ohio river with any adjacent court of common pleas that borders on that river and with any court of Kentucky or of West Virginia that borders on the Ohio river and that has jurisdiction on the Ohio river under the law of Kentucky or the law of West Virginia, whichever is applicable, or under federal law.

(D) When an offense is committed under the laws of this state, and it appears beyond a reasonable doubt that the offense or any element of the offense took place either in this state or in another jurisdiction or jurisdictions, but it cannot reasonably be determined in which it took place, the offense or element is conclusively presumed to have taken place in this state for purposes of this section.

(E) When a person is subject to criminal prosecution and punishment in this state for an offense committed or completed outside of this state, the person is subject to all specifications for that offense that would be applicable if the offense had been committed within this state.

(F) Any act, conduct, or element that is a basis of a person being subject under this section to criminal prosecution and punishment in this state need not be committed personally by the person as long as it is committed by another person who is in complicity or conspiracy with the person.

(G) This section shall be liberally construed, consistent with constitutional limitations, to allow this state the broadest possible jurisdiction over offenses and persons committing offenses in, or affecting, this state.

(H) For purposes of division (A)(2) of this section, an overt act is substantial when it is of a character that manifests a purpose on the part of the actor that the object of the conspiracy should be completed.

(I) As used in this section, "computer," "computer system," "computer network," "information service," "telecommunication," "telecommunications device," "telecommunications service," "data," and "writing" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 144 v S 371 (Eff 1-17-93); 147 v H 565. Eff 3-30-99; 151 v S 20, § 1, eff. 7-13-05.

The provisions of § 3 of 151 v S 20 read as follows:

SECTION 3. The General Assembly hereby declares that it intends by the amendments made by Sections 1 and 2 of this act to prospectively overrule the decision of the Ohio Supreme Court in State v. Yarbrough (2004), 104 Ohio St. 3d 1.

Not analogous to former RC § 2901.11 (RS § 7388-52; 98 v 180; GC § 12408; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 125 v H 88; 132 v H 65; 133 v H 1), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, Eff 1-1-74.

§ 2901.12 Venue.

(A) The trial of a criminal case in this state shall be held in a court having jurisdiction of the subject matter, and in the territory of which the offense or any element of the offense was committed.

(B) When the offense or any element of the offense was committed in an aircraft, motor vehicle, train, watercraft, or other vehicle, in transit, and it cannot reasonably be determined in which jurisdiction the offense was committed, the offender may be tried in any jurisdiction through which the aircraft, motor vehicle, train, watercraft, or other vehicle passed.

(C) When the offense involved the unlawful taking or receiving of property or the unlawful taking or enticing of another, the offender may be tried in any jurisdiction from which or into which the property or victim was taken, received, or enticed.

(D) When the offense is conspiracy, attempt, or complicity cognizable under division (A)(2) of section 2901.11 of the Revised Code, the offender may be tried in any jurisdiction in which the conspiracy, attempt, complicity, or any of its elements occurred. If an offense resulted outside this state from the conspiracy, attempt, or complicity, that resulting offense also may be tried in any jurisdiction in which the conspiracy, attempt, complicity, or any of the elements of the conspiracy, attempt, or complicity occurred.

(E) When the offense is conspiracy or attempt cognizable under division (A)(3) of section 2901.11 of the Revised Code, the offender may be tried in any jurisdiction in which the offense that was the object of the conspiracy or attempt, or any element of that offense, was intended to or could have taken place. When the offense is complicity cognizable under division (A)(3) of section 2901.11 of the Revised Code, the offender may be tried in any jurisdiction in which the principal offender may be tried.

(F) When an offense is considered to have been committed in this state while the offender was out of this state, and the jurisdiction in this state in which the offense or any material element of the offense was committed is not reasonably ascertainable, the offender may be tried in any jurisdiction in which the offense or element reasonably could have been committed.

(G) When it appears beyond a reasonable doubt that an offense or any element of an offense was committed in any of two or more jurisdictions, but it cannot reasonably be determined in which jurisdiction the offense or element was committed, the offender may be tried in any of those jurisdictions.

(H) When an offender, as part of a course of criminal conduct, commits offenses in different jurisdictions, the offender may be tried for all of those offenses in any jurisdiction in which one of those offenses or any element of one of those offenses occurred. Without limitation on the evidence that may be used to establish the course of criminal conduct, any of the following is prima-facie evidence of a course of criminal conduct:

(1) The offenses involved the same victim, or victims of the same type or from the same group.

(2) The offenses were committed by the offender in the offender's same employment, or capacity, or relationship to another.

(3) The offenses were committed as part of the same transaction or chain of events, or in furtherance of the same purpose or objective.

(4) The offenses were committed in furtherance of the same conspiracy.

(5) The offenses involved the same or a similar modus operandi.

(6) The offenses were committed along the offender's line of travel in this state, regardless of the offender's point of origin or destination.

(I)(1) When the offense involves a computer, computer system, computer network, telecommunication, telecommunications device, telecommunications service, or information service, the offender may be tried in any jurisdiction containing any location of the computer, computer system, or computer network of the victim of the offense, in any jurisdiction from which or into which, as part of the offense, any writing, data, or image is disseminated or transmitted by means of a computer, computer system, computer network, telecommunication, telecommunications device, telecommunications service, or information service, or in any jurisdiction in which the alleged offender commits any activity that is an essential part of the offense.

(2) As used in this section, "computer," "computer system," "computer network," "information service," "telecommunication," "telecommunications device," "telecommunications service," "data," and "writing" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(J) When the offense involves the death of a person, and it cannot reasonably be determined in which jurisdiction the offense was committed, the offender may be tried in the jurisdiction in which the dead person's body or any part of the dead person's body was found.

(K) Notwithstanding any other requirement for the place of trial, venue may be changed, upon motion of the prosecution, the defense, or the court, to any court having jurisdiction of the subject matter outside the county in which trial otherwise would be held, when it appears that a fair and impartial trial cannot be held in the jurisdiction in which trial otherwise would be held, or when it appears that trial should be held in another jurisdiction for the convenience of the parties and in the interests of justice.

§ 2901.13 Limitation of criminal prosecutions.

(A)(1) Except as provided in division (A)(2) or (3) of this section or as otherwise provided in this section, a prosecution shall be barred unless it is commenced within the following periods after an offense is committed:

- (a) For a felony, six years;
 - (b) For a misdemeanor other than a minor misdemeanor, two years;
 - (c) For a minor misdemeanor, six months.
- (2) There is no period of limitation for the prosecution of a violation of section 2903.01 or 2903.02 of the Revised Code.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in divisions (B) to (H) of this section, a prosecution of any of the following offenses shall be barred unless it is commenced within twenty years after the offense is committed:

- (a) A violation of section 2903.03, 2903.04, 2905.01, 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.05, 2907.21, 2909.02,

2909.22, 2909.23, 2909.24, 2909.26, 2909.27, 2909.28, 2909.29, 2911.01, 2911.02, 2911.11, 2911.12, or 2917.02 of the Revised Code, a violation of section 2903.11 or 2903.12 of the Revised Code if the victim is a peace officer, a violation of section 2903.13 of the Revised Code that is a felony, or a violation of former section 2907.12 of the Revised Code;

(b) A conspiracy to commit, attempt to commit, or complicity in committing a violation set forth in division (A)(3)(a) of this section.

(B) If the period of limitation provided in division (A)(1) or (3) of this section has expired, prosecution shall be commenced for an offense of which an element is fraud or breach of a fiduciary duty, within one year after discovery of the offense either by an aggrieved person, or by the aggrieved person's legal representative who is not a party to the offense.

(C) If the period of limitation provided in division (A)(1) or (3) of this section has expired, prosecution shall be commenced for an offense involving misconduct in office by a public servant as defined in section 2921.01 of the Revised Code, at any time while the accused remains a public servant, or within two years thereafter.

(D) An offense is committed when every element of the offense occurs. In the case of an offense of which an element is a continuing course of conduct, the period of limitation does not begin to run until such course of conduct or the accused's accountability for it terminates, whichever occurs first.

(E) A prosecution is commenced on the date an indictment is returned or an information filed, or on the date a lawful arrest without a warrant is made, or on the date a warrant, summons, citation, or other process is issued, whichever occurs first. A prosecution is not commenced by the return of an indictment or the filing of an information unless reasonable diligence is exercised to issue and execute process on the same. A prosecution is not commenced upon issuance of a warrant, summons, citation, or other process, unless reasonable diligence is exercised to execute the same.

(F) The period of limitation shall not run during any time when the corpus delicti remains undiscovered.

(G) The period of limitation shall not run during any time when the accused purposely avoids prosecution. Proof that the accused departed this state or concealed the accused's identity or whereabouts is prima-facie evidence of the accused's purpose to avoid prosecution.

(H) The period of limitation shall not run during any time a prosecution against the accused based on the same conduct is pending in this state, even though the indictment, information, or process which commenced the prosecution is quashed or the proceedings thereon are set aside or reversed on appeal.

(I) The period of limitation for a violation of any provision of Title XXIX of the Revised Code that involves a physical or mental wound, injury, disability, or condition of a nature that reasonably indicates abuse or neglect of a child under eighteen years of age or of a mentally retarded, developmentally disabled, or physically impaired child under twenty-one years of age shall not begin to run until either of the following occurs:

(1) The victim of the offense reaches the age of majority.

(2) A public children services agency, or a municipal or county peace officer that is not the parent or guardian of the child, in the county in which the child resides or in which the abuse or neglect is occurring or has occurred has been notified that abuse or neglect is known, suspected, or believed to have occurred.

(J) As used in this section, "peace officer" has the same meaning as in section 2935.01 of the Revised Code.

The provisions of § 3 of HB 49 (147 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. Section 2901.13 of the Revised Code, as amended by this act, applies to an offense committed on and after the effective date of this act and applies to an offense committed prior to the effective date of this act if prosecution for that offense was not barred under section 2901.13 of the Revised Code as it existed on the day prior to the effective date of this act.

[CRIMINAL LIABILITY]

§ 2901.21 Requirements for criminal liability.

(A) Except as provided in division (B) of this section, a person is not guilty of an offense unless both of the following apply:

(1) The person's liability is based on conduct that includes either a voluntary act, or an omission to perform an act or duty that the person is capable of performing;

(2) The person has the requisite degree of culpability for each element as to which a culpable mental state is specified by the section defining the offense.

(B) When the section defining an offense does not specify any degree of culpability, and plainly indicates a purpose to impose strict criminal liability for the conduct described in the section, then culpability is not required for a person to be guilty of the offense. When the section neither specifies culpability nor plainly indicates a purpose to impose strict liability, recklessness is sufficient culpability to commit the offense.

(C) Voluntary intoxication may not be taken into consideration in determining the existence of a mental state that is an element of a criminal offense. Voluntary intoxication does not relieve a person of a duty to act if failure to act constitutes a criminal offense. Evidence that a person was voluntarily intoxicated may be admissible to show whether or not the person was physically capable of performing the act with which the person is charged.

(D) As used in this section:

(1) Possession is a voluntary act if the possessor knowingly procured or received the thing possessed, or was aware of the possessor's control of the thing possessed for a sufficient time to have ended possession.

(2) Reflexes, convulsions, body movements during unconsciousness or sleep, and body movements that are not otherwise a product of the actor's volition, are involuntary acts.

(3) "Culpability" means purpose, knowledge, recklessness, or negligence, as defined in section 2901.22 of the Revised Code.

(4) "Intoxication" includes, but is not limited to, intoxication resulting from the ingestion of alcohol, a drug, or alcohol and a drug.

§ 2901.22 Culpable mental states.

(A) A person acts purposely when it is his specific intention to cause a certain result, or, when the gist of the offense is a prohibition against conduct of a certain nature, regardless of what the offender intends to accomplish thereby, it is his specific intention to engage in conduct of that nature.

(B) A person acts knowingly, regardless of his purpose, when he is aware that his conduct will probably cause a certain result or will probably be of a certain nature. A person has knowledge of circumstances when he is aware that such circumstances probably exist.

(C) A person acts recklessly when, with heedless indifference to the consequences, he perversely disregards a known risk that his conduct is likely to cause a certain result or is likely to be of a certain nature. A person is reckless with respect to circumstances when, with heedless indifference to the consequences, he perversely disregards a known risk that such circumstances are likely to exist.

(D) A person acts negligently when, because of a substantial lapse from due care, he fails to perceive or avoid a risk that his conduct may cause a certain result or may be of a certain nature. A person is negligent with respect to circumstances when, because of a substantial lapse from due care, he fails to perceive or avoid a risk that such circumstances may exist.

(E) When the section defining an offense provides that negligence suffices to establish an element thereof, then recklessness, knowledge, or purpose is also sufficient culpability for such element. When recklessness suffices to establish an element of an offense, then knowledge or purpose is also sufficient culpability for such element. When knowledge suffices to establish an element of an offense, then purpose is also sufficient culpability for such element.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511. Eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 4 of HB 511.

§ 2901.23 Organizational criminal liability.

(A) An organization may be convicted of an offense under any of the following circumstances:

(1) The offense is a minor misdemeanor committed by an officer, agent, or employee of the organization acting in its behalf and within the scope of his office or employment, except that if the section defining the offense designates the officers, agents, or employees for whose conduct the organization is accountable or the circumstances under which it is accountable, such provisions shall apply.

(2) A purpose to impose organizational liability plainly appears in the section defining the offense, and the offense is committed by an officer, agent, or employee of the organization acting in its behalf and within the scope of his office or employment, except that if the section defining the offense designates the officers, agents, or employees for whose conduct the organization is accountable or the circumstances under which it is accountable, such provisions shall apply.

(3) The offense consists of an omission to discharge a specific duty imposed by law on the organization.

(4) If, acting with the kind of culpability otherwise required for the commission of the offense, its commission was authorized, requested, commanded, tolerated, or performed by the board of directors, trustees, partners, or by a high managerial officer, agent, or employee acting in behalf of the organization and within the scope of his office or employment.

(B) When strict liability is imposed for the commission of an offense, a purpose to impose organizational liability shall be presumed, unless the contrary plainly appears.

(C) In a prosecution of an organization for an offense other than one for which strict liability is imposed, it is a defense that the high managerial officer, agent, or employee having supervisory responsibility over the subject matter of the offense exercised due diligence to prevent its commission. This defense is not available if it plainly appears inconsistent with the purpose of the section defining the offense.

(D) As used in this section, "organization" means a corporation for profit or not for profit, partnership, limited partnership, joint venture, unincorporated association, estate, trust, or other commercial or legal entity. "Organization" does not include an entity organized as or by a governmental agency for the execution of a governmental program.

§ 2901.24 Personal accountability for organizational conduct.

(A) An officer, agent, or employee of an organization as defined in section 2901.23 of the Revised Code may be prosecuted for an offense committed by such organization, if he acts with the kind of culpability required for the commission of the offense, and any of the following apply:

(1) In the name of the organization or in its behalf, he engages in conduct constituting the offense, or causes another to engage in such conduct, or tolerates such conduct when it is of a type for which he has direct responsibility;

(2) He has primary responsibility to discharge a duty imposed on the organization by law, and such duty is not discharged.

(B) When a person is convicted of an offense by reason of this section, he is subject to the same penalty as if he had acted in his own behalf.

[MISSING CHILDREN]

§ 2901.30 Missing child report; notice of return.

(A) As used in sections 2901.30 to 2901.32 of the Revised Code:

(1) "Information" means information that can be integrated into the computer system and that relates to the physical or mental description of a minor including, but not limited to, height, weight, color of hair and eyes, use of eyeglasses or contact lenses, skin coloring, physical or mental handicaps, special medical conditions or needs, abnormalities, problems, scars and marks, and distinguishing characteristics, and other information that could assist in identifying a minor including, but not limited to, full name and nickname, date and place of birth, age, names and addresses of parents and other relatives, fingerprints, dental records, photographs, social security number, driver's license number, credit card numbers, bank account numbers, and clothing.

(2) "Minor" means a person under eighteen years of age.

(3) "Missing children" or "missing child" means either of the following:

(a) A minor who has run away from or who otherwise is missing from the home of, or the care, custody, and control of, the minor's parents, parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian, guardian, legal custodian, or other person having responsibility for the care of the minor;

(b) A minor who is missing and about whom there is reason to believe the minor could be the victim of a violation of section 2905.01, 2905.02, 2905.03, or 2919.23 of the Revised Code or of a violation of section 2905.04 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to the effective date of this amendment.

(B) When a law enforcement agency in this state that has jurisdiction in the matter is informed that a minor is or may be a missing child and that the person providing the information wishes to file a missing child report, the law enforcement agency shall take that report. Upon taking the report, the law enforcement agency shall take prompt action upon it, including, but not limited to, concerted efforts to locate the missing child. No law enforcement agency in this state shall have a rule or policy that prohibits or discourages the filing of or the taking of action upon a missing child report, within a specified period following the discovery or formulation of a belief that a minor is or could be a missing child.

(C) If a missing child report is made to a law enforcement agency in this state that has jurisdiction in the matter, the law enforcement agency shall gather readily available information about the missing child and integrate it into the national crime information center computer within twelve hours following the making of the report. The law enforcement agency shall make reasonable efforts to acquire additional information about the missing child following the transmittal of the initially available information, and promptly integrate any additional information acquired into such computer systems.

Whenever a law enforcement agency integrates information about a missing child into the national crime information center computer, the law enforcement agency promptly shall notify the missing child's parents, parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian, guardian, or legal custodian, or any other person responsible for the care of the missing child, that it has so integrated the information.

The parents, parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian, guardian, legal custodian, or other person responsible for the care of the missing child shall provide available information upon request, and may provide information voluntarily, to the law enforcement agency during the information gathering process. The law enforcement agency also may obtain available information about the missing child from other persons, subject to constitutional and statutory limitations.

(D) Upon the filing of a missing child report, the law enforcement agency involved promptly shall make a reasonable attempt to notify other law enforcement agencies within its county and, if the agency has jurisdiction in a municipal corporation or township that borders another county, to notify the law enforcement agency for the municipal corporation or township in the other county with which it shares the border, that it has taken a missing child report and may be requesting assistance or cooperation in the case, and provide relevant information to the other law enforcement agencies. The agency may notify additional law enforcement agencies, appropriate public children services agencies, about the case, request their assistance or cooperation in the case, and provide them with relevant information.

Upon request from a law enforcement agency, a public children services agency shall grant the law enforcement agency access to all information concerning a missing child that the agency possesses that may be relevant to the law enforcement agency in investigating a missing child report concerning that child. The information obtained by the law enforcement agency shall be used only to further the investigation to locate the missing child.

(E) Upon request, law enforcement agencies in this state shall provide assistance to, and cooperate with, other law enforcement agencies in their investigation of missing child cases.

The information in any missing child report made to a law enforcement agency shall be made available, upon request, to law enforcement personnel of this state, other states, and the federal government when the law enforcement personnel indicate that the request is to aid in identifying or locating a missing child or the possible identification of a deceased minor who, upon discovery, cannot be identified.

(F) When a missing child has not been located within thirty days after the date on which the missing child report pertaining to the child was filed with a law enforcement agency, that law enforcement agency shall request the missing child's parents, parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian, guardian, or legal custodian, or any other person responsible for the care of the missing child, to provide written consent for the law enforcement agency to contact the missing child's dentist and request the missing child's dental records. Upon receipt of such written consent, the dentist shall release a copy of the missing child's dental records to the law enforcement agency and shall provide and encode the records in such form as requested by the law enforcement agency. The law enforcement agency then shall integrate information in the records into the national crime information center computer in order to compare the records to those of unidentified deceased persons. This division does not prevent a law enforcement agency from seeking consent to obtain copies of a missing child's dental records, or prevent a missing child's parents, parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian, guardian, or legal custodian, or any other person responsible for the care of the missing child, from granting consent for the release of copies of the missing child's dental records to a law enforcement agency, at any time.

(G) A missing child's parents, parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian, guardian, or legal custodian, or any other persons responsible for the care of a missing child, immediately shall notify the law enforcement agency with which they filed the missing child report whenever the child has returned to their home or to their care, custody, and control, has been released if the missing child was the victim of an offense listed in division (A)(3)(b) of this section, or otherwise has been located. Upon such notification or upon otherwise learning that a missing child has returned to the home of, or to the care, custody, and control of the missing child's parents, parent who is the residential parent and legal custodian, guardian, legal custodian, or other person responsible for the missing child's care, has been released if the missing child was the victim of an offense listed in division (A)(3)(b) of this section, or otherwise has been located, the law enforcement agency involved promptly shall integrate the fact that the minor no longer is a missing child into the national crime information center computer.

(H) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to impair the confidentiality of services provided to runaway minors by shelters for runaway minors pursuant to sections 5119.64 to 5119.68 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by section 26 of HB 408.

§ 2901.31 Cooperation in locating missing children.

Law enforcement agencies in this state shall cooperate fully with the United States attorney general in the collection of information that would assist in the identification of unidentified deceased persons and information that would assist in the location of missing persons under the "Federal Missing Children Act of 1982," 96 Stat. 1259, 28 U.S.C. 534, as amended.

Law enforcement agencies in this state that are investigating missing children cases shall utilize the records and information compiled by the United States attorney general pursuant to that act when the circumstances of an investigation indicate that the records and information may be of assistance and when the act authorizes it.

§ 2901.32 Improper solicitation of contributions for missing children.

(A) No organization shall solicit contributions for the purpose of distributing materials containing information relating to missing children unless it complies with all of the following requirements:

(1) It has been incorporated under Chapter 1702. of the Revised Code or the nonprofit corporation law of another state for a period of two years prior to the time of the solicitation of contributions.

(2) It has been exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3), 501(c)(4), 501(c)(8), 501(c)(10), or 501(c)(19) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, 68A Stat. 3, 26 U.S.C. 1, as now or hereafter amended, for a period of two years prior to the time of the solicitation of contributions.

(3) It does not use fund-raising counsel, professional solicitors, commercial co-venturers, or other charitable organizations, as these terms are defined in section 1716.01 of the Revised Code, to solicit such contributions.

(B) No organization that solicits contributions for the purpose of distributing materials containing information relating to missing children shall expressly state or imply in any way that it is affiliated with, or is soliciting contributions on behalf of, an organization established to assist in the location of missing children without the express written consent of that organization.

(C) Whoever violates division (A) or (B) of this section is guilty of improper solicitation of contributions for missing children, a misdemeanor of the third degree.

[HOMICIDE]

§ 2903.01 Aggravated murder.

(A) No person shall purposely, and with prior calculation and design, cause the death of another or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy.

(B) No person shall purposely cause the death of another or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy while committing or attempting to commit, or while fleeing immediately after committing or attempting to commit, kidnapping, rape, aggravated arson, arson, aggravated robbery, robbery, aggravated burglary, burglary, terrorism, or escape.

(C) No person shall purposely cause the death of another who is under thirteen years of age at the time of the commission of the offense.

(D) No person who is under detention as a result of having been found guilty of or having pleaded guilty to a felony or who breaks that detention shall purposely cause the death of another.

(E) No person shall purposely cause the death of a law enforcement officer whom the offender knows or has reasonable cause to know is a law enforcement officer when either of the following applies:

(1) The victim, at the time of the commission of the offense, is engaged in the victim's duties.

(2) It is the offender's specific purpose to kill a law enforcement officer.

(F) Whoever violates this section is guilty of aggravated murder, and shall be punished as provided in section 2929.02 of the Revised Code.

(G) As used in this section:

(1) "Detention" has the same meaning as in section 2921.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Law enforcement officer" has the same meaning as in section 2911.01 of the Revised Code.

§ 2903.02 Murder.

(A) No person shall purposely cause the death of another or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy.

(B) No person shall cause the death of another as a proximate result of the offender's committing or attempting to commit an offense of violence that is a felony of the first or second degree and that is not a violation of section 2903.03 or 2903.04 of the Revised Code.

(C) Division (B) of this section does not apply to an offense that becomes a felony of the first or second degree only if the offender previously has been convicted of that offense or another specified offense.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of murder, and shall be punished as provided in section 2929.02 of the Revised Code.

Publisher's Note:

† A 1982 amendment of this section changed the language "while under the influence of extreme emotional stress" to "while under the influence of sudden passion or in a sudden fit of rage." The Committee Comment to H 511 should be read in light of this amended language.

§ 2903.04 Involuntary manslaughter.

(A) No person shall cause the death of another or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy as a proximate result of the offender's committing or attempting to commit a felony.

(B) No person shall cause the death of another or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy as a proximate result of the offender's committing or attempting to commit a misdemeanor of any degree, a regulatory offense, or a minor misdemeanor other than a violation of any section contained in Title XLV of the Revised Code that is a minor misdemeanor and other than a violation of an ordinance of a municipal corporation that, regardless of the penalty set by ordinance for the violation, is substantially equivalent to any section contained in Title XLV of the Revised Code that is a minor misdemeanor.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of involuntary manslaughter. Violation of division (A) of this section is a felony of the first degree. Violation of division (B) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(D) If an offender is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A) or (B) of this section and if the felony, misdemeanor, or regulatory offense that the offender committed or attempted to commit, that proximately resulted in the death of the other person or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy, and that is the basis of the offender's violation of division (A) or (B) of this section was a violation of division (A) or (B) of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance or included, as an element of that felony, misdemeanor, or regulatory offense, the offender's operation or participation in the operation of a snowmobile, locomotive, watercraft, or aircraft while the offender was under the influence of alcohol, a drug of abuse, or alcohol and a drug of abuse, both of the following apply:

(1) The court shall impose a class one suspension of the offender's driver's or commercial driver's license or permit or nonresident operating privilege as specified in division (A)(1) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code.

(2) The court shall impose a mandatory prison term for the violation of division (A) or (B) of this section from the range of prison terms authorized for the level of the offense under section 2929.14 of the Revised Code.

§ 2903.06 Aggravated vehicular homicide; vehicular homicide; vehicular manslaughter.

(A) No person, while operating or participating in the operation of a motor vehicle, motorcycle, snowmobile, locomotive, watercraft, or aircraft, shall cause the death of another or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy in any of the following ways:

(1)(a) As the proximate result of committing a violation of division (A) of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance;

(b) As the proximate result of committing a violation of division (A) of section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance;

(c) As the proximate result of committing a violation of division (A)(3) of section 4561.15 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance.

(2) In one of the following ways:

(a) Recklessly;

(b) As the proximate result of committing, while operating or participating in the operation of a motor vehicle or motorcycle in a construction zone, a reckless operation offense, provided that this division applies only if the person whose death is caused or whose pregnancy is unlawfully terminated is in the construction zone at the time of the offender's commission of the reckless operation offense in the construction zone and does not apply as described in division (F) of this section.

(3) In one of the following ways:

(a) Negligently;

(b) As the proximate result of committing, while operating or participating in the operation of a motor vehicle or motorcycle in a construction zone, a speeding offense, provided that this division applies only if the person whose death is caused or whose pregnancy is unlawfully terminated is in the construction zone at the time of the offender's commission of the speeding offense in the construction zone and does not apply as described in division (F) of this section.

(4) As the proximate result of committing a violation of any provision of any section contained in Title XLV of the Revised Code that is a minor misdemeanor or of a municipal ordinance that, regardless of the penalty set by ordinance for the violation, is substantially equivalent to any provision of any section contained in Title XLV of the Revised Code that is a minor misdemeanor.

(B)(1) Whoever violates division (A)(1) or (2) of this section is guilty of aggravated vehicular homicide and shall be punished as provided in divisions (B)(2) and (3) of this section.

(2)(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (B)(2)(b) or (c) of this section, aggravated vehicular homicide committed in violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a felony of the second degree and the court shall impose a mandatory prison term on the offender as described in division (E) of this section.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in division (B)(2)(c) of this section, aggravated vehicular homicide committed in violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a felony of the first degree, and the court shall impose a mandatory prison term on the offender as described in division (E) of this section, if any of the following apply:

(i) At the time of the offense, the offender was driving under a suspension imposed under Chapter 4510. or any other provision of the Revised Code.

(ii) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section.

(iii) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense.

(c) Aggravated vehicular homicide committed in violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a felony of the first degree, and the court shall sentence the offender to a mandatory prison term as provided in section 2929.142 [2929.14.2] of the Revised Code and described in division (E) of this section if any of the following apply:

(i) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance within the previous six years.

(ii) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of division (A) of section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance within the previous six years.

(iii) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of division (A)(3) of section 4561.15 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance within the previous six years.

(iv) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of division (A)(1) of this section within the previous six years.

(v) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of division (A)(1) of section 2903.08 of the Revised Code within the previous six years.

(vi) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of section 2903.04 of the Revised Code within the previous six years in circumstances in which division (D) of that section applied regarding the violations.

(vii) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more violations of any combination of the offenses listed in division (B)(2)(c)(i), (ii), (iii), (iv), (v), or (vi) of this section within the previous six years.

(viii) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a second or subsequent felony violation of division (A) of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code.

(d) In addition to any other sanctions imposed pursuant to division (B)(2)(a), (b), or (c) of this section for aggravated vehicular homicide committed in violation of division (A)(1) of this section, the court shall impose upon the offender a class one suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege as specified in division (A)(1) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in this division, aggravated vehicular homicide committed in violation of division (A)(2) of this section is a felony of the third degree. Aggravated vehicular homicide committed in violation of division (A)(2) of this section is a felony of the second degree if, at the time of the offense, the offender was driving under a suspension imposed under Chapter 4510. or any other provision of the Revised Code or if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense. The court shall impose a mandatory prison term on the offender when required by division (E) of this section.

In addition to any other sanctions imposed pursuant to this division for a violation of division (A)(2) of this section, the court shall impose upon the offender a class two suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(2) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a traffic-related murder, felonious assault, or attempted murder offense, a class one suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege as specified in division (A)(1) of that section.

(C) Whoever violates division (A)(3) of this section is guilty of vehicular homicide. Except as otherwise provided in this division, vehicular homicide is a misdemeanor of the first degree. Vehicular homicide committed in violation of division (A)(3) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree if, at the time of the offense, the offender was driving under a suspension or revocation imposed under Chapter 4507. or any other provision of the Revised Code or if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense. The court shall impose a mandatory jail term or a mandatory prison term on the offender when required by division (E) of this section.

In addition to any other sanctions imposed pursuant to this division, the court shall impose upon the offender a class four suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(4) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code, or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense, a class three suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(3) of that section, or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a traffic-related murder, felonious assault, or attempted murder offense, a class two suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege as specified in division (A)(2) of that section.

(D) Whoever violates division (A)(4) of this section is guilty of vehicular manslaughter. Except as otherwise provided in this division, vehicular manslaughter is a misdemeanor of the second degree. Vehicular manslaughter is a misdemeanor of the first degree if, at the time of the offense, the offender was driving under a suspension imposed under Chapter 4510. or any other provision of the Revised Code or if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense.

In addition to any other sanctions imposed pursuant to this division, the court shall impose upon the offender a class six suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(6) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section, any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense, or a traffic-related murder, felonious assault, or attempted murder offense, a class four suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(4) of that section.

(E) The court shall impose a mandatory prison term on an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A)(1) of this section. If division (B)(2)(c)(i), (ii), (iii), (iv), (v), (vi), (vii), or (viii) of this section applies to an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to the violation of division (A)(1) of this section, the court shall impose the mandatory prison term pursuant to section 2929.142 [2929.14.2] of the Revised Code. The court shall impose a mandatory jail term of at least fifteen days on an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a misdemeanor violation of division (A)(3)(b) of this section and may impose upon the offender a longer jail term as authorized pursuant to section 2929.24 of the Revised Code. The court shall impose a mandatory prison term on an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A)(2) or (3)(a) of this section or a felony violation of division (A)(3)(b) of this section if either of the following applies:

(1) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or section 2903.08 of the Revised Code.

(2) At the time of the offense, the offender was driving under suspension under Chapter 4510. or any other provision of the Revised Code.

(F) Divisions (A)(2)(b) and (3)(b) of this section do not apply in a particular construction zone unless signs of the type described in section 2903.081 [2903.08.1] of the Revised Code are erected in that construction zone in accordance with the guidelines and design specifications established by the director of transportation under section 5501.27 of the Revised Code. The failure to erect signs of the type described in section 2903.081 [2903.08.1] of the Revised Code in a particular construction zone in accordance with those guidelines and design specifications does not limit or affect the application of division (A)(1), (A)(2)(a), (A)(3)(a), or (A)(4) of this section in that construction zone or the prosecution of any person who violates any of those divisions in that construction zone.

(G)(1) As used in this section:

(a) "Mandatory prison term" and "mandatory jail term" have the same meanings as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

(b) "Traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense" means a violation of section 2903.04 of the Revised Code in circumstances in which division (D) of that section applies, a violation of section 2903.06 or 2903.08 of the Revised Code, or a violation of section 2903.06, 2903.07, or 2903.08 of the Revised Code as they existed prior to March 23, 2000.

(c) "Construction zone" has the same meaning as in section 5501.27 of the Revised Code.

(d) "Reckless operation offense" means a violation of section 4511.20 of the Revised Code or a municipal ordinance substantially equivalent to section 4511.20 of the Revised Code.

(e) "Speeding offense" means a violation of section 4511.21 of the Revised Code or a municipal ordinance pertaining to speed.

(f) "Traffic-related murder, felonious assault, or attempted murder offense" means a violation of section 2903.01 or 2903.02 of the Revised Code in circumstances in which the offender used a motor vehicle as the means to commit the violation, a violation of division (A)(2) of section 2903.11 of the Revised Code in circumstances in which the deadly weapon used in the commission of the violation is a motor vehicle, or an attempt to commit aggravated murder or murder in violation of section 2923.02 of the Revised Code in circumstances in which the offender used a motor vehicle as the means to attempt to commit the aggravated murder or murder.

(g) "Motor vehicle" has the same meaning as in section 4501.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) For the purposes of this section, when a penalty or suspension is enhanced because of a prior or current violation of a specified law or a prior or current specified offense, the reference to the violation of the specified law or the specified offense includes any violation of any substantially equivalent municipal ordinance, former law of this state, or current or former law of another state or the United States.

§ 2903.08 Aggravated vehicular assault; vehicular assault.

(A) No person, while operating or participating in the operation of a motor vehicle, motorcycle, snowmobile, locomotive, watercraft, or aircraft, shall cause serious physical harm to another person or another's unborn in any of the following ways:

(1)(a) As the proximate result of committing a violation of division (A) of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance;

(b) As the proximate result of committing a violation of division (A) of section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance;

(c) As the proximate result of committing a violation of division (A)(3) of section 4561.15 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance.

(2) In one of the following ways:

(a) As the proximate result of committing, while operating or participating in the operation of a motor vehicle or motorcycle in a construction zone, a reckless operation offense, provided that this division applies only if the person to whom the serious physical harm is caused or to whose unborn the serious physical harm is caused is in the construction zone at the time of the offender's commission of the reckless operation offense in the construction zone and does not apply as described in division (E) of this section;

(b) Recklessly.

(3) As the proximate result of committing, while operating or participating in the operation of a motor vehicle or motorcycle in a construction zone, a speeding offense, provided that this division applies only if the person to whom the serious physical harm is caused or to whose unborn the serious physical harm is caused is in the construction zone at the time of the offender's commission of the speeding offense in the construction zone and does not apply as described in division (E) of this section.

(B)(1) Whoever violates division (A)(1) of this section is guilty of aggravated vehicular assault. Except as otherwise provided in this division, aggravated vehicular assault is a felony of the third degree. Aggravated vehicular assault is a felony of the second degree if any of the following apply:

(a) At the time of the offense, the offender was driving under a suspension imposed under Chapter 4510, or any other provision of the Revised Code.

(b) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section.

(c) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense.

(d) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code or a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance within the previous six years.

(e) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of division (A) of section 1547.11 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance within the previous six years.

(f) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of division (A)(3) of section 4561.15 of the Revised Code or of a substantially equivalent municipal ordinance within the previous six years.

(g) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more prior violations of any combination of the offenses listed in division (B)(1)(d), (e), or (f) of this section.

(h) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a second or subsequent felony violation of division (A) of section 4511.19 of the Revised Code.

(2) In addition to any other sanctions imposed pursuant to division (B)(1) of this section, except as otherwise provided in this division, the court shall impose upon the offender a class three suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(3) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section, any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense, or any traffic-related murder, felonious assault, or attempted murder offense, the court shall impose either a class two suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(2) of that section or a class one suspension as specified in division (A)(1) of that section.

(C)(1) Whoever violates division (A)(2) or (3) of this section is guilty of vehicular assault and shall be punished as provided in divisions (C)(2) and (3) of this section.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this division, vehicular assault committed in violation of division (A)(2) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. Vehicular assault committed in violation of division (A)(2) of this section is a felony of the third degree if, at the time of the offense, the offender was driving under a suspension imposed under Chapter 4510. or any other provision of the Revised Code, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense, or if, in the same course of conduct that resulted in the violation of division (A)(2) of this section, the offender also violated section 4549.02, 4549.021 [4549.02.1], or 4549.03 of the Revised Code.

In addition to any other sanctions imposed, the court shall impose upon the offender a class four suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(4) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section, any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense, or any traffic-related murder, felonious assault, or attempted murder offense, a class three suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(3) of that section.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in this division, vehicular assault committed in violation of division (A)(3) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. Vehicular assault committed in violation of division (A)(3) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree if, at the time of the offense, the offender was driving under a suspension imposed under Chapter 4510. or any other provision of the Revised Code or if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense.

In addition to any other sanctions imposed, the court shall impose upon the offender a class four suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(4) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section, any traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense, or any traffic-related murder, felonious assault, or attempted murder offense, a class three suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(3) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code.

(D)(1) The court shall impose a mandatory prison term on an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A)(1) of this section.

(2) The court shall impose a mandatory prison term on an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A)(2) of this section or a felony violation of division (A)(3) of this section if either of the following applies:

(a) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or section 2903.06 of the Revised Code.

(b) At the time of the offense, the offender was driving under suspension under Chapter 4510. or any other provision of the Revised Code.

(3) The court shall impose a mandatory jail term of at least seven days on an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a misdemeanor violation of division (A)(3) of this section and may impose upon the offender a longer jail term as authorized pursuant to section 2929.24 of the Revised Code.

(E) Divisions (A)(2)(a) and (3) of this section do not apply in a particular construction zone unless signs of the type described in section 2903.081 [2903.08.1] of the Revised Code are erected in that construction zone in accordance with the guidelines and design specifications established by the director of transportation under section 5501.27 of the Revised Code. The failure to erect signs of the type described in section 2903.081 [2903.08.1] of the Revised Code in a particular construction zone in accordance with those guidelines and design specifications does not limit or affect the application of division (A)(1) or (2)(b) of this section in that construction zone or the prosecution of any person who violates either of those divisions in that construction zone.

(F) As used in this section:

(1) "Mandatory prison term" and "mandatory jail term" have the same meanings as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Traffic-related homicide, manslaughter, or assault offense" and "traffic-related murder, felonious assault, or attempted murder offense" have the same meanings as in section 2903.06 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Construction zone" has the same meaning as in section 5501.27 of the Revised Code.

(4) "Reckless operation offense" and "speeding offense" have the same meanings as in section 2903.06 of the Revised Code.

(G) For the purposes of this section, when a penalty or suspension is enhanced because of a prior or current violation of a specified law or a prior or current specified offense, the reference to the violation of the specified law or the specified offense includes any violation of any substantially equivalent municipal ordinance, former law of this state, or current or former law of another state or the United States.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2903.08 of the Revised Code is amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 163 and Sub. H.B. 52 of the 125th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

[§ 2903.08.1] § 2903.081 Signs in construction zones concerning vehicular homicide and assault offenses.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Construction zone" has the same meaning as in section 5501.27 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Reckless operation offense" and "speeding offense" have the same meanings as in section 2903.06 of the Revised Code.

(B) The director of transportation, board of county commissioners, or board of township trustees shall cause signs to be erected in construction zones notifying motorists of the prohibitions set forth in sections 2903.06 and 2903.08 of the Revised Code regarding the death of or injury to any person in the construction zone as a proximate result of a reckless operation offense or speeding offense in the construction zone. The prohibitions set forth in divisions (A)(2)(b) and (3)(b) of section 2903.06 and divisions (A)(2)(a) and (3) of section 2903.08 of the Revised Code apply to persons who commit a reckless operation offense or speeding offense in a particular construction zone only when signs of that nature are erected in that construction zone in accordance with the guidelines and design specifications established by the director under section 5501.27 of the Revised Code. The failure to erect signs of that nature in a particular construction zone in accordance with those guidelines and design specifications does not limit or affect the application of division (A)(1), (A)(2)(a), (A)(3)(a), or (A)(4) of section 2903.06 or division (A)(1) or (2)(b) of section 2903.08 of the Revised Code in that construction zone or the prosecution of any person who violates either of those divisions in that construction zone.

HISTORY: 150 v H 52, § 1, eff. 6-1-04.

§ 2903.09 Legal abortions and acts or omissions of pregnant woman excepted from liability.

As used in sections 2903.01 to 2903.08, 2903.11 to 2903.14, 2903.21, and 2903.22 of the Revised Code:

(A) "Unlawful termination of another's pregnancy" means causing the death of an unborn member of the species homo sapiens, who is or was carried in the womb of another, as a result of injuries inflicted during the period that begins with fertilization and that continues unless and until live birth occurs.

(B) "Another's unborn" or "such other person's unborn" means a member of the species homo sapiens, who is or was carried in the womb of another, during a period that begins with fertilization and that continues unless and until live birth occurs.

(C) Notwithstanding divisions (A) and (B) of this section, in no case shall the definitions of the terms "unlawful termination of another's pregnancy," "another's unborn," and "such other person's unborn" that are set forth in division (A) of this section be applied or construed in any of the following manners:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(1) of this section, in a manner so that the offense prohibits or is construed as prohibiting any pregnant woman or her physician from performing an abortion with the actual consent of the pregnant woman, with the consent of the pregnant woman implied by law in a medical emergency, or with the approval of one otherwise authorized by law to consent to medical treatment on behalf of the pregnant woman. An abortion that violates the conditions described in the immediately preceding sentence may be punished as a violation of section 2903.01, 2903.02, 2903.03, 2903.04, 2903.05, 2903.06, 2903.08, 2903.11, 2903.12, 2903.13, 2903.14, 2903.21, or 2903.22 of the Revised Code, as applicable. An abortion that does not violate the conditions described in the second immediately preceding sentence, but that does violate section 2919.12, division (B) of section 2919.13, or section 2919.151 [2919.15.1], 2919.17, or 2919.18 of the Revised Code, may be punished as a violation of section 2919.12, division (B) of section 2919.13, or section 2919.151 [2919.15.1], 2919.17, or 2919.18 of the Revised Code, as applicable.

(2) In a manner so that the offense is applied or is construed as applying to a woman based on an act or omission of the woman that occurs while she is or was pregnant and that results in any of the following:

(a) Her delivery of a stillborn baby;

(b) Her causing, in any other manner, the death in utero of an unborn that she is carrying;

(c) Her causing the death of her child who is born alive but who dies from one or more injuries that are sustained while the child is an unborn;

(d) Her causing her child who is born alive to sustain one or more injuries while the child is an unborn;

(e) Her causing, threatening to cause, or attempting to cause, in any other manner, an injury, illness, or other physiological impairment, regardless of its duration or gravity, or a mental illness or condition, regardless of its duration or gravity, to an unborn that she is carrying.

Not analogous to former RC § 2903.09 (GC §§ 12970-1, 12970-2; 101 v 233; 103 v 564 (907); 113 v 281; Bureau of Code Revision; 10-1-53; 132 v S 65; 133 v H 1), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2903.10 Definitions: functionally impaired person; caretaker.

As used in sections 2903.13 and 2903.16 of the Revised Code:

(A) "Functionally impaired person" means any person who has a physical or mental impairment that prevents him from providing for his own care or protection or whose infirmities caused by aging prevent him from providing for his own care or protection.

(B) "Caretaker" means a person who assumes the duty to provide for the care and protection of a functionally impaired person on a voluntary basis, by contract, through receipt of payment for care and protection, as a result of a family relationship, or by order of a court of competent jurisdiction. "Caretaker" does not include a person who owns, operates, or administers, or who is an agent or employee of, a care facility, as defined in section 2903.33 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 142 v H 642, Eff 3-17-99.

Not analogous to former RC § 2903.10 (126 v 1039; 130 v 658; 130 v PIII, 143), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[ASSAULT]

§ 2903.11 Felonious assault.

(A) No person shall knowingly do either of the following:

(1) Cause serious physical harm to another or to another's unborn;

(2) Cause or attempt to cause physical harm to another or to another's unborn by means of a deadly weapon or dangerous ordnance.

(B) No person, with knowledge that the person has tested positive as a carrier of a virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, shall knowingly do any of the following:

(1) Engage in sexual conduct with another person without disclosing that knowledge to the other person prior to engaging in the sexual conduct;

(2) Engage in sexual conduct with a person whom the offender knows or has reasonable cause to believe lacks the mental capacity to appreciate the significance of the knowledge that the offender has tested positive as a carrier of a virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome;

(3) Engage in sexual conduct with a person under eighteen years of age who is not the spouse of the offender.

(C) The prosecution of a person under this section does not preclude prosecution of that person under section 2907.02 of the Revised Code.

(D)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of felonious assault, a felony of the second degree. If the victim of a violation of division (A) of this section is a peace officer or an investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, felonious assault is a felony of the first degree. If the victim of the offense is a peace officer, or an investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, and if the victim suffered serious physical harm as a result of the commission of the offense, felonious assault is a felony of the first degree, and the court, pursuant to division (F) of section 2929.13 of the Revised Code, shall impose as a mandatory prison term one of the prison terms prescribed for a felony of the first degree.

(2) In addition to any other sanctions imposed pursuant to division (D)(1) of this section for felonious assault committed in violation of division (A)(2) of this section, if the deadly weapon used in the commission of the violation is a motor vehicle, the court shall impose upon the offender a class two suspension of the offender's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege as specified in division (A)(2) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code.

(E) As used in this section:

(1) "Deadly weapon" and "dangerous ordnance" have the same meanings as in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Motor vehicle" has the same meaning as in section 4501.01 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Peace officer" has the same meaning as in section 2935.01 of the Revised Code.

(4) "Sexual conduct" has the same meaning as in section 2907.01 of the Revised Code, except that, as used in this section, it does not include the insertion of an instrument, apparatus, or other object that is not a part of the body into the vaginal or anal opening of another, unless the offender knew at the time of the insertion that the instrument, apparatus, or other object carried the offender's bodily fluid.

(5) "Investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation" means an investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation who is commissioned by the superintendent of the bureau as a special agent for the purpose of assisting law enforcement officers or providing emergency assistance to peace officers pursuant to authority granted under section 109.541 [109.54.1] of the Revised Code.

(6) "Investigator" has the same meaning as in section 109.541 [109.54.1] of the Revised Code.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2903.11 of the Revised Code is amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 461 and Sub. H.B. 347 of the 126th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment. Division lettering adjusted to give effect to the manifest intent of each amendment as permitted by RC 1.52(B).

§ 2903.12 Aggravated assault.

(A) No person, while under the influence of sudden passion or in a sudden fit of rage, either of which is brought on by serious provocation occasioned by the victim that is reasonably sufficient to incite the person into using deadly force, shall knowingly:

(1) Cause serious physical harm to another or to another's unborn;

(2) Cause or attempt to cause physical harm to another or to another's unborn by means of a deadly weapon or dangerous ordnance, as defined in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of aggravated assault, a felony of the fourth degree. If the victim of the offense is a peace officer or an investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, aggravated assault is a felony of the third degree. If the victim of the offense is a peace officer or an investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, and if the victim suffered serious physical harm as a result of the commission of the offense, aggravated assault is a felony of the third degree, and the court, pursuant to division (F) of section 2929.13 of the Revised Code, shall impose as a mandatory prison term one of the prison terms prescribed for a felony of the third degree.

(C) As used in this section:

(1) "Investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation" has the same meaning as in section 2903.11 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Peace officer" has the same meaning as in section 2935.01 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 139 v H 103 (Eff 5-19-82); 139 v S 199 (Eff 7-1-83); 139 v H 269 (Eff 7-1-83); 140 v S 210 (Eff 7-1-83); 140 v H 37 (Eff 6-22-84); 146 v S 239 (Eff 9-6-96); 148 v S 142. Eff 2-3-2000; 151 v H 347, § 1, eff. 3-14-07.

Governor Taft's veto of HB 347 was overridden by the Ohio General Assembly.

Not analogous to former RC § 2903.12 (130 v 659), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

Analogous to former RC § 2901.18 (RS § 6984a; 81 v 184; 83 v 27; 95 v 273; GC § 12428; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 131 v 670), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

Publisher's Note:

Three subsequent amendments to the section in 1983, S 199, H 269, S 210 picked up the original "extreme emotional stress" wording of division (A). The Legislative Service Commission advises that comparison of H 103 with S 199, H 269, and S 210 pursuant to section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable, so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

The most recent amendment to subdivision (A) is H 37, an act which harmonizes "multiple prior amendments" and corrects "nonsubstantive errors." This amendment uses the "sudden passion" language.

See Publisher's Note re H 511 Committee Comment following RC § 2903.03.

§ 2903.13 Assault.

(A) No person shall knowingly cause or attempt to cause physical harm to another or to another's unborn.

(B) No person shall recklessly cause serious physical harm to another or to another's unborn.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of assault. Except as otherwise provided in division (C) (1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section, assault is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the offense is committed by a caretaker against a functionally impaired person under the caretaker's care, assault is a felony of the fourth degree. If the offense is committed by a caretaker against a functionally impaired person under the caretaker's care, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or section 2903.11 or 2903.16 of the Revised Code, and if in relation to the previous conviction the offender was a caretaker and the victim was a functionally impaired person under the offender's care, assault is a felony of the third degree.

(2) If the offense is committed in any of the following circumstances, assault is a felony of the fifth degree:

(a) The offense occurs in or on the grounds of a state correctional institution or an institution of the department of youth services, the victim of the offense is an employee of the department of rehabilitation and correction, the department of youth services, or a probation department or is on the premises of the particular institution for business purposes or as a visitor, and the offense is committed by a person incarcerated in the state correctional institution, by a person institutionalized in the department of youth services institution pursuant to a commitment to the department of youth services, by a parolee, by an offender under transitional control, under a community control sanction, or on an escorted visit, by a person under post-release control, or by an offender under any other type of supervision by a government agency.

(b) The offense occurs in or on the grounds of a local correctional facility, the victim of the offense is an employee of the local correctional facility or a probation department or is on the premises of the facility for business purposes or as a visitor, and the offense is committed by a person who is under custody in the facility subsequent to the person's arrest for any crime or delinquent act, subsequent to the person's being charged with or convicted of any crime, or subsequent to the person's being alleged to be or adjudicated a delinquent child.

(c) The offense occurs off the grounds of a state correctional institution and off the grounds of an institution of the department of youth services, the victim of the offense is an employee of the department of rehabilitation and correction, the department of youth services, or a probation department, the offense occurs during the employee's official work hours and while the employee is engaged in official work responsibilities, and the offense is committed by a person incarcerated in a state correctional institution or institutionalized in the department of youth services who temporarily is outside of the institution for any purpose, by a parolee, by an offender under transitional control, under a community control sanction, or on an escorted visit, by a person under post-release control, or by an offender under any other type of supervision by a government agency.

(d) The offense occurs off the grounds of a local correctional facility, the victim of the offense is an employee of the local correctional facility or a probation department, the offense occurs during the employee's official work hours and while the employee is engaged in official work responsibilities, and the offense is committed by a person who is under custody in the facility subsequent to the person's arrest for any crime or delinquent act, subsequent to the person being charged with or convicted of any crime, or subsequent to the person being alleged to be or adjudicated a delinquent child and who temporarily is outside of the facility for any purpose or by a parolee, by an offender under transitional control, under a community control sanction, or on an escorted visit, by a person under post-release control, or by an offender under any other type of supervision by a government agency.

(e) The victim of the offense is a school teacher or administrator or a school bus operator, and the offense occurs in a school, on school premises, in a school building, on a school bus, or while the victim is outside of school premises or a school bus and is engaged in duties or official responsibilities associated with the victim's employment or position as a school teacher or administrator or a school bus operator, including, but not limited to, driving, accompanying, or chaperoning students at or on class or field trips, athletic events, or other school extracurricular activities or functions outside of school premises.

(3) If the victim of the offense is a peace officer or an investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation, a firefighter, or a person performing emergency medical service, while in the performance of their official duties, assault is a felony of the fourth degree.

(4) If the victim of the offense is a peace officer or an investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation and if the victim suffered serious physical harm as a result of the commission of the offense, assault is a felony of the fourth degree, and the court, pursuant to division (F) of section 2929.13 of the Revised Code, shall impose as a mandatory prison term one of the prison terms prescribed for a felony of the fourth degree that is at least twelve months in duration.

(5) If the victim of the offense is an officer or employee of a public children services agency or a private child placing agency and the offense relates to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, assault is either a felony of the fifth degree or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to an offense of violence, the victim of that prior offense was an officer or employee of a public children services agency or private child placing agency, and that prior offense related to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, a felony of the fourth degree.

(D) As used in this section:

(1) "Peace officer" has the same meaning as in section 2935.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Firefighter" has the same meaning as in section 3937.41 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Emergency medical service" has the same meaning as in section 4765.01 of the Revised Code.

(4) "Local correctional facility" means a county, multicounty, municipal, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal jail or workhouse, a minimum security jail established under section 341.23 or 753.21 of the Revised Code, or another county, multicounty, municipal, municipal-county, or multicounty-municipal facility used for the custody of persons arrested for any crime or delinquent act, persons charged with or convicted of any crime, or persons alleged to be or adjudicated a delinquent child.

(5) "Employee of a local correctional facility" means a person who is an employee of the political subdivision or of one or more of the affiliated political subdivisions that operates the local correctional facility and who operates or assists in the operation of the facility.

(6) "School teacher or administrator" means either of the following:

(a) A person who is employed in the public schools of the state under a contract described in section 3319.08 of the Revised Code in a position in which the person is required to have a certificate issued pursuant to sections 3319.22 to 3319.311 of the Revised Code.

(b) A person who is employed by a nonpublic school for which the state board of education prescribes minimum standards under section 3301.07 of the Revised Code and who is certificated in accordance with section 3301.071 of the Revised Code.

(7) "Community control sanction" has the same meaning as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

(8) "Escorted visit" means an escorted visit granted under section 2967.27 of the Revised Code.

(9) "Post-release control" and "transitional control" have the same meanings as in section 2967.01 of the Revised Code.

(10) "Investigator of the bureau of criminal identification and investigation" has the same meaning as in section 2903.11 of the Revised Code.

§ 2903.14 Negligent assault.

(A) No person shall negligently, by means of a deadly weapon or dangerous ordnance as defined in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code, cause physical harm to another or to another's unborn.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of negligent assault, a misdemeanor of the third degree.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 146 v S 239, Eff 9-6-96.

Not analogous to former RC § 2903.14 (133 v H 84), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2903.15 Permitting child abuse.

(A) No parent, guardian, custodian, or person having custody of a child under eighteen years of age or of a mentally or physically handicapped child under twenty-one years of age shall cause serious physical harm to the child, or the death of the child, as a proximate result of permitting the child to be abused, to be tortured, to be administered corporal punishment or other physical disciplinary measure, or to be physically restrained in a cruel manner or for a prolonged period.

(B) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under this section that the defendant did not have readily available a means to prevent the harm to the child or the death of the child and that the defendant took timely and reasonable steps to summon aid.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of permitting child abuse. If the violation of this section causes serious physical harm to the child, permitting child abuse is a felony of the third degree. If the violation of this section causes the death of the child, permitting child abuse is a felony of the first degree.

HISTORY: 148 v H 162, Eff 8-25-99.

Not analogous to former RC § 2903.15 (133 v H 84; 135 v S 62), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2903.16 Failing to provide for a functionally impaired person.

(A) No caretaker shall knowingly fail to provide a functionally impaired person under the caretaker's care with any treatment, care, goods, or service that is necessary to maintain the health or safety of the functionally impaired person when this failure results in physical harm or serious physical harm to the functionally impaired person.

(B) No caretaker shall recklessly fail to provide a functionally impaired person under the caretaker's care with any treatment, care, goods, or service that is necessary to maintain the health or safety of the functionally impaired person when this failure results in serious physical harm to the functionally impaired person.

(C)(1) Whoever violates division (A) of this section is guilty of knowingly failing to provide for a functionally impaired person, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the functionally impaired person under the offender's care suffers serious physical harm as a result of the violation of this section, a violation of division (A) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree.

(2) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of recklessly failing to provide for a functionally impaired person, a misdemeanor of the second degree. If the functionally impaired person under the offender's care suffers serious physical harm as a result of the violation of this section, a violation of division (B) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree.

HISTORY: 142 v H 642 (Eff 3-17-89); 146 v S 2, Eff 7-1-96.

Not analogous to former RC § 2903.16 (133 v H 84), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

[MENACING]

§ 2903.21 Aggravated menacing.

(A) No person shall knowingly cause another to believe that the offender will cause serious physical harm to the person or property of the other person, the other person's unborn, or a member of the other person's immediate family.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of aggravated menacing. Except as otherwise provided in this division, aggravated menacing is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the victim of the offense is an officer or employee of a public children services agency or a private child placing agency and the offense relates to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, aggravated menacing is a felony of the fifth degree or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to an offense of violence, the victim of that prior offense was an officer or employee of a public children services agency or private child placing agency, and that prior offense related to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, a felony of the fourth degree.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 146 v S 239 (Eff 9-6-96); 148 v H 412, Eff 4-10-2001.

[STALKING]

[§ 2903.21.1] § 2903.211 Menacing by stalking.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A)(1) No person by engaging in a pattern of conduct shall knowingly cause another person to believe that the offender will cause physical harm to the other person or cause mental distress to the other person.

(2) No person, through the use of any electronic method of remotely transferring information, including, but not limited to, any computer, computer network, computer program, or computer system, shall post a message with purpose to urge or incite another to commit a violation of division (A)(1) of this section.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of menacing by stalking.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in divisions (B)(2) and (3) of this section, menacing by stalking is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(2) Menacing by stalking is a felony of the fourth degree if any of the following applies:

(a) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or a violation of section 2911.211 of the Revised Code.

(b) In committing the offense under division (A)(1) or (2) of this section, the offender made a threat of physical harm to or against the victim, or as a result of an offense committed under division (A)(2) of this section, a third person induced by the offender's posted message made a threat of physical harm to or against the victim.

(c) In committing the offense under division (A)(1) or (2) of this section, the offender trespassed on the land or premises where the victim lives, is employed, or attends school, or as a result of an offense committed under division (A)(2) of this section, a third person induced by the offender's posted message trespassed on the land or premises where the victim lives, is employed, or attends school.

(d) The victim of the offense is a minor.

(e) The offender has a history of violence toward the victim or any other person or a history of other violent acts toward the victim or any other person.

(f) While committing the offense under division (A)(1) of this section, the offender had a deadly weapon on or about the offender's person or under the offender's control. Division (B)(2)(f) of this section does not apply in determining the penalty for a violation of division (A)(2) of this section.

(g) At the time of the commission of the offense, the offender was the subject of a protection order issued under section 2903.213 or 2903.214 of the Revised Code, regardless of whether the person to be protected under the order is the victim of the offense or another person.

(h) In committing the offense under division (A)(1) or (2) of this section, the offender caused serious physical harm to the premises at which the victim resides, to the real property on which that premises is located, or to any personal property located on that premises, or as a result of an offense committed under division (A)(2) of this section, a third person induced by the offender's posted message caused serious physical harm to that premises, that real property, or any personal property on that premises.

(i) Prior to committing the offense, the offender had been determined to represent a substantial risk of physical harm to others as manifested by evidence of then-recent homicidal or other violent behavior, evidence of then-recent threats that placed another in reasonable fear of violent behavior and serious physical harm, or other evidence of then-present dangerousness.

(3) If the victim of the offense is an officer or employee of a public children services agency or a private child placing agency and the offense relates to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, menacing by stalking is either a felony of the fifth degree or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to an offense of violence, the victim of that prior offense was an officer or employee of a public children services agency or private child placing agency, and that prior offense related to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, a felony of the fourth degree.

(C) Section 2919.271 of the Revised Code applies in relation to a defendant charged with a violation of this section.

(D) As used in this section:

(1) "Pattern of conduct" means two or more actions or incidents closely related in time, whether or not there has been a prior conviction based on any of those actions or incidents. Actions or incidents that prevent, obstruct, or delay the performance by a public official, firefighter, rescuer, emergency medical services person, or emergency facility person of any authorized act within the public official's, firefighter's, rescuer's, emergency medical services person's, or emergency facility person's official capacity, or the posting of messages or receipt of information or data through the use of an electronic method of remotely transferring information, including, but not limited to, a computer, computer network, computer program, computer system, or telecommunications device, may constitute a "pattern of conduct."

(2) "Mental distress" means any of the following:

(a) Any mental illness or condition that involves some temporary substantial incapacity;

(b) Any mental illness or condition that would normally require psychiatric treatment, psychological treatment, or other mental health services, whether or not any person requested or received psychiatric treatment, psychological treatment, or other mental health services.

(3) "Emergency medical services person" is the singular of "emergency medical services personnel" as defined in section 2133.21 of the Revised Code.

(4) "Emergency facility person" is the singular of "emergency facility personnel" as defined in section 2909.04 of the Revised Code.

(5) "Public official" has the same meaning as in section 2921.01 of the Revised Code.

(6) "Computer," "computer network," "computer program," "computer system," and "telecommunications device" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(7) "Post a message" means transferring, sending, posting, publishing, disseminating, or otherwise communicating, or attempting to transfer, send, post, publish, disseminate, or otherwise communicate, any message or information, whether truthful or untruthful, about an individual, and whether done under one's own name, under the name of another, or while impersonating another.

(8) "Third person" means, in relation to conduct as described in division (A)(2) of this section, an individual who is neither the offender nor the victim of the conduct.

(E) The state does not need to prove in a prosecution under this section that a person requested or received psychiatric treatment, psychological treatment, or other mental health services in order to show that the person was caused mental distress as described in division (D)(2)(b) of this section.

(F)(1) This section does not apply to a person solely because the person provided access or connection to or from an electronic method of remotely transferring information not under that person's control, including having provided capabilities that are incidental to providing access or connection to or from the electronic method of remotely transferring the information, and that do not include the creation of the content of the material that is the subject of the access or connection. In addition, any person providing access or connection to or from an electronic method of remotely transferring information not under that person's control shall not be liable for any action voluntarily taken in good faith to block the receipt or transmission through its service of any information that it believes is, or will be sent, in violation of this section.

(2) Division (F)(1) of this section does not create an affirmative duty for any person providing access or connection to or from an electronic method of remotely transferring information not under that person's control to block the receipt or transmission through its service of any information that it believes is, or will be sent, in violation of this section except as otherwise provided by law.

(3) Division (F)(1) of this section does not apply to a person who conspires with a person actively involved in the creation or knowing distribution of material in violation of this section or who knowingly advertises the availability of material of that nature.

[§ 2903.21.1] § 2903.211 Menacing by stalking.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A)(1) No person by engaging in a pattern of conduct shall knowingly cause another person to believe that the offender will cause physical harm to the other person or cause mental distress to the other person.

(2) No person, through the use of any electronic method of remotely transferring information, including, but not limited to, any computer, computer network, computer program, or computer system, shall post a message with purpose to urge or incite another to commit a violation of division (A)(1) of this section.

(3) No person, with a sexual motivation, shall violate division (A)(1) or (2) of this section.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of menacing by stalking.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in divisions (B)(2) and (3) of this section, menacing by stalking is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(2) Menacing by stalking is a felony of the fourth degree if any of the following applies:

(a) The offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or a violation of section 2911.211 of the Revised Code.

(b) In committing the offense under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section, the offender made a threat of physical harm to or against the victim, or as a result of an offense committed under division (A)(2) or (3) of this section, a third person induced by the offender's posted message made a threat of physical harm to or against the victim.

(c) In committing the offense under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section, the offender trespassed on the land or premises where the victim lives, is employed, or attends school, or as a result of an offense committed under division (A)(2) or (3) of this section, a third person induced by the offender's posted message trespassed on the land or premises where the victim lives, is employed, or attends school.

(d) The victim of the offense is a minor.

(e) The offender has a history of violence toward the victim or any other person or a history of other violent acts toward the victim or any other person.

(f) While committing the offense under division (A)(1) of this section or a violation of division (A)(3) of this section based on conduct in violation of division (A)(1) of this section, the offender had a deadly weapon on or about the offender's person or under the offender's control. Division (B)(2)(f) of this section does not apply in determining the penalty for a violation of division (A)(2) of this section or a violation of division (A)(3) of this section based on conduct in violation of division (A)(2) of this section.

(g) At the time of the commission of the offense, the offender was the subject of a protection order issued under section 2903.213 or 2903.214 of the Revised Code, regardless of whether the person to be protected under the order is the victim of the offense or another person.

(h) In committing the offense under division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section, the offender caused serious physical harm to the premises at which the victim resides, to the real property on which that premises is located, or to any personal property located on that premises, or as a result of an offense committed under division (A)(2) of this section or an offense committed under division (A)(3) of this section based on a violation of division (A)(2) of this section, a third person induced by the offender's posted message caused serious physical harm to that premises, that real property, or any personal property on that premises.

(i) Prior to committing the offense, the offender had been determined to represent a substantial risk of physical harm to others as manifested by evidence of then-recent homicidal or other violent behavior, evidence of then-recent threats that placed another in reasonable fear of violent behavior and serious physical harm, or other evidence of then-present dangerousness.

(3) If the victim of the offense is an officer or employee of a public children services agency or a private child placing agency and the offense relates to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, menacing by stalking is either a felony of the fifth degree or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to an offense of violence, the victim of that prior offense was an officer or employee of a public children services agency or private child placing agency, and that prior offense related to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, a felony of the fourth degree.

(C) Section 2919.271 of the Revised Code applies in relation to a defendant charged with a violation of this section.

(D) As used in this section:

(1) "Pattern of conduct" means two or more actions or incidents closely related in time, whether or not there has been a prior conviction based on any of those actions or incidents. Actions or incidents that prevent, obstruct, or delay the performance by a public official, firefighter, rescuer, emergency medical services person, or emergency facility person of any authorized act within the public official's, firefighter's, rescuer's, emergency medical services person's, or emergency facility person's official capacity, or the posting of messages or receipt of information or data through the use of an electronic method of remotely transferring information, including, but not limited to, a computer, computer network, computer program, computer system, or telecommunications device, may constitute a "pattern of conduct."

(2) "Mental distress" means any of the following:

(a) Any mental illness or condition that involves some temporary substantial incapacity;

(b) Any mental illness or condition that would normally require psychiatric treatment, psychological treatment, or other mental health services, whether or not any person requested or received psychiatric treatment, psychological treatment, or other mental health services.

(3) "Emergency medical services person" is the singular of "emergency medical services personnel" as defined in section 2133.21 of the Revised Code.

(4) "Emergency facility person" is the singular of "emergency facility personnel" as defined in section 2909.04 of the Revised Code.

(5) "Public official" has the same meaning as in section 2921.01 of the Revised Code.

(6) "Computer," "computer network," "computer program," "computer system," and "telecommunications device" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(7) "Post a message" means transferring, sending, posting, publishing, disseminating, or otherwise communicating, or attempting to transfer, send, post, publish, disseminate, or otherwise communicate, any message or information, whether truthful or untruthful, about an individual, and whether done under one's own name, under the name of another, or while impersonating another.

(8) "Third person" means, in relation to conduct as described in division (A)(2) of this section, an individual who is neither the offender nor the victim of the conduct.

(9) "Sexual motivation" has the same meaning as in section 2971.01 of the Revised Code.

(E) The state does not need to prove in a prosecution under this section that a person requested or received psychiatric treatment, psychological treatment, or other mental health services in order to show that the person was caused mental distress as described in division (D)(2)(b) of this section.

(F)(1) This section does not apply to a person solely because the person provided access or connection to or from an electronic method of remotely transferring information not under that person's control, including having provided capabilities that are incidental to providing access or connection to or from the electronic method of remotely transferring the information, and that do not include the creation of the content of the material that is the subject of the access or connection. In addition, any person providing access or connection to or from an electronic method of remotely transferring information not under that person's control shall not be liable for any action voluntarily taken in good faith to block the receipt or transmission through its service of any information that it believes is, or will be sent, in violation of this section.

(2) Division (F)(1) of this section does not create an affirmative duty for any person providing access or connection to or from an electronic method of remotely transferring information not under that person's control to block the receipt or transmission through its service of any information that it believes is, or will be sent, in violation of this section except as otherwise provided by law.

(3) Division (F)(1) of this section does not apply to a person who conspires with a person actively involved in the creation or knowing distribution of material in violation of this section or who knowingly advertises the availability of material of that nature.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

[§ 2903.21.2] § 2903.212 Considerations in setting amount and conditions of bail for certain offenses.

(A) Except when the complaint involves a person who is a family or household member as defined in section 2919.25 of the Revised Code, if a person is charged with a violation of section 2903.21, 2903.211 [2903.21.1],

2903.22, or 2911.211 [2911.21.1] of the Revised Code, a violation of a municipal ordinance that is substantially similar to one of those sections, or a sexually oriented offense and if the person, at the time of the alleged violation, was subject to the terms of any order issued pursuant to section 2903.213 [2903.21.3], 2933.08, or 2945.04 of the Revised Code or previously had been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of section 2903.21, 2903.211 [2903.21.1], 2903.22, or 2911.211 [2911.21.1] of the Revised Code that involves the same complainant, a violation of a municipal ordinance that is substantially similar to one of those sections and that involves the same complainant, or a sexually oriented offense that involves the same complainant, the court shall consider all of the following, in addition to any other circumstances considered by the court and notwithstanding any provisions to the contrary contained in Criminal Rule 46, before setting the amount and conditions of the bail for the person:

- (1) Whether the person has a history of violence toward the complainant or a history of other violent acts;
- (2) The mental health of the person;
- (3) Whether the person has a history of violating the orders of any court or governmental entity;
- (4) Whether the person is potentially a threat to any other person;
- (5) Whether setting bail at a high level will interfere with any treatment or counseling that the person is undergoing.

(B) Any court that has jurisdiction over violations of section 2903.21, 2903.211 [2903.21.1], 2903.22, or 2911.211 [2911.21.1] of the Revised Code, violations of a municipal ordinance that is substantially similar to one of those sections, or sexually oriented offenses may set a schedule for bail to be used in cases involving those violations. The schedule shall require that a judge consider all of the factors listed in division (A) of this section and may require judges to set bail at a certain level or impose other reasonable conditions related to a release on bail or on recognizance if the history of the alleged offender or the circumstances of the alleged offense meet certain criteria in the schedule.

(C) As used in this section, "sexually oriented offense" has the same meaning as in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 144 v H 536. Eff 11-5-92; 151 v S 260, § 1, eff. 1-2-07.

[§ 2903.21.3] § 2903.213 Motion for protection order as pretrial condition of release.

(A) Except when the complaint involves a person who is a family or household member as defined in section 2919.25 of the Revised Code, upon the filing of a complaint that alleges a violation of section 2903.11, 2903.12, 2903.13, 2903.21, 2903.211 [2903.21.1], 2903.22, or 2911.211 [2911.21.1] of the Revised Code, a violation of a municipal ordinance substantially similar to section 2903.13, 2903.21, 2903.211 [2903.21.1], 2903.22, or 2911.211 [2911.21.1] of the Revised Code, or the commission of a sexually oriented offense, the complainant, the alleged victim, or a family or household member of an alleged victim may file a motion that requests the issuance of a protection order as a pretrial condition of release of the alleged offender, in addition to any bail set under Criminal Rule 46. The motion shall be filed with the clerk of the court that has jurisdiction of the case at any time after the filing of the complaint. If the complaint involves a person who is a family or household member, the complainant, the alleged victim, or the family or household member may file a motion for a temporary protection order pursuant to section 2919.26 of the Revised Code.

(B) A motion for a protection order under this section shall be prepared on a form that is provided by the clerk of the court, and the form shall be substantially as follows:

"Motion for Protection Order
....."
Name and address of court
State of Ohio
v. No
Name of Defendant
.....
Name of Defendant
.....

(Name of person), moves the court to issue a protection order containing terms designed to ensure the safety and protection of the complainant or the alleged victim in the above-captioned case, in relation to the named defendant, pursuant to its authority to issue a protection order under section 2903.213 [2903.21.3] of the Revised Code.

A complaint, a copy of which has been attached to this motion, has been filed in this court charging the named defendant with a violation of section 2903.11, 2903.12, 2903.13, 2903.21, 2903.211 [2903.21.1], 2903.22, or 2911.211 [2911.21.1] of the Revised Code, a violation of a municipal ordinance substantially similar to section 2903.13, 2903.21, 2903.211 [2903.21.1], 2903.22, or 2911.211 [2911.21.1] of the Revised Code, or the commission of a sexually oriented offense.

I understand that I must appear before the court, at a time set by the court not later than the next day that the court is in session after the filing of this motion, for a hearing on the motion, and that any protection order granted pursuant to this motion is a pretrial condition of release and is effective only until the disposition of the criminal proceeding arising out of the attached complaint or until the issuance under section 2903.214 [2903.21.4] of the Revised Code of a protection order arising out of the same activities as those that were the basis of the attached complaint.

(C)(1) As soon as possible after the filing of a motion that requests the issuance of a protection order under this section, but not later than the next day that the court is in session after the filing of the motion, the court shall conduct a hearing to determine whether to issue the order. The person who requested the order shall appear before the court and provide the court with the information that it requests concerning the basis of the motion. If the court finds that the safety and protection of the complainant or the alleged victim may be impaired by the continued presence of the alleged offender, the court may issue a protection order under this section, as a pretrial condition of release, that contains terms designed to ensure the safety and protection of the complainant or the alleged victim, including a requirement that the alleged offender refrain from entering the residence, school, business, or place of employment of the complainant or the alleged victim.

(2)(a) If the court issues a protection order under this section that includes a requirement that the alleged offender refrain from entering the residence, school, business, or place of employment of the complainant or the alleged victim, the order shall clearly state that the order cannot be waived or nullified by an invitation to the alleged offender from the complainant, the alleged victim, or a family or household member to enter the residence, school, business, or place of employment or by the alleged offender's entry into one of those places otherwise upon the consent of the complainant, the alleged victim, or a family or household member.

(b) Division (C)(2)(a) of this section does not limit any discretion of a court to determine that an alleged offender charged with a violation of section 2919.27 of the Revised Code, with a violation of a municipal ordinance substantially equivalent to that section, or with contempt of court, which charge is based on an alleged violation of a protection order issued under this section, did not commit the violation or was not in contempt of court.

(D)(1) Except when the complaint involves a person who is a family or household member as defined in section 2919.25 of the Revised Code, upon the filing of a complaint that alleges a violation specified in division (A) of this section, the court, upon its own motion, may issue a protection order under this section as a pretrial condition of release of the alleged offender if it finds that the safety and protection of the complainant or the alleged victim may be impaired by the continued presence of the alleged offender.

(2) If the court issues a protection order under this section as an ex parte order, it shall conduct, as soon as possible after the issuance of the order but not later than the next day that the court is in session after its issuance, a hearing to determine whether the order should remain in effect, be modified, or be revoked. The hearing shall be conducted under the standards set forth in division (C) of this section.

(3) If a municipal court or a county court issues a protection order under this section and if, subsequent to the issuance of the order, the alleged offender who is the subject of the order is bound over to the court of common pleas for prosecution of a felony arising out of the same activities as those that were the basis of the complaint upon which the order is based, notwithstanding the fact that the order was issued by a municipal court or county court, the order shall remain in effect, as though it were an order of the court of common pleas, while the charges against the alleged offender are pending in the court of common pleas, for the period of time described in division (E)(2) of this section, and the court of common pleas has exclusive jurisdiction to modify the order issued by the municipal court or county court. This division applies when the alleged offender is bound over to the court of common pleas as a result of the person waiving a preliminary hearing on the felony charge, as a result of the municipal court or county court having determined at a preliminary hearing that there is probable cause to believe that the felony has been committed and that the alleged offender committed it, as a result of the alleged offender having been indicted for the felony, or in any other manner.

(E) A protection order that is issued as a pretrial condition of release under this section:

(1) Is in addition to, but shall not be construed as a part of, any bail set under Criminal Rule 46;

(2) Is effective only until the disposition, by the court that issued the order or, in the circumstances described in division (D)(3) of this section, by the court of common pleas to which the alleged offender is bound over for prosecution, of the criminal proceeding arising out of the complaint upon which the order is based or until the issuance under section 2903.214 [2903.21.4] of the Revised Code of a protection order arising out of the same activities as those that were the basis of the complaint filed under this section;

(3) Shall not be construed as a finding that the alleged offender committed the alleged offense and shall not be introduced as evidence of the commission of the offense at the trial of the alleged offender on the complaint upon which the order is based.

(F) A person who meets the criteria for bail under Criminal Rule 46 and who, if required to do so pursuant to that rule, executes or posts bond or deposits cash or securities as bail, shall not be held in custody pending a hearing before the court on a motion requesting a protection order under this section.

(G)(1) A copy of a protection order that is issued under this section shall be issued by the court to the complainant, to the alleged victim, to the person who requested the order, to the defendant, and to all law enforcement agencies that have jurisdiction to enforce the order. The court shall direct that a copy of the order be delivered to the defendant on the same day that the order is entered. If a municipal court or a county court issues a protection order under this section and if, subsequent to the issuance of the order, the defendant who is the subject of the order is bound over to the court of common pleas for prosecution as described in division (D)(3) of this section, the municipal court or county court shall direct that a copy of the order be delivered to the court of common pleas to which the defendant is bound over.

(2) All law enforcement agencies shall establish and maintain an index for the protection orders delivered to the agencies pursuant to division (G)(1) of this section. With respect to each order delivered, each agency shall note on the index the date and time of the agency's receipt of the order.

(3) Regardless of whether the petitioner has registered the protection order in the county in which the officer's agency has jurisdiction, any officer of a law enforcement agency shall enforce a protection order issued pursuant to this section in accordance with the provisions of the order.

(H) Upon a violation of a protection order issued pursuant to this section, the court may issue another protection order under this section, as a pretrial condition of release, that modifies the terms of the order that was violated.

(I) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary and regardless of whether a protection order is issued or a consent agreement is approved by a court of another county or by a court of another state, no court or unit of state or local government shall charge any fee, cost, deposit, or money in connection with the filing of a motion pursuant to this section, in connection with the filing, issuance, registration, or service of a protection order or consent agreement, or for obtaining certified copies of a protection order or consent agreement.

(J) As used in this section, "sexually oriented offense" has the same meaning as in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 144 v H 536 (Eff 11-5-92); 145 v S 31 (Eff 9-27-93); 147 v H 93 (Eff 12-31-97); 147 v S 98 (Eff 3-17-98); 147 v H 302 (Eff 7-29-98); 148 v H 137 (Eff 3-10-2000); 149 v H 548. Eff 3-31-2003; 151 v S 260, § 1, eff. 1-2-07.

[§ 2903.21.4] § 2903.214 Petition for protection order to protect victim of menacing by stalking or sexually oriented offense.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Court" means the court of common pleas of the county in which the person to be protected by the protection order resides.

(2) "Victim advocate" means a person who provides support and protection for a person who files a petition under this section.

(3) "Family or household member" has the same meaning as in section 3113.31 of the Revised Code.

(4) "Protection order issued by a court of another state" has the same meaning as in section 2919.27 of the Revised Code.

(5) "Sexually oriented offense" has the same meaning as in section 2950.01 of the Revised Code.

(B) The court has jurisdiction over all proceedings under this section.

(C) A person may seek relief under this section for the person, or any parent or adult household member may seek relief under this section on behalf of any other family or household member, by filing a petition with the court. The petition shall contain or state both of the following:

(1) An allegation that the respondent engaged in a violation of section 2903.211 [2903.21.1] of the Revised Code against the person to be protected by the protection order or committed a sexually oriented offense against the person to be protected by the protection order, including a description of the nature and extent of the violation;

(2) A request for relief under this section.

(D)(1) If a person who files a petition pursuant to this section requests an ex parte order, the court shall hold an ex parte hearing as soon as possible after the petition is filed, but not later than the next day that the court is in session after the petition is filed. The court, for good cause shown at the ex parte hearing, may enter any temporary orders, with or without bond, that the court finds necessary for the safety and protection of the person to be protected by the order. Immediate and present danger to the person to be protected by the protection order constitutes good cause for purposes of this section. Immediate and present danger includes, but is not limited to, situations in which the respondent has threatened the person to be protected by the protection order with bodily harm or in which the respondent previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of section 2903.211 [2903.21.1] of the Revised Code or a sexually oriented offense against the person to be protected by the protection order.

(2)(a) If the court, after an ex parte hearing, issues a protection order described in division (E) of this section, the court shall schedule a full hearing for a date that is within ten court days after the ex parte hearing. The court shall give the respondent notice of, and an opportunity to be heard at, the full hearing. The court shall hold the full hearing on the date scheduled under this division unless the court grants a continuance of the hearing in accordance with this division. Under any of the following circumstances or for any of the following reasons, the court may grant a continuance of the full hearing to a reasonable time determined by the court:

(i) Prior to the date scheduled for the full hearing under this division, the respondent has not been served with the petition filed pursuant to this section and notice of the full hearing.

(ii) The parties consent to the continuance.

(iii) The continuance is needed to allow a party to obtain counsel.

(iv) The continuance is needed for other good cause.

(b) An ex parte order issued under this section does not expire because of a failure to serve notice of the full hearing upon the respondent before the date set for the full hearing under division (D)(2)(a) of this section or because the court grants a continuance under that division.

(3) If a person who files a petition pursuant to this section does not request an ex parte order, or if a person requests an ex parte order but the court does not issue an ex parte order after an ex parte hearing, the court shall proceed as in a normal civil action and grant a full hearing on the matter.

(E)(1) After an ex parte or full hearing, the court may issue any protection order, with or without bond, that contains terms designed to ensure the safety and protection of the person to be protected by the protection order, including, but not limited to, a requirement that the respondent refrain from entering the residence, school, business, or place of employment of the petitioner or family or household member. If the court includes a requirement that the respondent refrain from entering the residence, school, business, or place of employment of the petitioner or family or household member in the order, it also shall include in the order provisions of the type described in division (E)(5) of this section.

(2)(a) Any protection order issued pursuant to this section shall be valid until a date certain but not later than five years from the date of its issuance.

(b) Any protection order issued pursuant to this section may be renewed in the same manner as the original order was issued.

(3) A court may not issue a protection order that requires a petitioner to do or to refrain from doing an act that the court may require a respondent to do or to refrain from doing under division (E)(1) of this section unless all of the following apply:

(a) The respondent files a separate petition for a protection order in accordance with this section.

(b) The petitioner is served with notice of the respondent's petition at least forty-eight hours before the court holds a hearing with respect to the respondent's petition, or the petitioner waives the right to receive this notice.

(c) If the petitioner has requested an ex parte order pursuant to division (D) of this section, the court does not delay any hearing required by that division beyond the time specified in that division in order to consolidate the hearing with a hearing on the petition filed by the respondent.

(d) After a full hearing at which the respondent presents evidence in support of the request for a protection order and the petitioner is afforded an opportunity to defend against that evidence, the court determines that the petitioner has committed a violation of section 2903.211 [2903.21.1] of the Revised Code against the person to be protected by the protection order issued pursuant to this section, has committed a sexually oriented offense against the person to be protected by the protection order, or has violated a protection order issued pursuant to section 2903.213 [2903.21.3] of the Revised Code relative to the person to be protected by the protection order issued pursuant to this section.

(4) No protection order issued pursuant to this section shall in any manner affect title to any real property.

(5)(a) If the court issues a protection order under this section that includes a requirement that the alleged offender refrain from entering the residence, school, business, or place of employment of the petitioner or a family or household member, the order shall clearly state that the order cannot be waived or nullified by an invitation to the alleged offender from the complainant to enter the residence, school, business, or place of employment or by the alleged offender's entry into one of those places otherwise upon the consent of the petitioner or family or household member.

(b) Division (E)(5)(a) of this section does not limit any discretion of a court to determine that an alleged offender charged with a violation of section 2919.27 of the Revised Code, with a violation of a municipal ordinance substantially equivalent to that section, or with contempt of court, which charge is based on an alleged violation of a protection order issued under this section, did not commit the violation or was not in contempt of court.

(F)(1) The court shall cause the delivery of a copy of any protection order that is issued under this section to the petitioner, to the respondent, and to all law enforcement agencies that have jurisdiction to enforce the order. The court shall direct that a copy of the order be delivered to the respondent on the same day that the order is entered.

(2) All law enforcement agencies shall establish and maintain an index for the protection orders delivered to the agencies pursuant to division (F)(1) of this section. With respect to each order delivered, each agency shall note on the index the date and time that it received the order.

(3) Regardless of whether the petitioner has registered the protection order in the county in which the officer's agency has jurisdiction pursuant to division (M) of this section, any officer of a law enforcement agency shall enforce a protection order issued pursuant to this section by any court in this state in accordance with the provisions of the order, including removing the respondent from the premises, if appropriate.

(G) Any proceeding under this section shall be conducted in accordance with the Rules of Civil Procedure, except that a protection order may be obtained under this section with or without bond. An order issued under this section, other than an ex parte order, that grants a protection order, or that refuses to grant a protection order, is a final, appealable order. The remedies and procedures provided in this section are in addition to, and not in lieu of, any other available civil or criminal remedies.

(H) The filing of proceedings under this section does not excuse a person from filing any report or giving any notice required by section 2151.421 [2151.42.1] of the Revised Code or by any other law.

(I) Any law enforcement agency that investigates an alleged violation of section 2903.211 [2903.21.1] of the Revised Code or an alleged commission of a sexually oriented offense shall provide information to the victim and the family or household members of the victim regarding the relief available under this section and section 2903.213 [2903.21.3] of the Revised Code.

(J) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary and regardless of whether a protection order is issued or a consent agreement is approved by a court of another county or by a court of another state, no court or unit of state or local government shall charge any fee, cost, deposit, or money in connection with the filing of a petition pursuant to this section, in connection with the filing, issuance, registration, or service of a protection order or consent agreement, or for obtaining a certified copy of a protection order or consent agreement.

(K)(1) A person who violates a protection order issued under this section is subject to the following sanctions:

(a) Criminal prosecution for a violation of section 2919.27 of the Revised Code, if the violation of the protection order constitutes a violation of that section;

(b) Punishment for contempt of court.

(2) The punishment of a person for contempt of court for violation of a protection order issued under this section does not bar criminal prosecution of the person for a violation of section 2919.27 of the Revised Code. However, a person punished for contempt of court is entitled to credit for the punishment imposed upon conviction of a violation of that section, and a person convicted of a violation of that section shall not subsequently be punished for contempt of court arising out of the same activity.

(L) In all stages of a proceeding under this section, a petitioner may be accompanied by a victim advocate.

(M)(1) A petitioner who obtains a protection order under this section or a protection order under section 2903.213 [2903.21.3] of the Revised Code may provide notice of the issuance or approval of the order to the judicial and law enforcement officials in any county other than the county in which the order is issued by registering that order in the other county pursuant to division (M)(2) of this section and filing a copy of the registered order with a law enforcement agency in the other county in accordance with that division. A person who obtains a protection order issued by a court of another state may provide notice of the issuance of the order to the judicial and law enforcement officials in any county of this state by registering the order in that county pursuant to section 2919.272 [2919.27.2] of the Revised Code and filing a copy of the registered order with a law enforcement agency in that county.

(2) A petitioner may register a protection order issued pursuant to this section or section 2903.213 [2903.21.3] of the Revised Code in a county other than the county in which the court that issued the order is located in the following manner:

(a) The petitioner shall obtain a certified copy of the order from the clerk of the court that issued the order and present that certified copy to the clerk of the court of common pleas or the clerk of a municipal court or county court in the county in which the order is to be registered.

(b) Upon accepting the certified copy of the order for registration, the clerk of the court of common pleas, municipal court, or county court shall place an endorsement of registration on the order and give the petitioner a copy of the order that bears that proof of registration.

(3) The clerk of each court of common pleas, municipal court, or county court shall maintain a registry of certified copies of protection orders that have been issued by courts in other counties pursuant to this section or section 2903.213 [2903.21.3] of the Revised Code and that have been registered with the clerk.

§ 2903.22 Menacing.

(A) No person shall knowingly cause another to believe that the offender will cause physical harm to the person or property of the other person, the other person's unborn, or a member of the other person's immediate family.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of menacing. Except as otherwise provided in this division, menacing is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree. If the victim of the offense is an officer or employee of a public children services agency or a private child placing agency and the offense relates to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, menacing is a misdemeanor of the first degree or, if the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to an offense of violence, the victim of that prior offense was an officer or employee of a public children services agency or private child placing agency, and that prior offense related to the officer's or employee's performance or anticipated performance of official responsibilities or duties, a felony of the fourth degree.

§ 2903.31 Hazing.

(A) As used in this section, "hazing" means doing any act or coercing another, including the victim, to do any act of initiation into any student or other organization that causes or creates a substantial risk of causing mental or physical harm to any person.

(B)(1) No person shall recklessly participate in the hazing of another.

(2) No administrator, employee, or faculty member of any primary, secondary, or post-secondary school or of any other educational institution, public or private, shall recklessly permit the hazing of any person.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of hazing, a misdemeanor of the fourth degree.

[PATIENT ABUSE AND NEGLECT IN CARE FACILITIES]

§ 2903.33 Definitions.

As used in sections 2903.33 to 2903.36 of the Revised Code:

(A) "Care facility" means any of the following:

(1) Any "home" as defined in section 3721.10 or 5111.20 of the Revised Code;

(2) Any "residential facility" as defined in section 5123.19 of the Revised Code;

(3) Any institution or facility operated or provided by the department of mental health or by the department of mental retardation and developmental disabilities pursuant to sections 5119.02 and 5123.03 of the Revised Code;

(4) Any "residential facility" as defined in section 5119.22 of the Revised Code;

(5) Any unit of any hospital, as defined in section 3701.01 of the Revised Code, that provides the same services as a nursing home, as defined in section 3721.01 of the Revised Code;

(6) Any institution, residence, or facility that provides, for a period of more than twenty-four hours, whether for a consideration or not, accommodations to one individual or two unrelated individuals who are dependent upon the services of others;

(7) Any "adult care facility" as defined in section 3722.01 of the Revised Code;

(8) Any adult foster home certified by the department of aging or its designee under section 173.36 of the Revised Code;

(9) Any "community alternative home" as defined in section 3724.01 of the Revised Code.

(B) "Abuse" means knowingly causing physical harm or recklessly causing serious physical harm to a person by physical contact with the person or by the inappropriate use of a physical or chemical restraint, medication, or isolation on the person.

(C)(1) "Gross neglect" means knowingly failing to provide a person with any treatment, care, goods, or service that is necessary to maintain the health or safety of the person when the failure results in physical harm or serious physical harm to the person.

(2) "Neglect" means recklessly failing to provide a person with any treatment, care, goods, or service that is necessary to maintain the health or safety of the person when the failure results in serious physical harm to the person.

(D) "Inappropriate use of a physical or chemical restraint, medication, or isolation" means the use of physical or chemical restraint, medication, or isolation as punishment, for staff convenience, excessively, as a substitute for treatment, or in quantities that preclude habilitation and treatment.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

The provisions of § 7 of SB 2 (146 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 7. * * * Section 2903.33 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Am. Sub. H.B. 152 and Am. Sub. S.B. 21 of the 120th General Assembly, with the new language of neither of the acts shown in capital letters. * * * This is in recognition of the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that such amendments are to be harmonized where not substantively irreconcilable and constitutes a legislative finding that such is the resulting version in effect prior to the effective date of this act.

§ 2903.34 Patient abuse; neglect.

(A) No person who owns, operates, or administers, or who is an agent or employee of, a care facility shall do any of the following:

(1) Commit abuse against a resident or patient of the facility;

(2) Commit gross neglect against a resident or patient of the facility;

(3) Commit neglect against a resident or patient of the facility.

(B)(1) A person who relies upon treatment by spiritual means through prayer alone, in accordance with the tenets of a recognized religious denomination, shall not be considered neglected under division (A)(3) of this section for that reason alone.

(2) It is an affirmative defense to a charge of gross neglect or neglect under this section that the actor's conduct was committed in good faith solely because the actor was ordered to commit the conduct by a person with supervisory authority over the actor.

(C) Whoever violates division (A)(1) of this section is guilty of patient abuse, a felony of the fourth degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of, or pleaded guilty to, any violation of this section, patient abuse is a felony of the third degree.

(D) Whoever violates division (A)(2) of this section is guilty of gross patient neglect, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of, or pleaded guilty to, any violation of this section, gross patient neglect is a felony of the fifth degree.

(E) Whoever violates division (A)(3) of this section is guilty of patient neglect, a misdemeanor of the second degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to any violation of this section, patient neglect is a felony of the fifth degree.

HISTORY: 141 v H 566 (Eff 9-17-86); 146 v S 2, Eff 7-1-96.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

[§ 2903.34.1] § 2903.341 Patient endangerment.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "MR/DD caretaker" means any MR/DD employee or any person who assumes the duty to provide for the care and protection of a mentally retarded person or a developmentally disabled person on a voluntary basis, by contract, through receipt of payment for care and protection, as a result of a family relationship, or by order of a court of competent jurisdiction. "MR/DD caretaker" includes a person who is an employee of a care facility and a person who is an employee of an entity under contract with a provider. "MR/DD caretaker" does not include a person who owns, operates, or administers a care facility or who is an agent of a care facility unless that person also personally provides care to persons with mental retardation or a developmental disability.

(2) "Mentally retarded person" and "developmentally disabled person" have the same meanings as in section 5123.01 of the Revised Code.

(3) "MR/DD employee" has the same meaning as in section 5123.50 of the Revised Code.

(B) No MR/DD caretaker shall create a substantial risk to the health or safety of a mentally retarded person or a developmentally disabled person. An MR/DD caretaker does not create a substantial risk to the health or safety of a mentally retarded person or a developmentally disabled person under this division when the MR/DD caretaker treats a physical or mental illness or defect of the mentally retarded person or developmentally disabled person by spiritual means through prayer alone, in accordance with the tenets of a recognized religious body.

(C) No person who owns, operates, or administers a care facility or who is an agent of a care facility shall condone, or knowingly permit, any conduct by an MR/DD caretaker who is employed by or under the control of the owner, operator, administrator, or agent that is in violation of division (B) of this section and that involves a mentally retarded person or a developmentally disabled person who is under the care of the owner, operator, administrator, or agent. A person who relies upon treatment by spiritual means through prayer alone, in accordance with the tenets of a recognized religious denomination, shall not be considered endangered under this division for that reason alone.

(D)(1) It is an affirmative defense to a charge of a violation of division (B) or (C) of this section that the actor's conduct was committed in good faith solely because the actor was ordered to commit the conduct by a person to whom one of the following applies:

(a) The person has supervisory authority over the actor.

(b) The person has authority over the actor's conduct pursuant to a contract for the provision of services.

(2) It is an affirmative defense to a charge of a violation of division (C) of this section that the person who owns, operates, or administers a care facility or who is an agent of a care facility and who is charged with the violation is following the individual service plan for the involved mentally retarded person or a developmentally disabled person or that the admission, discharge, and transfer rule set forth in the Administrative Code is being followed.

(3) It is an affirmative defense to a charge of a violation of division (C) of this section that the actor did not have readily available a means to prevent either the harm to the person with mental retardation or a developmental disability or the death of such a person and the actor took reasonable steps to summon aid.

(E)(1) Except as provided in division (E)(2) or (E)(3) of this section, whoever violates division (B) or (C) of this section is guilty of patient endangerment, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(2) If the offender previously has been convicted of, or pleaded guilty to, a violation of this section, patient endangerment is a felony of the fourth degree.

(3) If the violation results in serious physical harm to the person with mental retardation or a developmental disability, patient endangerment is a felony of the third degree.

HISTORY: 150 v S 178, § 1, eff. 1-30-04.

§ 2903.35 Filing false patient abuse or neglect complaints.

(A) No person shall knowingly make a false statement, or knowingly swear or affirm the truth of a false statement previously made, alleging a violation of section 2903.34 of the Revised Code, when the statement is made with purpose to incriminate another.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of filing a false patient abuse or neglect complaint, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

HISTORY: 141 v H 566, Eff 9-17-86.

§ 2903.36 Discrimination, retaliation prohibited.

No care facility shall discharge or in any manner discriminate or retaliate against any person solely because such person, in good faith, filed a complaint, affidavit, or other document alleging a violation of section 2903.34 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 141 v H 566, Eff 9-17-86.

§ 2903.37 License revocation.

Any individual, who owns, operates, or administers, or who is an agent or employee of, a care facility, who is convicted of a felony violation of section 2903.34 of the Revised Code, and who is required to be licensed under any law of this state, shall have his license revoked in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code.

[KIDNAPPING AND RELATED OFFENSES]

§ 2905.01 Kidnapping.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) No person, by force, threat, or deception, or, in the case of a victim under the age of thirteen or mentally incompetent, by any means, shall remove another from the place where the other person is found or restrain the liberty of the other person, for any of the following purposes:

- (1) To hold for ransom, or as a shield or hostage;
- (2) To facilitate the commission of any felony or flight thereafter;
- (3) To terrorize, or to inflict serious physical harm on the victim or another;
- (4) To engage in sexual activity, as defined in section 2907.01 of the Revised Code, with the victim against the victim's will;
- (5) To hinder, impede, or obstruct a function of government, or to force any action or concession on the part of governmental authority.

(B) No person, by force, threat, or deception, or, in the case of a victim under the age of thirteen or mentally incompetent, by any means, shall knowingly do any of the following, under circumstances that create a substantial risk of serious physical harm to the victim or, in the case of a minor victim, under circumstances that either create a substantial risk of serious physical harm to the victim or cause physical harm to the victim:

- (1) Remove another from the place where the other person is found;
- (2) Restrain another of his liberty;
- (3) Hold another in a condition of involuntary servitude.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of kidnapping, a felony of the first degree. If the offender releases the victim in a safe place unharmed, kidnapping is a felony of the second degree.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 139 v S 199 (Eff 1-5-83); 146 v S 2, Eff 7-1-96.

§ 2905.01 Kidnapping.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A) No person, by force, threat, or deception, or, in the case of a victim under the age of thirteen or mentally incompetent, by any means, shall remove another from the place where the other person is found or restrain the liberty of the other person, for any of the following purposes:

- (1) To hold for ransom, or as a shield or hostage;
- (2) To facilitate the commission of any felony or flight thereafter;
- (3) To terrorize, or to inflict serious physical harm on the victim or another;
- (4) To engage in sexual activity, as defined in section 2907.01 of the Revised Code, with the victim against the victim's will;
- (5) To hinder, impede, or obstruct a function of government, or to force any action or concession on the part of governmental authority.

(B) No person, by force, threat, or deception, or, in the case of a victim under the age of thirteen or mentally incompetent, by any means, shall knowingly do any of the following, under circumstances that create a substantial risk of serious physical harm to the victim or, in the case of a minor victim, under circumstances that either create a substantial risk of serious physical harm to the victim or cause physical harm to the victim:

- (1) Remove another from the place where the other person is found;
- (2) Restrain another of the other person's liberty;
- (3) Hold another in a condition of involuntary servitude.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of kidnapping. Except as otherwise provided in this division, kidnapping is a felony of the first degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the offender releases the victim in a safe place unharmed, kidnapping is a felony of the second degree. If the victim of the offense is less than thirteen years of age and if the offender also is convicted of or pleads guilty to a sexual motivation specification that was included in the indictment, count in the indictment, or information charging the offense, kidnapping is a felony of the first degree, and, notwithstanding the definite sentence provided for a felony of the first degree in section 2929.14 of the Revised Code, the offender shall be sentenced pursuant to section 2971.03 of the Revised Code as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(2) of this section, the offender shall be sentenced pursuant to that section to an indefinite prison term consisting of a minimum term of fifteen years and a maximum term of life imprisonment.

(2) If the offender releases the victim in a safe place unharmed, the offender shall be sentenced pursuant to that section to an indefinite term consisting of a minimum term of ten years and a maximum term of life imprisonment.

(D) As used in this section, "sexual motivation specification" has the same meaning as in section 2971.01 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by section 4 of HB 511.

§ 2905.05 Criminal child enticement.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) No person, by any means and without privilege to do so, shall knowingly solicit, coax, entice, or lure any child under fourteen years of age to accompany the person in any manner, including entering into any vehicle or onto any vessel, whether or not the offender knows the age of the child, if both of the following apply:

(1) The actor does not have the express or implied permission of the parent, guardian, or other legal custodian of the child in undertaking the activity.

(2) The actor is not a law enforcement officer, medic, firefighter, or other person who regularly provides emergency services, and is not an employee or agent of, or a volunteer acting under the direction of, any board of education, or the actor is any of such persons, but, at the time the actor undertakes the activity, the actor is not acting within the scope of the actor's lawful duties in that capacity.

(B) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (A) of this section that the actor undertook the activity in response to a bona fide emergency situation or that the actor undertook the activity in a reasonable belief that it was necessary to preserve the health, safety, or welfare of the child.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of criminal child enticement, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of this section, section 2907.02, 2907.03, or 2907.12† of the Revised Code, or section 2905.01 or 2907.05 of the Revised Code when the victim of that prior offense was under seventeen years of age at the time of the offense, criminal child enticement is a felony of the fifth degree.

§ 2905.05 Criminal child enticement.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A) No person, by any means and without privilege to do so, shall knowingly solicit, coax, entice, or lure any child under fourteen years of age to accompany the person in any manner, including entering into any vehicle or onto any vessel, whether or not the offender knows the age of the child, if both of the following apply:

(1) The actor does not have the express or implied permission of the parent, guardian, or other legal custodian of the child in undertaking the activity.

(2) The actor is not a law enforcement officer, medic, firefighter, or other person who regularly provides emergency services, and is not an employee or agent of, or a volunteer acting under the direction of, any board of education, or the actor is any of such persons, but, at the time the actor undertakes the activity, the actor is not acting within the scope of the actor's lawful duties in that capacity.

(B) No person, with a sexual motivation, shall violate division (A) of this section.

(C) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (A) of this section that the actor undertook the activity in response to a bona fide emergency situation or that the actor undertook the activity in a reasonable belief that it was necessary to preserve the health, safety, or welfare of the child.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of criminal child enticement, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of this section, section 2907.02 or 2907.03 or former section 2907.12 of the Revised Code, or section 2905.01 or 2907.05 of the Revised Code when the victim of that prior offense was under seventeen years of age at the time of the offense, criminal child enticement is a felony of the fifth degree.

(E) As used in this section:

(1) "Sexual motivation" has the same meaning as in section 2971.01 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

Not analogous to former RC § 2905.05 (GC § 13444-24; 113 v 123(191), ch 23, § 24; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

[EXTORTION]

§ 2905.11 Extortion.

(A) No person, with purpose to obtain any valuable thing or valuable benefit or to induce another to do an unlawful act, shall do any of the following:

(1) Threaten to commit any felony;

(2) Threaten to commit any offense of violence;

(3) Violate section 2903.21 or 2903.22 of the Revised Code;

(4) Utter or threaten any calumny against any person;

(5) Expose or threaten to expose any matter tending to subject any person to hatred, contempt, or ridicule, or to damage any person's personal or business repute, or to impair any person's credit.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of extortion, a felony of the third degree.

(C) As used in this section, "threat" includes a direct threat and a threat by innuendo.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 139 v S 199 (Eff 7-1-83); 146 v S 2, Eff 7-1-96.

Not analogous to former RC § 2905.11 (RS § 7023a; 82 v 209; GC § 13028; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

§ 2905.12 Coercion.

(A) No person, with purpose to coerce another into taking or refraining from action concerning which the other person has a legal freedom of choice, shall do any of the following:

(1) Threaten to commit any offense;

(2) Utter or threaten any calumny against any person;

(3) Expose or threaten to expose any matter tending to subject any person to hatred, contempt, or ridicule, to damage any person's personal or business repute, or to impair any person's credit;

(4) Institute or threaten criminal proceedings against any person;

(5) Take, withhold, or threaten to take or withhold official action, or cause or threaten to cause official action to be taken or withheld.

(B) Divisions (A)(4) and (5) of this section shall not be construed to prohibit a prosecutor or court from doing any of the following in good faith and in the interests of justice:

(1) Offering or agreeing to grant, or granting immunity from prosecution pursuant to section 2945.44 of the Revised Code;

(2) In return for a plea of guilty to one or more offenses charged or to one or more other or lesser offenses, or in return for the testimony of the accused in a case to which the accused is not a party, offering or agreeing to dismiss, or dismissing one or more charges pending against an accused, or offering or agreeing to impose, or imposing a certain sentence or modification of sentence;

(3) Imposing a community control sanction on certain conditions, including without limitation requiring the offender to make restitution or redress to the victim of the offense.

(C) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (A)(3), (4), or (5) of this section that the actor's conduct was a reasonable response to the circumstances that occasioned it, and that the actor's purpose was limited to any of the following:

(1) Compelling another to refrain from misconduct or to desist from further misconduct;

(2) Preventing or redressing a wrong or injustice;

(3) Preventing another from taking action for which the actor reasonably believed the other person to be disqualified;

(4) Compelling another to take action that the actor reasonably believed the other person to be under a duty to take.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of coercion, a misdemeanor of the second degree.

(E) As used in this section:

(1) "Threat" includes a direct threat and a threat by innuendo.

(2) "Community control sanction" has the same meaning as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511. Eff 1-1-74; 149 v H 490, § 1, eff. 1-1-04.

The effective date is set by section 4 of HB 490.

Not analogous to former RC § 2905.12 (RS § 6824; S&S 275; 65 v 87; 79 v 132; 95 v 100; GC § 13029; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[EXTORTIONATE EXTENSION OF CREDIT; CRIMINAL USURY]

§ 2905.21 Definitions.

As used in sections 2905.21 to 2905.24 of the Revised Code:

(A) "To extend credit" means to make or renew any loan, or to enter into any agreement, express or implied, for the repayment or satisfaction of any debt or claim, regardless of whether the extension of credit is acknowledged or disputed, valid or invalid, and however arising.

(B) "Creditor" means any person who extends credit, or any person claiming by, under, or through such a person.

(C) "Debtor" means any person who receives an extension of credit, any person who guarantees the repayment of an extension of credit, or any person who in any manner undertakes to indemnify the creditor against loss resulting from the failure of any recipient to repay an extension of credit.

(D) "Repayment" of an extension of credit means the repayment, satisfaction, or discharge in whole or in part of any debt or claim, acknowledged or disputed, valid or invalid, resulting from or in connection with that extension of credit.

(E) "Collect an extension of credit" means an attempt to collect from a debtor all or part of an amount due from the extension of credit.

(F) "Extortionate extension of credit" means any extension of credit with respect to which it is the understanding of the creditor and the debtor at the time it is made that delay in making repayment or failure to make repayment will result in the use of an extortionate means or if the debtor at a later time learns that failure to make repayment will result in the use of extortionate means.

(G) "Extortionate means" is any means that involves the use, or an express or implicit threat of use, of violence or other criminal means to cause harm to the person or property of the debtor or any member of his family.

(H) "Criminal usury" means illegally charging, taking, or receiving any money or other property as interest on an extension of credit at a rate exceeding twenty-five per cent per annum or the equivalent rate for a longer or shorter period, unless either:

(1) The rate of interest is otherwise authorized by law;

(2) The creditor and the debtor, or all the creditors and all the debtors are members of the same immediate family.

(I) "Immediate family" means a person's spouse residing in the person's household, brothers and sisters of the whole or of the half blood, and children, including adopted children.

Not analogous to former RC § 2905.21 (GC § 13031-6; 101 v 50, § 6; 103 v 188; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2905.22 Extortionate extension of credit; criminal usury.

(A) No person shall:

(1) Knowingly make or participate in an extortionate extension of credit;

(2) Knowingly engage in criminal usury;

(3) Possess any writing, paper, instrument, or article used to record criminally usurious transactions, knowing that the contents record a criminally usurious transaction.

(B) Whoever violates division (A)(1) or (2) of this section is guilty of a felony of the fourth degree. Whoever violates division (A)(3) of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree.

HISTORY: 137 v H 88 (Eff 10-9-78); 146 v S 2. Eff 7-1-96.

Not analogous to former RC § 2905.22 (GC § 13031-7; 101 v 50; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

§ 2905.23 Probable cause to believe that extension of credit was extortionate.

In any prosecution under sections 2905.21 to 2905.24 of the Revised Code, if it is shown that any of the following factors were present in connection with the extension of credit, there is probable cause to believe that the extension of credit was extortionate:

(A) The extension of credit was made at a rate of interest in excess of that established for criminal usury;

(B) At the time credit was extended, the debtor reasonably believed that:

(1) One or more extensions of credit by the creditor were collected or attempted to be collected by extortionate means, or the nonrepayment thereof was punished by extortionate means;

(2) The creditor had a reputation for the use of extortionate means to collect extensions of credit or punish the nonrepayment thereof.

HISTORY: 137 v H 88. Eff 10-9-78.

Not analogous to former RC § 2905.23 (GC § 13031-10; 103 v 188; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2905.24 Evidence of implicit threat as means of collection.

In any prosecution under sections 2905.21 to 2905.24 of the Revised Code, for the purpose of showing an implicit threat as a means of collection, evidence may be introduced tending to show that one or more extensions of credit by the creditor were, to the knowledge of the person against whom the implicit threat is alleged to have been made, collected, or attempted to be collected by extortionate means or that the nonrepayment thereof was punished by extortionate means.

HISTORY: 137 v H 88. Eff 10-9-78.

Not analogous to former RC § 2905.24 (GC § 13031-8; 101 v 50; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[IN GENERAL]§ 2907.01 Definitions.

Effective until 1-1-08.

As used in sections 2907.01 to 2907.38 of the Revised Code:

(A) "Sexual conduct" means vaginal intercourse between a male and female; anal intercourse, fellatio, and cunnilingus between persons regardless of sex; and, without privilege to do so, the insertion, however slight, of any part of the body or any instrument, apparatus, or other object into the vaginal or anal opening of another. Penetration, however slight, is sufficient to complete vaginal or anal intercourse.

(B) "Sexual contact" means any touching of an erogenous zone of another, including without limitation the thigh, genitals, buttock, pubic region, or, if the person is a female, a breast, for the purpose of sexually arousing or gratifying either person.

(C) "Sexual activity" means sexual conduct or sexual contact, or both.

(D) "Prostitute" means a male or female who promiscuously engages in sexual activity for hire, regardless of whether the hire is paid to the prostitute or to another.

(E) "Harmful to juveniles" means that quality of any material or performance describing or representing nudity, sexual conduct, sexual excitement, or sado-masochistic abuse in any form to which all of the following apply:

(1) The material or performance, when considered as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest in sex of juveniles.

(2) The material or performance is patently offensive to prevailing standards in the adult community as a whole with respect to what is suitable for juveniles.

(3) The material or performance, when considered as a whole, lacks serious literary, artistic, political, and scientific value for juveniles.

(F) When considered as a whole, and judged with reference to ordinary adults or, if it is designed for sexual deviates or other specially susceptible group, judged with reference to that group, any material or performance is "obscene" if any of the following apply:

(1) Its dominant appeal is to prurient interest;

(2) Its dominant tendency is to arouse lust by displaying or depicting sexual activity, masturbation, sexual excitement, or nudity in a way that tends to represent human beings as mere objects of sexual appetite;

(3) Its dominant tendency is to arouse lust by displaying or depicting bestiality or extreme or bizarre violence, cruelty, or brutality;

(4) Its dominant tendency is to appeal to scatological interest by displaying or depicting human bodily functions of elimination in a way that inspires disgust or revulsion in persons with ordinary sensibilities, without serving any genuine scientific, educational, sociological, moral, or artistic purpose;

(5) It contains a series of displays or descriptions of sexual activity, masturbation, sexual excitement, nudity, bestiality, extreme or bizarre violence, cruelty, or brutality, or human bodily functions of elimination, the cumulative effect of which is a dominant tendency to appeal to prurient or scatological interest, when the appeal to such an interest is primarily for its own sake or for commercial exploitation, rather than primarily for a genuine scientific, educational, sociological, moral, or artistic purpose.

(G) "Sexual excitement" means the condition of human male or female genitals when in a state of sexual stimulation or arousal.

(H) "Nudity" means the showing, representation, or depiction of human male or female genitals, pubic area, or buttocks with less than a full, opaque covering, or of a female breast with less than a full, opaque covering of any portion thereof below the top of the nipple, or of covered male genitals in a discernibly turgid state.

(I) "Juvenile" means an unmarried person under the age of eighteen.

(J) "Material" means any book, magazine, newspaper, pamphlet, poster, print, picture, figure, image, description, motion picture film, phonographic record, or tape, or other tangible thing capable of arousing interest through sight, sound, or touch and includes an image or text appearing on a computer monitor, television screen, liquid crystal display, or similar display device or an image or text recorded on a computer hard disk, computer floppy disk, compact disk, magnetic tape, or similar data storage device.

(K) "Performance" means any motion picture, preview, trailer, play, show, skit, dance, or other exhibition performed before an audience.

(L) "Spouse" means a person married to an offender at the time of an alleged offense, except that such person shall not be considered the spouse when any of the following apply:

(1) When the parties have entered into a written separation agreement authorized by section 3103.06 of the Revised Code;

(2) During the pendency of an action between the parties for annulment, divorce, dissolution of marriage, or legal separation;

(3) In the case of an action for legal separation, after the effective date of the judgment for legal separation.

(M) "Minor" means a person under the age of eighteen.

(N) "Mental health client or patient" has the same meaning as in section 2305.51 of the Revised Code.

(O) "Mental health professional" has the same meaning as in section 2305.115 [2305.11.5] of the Revised Code.

(P) "Sado-masochistic abuse" means flagellation or torture by or upon a person or the condition of being fettered, bound, or otherwise physically restrained.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 136 v S 144 (Eff 8-27-75); 142 v H 51 (Eff 3-17-89); 143 v H 514 (Eff 1-1-91); 146 v H 445 (Eff 9-3-96); 147 v H 32 (Eff 3-10-98); 149 v S 9 (Eff 5-14-2002); 149 v H 8, Eff 8-5-2002; 149 v H 490, § 1, eff. 1-1-04; 151 v H 95, § 1, eff. 8-3-06; 151 v H 23, § 1, eff. 8-17-06.

§ 2907.01 Definitions.

Effective 1-1-08.

As used in sections 2907.01 to 2907.38 of the Revised Code:

(A) "Sexual conduct" means vaginal intercourse between a male and female; anal intercourse, fellatio, and cunnilingus between persons regardless of sex; and, without privilege to do so, the insertion, however slight, of any part of the body or any instrument, apparatus, or other object into the vaginal or anal opening of another. (P) "Sado-masochistic abuse" means flagellation or torture by or upon a person or the condition of being fettered, bound, or otherwise physically restrained.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 136 v S 144 (Eff 8-27-75); 142 v H 51 (Eff 3-17-89); 143 v H 514 (Eff 1-1-91); 146 v H 445 (Eff 9-3-96); 147 v H 32 (Eff 3-10-98); 149 v S 9 (Eff 5-14-2002); 149 v H 8, Eff 8-5-2002; 149 v H 490, § 1, eff. 1-1-04; 151 v H 95, § 1, eff. 8-3-06; 151 v H 23, § 1, eff. 8-17-06; 152 v S 10, § 1, eff. 1-1-08.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

The provisions of § 6 of 152 v S 10 read as follows:

SECTION 6. Section 2907.01 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Am. Sub. H.B. 23 and Am. Sub. H.B. 95 of the 126th General Assembly. * * * The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composites are the resulting versions of the sections in effect prior to the effective date of the sections as presented in this act.

The effective date is set by section 4 of HB 490.

The provisions of § 5 of HB 490 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 5. Section 2907.01 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Sub. H.B. 8 and Am. Sub. S.B. 9 of the 124th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the specified composite is the resulting version of the specified sections in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.01 (RS § 6830-3; 95 v 649; GC § 13387; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2907.01 of the Revised Code is amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 23 and Am. Sub. H.B. 95 of the 126th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

[SEXUAL ASSAULTS]

§ 2907.02 Rape.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A)(1) No person shall engage in sexual conduct with another who is not the spouse of the offender or who is the spouse of the offender but is living separate and apart from the offender, when any of the following applies:

(a) For the purpose of preventing resistance, the offender substantially impairs the other person's judgment or control by administering any drug, intoxicant, or controlled substance to the other person surreptitiously or by force, threat of force, or deception.

(b) The other person is less than thirteen years of age, whether or not the offender knows the age of the other person.

(c) The other person's ability to resist or consent is substantially impaired because of a mental or physical condition or because of advanced age, and the offender knows or has reasonable cause to believe that the other person's ability to resist or consent is substantially impaired because of a mental or physical condition or because of advanced age.

(2) No person shall engage in sexual conduct with another when the offender purposely compels the other person to submit by force or threat of force.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of rape, a felony of the first degree. If the offender under division (A)(1)(a) of this section substantially impairs the other person's judgment or control by administering any controlled substance described in section 3719.41 of the Revised Code to the other person surreptitiously or by force, threat of force, or deception, the prison term imposed upon the offender shall be one of the prison terms prescribed for a felony of the first degree in section 2929.14 of the Revised Code that is not less than five years. Except as otherwise provided in this division, notwithstanding sections 2929.11 to 2929.14 of the Revised Code, an offender under division (A)(1)(b) of this section shall be sentenced to a prison term or term of life imprisonment pursuant to section 2971.03 of the Revised Code. If an offender is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A)(1)(b) of this section, if the offender was less than sixteen years of age at the time the offender committed the violation of that division, and if the offender during or immediately after the commission of the offense did not cause serious physical harm to the victim, the victim was ten years of age or older at the time of the commission of the violation, and the offender has not previously been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or a substantially similar existing or former law of this state, another state, or the United States, the court shall not sentence the offender to a prison term or term of life imprisonment pursuant to section 2971.03 of the Revised Code, and instead the court shall sentence the offender as otherwise provided in this division. If an offender under division (A)(1)(b) of this section previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to violating division (A)(1)(b) of this section or to violating an existing or former law of this state, another state, or the United States that is substantially similar to division (A)(1)(b) of this section, if the offender during or immediately after the commission of the offense caused serious physical harm to the victim, or if the victim under division (A)(1)(b) of this section is less than ten years of age, in lieu of sentencing the offender to a prison term or term of life imprisonment pursuant to section 2971.03 of the Revised Code, the court may impose upon the offender a term of life without parole. If the court imposes a term of life without parole pursuant to this division, division (F) of section 2971.03 of the Revised Code applies, and the offender automatically is classified a sexual predator, as described in that division.

(C) A victim need not prove physical resistance to the offender in prosecutions under this section.

(D) Evidence of specific instances of the victim's sexual activity, opinion evidence of the victim's sexual activity, and reputation evidence of the victim's sexual activity shall not be admitted under this section unless it involves evidence of the origin of semen, pregnancy, or disease, or the victim's past sexual activity with the offender, and only to the extent that the court finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

Evidence of specific instances of the defendant's sexual activity, opinion evidence of the defendant's sexual activity, and reputation evidence of the defendant's sexual activity shall not be admitted under this section unless it involves evidence of the origin of semen, pregnancy, or disease, the defendant's past sexual activity with the victim, or is admissible against the defendant under section 2945.59 of the Revised Code, and only to the extent that the court finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

(E) Prior to taking testimony or receiving evidence of any sexual activity of the victim or the defendant in a proceeding under this section, the court shall resolve the admissibility of the proposed evidence in a hearing in chambers, which shall be held at or before preliminary hearing and not less than three days before trial, or for good cause shown during the trial.

(F) Upon approval by the court, the victim may be represented by counsel in any hearing in chambers or other proceeding to resolve the admissibility of evidence. If the victim is indigent or otherwise is unable to obtain the services of counsel, the court, upon request, may appoint counsel to represent the victim without cost to the victim.

(G) It is not a defense to a charge under division (A)(2) of this section that the offender and the victim were married or were cohabiting at the time of the commission of the offense.

§ 2907.02 Rape.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A)(1) No person shall engage in sexual conduct with another who is not the spouse of the offender or who is the spouse of the offender but is living separate and apart from the offender, when any of the following applies:

(a) For the purpose of preventing resistance, the offender substantially impairs the other person's judgment or control by administering any drug, intoxicant, or controlled substance to the other person surreptitiously or by force, threat of force, or deception.

(b) The other person is less than thirteen years of age, whether or not the offender knows the age of the other person.

(c) The other person's ability to resist or consent is substantially impaired because of a mental or physical condition or because of advanced age, and the offender knows or has reasonable cause to believe that the other person's ability to resist or consent is substantially impaired because of a mental or physical condition or because of advanced age.

(2) No person shall engage in sexual conduct with another when the offender purposely compels the other person to submit by force or threat of force.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of rape, a felony of the first degree. If the offender under division (A)(1)(a) of this section substantially impairs the other person's judgment or control by administering any controlled substance described in section 3719.41 of the Revised Code to the other person surreptitiously or by force, threat of force, or deception, the prison term imposed upon the offender shall be one of the prison terms prescribed for a felony of the first degree in section 2929.14 of the Revised Code that is not less than five years. Except as otherwise provided in this division, notwithstanding sections 2929.11 to 2929.14 of the Revised Code, an offender under division (A)(1)(b) of this section shall be sentenced to a prison term or term of life imprisonment pursuant to section 2971.03 of the Revised Code. If an offender is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A)(1)(b) of this section, if the offender was less than sixteen years of age at the time the offender committed the violation of that division, and if the offender during or immediately after the commission of the offense did not cause serious physical harm to the victim, the victim was ten years of age or older at the time of the commission of the violation, and the offender has not previously been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or a substantially similar existing or former law of this state, another state, or the United States, the court shall not sentence the offender to a prison term or term of life imprisonment pursuant to section 2971.03 of the Revised Code, and instead the court shall sentence the offender as otherwise provided in this division. If an offender under division (A)(1)(b) of this section previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to violating division (A)(1)(b) of this section or to violating an existing or former law of this state, another state, or the United States that is substantially similar to division (A)(1)(b) of this section, if the offender during or immediately after the commission of the offense caused serious physical harm to the victim, or if the victim under division (A)(1)(b) of this section is less than ten years of age, in lieu of sentencing the offender to a prison term or term of life imprisonment pursuant to section 2971.03 of the Revised Code, the court may impose upon the offender a term of life without parole. If the court imposes a term of life without parole pursuant to this division, division (F) of section 2971.03 of the Revised Code applies, and the offender automatically is classified a tier III sex offender/child-victim offender, as described in that division.

(C) A victim need not prove physical resistance to the offender in prosecutions under this section.

(D) Evidence of specific instances of the victim's sexual activity, opinion evidence of the victim's sexual activity, and reputation evidence of the victim's sexual activity shall not be admitted under this section unless it involves evidence of the origin of semen, pregnancy, or disease, or the victim's past sexual activity with the offender, and only to the extent that the court finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

Evidence of specific instances of the defendant's sexual activity, opinion evidence of the defendant's sexual activity, and reputation evidence of the defendant's sexual activity shall not be admitted under this section unless it involves evidence of the origin of semen, pregnancy, or disease, the defendant's past sexual activity with the victim, or is admissible against the defendant under section 2945.59 of the Revised Code, and only to the extent that the court finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

(E) Prior to taking testimony or receiving evidence of any sexual activity of the victim or the defendant in a proceeding under this section, the court shall resolve the admissibility of the proposed evidence in a hearing in chambers, which shall be held at or before preliminary hearing and not less than three days before trial, or for good cause shown during the trial.

(F) Upon approval by the court, the victim may be represented by counsel in any hearing in chambers or other proceeding to resolve the admissibility of evidence. If the victim is indigent or otherwise is unable to obtain the services of counsel, the court, upon request, may appoint counsel to represent the victim without cost to the victim.

(G) It is not a defense to a charge under division (A)(2) of this section that the offender and the victim were married or were cohabiting at the time of the commission of the offense.

The effective date is set by § 3 of 152 v S 10.

The provisions of § 4 of 151 v S 260 read as follows:

SECTION 4. It is the intent of the General Assembly that the offense of child rape described in division (A)(1)(b) of section 2907.02 of the Revised Code, as enacted by this act, prevails over the offense of sexual battery committed against a person who is under the age of thirteen as described in section 2907.03 of the Revised Code in circumstances when a person violates the prohibitions of both offenses.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.02 (RS § 6831; S&C 406; S&S 267, 268; 33 v 33; 60 v 85; 66 v 122; 83 v 81; 86 v 3; GC § 12433; 113 v 541; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 131 v 673), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2907.03 Sexual battery.

(A) No person shall engage in sexual conduct with another, not the spouse of the offender, when any of the following apply:

(1) The offender knowingly coerces the other person to submit by any means that would prevent resistance by a person of ordinary resolution.

(2) The offender knows that the other person's ability to appraise the nature of or control the other person's own conduct is substantially impaired.

(3) The offender knows that the other person submits because the other person is unaware that the act is being committed.

(4) The offender knows that the other person submits because the other person mistakenly identifies the offender as the other person's spouse.

(5) The offender is the other person's natural or adoptive parent, or a stepparent, or guardian, custodian, or person in loco parentis of the other person.

(6) The other person is in custody of law or a patient in a hospital or other institution, and the offender has supervisory or disciplinary authority over the other person.

(7) The offender is a teacher, administrator, coach, or other person in authority employed by or serving in a school for which the state board of education prescribes minimum standards pursuant to division (D) of section 3301.07 of the Revised Code, the other person is enrolled in or attends that school, and the offender is not enrolled in and does not attend that school.

(8) The other person is a minor, the offender is a teacher, administrator, coach, or other person in authority employed by or serving in an institution of higher education, and the other person is enrolled in or attends that institution.

(9) The other person is a minor, and the offender is the other person's athletic or other type of coach, is the other person's instructor, is the leader of a scouting troop of which the other person is a member, or is a person with temporary or occasional disciplinary control over the other person.

(10) The offender is a mental health professional, the other person is a mental health client or patient of the offender, and the offender induces the other person to submit by falsely representing to the other person that the sexual conduct is necessary for mental health treatment purposes.

(11) The other person is confined in a detention facility, and the offender is an employee of that detention facility.

(12) The other person is a minor, the offender is a cleric, and the other person is a member of, or attends, the church or congregation served by the cleric.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of sexual battery. Except as otherwise provided in this division, sexual battery is a felony of the third degree. If the other person is less than thirteen years of age, sexual battery is a felony of the second degree, and the court shall impose upon the offender a mandatory prison term equal to one of the prison terms prescribed in section 2929.14 of the Revised Code for a felony of the second degree.

(C) As used in this section:

(1) "Cleric" has the same meaning as in section 2317.02 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Detention facility" has the same meaning as in section 2921.01 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Institution of higher education" means a state institution of higher education defined in section 3345.011 [3345.01.1] of the Revised Code, a private nonprofit college or university located in this state that possesses a certificate of authorization issued by the Ohio board of regents pursuant to Chapter 1713. of the Revised Code, or a school certified under Chapter 3332. of the Revised Code.

See provisions of § 4 of 151 v S 260 following RC § 2907.02.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.03 (GC § 12433-1; 113 v 541; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2907.03 of the Revised Code is amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 95 and Am. Sub. S.B. 17 of the 126th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

§ 2907.04 Unlawful sexual conduct with minor.

(A) No person who is eighteen years of age or older shall engage in sexual conduct with another, who is not the spouse of the offender, when the offender knows the other person is thirteen years of age or older but less than sixteen years of age, or the offender is reckless in that regard.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of unlawful sexual conduct with a minor.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in divisions (B)(2), (3), and (4) of this section, unlawful sexual conduct with a minor is a felony of the fourth degree.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (B)(4) of this section, if the offender is less than four years older than the other person, unlawful sexual conduct with a minor is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (B)(4) of this section, if the offender is ten or more years older than the other person, unlawful sexual conduct with a minor is a felony of the third degree.

(4) If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of section 2907.02, 2907.03, or 2907.04 of the Revised Code or a violation of former section 2907.12 of the Revised Code, unlawful sexual conduct with a minor is a felony of the second degree.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 143 v H 44 (Eff 7-24-90); 146 v S 2 (Eff 7-1-96); 148 v H 442. Eff 10-17-2000.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.04 (RS § 6832; S&C 457a, 457b; 57 v 49; GC § 12434; 113 v 541; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2907.05 Gross sexual imposition.

Effective until 1-1-08.

(A) No person shall have sexual contact with another, not the spouse of the offender; cause another, not the spouse of the offender, to have sexual contact with the offender; or cause two or more other persons to have sexual contact when any of the following applies:

(1) The offender purposely compels the other person, or one of the other persons, to submit by force or threat of force.

(2) For the purpose of preventing resistance, the offender substantially impairs the judgment or control of the other person or of one of the other persons by administering any drug, intoxicant, or controlled substance to the other person surreptitiously or by force, threat of force, or deception.

(3) The offender knows that the judgment or control of the other person or of one of the other persons is substantially impaired as a result of the influence of any drug or intoxicant administered to the other person with the other person's consent for the purpose of any kind of medical or dental examination, treatment, or surgery.

(4) The other person, or one of the other persons, is less than thirteen years of age, whether or not the offender knows the age of that person.

(5) The ability of the other person to resist or consent or the ability of one of the other persons to resist or consent is substantially impaired because of a mental or physical condition or because of advanced age, and the offender knows or has reasonable cause to believe that the ability to resist or consent of the other person or of one of the other persons is substantially impaired because of a mental or physical condition or because of advanced age.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of gross sexual imposition.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, gross sexual imposition committed in violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), or (5) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. If the offender under division (A)(2) of this section substantially impairs the judgment or control of the other person or one of the other persons by administering any controlled substance described in section 3719.41 of the Revised Code to the person surreptitiously or by force, threat of force, or deception, gross sexual imposition committed in violation of division (A)(2) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(2) Gross sexual imposition committed in violation of division (A)(4) of this section is a felony of the third degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, for gross sexual imposition committed in violation of division (A)(4) of this section there is a presumption that a prison term shall be imposed for the offense. The court shall impose on an offender convicted of gross sexual imposition in violation of division (A)(4) of this section a mandatory prison term equal to one of the prison terms prescribed in section 2929.14 of the Revised Code for a felony of the third degree if either of the following applies:

(a) Evidence other than the testimony of the victim was admitted in the case corroborating the violation;

(b) The offender previously was convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section, rape, the former offense of felonious sexual penetration, or sexual battery, and the victim of the previous offense was under thirteen years of age.

(C) A victim need not prove physical resistance to the offender in prosecutions under this section.

(D) Evidence of specific instances of the victim's sexual activity, opinion evidence of the victim's sexual activity, and reputation evidence of the victim's sexual activity shall not be admitted under this section unless it involves evidence of the origin of semen, pregnancy, or disease, or the victim's past sexual activity with the offender, and only to the extent that the court finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

Evidence of specific instances of the defendant's sexual activity, opinion evidence of the defendant's sexual activity, and reputation evidence of the defendant's sexual activity shall not be admitted under this section unless it involves evidence of the origin of semen, pregnancy, or disease, the defendant's past sexual activity with the victim, or is admissible against the defendant under section 2945.59 of the Revised Code, and only to the extent that the court finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

(E) Prior to taking testimony or receiving evidence of any sexual activity of the victim or the defendant in a proceeding under this section, the court shall resolve the admissibility of the proposed evidence in a hearing in chambers, which shall be held at or before preliminary hearing and not less than three days before trial, or for good cause shown during the trial.

(F) Upon approval by the court, the victim may be represented by counsel in any hearing in chambers or other proceeding to resolve the admissibility of evidence. If the victim is indigent or otherwise is unable to obtain the services of counsel, the court, upon request, may appoint counsel to represent the victim without cost to the victim.

Effective 1-1-08.

(A) No person shall have sexual contact with another, not the spouse of the offender; cause another, not the spouse of the offender, to have sexual contact with the offender; or cause two or more other persons to have sexual contact when any of the following applies:

(1) The offender purposely compels the other person, or one of the other persons, to submit by force or threat of force.

(2) For the purpose of preventing resistance, the offender substantially impairs the judgment or control of the other person or of one of the other persons by administering any drug, intoxicant, or controlled substance to the other person surreptitiously or by force, threat of force, or deception.

(3) The offender knows that the judgment or control of the other person or of one of the other persons is substantially impaired as a result of the influence of any drug or intoxicant administered to the other person with the other person's consent for the purpose of any kind of medical or dental examination, treatment, or surgery.

(4) The other person, or one of the other persons, is less than thirteen years of age, whether or not the offender knows the age of that person.

(5) The ability of the other person to resist or consent or the ability of one of the other persons to resist or consent is substantially impaired because of a mental or physical condition or because of advanced age, and the offender knows or has reasonable cause to believe that the ability to resist or consent of the other person or of one of the other persons is substantially impaired because of a mental or physical condition or because of advanced age.

(B) No person shall knowingly touch the genitalia of another, when the touching is not through clothing, the other person is less than twelve years of age, whether or not the offender knows the age of that person, and the touching is done with an intent to abuse, humiliate, harass, degrade, or arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of gross sexual imposition.

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, gross sexual imposition committed in violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), or (5) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. If the offender under division (A)(2) of this section substantially impairs the judgment or control of the other person or one of the other persons by administering any controlled substance described in section 3719.41 of the Revised Code to the person surreptitiously or by force, threat of force, or deception, gross sexual imposition committed in violation of division (A)(2) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(2) Gross sexual imposition committed in violation of division (A)(4) or (B) of this section is a felony of the third degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, for gross sexual imposition committed in violation of division (A)(4) or (B) of this section there is a presumption that a prison term shall be imposed for the offense. The court shall impose on an offender convicted of gross sexual imposition in violation of division (A)(4) or (B) of this section a mandatory prison term equal to one of the prison terms prescribed in section 2929.14 of the Revised Code for a felony of the third degree if either of the following applies:

(a) Evidence other than the testimony of the victim was admitted in the case corroborating the violation;

(b) The offender previously was convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section, rape, the former offense of felonious sexual penetration, or sexual battery, and the victim of the previous offense was less than thirteen years of age.

(D) A victim need not prove physical resistance to the offender in prosecutions under this section.

(E) Evidence of specific instances of the victim's sexual activity, opinion evidence of the victim's sexual activity, and reputation evidence of the victim's sexual activity shall not be admitted under this section unless it involves evidence of the origin of semen, pregnancy, or disease, or the victim's past sexual activity with the offender, and only to the extent that the court finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

Evidence of specific instances of the defendant's sexual activity, opinion evidence of the defendant's sexual activity, and reputation evidence of the defendant's sexual activity shall not be admitted under this section unless it involves evidence of the origin of semen, pregnancy, or disease, the defendant's past sexual activity with the victim, or is admissible against the defendant under section 2945.59 of the Revised Code, and only to the extent that the court finds that the evidence is material to a fact at issue in the case and that its inflammatory or prejudicial nature does not outweigh its probative value.

(F) Prior to taking testimony or receiving evidence of any sexual activity of the victim or the defendant in a proceeding under this section, the court shall resolve the admissibility of the proposed evidence in a hearing in chambers, which shall be held at or before preliminary hearing and not less than three days before trial, or for good cause shown during the trial.

(G) Upon approval by the court, the victim may be represented by counsel in any hearing in chambers or other proceeding to resolve the admissibility of evidence. If the victim is indigent or otherwise is unable to obtain the services of counsel, the court, upon request, may appoint counsel to represent the victim without cost to the victim.

§ 2907.06 Sexual imposition.

(A) No person shall have sexual contact with another, not the spouse of the offender; cause another, not the spouse of the offender, to have sexual contact with the offender; or cause two or more other persons to have sexual contact when any of the following applies:

(1) The offender knows that the sexual contact is offensive to the other person, or one of the other persons, or is reckless in that regard.

(2) The offender knows that the other person's, or one of the other person's, ability to appraise the nature of or control the offender's or touching person's conduct is substantially impaired.

(3) The offender knows that the other person, or one of the other persons, submits because of being unaware of the sexual contact.

(4) The other person, or one of the other persons, is thirteen years of age or older but less than sixteen years of age, whether or not the offender knows the age of such person, and the offender is at least eighteen years of age and four or more years older than such other person.

(5) The offender is a mental health professional, the other person or one of the other persons is a mental health client or patient of the offender, and the offender induces the other person who is the client or patient to submit by falsely representing to the other person who is the client or patient that the sexual contact is necessary for mental health treatment purposes.

(B) No person shall be convicted of a violation of this section solely upon the victim's testimony unsupported by other evidence.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of sexual imposition, a misdemeanor of the third degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of this section or of section 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.05, or 2907.12[†] of the Revised Code, a violation of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.06 (GC § 12435-1; 113 v 541; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2907.07 Importuning.

(A) No person shall solicit a person who is less than thirteen years of age to engage in sexual activity with the offender, whether or not the offender knows the age of such person.

(B) No person shall solicit another, not the spouse of the offender, to engage in sexual conduct with the offender, when the offender is eighteen years of age or older and four or more years older than the other person, and the other person is thirteen years of age or older but less than sixteen years of age, whether or not the offender knows the age of the other person.

(C) No person shall solicit another by means of a telecommunications device, as defined in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code, to engage in sexual activity with the offender when the offender is eighteen years of age or older and either of the following applies:

(1) The other person is less than thirteen years of age, and the offender knows that the other person is less than thirteen years of age or is reckless in that regard.

(2) The other person is a law enforcement officer posing as a person who is less than thirteen years of age, and the offender believes that the other person is less than thirteen years of age or is reckless in that regard.

(D) No person shall solicit another by means of a telecommunications device, as defined in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code, to engage in sexual activity with the offender when the offender is eighteen years of age or older and either of the following applies:

(1) The other person is thirteen years of age or older but less than sixteen years of age, the offender knows that the other person is thirteen years of age or older but less than sixteen years of age or is reckless in that regard, and the offender is four or more years older than the other person.

(2) The other person is a law enforcement officer posing as a person who is thirteen years of age or older but less than sixteen years of age, the offender believes that the other person is thirteen years of age or older but less than sixteen years of age or is reckless in that regard, and the offender is four or more years older than the age the law enforcement officer assumes in posing as the person who is thirteen years of age or older but less than sixteen years of age.

(E) Divisions (C) and (D) of this section apply to any solicitation that is contained in a transmission via a telecommunications device that either originates in this state or is received in this state.

(F) Whoever violates this section is guilty of importuning. A violation of division (A) or (C) of this section is a felony of the third degree on a first offense and a felony of the second degree on each subsequent offense. Notwithstanding division (C) of section 2929.13 of the Revised Code, there is a presumption that a prison term shall be imposed for a violation of division (A) or (C) of this section as described in division (D) of section 2929.13 of the Revised Code. A violation of division (B) or (D) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree on a first offense and a felony of the fourth degree on each subsequent offense.

§ 2907.08 Voyeurism.

(A) No person, for the purpose of sexually arousing or gratifying the person's self, shall commit trespass or otherwise surreptitiously invade the privacy of another, to spy or eavesdrop upon another.

(B) No person, for the purpose of sexually arousing or gratifying the person's self, shall commit trespass or otherwise surreptitiously invade the privacy of another to videotape, film, photograph, or otherwise record the other person in a state of nudity.

(C) No person, for the purpose of sexually arousing or gratifying the person's self, shall commit trespass or otherwise surreptitiously invade the privacy of another to videotape, film, photograph, or otherwise record the other person in a state of nudity if the other person is a minor.

(D) No person, for the purpose of sexually arousing or gratifying the person's self, shall commit trespass or otherwise surreptitiously invade the privacy of another to videotape, film, photograph, or otherwise record the other person in a state of nudity if the other person is a minor and any of the following applies:

(1) The offender is the minor's natural or adoptive parent, stepparent, guardian, or custodian, or person in loco parentis of the minor.

(2) The minor is in custody of law or is a patient in a hospital or other institution, and the offender has supervisory or disciplinary authority over the minor.

(3) The offender is a teacher, administrator, coach, or other person in authority employed by or serving in a school for which the state board of education prescribes minimum standards pursuant to division (D) of section 3301.07 of the Revised Code, the minor is enrolled in or attends that school, and the offender is not enrolled in and does not attend that school.

(4) The offender is a teacher, administrator, coach, or other person in authority employed by or serving in an institution of higher education, and the minor is enrolled in or attends that institution.

(5) The offender is a caregiver, administrator, or other person in authority employed by or serving in a child day-care center, type A family day-care home, or type B family day-care home, and the minor is enrolled in or attends that center or home.

(6) The offender is the minor's athletic or other type of coach, is the minor's instructor, is the leader of a scouting troop of which the minor is a member, provides babysitting care for the minor, or is a person with temporary or occasional disciplinary control over the minor.

(E) No person shall secretly or surreptitiously videotape, film, photograph, or otherwise record another person under or through the clothing being worn by that other person for the purpose of viewing the body of, or the undergarments worn by, that other person.†

(F)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of voyeurism.

(2) A violation of division (A) of this section is a misdemeanor of the third degree.

(3) A violation of division (B) of this section is a misdemeanor of the second degree.

(4) A violation of division (C) or (E) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(5) A violation of division (D) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree.

(G) As used in this section:

(1) "Institution of higher education" means a state institution of higher education as defined in section 3345.031 [3345.03.1] of the Revised Code, a private nonprofit college or university located in this state that possesses a certificate of authorization issued by the Ohio board of regents pursuant to Chapter 1713. of the Revised Code, or a school certified under Chapter 3332. of the Revised Code.

(2) "Child day-care center," "type A family day-care home," and "type B family day-care home" have the same meanings as in section 5104.01 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Babysitting care" means care provided for a child while the parents, guardian, or legal custodian of the child is temporarily away.

† Division (E) was enacted in HB 504 (148 v —).

The provisions of § 3 of 151 v H 310 read as follows:

SECTION 3. The General Assembly hereby declares that its purpose in amending divisions (B), (C), and (D) of section 2907.08 of the Revised Code in Section 1 of this act is to clarify the meaning of the term "photograph" as used in those divisions. The General Assembly declares that it believes that the term "photograph," as used in those divisions as they existed prior to the effective date of this act, included within its scope all types of the recording of an image, including, but not limited to, videotaping, filming, photographing, or otherwise recording an image; that it is not its intent in amending those divisions to declare or otherwise give the impression that, prior to the effective date of this act, the term "photograph" as used in those divisions did not include within its scope videotaping, filming, or other recording of an image; and that it believes that the amendments to those divisions are not substantive in nature and merely clarify the fact that the term "photograph" as used in those divisions includes within its scope all types of the recording of an image, including, but not limited to, videotaping, filming, photographing, or otherwise recording an image. Further, the General Assembly hereby declares that the amendments to those divisions do not invalidate, and shall not be construed as invalidating, any prior convictions for violating a prohibition contained in any of those divisions prior to the effective date of this act based on conduct that involved videotaping, filming, or other recording of an image.

The provisions of § 4 of 151 v H 310 read as follows:

SECTION 4. Section 2907.08 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by Sub. H.B. 332, Sub. H.B. 448, and Sub. H.B. 504 of the 123rd General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.08 (Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 132 v H 996), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 5 of HB 332.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2907.08 of the Revised Code is amended by this act [Sub. H.B. 504] and also by Sub. H.B. 332 and Sub. H.B. 448 of the 123rd General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

§ 2907.09 Public indecency.

(A) No person shall recklessly do any of the following, under circumstances in which the person's conduct is likely to be viewed by and affront others who are in the person's physical proximity and who are not members of the person's household:

- (1) Expose the person's private parts;
- (2) Engage in sexual conduct or masturbation;
- (3) Engage in conduct that to an ordinary observer would appear to be sexual conduct or masturbation.

(B) No person shall knowingly do any of the following, under circumstances in which the person's conduct is likely to be viewed by and affront another person who is a minor, who is not the spouse of the offender, and who resides in the person's household:

- (1) Engage in masturbation;
- (2) Engage in sexual conduct;
- (3) Engage in conduct that to an ordinary observer would appear to be sexual conduct or masturbation;
- (4) Expose the person's private parts with the purpose of personal sexual arousal or gratification or to lure the minor into sexual activity.

(C)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of public indecency and shall be punished as provided in divisions (C)(2), (3), (4), and (5) of this section.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(2) of this section, a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to one violation of this section, a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a misdemeanor of the third degree or, if any person who was likely to view and be affronted by the offender's conduct was a minor, a misdemeanor of the second degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to two violations of this section, a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a misdemeanor of the second degree or, if any person who was likely to view and be affronted by the offender's conduct was a minor, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to three or more violations of this section, a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree or, if any person who was likely to view and be affronted by the offender's conduct was a minor, a felony of the fifth degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(3) of this section, a violation of division (A)(2) or (3) of this section is a misdemeanor of the third degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to one violation of this section, a violation of division (A)(2) or (3) of this section is a misdemeanor of the second degree or, if any person who was likely to view and be affronted by the offender's conduct was a minor, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to two or more violations of this section, a violation of division (A)(2) or (3) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree or, if any person who was likely to view and be affronted by the offender's conduct was a minor, a felony of the fifth degree.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(4) of this section, a violation of division (B)(1), (2), or (3) of this section is a misdemeanor of the second degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to one violation of this section, a violation of division (B)(1), (2), or (3) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to two or more violations of this section, a violation of division (B)(1), (2), or (3) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree.

(5) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(5) of this section, a violation of division (B)(4) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to any violation of this section, a violation of division (B)(4) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

§ 2907.11 Victim or offender may request temporary suppression of information.

Upon the request of the victim or offender in a prosecution under any provision of sections 2907.02 to 2907.07 of the Revised Code, the judge before whom any person is brought on a charge of having committed an offense under a provision of one of those sections shall order that the names of the victim and offender and the details of the alleged offense as obtained by any law enforcement officer be suppressed until the preliminary hearing, the accused is arraigned in the court of common pleas, the charge is dismissed, or the case is otherwise concluded, whichever occurs first. Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny to either party in the case the name and address of the other party or the details of the alleged offense.

HISTORY: 136 v S 144 (Eff 8-27-75); 146 v H 445, Eff 9-3-96.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.11 (RS § 6835; 69 v 10; 82 v 161; 95 v 561; 96 v 14; 98 v 3; CC § 12439; 100 v 5; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2907.15 Motion for withholding of restitution needed from government deferred compensation or public retirement system payment.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Public retirement system" means the public employees retirement system, state teachers retirement system, school employees retirement system, Ohio police and fire pension fund, state highway patrol retirement system, or a municipal retirement system of a municipal corporation of this state.

(2) "Government deferred compensation program" means such a program offered by the Ohio public employees deferred compensation board; a municipal corporation; or a governmental unit, as defined in section 148.06 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Deferred compensation program participant" means a "participating employee" or "continuing member," as defined in section 148.01 of the Revised Code, or any other public employee who has funds in a government deferred compensation program.

(4) "Alternative retirement plan" means an alternative retirement plan provided pursuant to Chapter 3305. of the Revised Code.

(5) "Prosecutor" has the same meaning as in section 2935.01 of the Revised Code.

In any case in which a sentencing court orders restitution to the victim under section 2929.18 or 2929.28 of the Revised Code for a violation of section 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, or 2907.05 of the Revised Code and in which the offender is a government deferred compensation program participant, is an electing employee, as defined in section 3305.01 of the Revised Code, or is a member of, or receiving a pension, benefit, or allowance, other than a survivorship benefit, from, a public retirement system and committed the offense against a child, student, patient, or other person with whom the offender had contact in the context of the offender's public employment, at the request of the victim the prosecutor shall file a motion with the sentencing court specifying the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system and requesting that the court issue an order requiring the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system to withhold the amount required as restitution from one or more of the following: any payment to be made from a government deferred compensation program, any payment or benefit under an alternative retirement plan, or under a pension, annuity, allowance, or any other benefit, other than a survivorship benefit, that has been or is in the future granted to the offender; from any payment of accumulated employee contributions standing to the offender's credit with the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system; or from any payment of any other amounts to be paid to the offender pursuant to Chapter 145., 148., 742., 3307., 3309., or 5505. of the Revised Code on withdrawal of contributions. The motion may be filed at any time subsequent to the conviction of the offender or entry of a guilty plea. On the filing of the motion, the clerk of the court in which the motion is filed shall notify the offender and the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system, in writing, of all of the following: that the motion was filed; that the offender will be granted a hearing on the issuance of the requested order if the offender files a written request for a hearing with the clerk prior to the expiration of thirty days after the offender receives the notice; that, if a hearing is requested, the court will schedule a hearing as soon as possible and notify the offender and the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system of the date, time, and place of the hearing; that, if a hearing is conducted, it will be limited to a consideration of whether the offender can show good cause why the order should not be issued; that, if a hearing is conducted, the court will not issue the order if the court determines, based on evidence presented at the hearing by the offender, that there is good cause for the order not to be issued; that the court will issue the order if a hearing is not requested or if a hearing is conducted but the court does not determine, based on evidence presented at the hearing by the offender, that there is good cause for the order not to be issued; and that, if the order is issued, the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system specified in the motion will be required to withhold the amount required as restitution from payments to the offender.

(B) In any case in which a motion requesting the issuance of a withholding order as described in division (A) of this section is filed, the offender may receive a hearing on the motion by delivering a written request for a hearing to the court prior to the expiration of thirty days after the offender's receipt of the notice provided pursuant to division (A) of this section. If the offender requests a hearing within the prescribed time, the court shall schedule a hearing as soon as possible after the request is made and notify the offender and the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system of the date, time, and place of the hearing. A hearing scheduled under this division shall be limited to a consideration of whether there is good cause, based on evidence presented by the offender, for the requested order not to be issued. If the court determines, based on evidence presented by the offender, that there is good cause for the order not to be issued, the court shall deny the motion and shall not issue the order. Good cause for not issuing the order includes a determination by the court that the order would severely impact the offender's ability to support the offender's dependents.

If the offender does not request a hearing within the prescribed time or the court conducts a hearing but does not determine, based on evidence presented by the offender, that there is good cause for the order not to be issued, the court shall order the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system to withhold the amount required as restitution from one or more of the following: any payments to be made from a government deferred compensation program, any payment or benefit under an alternative retirement plan, or under a pension, annuity, allowance, or under any other benefit, other than a survivorship benefit, that has been or is in the future granted to the offender; from any payment of accumulated employee contributions standing to the offender's credit with the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system; or from any payment of any other amounts to be paid to the offender upon withdrawal of contributions pursuant to Chapter 145., 148., 742., 3307., 3309., or 5505. of the Revised Code and to continue the withholding for that purpose, in accordance with the order, out of each payment to be made on or after the date of issuance of the order, until further order of the court. On receipt of an order issued under this division, the government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system shall withhold the amount required as restitution, in accordance with the order, from any such payments and immediately forward the amount withheld to the clerk of the court in which the order was issued for payment to the person to whom restitution is to be made. The order shall not apply to any portion of payments made from a government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system to a person other than the offender pursuant to a previously issued domestic court order.

(C) Service of a notice required by division (A) or (B) of this section shall be effected in the same manner as provided in the Rules of Civil Procedure for the service of process.

(D) Upon the filing of charges under section 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, or 2907.05 of the Revised Code against a person who is a deferred compensation program participant, an electing employee participating in an alternative retirement plan, or a member of, or receiving a pension benefit, or allowance, other than a survivorship benefit, from a public retirement system for an offense against a child, student, patient, or other person with whom the offender had contact in the context of the offender's public employment, the prosecutor shall send written notice that charges have been filed against that person to the appropriate government deferred compensation program, alternative retirement plan, or public retirement system. The notice shall specifically identify the person charged.

[NOTICE OF SEXUAL MISCONDUCT BY MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONAL]

§ 2907.17 Notice to administrative entity regulating mental health professional.

If a mental health professional is indicted or charged and bound over to the court of common pleas for trial for an alleged violation of division (A)(10) of section 2907.03 or division (A)(5) of section 2907.06 of the Revised Code, the prosecuting attorney handling the case shall send written notice of the indictment or the charge and bind over to the regulatory or licensing board or agency, if any, that has the administrative authority to suspend or revoke the mental health professional's professional license, certification, registration, or authorization.

HISTORY: 149 v S 9, Eff 5-14-2002.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.17 (RS § 6839; S&C 427; 29 v 144, § 2; GC § 12444; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 129 v 1426(1428), § 1; 130 v 660, § 1), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[§ 2907.17.1] § 2907.171 Effect of prosecutor's failure to give notice.

The failure of the prosecuting attorney to give the notice required by section 2907.17 of the Revised Code does not give rise to a claim for damages against the prosecuting attorney or the county. The failure of the prosecuting attorney to give the notice does not constitute grounds for declaring a mistrial or new trial, for setting aside a conviction or sentence, or for granting postconviction relief to a defendant.

HISTORY: 149 v S 9, Eff 5-14-2002.

§ 2907.18 Notice of conviction of mental health professional.

If a mental health professional is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of division (A)(10) of section 2907.03 or division (A)(5) of section 2907.06 of the Revised Code, the court shall transmit a certified copy of the judgment entry of conviction to the regulatory or licensing board or agency, if any, that has the administrative authority to suspend or revoke the mental health professional's professional license, certification, registration, or authorization.

[PROSTITUTION]

§ 2907.21 Compelling prostitution.

(A) No person shall knowingly do any of the following:
(1) Compel another to engage in sexual activity for hire;

(2) Induce, procure, encourage, solicit, request, or otherwise facilitate a minor to engage in sexual activity for hire, whether or not the offender knows the age of the minor;

(3) Pay or agree to pay a minor, either directly or through the minor's agent, so that the minor will engage in sexual activity, whether or not the offender knows the age of the minor;

(4) Pay a minor, either directly or through the minor's agent, for the minor having engaged in sexual activity, pursuant to a prior agreement, whether or not the offender knows the age of the minor;

(5) Allow a minor to engage in sexual activity for hire if the person allowing the child to engage in sexual activity for hire is the parent, guardian, custodian, person having custody or control, or person in loco parentis of the minor.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of compelling prostitution. Except as otherwise provided in this division, compelling prostitution is a felony of the third degree. If the offender commits a violation of division (A)(1) of this section and the person compelled to engage in sexual activity for hire in violation of that division is less than sixteen years of age, compelling prostitution is a felony of the second degree.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 142 v H 51 (Eff 3-17-89); 146 v S 2, Eff 7-1-96.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.21 (GC § 12447-1; 120 v 444; 124 v 466; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 129 v 340; 130 v 660; 133 v S 346), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

§ 2907.22 Promoting prostitution.

(A) No person shall knowingly:

(1) Establish, maintain, operate, manage, supervise, control, or have an interest in a brothel;

(2) Supervise, manage, or control the activities of a prostitute in engaging in sexual activity for hire;

(3) Transport another, or cause another to be transported across the boundary of this state or of any county in this state, in order to facilitate the other person's engaging in sexual activity for hire;

(4) For the purpose of violating or facilitating a violation of this section, induce or procure another to engage in sexual activity for hire.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of promoting prostitution, a felony of the fourth degree. If any prostitute in the brothel involved in the offense, or the prostitute whose activities are supervised, managed, or controlled by the offender, or the person transported, induced, or procured by the offender to engage in sexual activity for hire, is a minor, whether or not the offender knows the age of the minor, then promoting prostitution is a felony of the third degree.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 142 v H 51 (Eff 3-17-89); 146 v S 2, Eff 7-1-96.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

§ 2907.23 Procuring.

(A) No person, knowingly and for gain, shall do either of the following:

(1) Entice or solicit another to patronize a prostitute or brothel;

(2) Procure a prostitute for another to patronize, or take or direct another at his or her request to any place for the purpose of patronizing a prostitute.

(B) No person, having authority or responsibility over the use of premises, shall knowingly permit such premises to be used for the purpose of engaging in sexual activity for hire.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of procuring, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511. Eff 1-1-74.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.23 (GC § 12448-1; 117 v 821; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 4 of HB 511.

§ 2907.24 Soliciting; after positive HIV test; driver's license suspension.

(A) No person shall solicit another to engage with such other person in sexual activity for hire.

(B) No person, with knowledge that the person has tested positive as a carrier of a virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, shall engage in conduct in violation of division (A) of this section.

(C)(1) Whoever violates division (A) of this section is guilty of soliciting, a misdemeanor of the third degree.

(2) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of engaging in solicitation after a positive HIV test. If the offender commits the violation prior to July 1, 1996, engaging in solicitation after a positive HIV test is a felony of the second degree. If the offender commits the violation on or after July 1, 1996, engaging in solicitation after a positive HIV test is a felony of the third degree.

(D) If a person is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of any provision of this section, an attempt to commit a violation of any provision of this section, or a violation of or an attempt to commit a violation of a municipal ordinance that is substantially equivalent to any provision of this section and if the person, in committing or attempting to commit the violation, was in, was on, or used a motor vehicle, the court, in addition to or independent of all other penalties imposed for the violation, shall impose upon the offender a class six suspension of the person's driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, probationary license, or nonresident operating privilege from the range specified in division (A)(6) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by section 4 of S.B. 123.

The provisions of § 5 of S.B. 123 (149 v —), as amended by § 3 of H.B. 163 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 5. (A) Notwithstanding division (B) of section 1.58 of the Revised Code, the provisions of the Revised Code amended or enacted in Sections 1 and 2 of Am. Sub. S.B. 123 of the 124th General Assembly shall apply only in relation to conduct and offenses committed on or after January 1, 2004. Conduct and offenses committed prior to January 1, 2004, shall be governed by the law in effect on the date the conduct or offense was committed. * * *

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.24 (GC § 12448-2; 117 v 821; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

Analogous to former RC § 2905.27 (GC § 13031-13; 108 v Ptl, 730; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 130 v Ptl, 143), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[§ 2907.24.1] § 2907.241 Loitering to engage in solicitation; solicitation after positive HIV test.

(A) No person, with purpose to solicit another to engage in sexual activity for hire and while in or near a public place, shall do any of the following:

(1) Beckon to, stop, or attempt to stop another;

(2) Engage or attempt to engage another in conversation;

(3) Stop or attempt to stop the operator of a vehicle or approach a stationary vehicle;

(4) If the offender is the operator of or a passenger in a vehicle, stop, attempt to stop, beckon to, attempt to beckon to, or entice another to approach or enter the vehicle of which the offender is the operator or in which the offender is the passenger;

(5) Interfere with the free passage of another.

(B) No person, with knowledge that the person has tested positive as a carrier of a virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, shall engage in conduct in violation of division (A) of this section.

(C) As used in this section:

(1) "Vehicle" has the same meaning as in section 4501.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Public place" means any of the following:

(a) A street, road, highway, thoroughfare, bikeway, walkway, sidewalk, bridge, alley, alleyway, plaza, park, driveway, parking lot, or transportation facility;

(b) A doorway or entrance way to a building that fronts on a place described in division (C)(2)(a) of this section;

(c) A place not described in division (C)(2)(a) or (b) of this section that is open to the public.

(D)(1) Whoever violates division (A) of this section is guilty of loitering to engage in solicitation, a misdemeanor of the third degree.

(2) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of loitering to engage in solicitation after a positive HIV test. If the offender commits the violation prior to July 1, 1996, loitering to engage in solicitation after a positive HIV test is a felony of the fourth degree. If the offender commits the violation on or after July 1, 1996, loitering to engage in solicitation after a positive HIV test is a felony of the fifth degree.

Analogous to former RC § 2905.27 (GC § 13031-13; 108 v Ptl, 730; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 130 v Ptl, 143), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2907.26 Rules of evidence in prostitution cases.

(A) In any case in which it is necessary to prove that a place is a brothel, evidence as to the reputation of such place and as to the reputation of the persons who inhabit or frequent it, is admissible on the question of whether such place is or is not a brothel.

(B) In any case in which it is necessary to prove that a person is a prostitute, evidence as to the reputation of such person is admissible on the question of whether such person is or is not a prostitute.

(C) In any prosecution for a violation of sections 2907.21 to 2907.25 of the Revised Code, proof of a prior conviction of the accused of any such offense or substantially equivalent offense is admissible in support of the charge.

(D) The prohibition contained in division (D) of section 2317.02 of the Revised Code against testimony by a husband or wife concerning communications between them does not apply; and the accused's spouse may testify concerning any such communication, in any of the following cases:

(1) When the husband or wife is charged with a violation of section 2907.21 of the Revised Code, and the spouse testifying was the victim of the offense;

(2) When the husband or wife is charged with a violation of section 2907.22 of the Revised Code, and the spouse testifying was the prostitute involved in the offense, or the person transported, induced, or procured by the offender to engage in sexual activity for hire;

(3) When the husband or wife is charged with a violation of section 2907.23 of the Revised Code, and the spouse testifying was the prostitute involved in the offense or the person who used the offender's premises to engage in sexual activity for hire;

(4) When the husband or wife is charged with a violation of section 2907.24 or 2907.25 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 137 v H 1. Eff 8-26-77.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.26 (GC § 12448-4; 117 v 821; 119 v 554; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2907.27 Testing of accused for venereal diseases and HIV.

(A)(1) If a person is charged with a violation of section 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.24, 2907.241 [2907.24.1], or 2907.25 of the Revised Code or with a violation of a municipal ordinance that is substantially equivalent to any of those sections, the arresting authorities or a court, upon the request of the prosecutor in the case or upon the request of the victim, shall cause the accused to submit to one or more appropriate tests to determine if the accused is suffering from a venereal disease.

(2) If the accused is found to be suffering from a venereal disease in an infectious stage, the accused shall be required to submit to medical treatment for that disease. The cost of the medical treatment shall be charged to and paid by the accused who undergoes the treatment. If the accused is indigent, the court shall order the accused to report to a facility operated by a city health district or a general health district for treatment. If the accused is convicted of or pleads guilty to the offense with which the accused is charged and is placed under a community control sanction, a condition of community control shall be that the offender submit to and faithfully follow a course of medical treatment for the venereal disease. If the offender does not seek the required medical treatment, the court may revoke the offender's community control and order the offender to undergo medical treatment during the period of the offender's incarceration and to pay the cost of that treatment.

(B)(1)(a) Notwithstanding the requirements for informed consent in section 3701.242 [3701.24.2] of the Revised Code, if a person is charged with a violation of division (B) of section 2903.11 or of section 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.05, 2907.12, 2907.24, 2907.241 [2907.24.1], or 2907.25 of the Revised Code or with a violation of a municipal ordinance that is substantially equivalent to that division or any of those sections, the court, upon the request of the prosecutor in the case, upon the request of the victim, or upon the request of any other person whom the court reasonably believes had contact with the accused in circumstances related to the violation that could have resulted in the transmission to that person of a virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, shall cause the accused to submit to one or more tests designated by the director of health under section 3701.241 [3701.24.1] of the Revised Code to determine if the accused is a carrier of a virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome. The court, upon the request of the prosecutor in the case, upon the request of the victim with the agreement of the prosecutor, or upon the request of any other person with the agreement of the prosecutor, may cause an accused who is charged with a violation of any other section of the Revised Code or with a violation of any other municipal ordinance to submit to one or more tests so designated by the director of health if the circumstances of the violation indicate probable cause to believe that the accused, if the accused is infected with the virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, might have transmitted the virus to any of the following persons in committing the violation:

(i) In relation to a request made by the prosecuting attorney, to the victim or to any other person;

(ii) In relation to a request made by the victim, to the victim making the request;

(iii) In relation to a request made by any other person, to the person making the request.

(b) The results of a test performed under division (B)(1)(a) of this section shall be communicated in confidence to the court, and the court shall inform the accused of the result. The court shall inform the victim that the test was performed and that the victim has a right to receive the results on request. If the test was performed upon the request of a person other than the prosecutor in the case and other than the victim, the court shall inform the person who made the request that the test was performed and that the person has a right to receive the results upon request. Additionally, regardless of who made the request that was the basis of the test being performed, if the court reasonably believes that, in circumstances related to the violation, a person other than the victim had contact with the accused that could have resulted in the transmission of the virus to that person, the court may inform that person that the test was performed and that the person has a right to receive the results of the test on request. If the accused tests positive for a virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, the test results shall be reported to the department of health in accordance with section 3701.24 of the Revised Code and to the sheriff, head of the state correctional institution, or other person in charge of any jail or prison in which the accused is incarcerated. If the accused tests positive for a virus that causes acquired immunodeficiency syndrome and the accused was charged with, and was convicted of or pleaded guilty to, a violation of section 2907.24, 2907.241 [2907.24.1], or 2907.25 of the Revised Code or a violation of a municipal ordinance that is substantially equivalent to any of those sections, the test results also shall be reported to the law enforcement agency that arrested the accused, and the law enforcement agency may use the test results as the basis for any future charge of a violation of division (B) of any of those sections or a violation of a municipal ordinance that is substantially equivalent to division (B) of any of those sections. No other disclosure of the test results or the fact that a test was performed shall be made, other than as evidence in a grand jury proceeding or as evidence in a judicial proceeding in accordance with the Rules of Evidence. If the test result is negative, and the charge has not been dismissed or if the accused has been convicted of the charge or a different offense arising out of the same circumstances as the offense charged, the court shall order that the test be repeated not earlier than three months nor later than six months after the original test.

(2) If an accused who is free on bond refuses to submit to a test ordered by the court pursuant to division (B)(1) of this section, the court may order that the accused's bond be revoked and that the accused be incarcerated until the test is performed. If an accused who is incarcerated refuses to submit to a test ordered by the court pursuant to division (B)(1) of this section, the court shall order the person in charge of the jail or prison in which the accused is incarcerated to take any action necessary to facilitate the performance of the test, including the forcible restraint of the accused for the purpose of drawing blood to be used in the test.

(3) A state agency, a political subdivision of the state, or an employee of a state agency or of a political subdivision of the state is immune from liability in a civil action to recover damages for injury, death, or loss to person or property allegedly caused by any act or omission in connection with the performance of the duties required under division (B)(2) of this section unless the acts or omissions are with malicious purpose, in bad faith, or in a wanton or reckless manner.

(C) As used in this section, "community control sanction" has the same meaning as in section 2929.01 of the Revised Code.

Analogous to former RC § 2905.28 (GC § 13031-17; 108 v PH, 730; 118 v 301; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 130 v PH, 144), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[MEDICAL ASSISTANCE FOR VICTIMS]

§ 2907.28 Payment of cost of medical examination and test of victim or accused.

(A) Any cost incurred by a hospital or emergency medical facility in conducting a medical examination of a victim of an offense under any provision of sections

2907.02 to 2907.06 of the Revised Code for the purpose of gathering physical evidence for a possible prosecution, including the cost of any antibiotics administered as part of the examination, shall be paid out of the reparations fund established pursuant to section 2743.191 [2743.19.1] of the Revised Code, subject to the following conditions:

(1) The hospital or emergency facility shall follow a protocol for conducting such medical examinations that is identified by the attorney general in rule adopted in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code.

(2) The hospital or emergency facility shall submit requests for payment to the attorney general on a monthly basis, through a procedure determined by the attorney general and on forms approved by the attorney general. The requests shall identify the number of sexual assault examinations performed and shall verify that all required protocols were met for each examination form submitted for payment in the request.

(3) The attorney general shall review all requests for payment that are submitted under division (A)(2) of this section and shall submit for payment as described in division (A)(5) of this section all requests that meet the requirements of this section.

(4) The hospital or emergency facility shall accept a flat fee payment for conducting each examination in the amount determined by the attorney general pursuant to Chapter 119. of the Revised Code as payment in full for any cost incurred in conducting a medical examination and test of a victim of an offense under any provision of sections 2907.02 to 2907.06 of the Revised Code for the purpose of gathering physical evidence for a possible prosecution of a person. The attorney general shall determine a flat fee payment amount to be paid under this division that is reasonable.

(5) In approving a payment under this section, the attorney general shall order the payment against the state. The payment shall be accomplished only through the following procedure, and the procedure may be enforced through a mandamus action and a writ of mandamus directed to the appropriate official:

(a) The attorney general shall provide for payment in the amount set forth in the order.

(b) The expense of the payment of the amount described in this section shall be charged against all available unencumbered moneys in the reparations fund.

(B) No costs incurred by a hospital or emergency facility in conducting a medical examination and test of any victim of an offense under any provision of sections 2907.02 to 2907.06 of the Revised Code for the purpose of gathering physical evidence for a possible prosecution of a person shall be billed or charged directly or indirectly to the victim or the victim's insurer.

(C) Any cost incurred by a hospital or emergency medical facility in conducting a medical examination and test of any person who is charged with a violation of division (B) of section 2903.11 or of section 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.05, 2907.24, 2907.241 [2907.24.1], or 2907.25 of the Revised Code or with a violation of a municipal ordinance that is substantially equivalent to that division or any of those sections, pursuant to division (B) of section 2907.27 of the Revised Code, shall be charged to and paid by the accused who undergoes the examination and test, unless the court determines that the accused is unable to pay, in which case the cost shall be charged to and paid by the municipal corporation in which the offense allegedly was committed, or charged to and paid by the county if the offense allegedly was committed within an unincorporated area. If separate counts of an alleged offense or alleged separate offenses under section 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.05, 2907.24, 2907.241 [2907.24.1], or 2907.25 of the Revised Code or under a municipal ordinance that is substantially equivalent to any of those sections took place in more than one municipal corporation or more than one unincorporated area, or both, the local governments shall share the cost of the examination and test. If a hospital or other emergency medical facility has submitted charges for the cost of a medical examination and test to an accused and has been unable to collect payment for the charges after making good faith attempts to collect for a period of six months or more, the cost shall be charged to and paid by the appropriate municipal corporation or county as specified in division (C) of this section.

The effective date is set by section 4 of SB 153.

§ 2907.29 Hospital emergency services for victims.

Every hospital of this state that offers organized emergency services shall provide that a physician, a physician assistant, a clinical nurse specialist, a certified nurse practitioner, or a certified nurse-midwife is available on call twenty-four hours each day for the examination of persons reported to any law enforcement agency to be victims of sexual offenses cognizable as violations of any provision of sections 2907.02 to 2907.06 of the Revised Code. The physician, physician assistant, clinical nurse specialist, certified nurse practitioner, or certified nurse-midwife, upon the request of any peace officer or prosecuting attorney and with the consent of the reported victim or upon the request of the reported victim, shall examine the person for the purposes of gathering physical evidence and shall complete any written documentation of the physical examination. The public health council shall establish procedures for gathering evidence under this section.

Each reported victim shall be informed of available venereal disease, pregnancy, medical, and psychiatric services.

Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a minor may consent to examination under this section. The consent is not subject to disaffirmance because of minority, and consent of the parent, parents, or guardian of the minor is not required for an examination under this section. However, the hospital shall give written notice to the parent, parents, or guardian of a minor that an examination under this section has taken place. The parent, parents, or guardian of a minor giving consent under this section are not liable for payment for any services provided under this section without their consent.

§ 2907.30 Victim to be interviewed by crisis intervention trained officer.

(A) A victim of a sexual offense cognizable as a violation of section 2907.02 of the Revised Code who is interviewed by a law enforcement agency shall be interviewed by a peace officer employed by the agency who has had crisis intervention training, if any of the peace officers employed by the agency who have had crisis intervention training is reasonably available.

(B) When a person is charged with a violation of section 2907.02, 2907.03, 2907.04, 2907.05, or 2907.06 of the Revised Code and the law enforcement agency that arrested the person or a court discovers that the person arrested or a person whom the person arrested caused to engage in sexual activity has a communicable disease, the law enforcement agency that arrested the person or the court immediately shall notify the victim of the nature of the disease.

(C) As used in this section, "crisis intervention training" has the same meaning as in section 109.71 of the Revised Code.

[OBSCENITY]

§ 2907.31 Disseminating matter harmful to juveniles.

(A) No person, with knowledge of its character or content, shall recklessly do any of the following:

(1) Directly sell, deliver, furnish, disseminate, provide, exhibit, rent, or present to a juvenile, a group of juveniles, a law enforcement officer posing as a juvenile, or a group of law enforcement officers posing as juveniles any material or performance that is obscene or harmful to juveniles;

(2) Directly offer or agree to sell, deliver, furnish, disseminate, provide, exhibit, rent, or present to a juvenile, a group of juveniles, a law enforcement officer posing as a juvenile, or a group of law enforcement officers posing as juveniles any material or performance that is obscene or harmful to juveniles;

(3) While in the physical proximity of the juvenile or law enforcement officer posing as a juvenile, allow any juvenile or law enforcement officer posing as a juvenile to review or peruse any material or view any live performance that is harmful to juveniles.

(B) The following are affirmative defenses to a charge under this section that involves material or a performance that is harmful to juveniles but not obscene:

(1) The defendant is the parent, guardian, or spouse of the juvenile involved.

(2) The juvenile involved, at the time of the conduct in question, was accompanied by the juvenile's parent or guardian who, with knowledge of its character, consented to the material or performance being furnished or presented to the juvenile.

(3) The juvenile exhibited to the defendant or to the defendant's agent or employee a draft card, driver's license, birth record, marriage license, or other official or apparently official document purporting to show that the juvenile was eighteen years of age or over or married, and the person to whom that document was exhibited did not otherwise have reasonable cause to believe that the juvenile was under the age of eighteen and unmarried.

(C)(1) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under this section, involving material or a performance that is obscene or harmful to juveniles, that the material or performance was furnished or presented for a bona fide medical, scientific, educational, governmental, judicial, or other proper purpose, by a physician, psychologist, sociologist, scientist, teacher, librarian, clergyman, prosecutor, judge, or other proper person.

(2) Except as provided in division (B)(3) of this section, mistake of age is not a defense to a charge under this section.

(D)(1) A person directly sells, delivers, furnishes, disseminates, provides, exhibits, rents, or presents or directly offers or agrees to sell, deliver, furnish, disseminate, provide, exhibit, rent, or present material or a performance to a juvenile, a group of juveniles, a law enforcement officer posing as a juvenile, or a group of law enforcement officers posing as juveniles in violation of this section by means of an electronic method of remotely transmitting information if the person knows or has reason to believe that the person receiving the information is a juvenile or the group of persons receiving the information are juveniles.

(2) A person remotely transmitting information by means of a method of mass distribution does not directly sell, deliver, furnish, disseminate, provide, exhibit, rent, or present or directly offer or agree to sell, deliver, furnish, disseminate, provide, exhibit, rent, or present the material or performance in question to a juvenile, a group of juveniles, a law enforcement officer posing as a juvenile, or a group of law enforcement officers posing as juveniles in violation of this section if either of the following applies:

(a) The person has inadequate information to know or have reason to believe that a particular recipient of the information or offer is a juvenile.

(b) The method of mass distribution does not provide the person the ability to prevent a particular recipient from receiving the information.

(E) If any provision of this section, or the application of any provision of this section to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of this section or related sections that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application. To this end, the provisions are severable.

(F) Whoever violates this section is guilty of disseminating matter harmful to juveniles. If the material or performance involved is harmful to juveniles, except as otherwise provided in this division, a violation of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the material or performance involved is obscene, except as otherwise provided in this division, a violation of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. If the material or performance involved is obscene and the juvenile to whom it is sold, delivered, furnished, disseminated, provided, exhibited, rented, or presented, the juvenile to whom the offer is made or who is the subject of the agreement, or the juvenile who is allowed to review, peruse, or view it is under thirteen years of age, violation of this section is a felony of the fourth degree.

The effective date is set by section 4 of HB 490.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.31 (RS § 6859; S&C 1632; 47 v 21; GC § 12451; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The provisions of § 7 of SB 2 (146 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 7. * * * Section 2907.31 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Sub. H.B. 51 and Am. Sub. H.B., 790 of the 117th General Assembly, with the new language of neither of the acts shown in capital letters. * * * This is in recognition of the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that such amendments are to be harmonized where not substantively irreconcilable and constitutes a legislative finding that such is the resulting version in effect prior to the effective date of this act.

[§ 2907.31.1] § 2907.311 Displaying matter harmful to juveniles.

(A) No person who has custody, control, or supervision of a commercial establishment, with knowledge of the character or content of the material involved, shall display at the establishment any material that is harmful to juveniles and that is open to view by juveniles as part of the invited general public.

(B) It is not a violation of division (A) of this section if the material in question is displayed by placing it behind "blinder racks" or similar devices that cover at least the lower two-thirds of the material, if the material in question is wrapped or placed behind the counter, or if the material in question otherwise is covered or located so that the portion that is harmful to juveniles is not open to the view of juveniles.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of displaying matter harmful to juveniles, a misdemeanor of the first degree. Each day during which the offender is in violation of this section constitutes a separate offense.

§ 2907.32 Pandering obscenity.

(A) No person, with knowledge of the character of the material or performance involved, shall do any of the following:

(1) Create, reproduce, or publish any obscene material, when the offender knows that the material is to be used for commercial exploitation or will be publicly disseminated or displayed, or when the offender is reckless in that regard;

(2) Promote or advertise for sale, delivery, or dissemination; sell, deliver, publicly disseminate, publicly display, exhibit, present, rent, or provide; or offer or agree to sell, deliver, publicly disseminate, publicly display, exhibit, present, rent, or provide, any obscene material;

(3) Create, direct, or produce an obscene performance, when the offender knows that it is to be used for commercial exploitation or will be publicly presented, or when the offender is reckless in that regard;

(4) Advertise or promote an obscene performance for presentation, or present or participate in presenting an obscene performance, when the performance is presented publicly, or when admission is charged;

(5) Buy, procure, possess, or control any obscene material with purpose to violate division (A)(2) or (4) of this section.

(B) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under this section, that the material or performance involved was disseminated or presented for a bona fide medical, scientific, educational, religious, governmental, judicial, or other proper purpose, by or to a physician, psychologist, sociologist, scientist, teacher, person pursuing bona fide studies or research, librarian, clergyman, prosecutor, judge, or other person having a proper interest in the material or performance.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of pandering obscenity, a felony of the fifth degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of this section or of section 2907.31 of the Revised Code, then pandering obscenity is a felony of the fourth degree.

[§ 2907.32.1] § 2907.321 Pandering obscenity involving a minor.

(A) No person, with knowledge of the character of the material or performance involved, shall do any of the following:

(1) Create, reproduce, or publish any obscene material that has a minor as one of its participants or portrayed observers;

(2) Promote or advertise for sale or dissemination; sell, deliver, disseminate, display, exhibit, present, rent, or provide; or offer or agree to sell, deliver, disseminate, display, exhibit, present, rent, or provide, any obscene material that has a minor as one of its participants or portrayed observers;

(3) Create, direct, or produce an obscene performance that has a minor as one of its participants;

(4) Advertise or promote for presentation, present, or participate in presenting an obscene performance that has a minor as one of its participants;

(5) Buy, procure, possess, or control any obscene material, that has a minor as one of its participants;

(6) Bring or cause to be brought into this state any obscene material that has a minor as one of its participants or portrayed observers.

(B)(1) This section does not apply to any material or performance that is sold, disseminated, displayed, possessed, controlled, brought or caused to be brought into this state, or presented for a bona fide medical, scientific, educational, religious, governmental, judicial, or other proper purpose, by or to a physician, psychologist, sociologist, scientist, teacher, person pursuing bona fide studies or research, librarian, clergyman, prosecutor, judge, or other person having a proper interest in the material or performance.

(2) Mistake of age is not a defense to a charge under this section.

(3) In a prosecution under this section, the trier of fact may infer that a person in the material or performance involved is a minor if the material or performance, through its title, text, visual representation, or otherwise, represents or depicts the person as a minor.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of pandering obscenity involving a minor. Violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (6) of this section is a felony of the second degree. Violation of division (A)(5) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or section 2907.322 [2907.32.2] or 2907.323 [2907.32.3] of the Revised Code, pandering obscenity involving a minor in violation of division (A)(5) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

[§ 2907.32.2] § 2907.322 Pandering sexually oriented matter involving a minor.

(A) No person, with knowledge of the character of the material or performance involved, shall do any of the following:

(1) Create, record, photograph, film, develop, reproduce, or publish any material that shows a minor participating or engaging in sexual activity, masturbation, or bestiality;

(2) Advertise for sale or dissemination, sell, distribute, transport, disseminate, exhibit, or display any material that shows a minor participating or engaging in sexual activity, masturbation, or bestiality;

(3) Create, direct, or produce a performance that shows a minor participating or engaging in sexual activity, masturbation, or bestiality;

(4) Advertise for presentation, present, or participate in presenting a performance that shows a minor participating or engaging in sexual activity, masturbation, or bestiality;†

(5) Knowingly solicit, receive, purchase, exchange, possess, or control any material that shows a minor participating or engaging in sexual activity, masturbation, or bestiality;

(6) Bring or cause to be brought into this state any material that shows a minor participating or engaging in sexual activity, masturbation, or bestiality, or bring, cause to be brought, or finance the bringing of any minor into or across this state with the intent that the minor engage in sexual activity, masturbation, or bestiality in a performance or for the purpose of producing material containing a visual representation depicting the minor engaged in sexual activity, masturbation, or bestiality.

(B)(1) This section does not apply to any material or performance that is sold, disseminated, displayed, possessed, controlled, brought or caused to be brought into this state, or presented for a bona fide medical, scientific, educational, religious, governmental, judicial, or other proper purpose, by or to a physician, psychologist, sociologist, scientist, teacher, person pursuing bona fide studies or research, librarian, clergyman, prosecutor, judge, or other person having a proper interest in the material or performance.

(2) Mistake of age is not a defense to a charge under this section.

(3) In a prosecution under this section, the trier of fact may infer that a person in the material or performance involved is a minor if the material or performance, through its title, text, visual representation, or otherwise, represents or depicts the person as a minor.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of pandering sexually oriented matter involving a minor. Violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (6) of this section is a felony of the second degree. Violation of division (A)(5) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. [§ 2907.32.3] § 2907.323 Illegal use of minor in nudity-oriented material or performance.

(A) No person shall do any of the following:

(1) Photograph any minor who is not the person's child or ward in a state of nudity, or create, direct, produce, or transfer any material or performance that shows the minor in a state of nudity, unless both of the following apply:

(a) The material or performance is, or is to be, sold, disseminated, displayed, possessed, controlled, brought or caused to be brought into this state, or presented for a bona fide artistic, medical, scientific, educational, religious, governmental, judicial, or other proper purpose, by or to a physician, psychologist, sociologist, scientist, teacher, person pursuing bona fide studies or research, librarian, clergyman, prosecutor, judge, or other person having a proper interest in the material or performance;

(b) The minor's parents, guardian, or custodian consents in writing to the photographing of the minor, to the use of the minor in the material or performance, or to the transfer of the material and to the specific manner in which the material or performance is to be used.

(2) Consent to the photographing of the person's minor child or ward, or photograph the person's minor child or ward, in a state of nudity or consent to the use of the person's minor child or ward in a state of nudity in any material or performance, or use or transfer a material or performance of that nature, unless the material or performance is sold, disseminated, displayed, possessed, controlled, brought or caused to be brought into this state, or presented for a bona fide artistic, medical, scientific, educational, religious, governmental, judicial, or other proper purpose, by or to a physician, psychologist, sociologist, scientist, teacher, person pursuing bona fide studies or research, librarian, clergyman, prosecutor, judge, or other person having a proper interest in the material or performance;

(3) Possess or view any material or performance that shows a minor who is not the person's child or ward in a state of nudity, unless one of the following applies:

(a) The material or performance is sold, disseminated, displayed, possessed, controlled, brought or caused to be brought into this state, or presented for a bona fide artistic, medical, scientific, educational, religious, governmental, judicial, or other proper purpose, by or to a physician, psychologist, sociologist, scientist, teacher, person pursuing bona fide studies or research, librarian, clergyman, prosecutor, judge, or other person having a proper interest in the material or performance.

(b) The person knows that the parents, guardian, or custodian has consented in writing to the photographing or use of the minor in a state of nudity and to the manner in which the material or performance is used or transferred.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of illegal use of a minor in a nudity-oriented material or performance. Whoever violates division (A)(1) or (2) of this section is guilty of a felony of the second degree. Whoever violates division (A)(3) of this section is guilty of a felony of the fifth degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or section 2907.321 [2907.32.1] or 2907.322 [2907.32.2.] of the Revised Code, illegal use of a minor in a nudity-oriented material or performance in violation of division (A)(3) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree.

§ 2907.35 Presumptions; notice.

(A) An owner or manager, or agent or employee of an owner or manager, of a bookstore, newsstand, theater, or other commercial establishment engaged in selling materials or exhibiting performances, who, in the course of business:

(1) Possesses five or more identical or substantially similar obscene articles, having knowledge of their character, is presumed to possess them in violation of division (A)(5) of section 2907.32 of the Revised Code;

(2) Does any of the acts prohibited by section 2907.31 or 2907.32 of the Revised Code, is presumed to have knowledge of the character of the material or performance involved, if the owner, manager, or agent or employee of the owner or manager has actual notice of the nature of such material or performance, whether or not the owner, manager, or agent or employee of the owner or manager has precise knowledge of its contents.

(B) Without limitation on the manner in which such notice may be given, actual notice of the character of material or a performance may be given in writing by the chief legal officer of the jurisdiction in which the person to whom the notice is directed does business. Such notice, regardless of the manner in which it is given, shall identify the sender, identify the material or performance involved, state whether it is obscene or harmful to juveniles, and bear the date of such notice.

(C) Sections 2907.31 and 2907.32 of the Revised Code do not apply to a motion picture operator or projectionist acting within the scope of employment as an employee of the owner or manager of a theater or other place for the showing of motion pictures to the general public, and having no managerial responsibility or financial interest in the operator's or projectionist's place of employment, other than wages.

(D)(1) Sections 2907.31, 2907.311 [2907.31.1], 2907.32, 2907.321 [2907.32.1], 2907.322 [2907.32.2], 2907.323 [2907.32.3], and 2907.34 and division (A) of section 2907.33 of the Revised Code do not apply to a person solely because the person provided access or connection to or from an electronic method of remotely transferring information not under that person's control, including having provided capabilities that are incidental to providing access or connection to or from the electronic method of remotely transferring the information, and that do not include the creation of the content of the material that is the subject of the access or connection.

(2) Division (D)(1) of this section does not apply to a person who conspires with an entity actively involved in the creation or knowing distribution of material in violation of section 2907.31, 2907.311 [2907.31.1], 2907.32, 2907.321 [2907.32.1], 2907.322 [2907.32.2], 2907.323 [2907.32.3], 2907.33, or 2907.34 of the Revised Code or who knowingly advertises the availability of material of that nature.

(3) Division (D)(1) of this section does not apply to a person who provides access or connection to an electronic method of remotely transferring information that is engaged in the violation of section 2907.31, 2907.311 [2907.31.1], 2907.32, 2907.321 [2907.32.1], 2907.322 [2907.32.2], 2907.323 [2907.32.3], 2907.33, or 2907.34 of the Revised Code and that contains content that person has selected and introduced into the electronic method of remotely transferring information or content over which that person exercises editorial control.

(E) An employer is not guilty of a violation of section 2907.31, 2907.311 [2907.31.1], 2907.32, 2907.321 [2907.32.1], 2907.322 [2907.32.2], 2907.323 [2907.32.3], 2907.33, or 2907.34 of the Revised Code based on the actions of an employee or agent of the employer unless the employee's or agent's conduct is within the scope of employee's or agent's employment or agency, and the employer does either of the following:

(1) With knowledge of the employee's or agent's conduct, the employer authorizes or ratifies the conduct.

(2) The employer recklessly disregards the employee's or agent's conduct.

(F) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under section 2907.31 or 2907.311 [2907.31.1] of the Revised Code as the section applies to an image transmitted through the internet or another electronic method of remotely transmitting information that the person charged with violating the section has taken, in good faith, reasonable, effective, and appropriate actions under the circumstances to restrict or prevent access by juveniles to material that is harmful to juveniles, including any method that is feasible under available technology.

(G) If any provision of this section, or the application of any provision of this section to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of this section or related sections that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application. To this end, the provisions are severable.

§ 2907.36 Declaratory judgment.

(A) Without limitation on the persons otherwise entitled to bring an action for a declaratory judgment pursuant to Chapter 2721. of the Revised Code, involving the same issue, the following persons have standing to bring a declaratory judgment action to determine whether particular materials or performances are obscene or harmful to juveniles:

(1) The chief legal officer of the jurisdiction in which there is reasonable cause to believe that section 2907.31 or 2907.32 of the Revised Code is being or is about to be violated;

(2) Any person who, pursuant to division (B) of section 2907.35 of the Revised Code, has received notice in writing from a chief legal officer stating that particular materials or performances are obscene or harmful to juveniles.

(B) Any party to an action for a declaratory judgment pursuant to division (A) of this section is entitled, upon the party's request, to trial on the merits within five days after joinder of the issues, and the court shall render judgment within five days after trial is concluded.

(C) An action for a declaratory judgment pursuant to division (A) of this section shall not be brought during the pendency of any civil action or criminal prosecution, when the character of the particular materials or performances involved is at issue in the pending case, and either of the following applies:

(1) Either of the parties to the action for a declaratory judgment is a party to the pending case.

(2) A judgment in the pending case will necessarily constitute res judicata as to the character of the materials or performances involved.

(D) A civil action or criminal prosecution in which the character of particular materials or performances is at issue, brought during the pendency of an action for a declaratory judgment involving the same issue, shall be stayed during the pendency of the action for a declaratory judgment.

(E) The fact that a violation of section 2907.31 or 2907.32 of the Revised Code occurs prior to a judicial determination of the character of the material or performance involved in the violation does not relieve the offender of criminal liability for the violation, even though prosecution may be stayed pending the judicial determination.

§ 2907.38 Permitting unlawful operation of viewing booths depicting sexual conduct.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Commercial establishment" means an entity that is open to the public and to which either of the following applies:

(a) It has a substantial or significant portion of its stock in trade of the sale, rental, or viewing of visual materials or performances depicting sexual conduct.

(b) It has as a principal business purpose the sale, rental, or viewing of visual materials or performances depicting sexual conduct.

(2) "Visual materials or performances" means films, videos, CD-ROM discs, streaming video, or other motion pictures.

(B) No person who has custody, control, or supervision of a commercial establishment, with knowledge of the character of the visual material or performance involved, shall knowingly permit the use of, or offer the use of, viewing booths, stalls, or partitioned portions of a room located in the commercial establishment for the purpose of viewing visual materials or performances depicting sexual conduct unless both of the following apply:

(1) The inside of each booth, stall, or partitioned room is visible from, and at least one side of each booth, stall, or partitioned room is open to, a continuous and contiguous main aisle or hallway that is open to the public areas of the commercial establishment and is not obscured by any curtain, door, or other covering or enclosure.

(2) No booth, stall, or partitioned room is designed, constructed, pandered, or allowed to be used for the purpose of encouraging or facilitating nudity or sexual activity on the part of or between patrons or members of the public, and no booth, stall, or partitioned room has any aperture, hole, or opening for the purpose of encouraging or facilitating nudity or sexual activity.

(C) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under this section that either of the following applies to the involved visual materials or performances:

(1) The visual materials or performances depicting sexual conduct are disseminated or presented for a bona fide medical, scientific, educational, religious, governmental, judicial, or other proper purpose and by or to a physician, psychologist, sociologist, scientist, teacher, person pursuing bona fide studies or research, librarian, member of the clergy, prosecutor, judge, or other person having a proper interest in the visual materials or performances.

(2) The visual materials or performances depicting sexual conduct, taken as a whole, would be found by a reasonable person to have serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific value or are presented or disseminated in good faith for a serious literary, artistic, political, or scientific purpose and are not pandered for their prurient appeal.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of permitting unlawful operation of viewing booths depicting sexual conduct, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

HISTORY: 151 v H 23, § 1, eff. 8-17-06.

Not analogous to former RC § 2907.38 (RS § 6849a; 82 v 247; 99 v 460; GC § 12471, 12475, 12475-1; 124 v 360; 124 v 466; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The provisions of § 3 of 151 v H 23 read as follows:

SECTION 3. In enacting new sections 503.51 and 503.52 and sections 2907.38 and 2907.39 of the Revised Code, the General Assembly makes the following statement of intent and findings:

(A)(1) Adult entertainment establishments require special supervision from the public safety agencies of this state in order to protect and preserve the health, safety, morals, and welfare of the patrons and employees of the businesses as well as the citizens of this state.

(2) The General Assembly finds that adult entertainment establishments are frequently used for unlawful sexual activities, including prostitution and sexual liaisons of a casual nature.

(3) The concern over sexually transmitted diseases is a legitimate health concern of this state that demands reasonable regulation of adult entertainment establishments by the state in the specified manner, and expanded authority for reasonable regulation of adult entertainment establishments by local governments, in order to protect the health and well-being of the citizens.

(4) Minimal regulations enacted by local governments or the state are a legitimate and reasonable means of accountability to ensure that operators of adult entertainment establishments comply with reasonable regulations and to ensure that operators do not knowingly allow their establishments to be used as places of illegal sexual activity or solicitation.

(5) There is convincing documented evidence that adult entertainment establishments, because of their very nature, have a deleterious effect on both the existing businesses around them and the surrounding residential areas adjacent to them and cause increased crime, particularly in the overnight hours, and the downgrading of property values.

(6) The General Assembly desires to minimize and control these adverse effects by regulating adult entertainment establishments in the specified manner and by expanding the authority of local governments to regulate adult entertainment establishments and, by minimizing and controlling these adverse effects, to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the citizenry; protect the citizens from increased crime; preserve the quality of life; preserve the property values and character of surrounding neighborhoods; and deter the spread of urban blight.

(7) The General Assembly has determined that current local zoning and other locational criteria do not adequately protect the health, safety, and general welfare of the people of this state and that expanded local government authority to regulate adult entertainment establishments is necessary.

(8) It is not the intent of the General Assembly in enacting this act to suppress, or authorize the suppression of, any speech activities protected by the First Amendment but to enact content-neutral statutes that expand local government authority to address the secondary effects of adult entertainment establishments.

(9) It is not the intent of the General Assembly to condone or legitimize the distribution of obscene material, and the General Assembly recognizes that state and federal law prohibits the distribution of obscene materials and expects and encourages state law enforcement officials to enforce state obscenity statutes against any such illegal activities in this state.

(B) It is the intent of the General Assembly in enacting new sections 503.51 and 503.52 and sections 2907.38 and 2907.39 of the Revised Code to regulate in the specified manner, and to expand the authority of local governments to regulate, adult entertainment establishments in order to promote the health, safety, morals, and general welfare of the citizens of this state and establish reasonable regulations to prevent the deleterious secondary effects of adult entertainment establishments within this state. The provisions of new sections 503.51 and 503.52 and sections 2907.38 and 2907.39 of the Revised Code have neither the purpose nor effect of imposing a limitation or restriction on the content of any communicative materials, including sexually oriented materials. Similarly, it is not the intent nor effect of the General Assembly in enacting new sections 503.51 and 503.52 and sections 2907.38 and 2907.39 of the Revised Code to restrict or deny, or authorize the restriction or denial of, access by adults to sexually oriented materials protected by the First Amendment, or to deny, or authorize the denial of, access by the distributors and exhibitors of adult entertainment and adult materials to their intended market. Neither is it the intent nor effect of the General Assembly in enacting new sections 503.51 and 503.52 and sections 2907.38 and 2907.39 of the Revised Code to condone or legitimize the distribution or exhibition of obscene material.

(C) Based on evidence concerning the adverse secondary effects of adult uses on communities presented in hearings and in reports made available to the legislature and on findings incorporated in the cases of *City of Littleton, Colorado v. Rec. S. 8987; 135 Cong. Rec. S. 14519; 135 Cong. Rec. S. 5636, 134 Cong. Rec. E. 3750; and also on findings from the paper entitled "Stripclubs According to Strippers: Exposing Workplace Sexual Violence," by Kelly Holsoapple, Program Director, Freedom and Justice Center for Prostitution Resources, Minneapolis, Minnesota; and from "Sexually Oriented Businesses: An Insider's View," by David Sherman, presented to the Michigan House Committee on Ethics and Constitutional Law, Jan. 12, 2000; and from various other police reports, testimony, newspaper reports, and other documentary evidence, the General Assembly finds:

(1) Adult entertainment establishments lend themselves to ancillary unlawful and unhealthy activities that are presently uncontrolled by the operators of the establishments. Further, there is presently no statewide mechanism, and no general or comprehensive grant of authority enabling local governments, to make the owners of these establishments responsible for the activities that occur on their premises.

(2) Certain employees of adult entertainment establishments, as defined in section 2907.39 of the Revised Code as adult theaters and cabarets, engage in a higher incidence of certain types of illicit sexual behavior than employees of other establishments.

(3) Sexual acts, including masturbation and oral and anal sex, occur at adult entertainment establishments, especially those that provide private or semiprivate booths or cubicles for viewing films, videos, or live sex shows. The "couch dances" or "lap dances" that frequently occur in adult entertainment establishments featuring live nude or seminude dancers constitute or may constitute the offense of "engaging in prostitution" under section 2907.25 of the Revised Code.

(4) Offering and providing such space encourages such activities, which creates unhealthy conditions.

(5) Persons frequent certain adult theaters, adult arcades, and other adult entertainment establishments for the purpose of engaging in sexual activity within the premises of those adult entertainment establishments.

(6) Numerous communicable diseases may be spread by activities occurring in sexually oriented businesses, including, but not limited to, syphilis, gonorrhea, human immunodeficiency virus infection (HIV-AIDS), genital herpes, hepatitis salmonella, campylobacter and shigella infections, chlamydial, mycoplasmal and ureoplasmal infections, trichomoniasis, and chancroid.

(7) Since 1981 and to the present, there has been an increasing cumulative number of reported cases of AIDS caused by the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) in the United States: 600 in 1982, 2,200 in 1983, 4,600 in 1984, 8,555 in 1985, and 253,448 through December 31, 1992.

(8) A total of 10,255 AIDS cases had been reported in Ohio as of January 1999. Ohio has required HIV case reporting since 1990, and the reported information shows 7,969 people living with (HIV) (4,213) and (AIDS) (3,756) in the state.

(9) Since 1981 and to the present, there have been an increasing cumulative number of persons testing positive for the HIV antibody test in Ohio.

(10) The number of cases of early (less than one year) syphilis in the United States reported annually has risen. 33,613 cases were reported in 1982, and 45,200 cases were reported through November 1990.

(11) The number of cases of gonorrhea in the United States reported annually remains at a high level, with over one-half million cases being reported in 1990.

(12) The Surgeon General of the United States in his report of October 22, 1986, has advised the American public that AIDS and HIV infection may be transmitted through sexual contact, intravenous drug abuse, and exposure to infected blood and blood components, and from an infected mother to her newborn.

(13) According to the best scientific evidence, AIDS and HIV infection, as well as syphilis and gonorrhea, are principally transmitted by sexual acts.

(14) Sanitary conditions in some adult entertainment establishments are unhealthy, in part, because the activities conducted there are unhealthy, and, in part, because of the unregulated nature of the activities and the failure of the owners and the operators of the facilities to self-regulate those activities and maintain those facilities.

(15) The findings noted in divisions (C)(1) to (14) of this section raise substantial governmental concerns.

(16) Adult entertainment establishments have operational characteristics that should subject them to reasonable government regulation in order to protect those substantial governmental concerns.

(17) The enactment of new sections 503.51 and 503.52 and sections 2907.38 and 2907.39 of the Revised Code will promote the general welfare, health, morals, and safety of the citizens of this state.

§ 2907.39 Permitting juvenile on premises of adult entertainment establishment; use by juvenile of false information to enter adult entertainment establishment.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Adult arcade" means any place to which the public is permitted or invited in which coin-operated, slug-operated, or electronically, electrically, or mechanically controlled still or motion picture machines, projectors, or other image-producing devices are regularly maintained to show images to five or fewer persons per machine at any one time, and in which the images so displayed are distinguished or characterized by their emphasis upon matter exhibiting or describing specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas.

(2)(a) "Adult bookstore," "adult novelty store," or "adult video store" means a commercial establishment that, for any form of consideration, has as a significant or substantial portion of its stock-in-trade in, derives a significant or substantial portion of its revenues from, devotes a significant or substantial portion of its interior business or advertising to, or maintains a substantial section of its sales or display space for the sale or rental of any of the following:

(i) Books, magazines, periodicals, or other printed matter, or photographs, films, motion pictures, video cassettes, compact discs, slides, or other visual representations, that are characterized by their emphasis upon the exhibition or description of specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas;

(ii) Instruments, devices, or paraphernalia that are designed for use or marketed primarily for stimulation of human genital organs or for sadomasochistic use or abuse of self or others.

(b) "Adult bookstore," "adult novelty store," or "adult video store" includes a commercial establishment as defined in section 2907.38 of the Revised Code. An establishment may have other principal business purposes that do not involve the offering for sale, rental, or viewing of materials exhibiting or describing specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas and still be categorized as an adult bookstore, adult novelty store, or adult video store. The existence of other principal business purposes does not exempt an establishment from being categorized as an adult bookstore, adult novelty store, or adult video store so long as one of its principal business purposes is offering for sale or rental, for some form of consideration, such materials that exhibit or describe specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas.

(3) "Adult cabaret" means a nightclub, bar, juice bar, restaurant, bottle club, or similar commercial establishment, whether or not alcoholic beverages are served, that regularly features any of the following:

(a) Persons who appear in a state of nudity or semi-nudity;

(b) Live performances that are characterized by the exposure of specified anatomical areas or specified sexual activities;

(c) Films, motion pictures, video cassettes, slides, or other photographic reproductions that are distinguished or characterized by their emphasis upon the exhibition or description of specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas.

(4) "Adult entertainment" means the sale, rental, or exhibition, for any form of consideration, of books, films, video cassettes, magazines, periodicals, or live performances that are characterized by an emphasis on the exposure or display of specified anatomical areas or specified sexual activity.

(5) "Adult entertainment establishment" means an adult arcade, adult bookstore, adult novelty store, adult video store, adult cabaret, adult motion picture theater, adult theater, nude or seminude model studio, or sexual encounter establishment. An establishment in which a medical practitioner, psychologist, psychiatrist, or similar professional person licensed by the state engages in medically approved and recognized therapy, including, but not limited to, massage therapy, as regulated pursuant to section 4731.15 of the Revised Code, is not an "adult entertainment establishment."

(6) "Adult motion picture theater" means a commercial establishment where films, motion pictures, video cassettes, slides, or similar photographic reproductions that are distinguished or characterized by their emphasis upon the exhibition or description of specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas are regularly shown for any form of consideration.

(7) "Adult theater" means a theater, concert hall, auditorium, or similar commercial establishment that, for any form of consideration, regularly features persons who appear in a state of nudity or seminudity or live performances that are characterized by their emphasis upon the exposure of specified anatomical areas or specified sexual activities.

(8) "Distinguished or characterized by their emphasis upon" means the dominant or principal character and theme of the object described by this phrase. For instance, when the phrase refers to films "that are distinguished or characterized by their emphasis upon the exhibition or description of specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas," the films so described are those whose dominant or principal character and theme are the exhibition or description of specified sexual activities or specified anatomical areas.

(9)(a) "Nude or seminude model studio" means any place where a person, who regularly appears in a state of nudity or seminudity, is provided for money or any other form of consideration to be observed, sketched, drawn, painted, sculptured, photographed, or similarly depicted by other persons.

(b) A modeling class or studio is not a nude or seminude model studio and is not subject to this chapter if it is operated in any of the following ways:

(i) By a college or university supported entirely or partly by taxation;

(ii) By a private college or university that maintains and operates educational programs, the credits for which are transferable to a college or university supported entirely or partly by taxation;

(iii) In a structure that has no sign visible from the exterior of the structure and no other advertising indicating that a person appearing in a state of nudity or seminudity is available for viewing, if in order to participate in a class in the structure, a student must enroll at least three days in advance of the class and if not more than one nude or seminude model is on the premises at any one time.

(10) "Nudity," "nude," or "state of nudity" means the showing of the human male or female genitals, pubic area, vulva, anus, anal cleft, or cleavage with less than a fully opaque covering; or the showing of the female breasts with less than a fully opaque covering of any part of the nipple.

(11) "Regularly features" or "regularly shown" means a consistent or substantial course of conduct, such that the films or performances exhibited constitute a substantial portion of the films or performances offered as a part of the ongoing business of the adult entertainment establishment.

(12) "Seminude" or "state of seminudity" means a state of dress in which opaque clothing covers not more than the genitals, pubic region, and nipple of the female breast, as well as portions of the body covered by supporting straps or devices.

(13)(a) "Sexual encounter establishment" means a business or commercial establishment that, as one of its principal business purposes, offers for any form of consideration a place where either of the following occur:

(i) Two or more persons may congregate, associate, or consort for the purpose of engaging in specified sexual activities.

(ii) Two or more persons appear nude or seminude for the purpose of displaying their nude or seminude bodies for their receipt of consideration or compensation in any type or form.

(b) An establishment where a medical practitioner, psychologist, psychiatrist, or similar professional person licensed by the state engages in medically approved and recognized therapy, including, but not limited to, massage therapy, as regulated pursuant to section 4731.15 of the Revised Code, is not a "sexual encounter establishment."

(14) "Specified anatomical areas" means the cleft of the buttocks, anus, male or female genitals, or the female breast.

(15) "Specified sexual activity" means any of the following:

(a) Sex acts, normal or perverted, or actual or simulated, including intercourse, oral copulation, masturbation, or sodomy;

(b) Excretory functions as a part of or in connection with any of the activities described in division (A)(15)(a) of this section.

(B) No person knowingly shall allow an individual, including, but not limited to, a patron, customer, or employee, who is under eighteen years of age on the premises of an adult entertainment establishment.

(C) No individual who is under eighteen years of age knowingly shall show or give false information concerning the individual's name or age, or other false identification, for the purpose of gaining entrance to an adult entertainment establishment.

(D) A person shall not be found guilty of a violation of division (B) of this section if the person raises as an affirmative defense and if the jury or, in a nonjury trial, the court finds the person has established by a preponderance of the evidence, all of the following:

(1) The individual gaining entrance to the adult entertainment establishment exhibited to an operator, employee, agent, or independent contractor of the adult entertainment establishment a driver's or commercial driver's license or an identification card issued under sections 4507.50 and 4507.52 of the Revised Code showing that the individual was then at least eighteen years of age.

(2) The operator, employee, agent, or independent contractor made a bona fide effort to ascertain the true age of the individual gaining entrance to the adult entertainment establishment by checking the identification presented, at the time of entrance, to ascertain that the description on the identification compared with the appearance of the individual and that the identification had not been altered in any way.

(3) The operator, employee, agent, or independent contractor had reason to believe that the individual gaining entrance to the adult entertainment establishment was at least eighteen years of age.

(E) In any criminal action in which the affirmative defense described in division (D) of this section is raised, the registrar of motor vehicles or the deputy registrar who issued a driver's or commercial driver's license or an identification card under sections 4507.50 and 4507.52 of the Revised Code shall be permitted to submit certified copies of the records, in the registrar's or deputy registrar's possession, of the issuance of the license or identification card in question, in lieu of the testimony of the personnel of the bureau of motor vehicles in the action.

(F)(1) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of permitting a juvenile on the premises of an adult entertainment establishment, a misdemeanor of the first degree. Each day a person violates this division constitutes a separate offense.

(2) Whoever violates division (C) of this section is guilty of use by a juvenile of false information to enter an adult entertainment establishment, a delinquent act that would be a misdemeanor of the fourth degree if committed by an adult.

§ 2909.01 Definitions.

As used in sections 2909.01 to 2909.07 of the Revised Code:

(A) To "create a substantial risk of serious physical harm to any person" includes the creation of a substantial risk of serious physical harm to any emergency personnel.

(B) "Emergency personnel" means any of the following persons:

(1) A peace officer, as defined in section 2935.01 of the Revised Code;

(2) A member of a fire department or other firefighting agency of a municipal corporation, township, township fire district, joint fire district, other political subdivision, or combination of political subdivisions;

(3) A member of a private fire company, as defined in section 9.60 of the Revised Code, or a volunteer firefighter;

(4) A member of a joint ambulance district or joint emergency medical services district;

(5) An emergency medical technician-basic, emergency medical technician-intermediate, emergency medical technician-paramedic, ambulance operator, or other member of an emergency medical service that is owned or operated by a political subdivision or a private entity;

(6) The state fire marshal, the chief deputy state fire marshal, or an assistant state fire marshal;

(7) A fire prevention officer of a political subdivision or an arson, fire, or similar investigator of a political subdivision.

(C) "Occupied structure" means any house, building, outbuilding, watercraft, aircraft, railroad car, truck, trailer, tent, or other structure, vehicle, or shelter, or any portion thereof, to which any of the following applies:

(1) It is maintained as a permanent or temporary dwelling, even though it is temporarily unoccupied and whether or not any person is actually present.

(2) At the time, it is occupied as the permanent or temporary habitation of any person, whether or not any person is actually present.

(3) At the time, it is specially adapted for the overnight accommodation of any person, whether or not any person is actually present.

(4) At the time, any person is present or likely to be present in it.

(D) "Political subdivision" and "state" have the same meanings as in section 2744.01 of the Revised Code.

(E) "Computer," "computer hacking," "computer network," "computer program," "computer software," "computer system," "data," and "telecommunications device" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(F) "Computer contaminant" means a computer program that is designed to modify, damage, destroy, disable, deny or degrade access to, allow unauthorized access to, functionally impair, record, or transmit information within a computer, computer system, or computer network without the express or implied consent of the owner or other person authorized to give consent and that is of a type or kind described in divisions (F)(1) to (4) of this section or of a type or kind similar to a type or kind described in divisions (F)(1) to (4) of this section:

(1) A group of computer programs commonly known as "viruses" and "worms" that are self-replicating or self-propagating and that are designed to contaminate other computer programs, compromise computer security, consume computer resources, modify, destroy, record, or transmit data, or disrupt the normal operation of the computer, computer system, or computer network;

(2) A group of computer programs commonly known as “Trojans” or “Trojan horses” that are not self-replicating or self-propagating and that are designed to compromise computer security, consume computer resources, modify, destroy, record, or transmit data, or disrupt the normal operation of the computer, computer system, or computer network;

(3) A group of computer programs commonly known as “zombies” that are designed to use a computer without the knowledge and consent of the owner, or other person authorized to give consent, and that are designed to send large quantities of data to a targeted computer network for the purpose of degrading the targeted computer’s or network’s performance, or denying access through the network to the targeted computer or network, resulting in what is commonly known as “Denial of Service” or “Distributed Denial of Service” attacks;

(4) A group of computer programs commonly known as “trap doors,” “back doors,” or “root kits” that are designed to bypass standard authentication software and that are designed to allow access to or use of a computer without the knowledge or consent of the owner, or other person authorized to give consent.

(G) “Internet” has the same meaning as in section 341.42 of the Revised Code.

§ 2909.02 Aggravated arson.

(A) No person, by means of fire or explosion, shall knowingly do any of the following:

(1) Create a substantial risk of serious physical harm to any person other than the offender;

(2) Cause physical harm to any occupied structure;

(3) Create, through the offer or acceptance of an agreement for hire or other consideration, a substantial risk of physical harm to any occupied structure.

(B)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of aggravated arson.

(2) A violation of division (A)(1) or (3) of this section is a felony of the first degree.

§ 2909.04 Disrupting public services.

(A) No person, purposely by any means or knowingly by damaging or tampering with any property, shall do any of the following:

(1) Interrupt or impair television, radio, telephone, telegraph, or other mass communications service; police, fire, or other public service communications; radar, loran, radio, or other electronic aids to air or marine navigation or communications; or amateur or citizens band radio communications being used for public service or emergency communications;

(2) Interrupt or impair public transportation, including without limitation school bus transportation, or water supply, gas, power, or other utility service to the public;

(3) Substantially impair the ability of law enforcement officers, firefighters, rescue personnel, emergency medical services personnel, or emergency facility personnel to respond to an emergency or to protect and preserve any person or property from serious physical harm.

(B) No person shall knowingly use any computer, computer system, computer network, telecommunications device, or other electronic device or system or the internet so as to disrupt, interrupt, or impair the functions of any police, fire, educational, commercial, or governmental operations.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of disrupting public services, a felony of the fourth degree.

(D) As used in this section:

(1) "Emergency medical services personnel" has the same meaning as in section 2133.21 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Emergency facility personnel" means any of the following:

(a) Any of the following individuals who perform services in the ordinary course of their professions in an emergency facility:

(i) Physicians authorized under Chapter 4731. of the Revised Code to practice medicine and surgery or osteopathic medicine and surgery;

(ii) Registered nurses and licensed practical nurses licensed under Chapter 4723. of the Revised Code;

(iii) Physician assistants authorized to practice under Chapter 4730. of the Revised Code;

(iv) Health care workers;

(v) Clerical staffs.

(b) Any individual who is a security officer performing security services in an emergency facility;

(c) Any individual who is present in an emergency facility, who was summoned to the facility by an individual identified in division (D)(2)(a) or (b) of this section.

(3) "Emergency facility" means a hospital emergency department or any other facility that provides emergency medical services.

(4) "Hospital" has the same meaning as in section 3727.01 of the Revised Code.

(5) "Health care worker" means an individual, other than an individual specified in division (D)(2)(a), (b), or (c) of this section, who provides medical or other health-related care or treatment in an emergency facility, including medical technicians, medical assistants, orderlies, aides, or individuals acting in similar capacities.

§ 2909.05 Vandalism.

(A) No person shall knowingly cause serious physical harm to an occupied structure or any of its contents.

(B)(1) No person shall knowingly cause physical harm to property that is owned or possessed by another, when either of the following applies:

(a) The property is used by its owner or possessor in the owner's or possessor's profession, business, trade, or occupation, and the value of the property or the amount of physical harm involved is five hundred dollars or more;

(b) Regardless of the value of the property or the amount of damage done, the property or its equivalent is necessary in order for its owner or possessor to engage in the owner's or possessor's profession, business, trade, or occupation.

(2) No person shall knowingly cause serious physical harm to property that is owned, leased, or controlled by a governmental entity. A governmental entity includes, but is not limited to, the state or a political subdivision of the state, a school district, the board of trustees of a public library or public university, or any other body corporate and politic responsible for governmental activities only in geographical areas smaller than that of the state.

(C) No person, without privilege to do so, shall knowingly cause serious physical harm to any tomb, monument, gravestone, or other similar structure that is used as a memorial for the dead; to any fence, railing, curb, or other property that is used to protect, enclose, or ornament any cemetery; or to a cemetery.

(D) No person, without privilege to do so, shall knowingly cause physical harm to a place of burial by breaking and entering into a tomb, crypt, casket, or other structure that is used as a memorial for the dead or as an enclosure for the dead.

(E) Whoever violates this section is guilty of vandalism. Except as otherwise provided in this division, vandalism is a felony of the fifth degree that is punishable by a fine of up to two thousand five hundred dollars in addition to the penalties specified for a felony of the fifth degree in sections 2929.11 to 2929.18 of the Revised Code. If the value of the property or the amount of physical harm involved is five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars, vandalism is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the property or the amount of physical harm involved is one hundred thousand dollars or more, vandalism is a felony of the third degree.

(F) For purposes of this section:

(1) "Cemetery" means any place of burial and includes burial sites that contain American Indian burial objects placed with or containing American Indian human remains.

(2) "Serious physical harm" means physical harm to property that results in loss to the value of the property of five hundred dollars or more.

§ 2909.07 Criminal mischief.

(A) No person shall:

(1) Without privilege to do so, knowingly move, deface, damage, destroy, or otherwise improperly tamper with the property of another;

(2) With purpose to interfere with the use or enjoyment of property of another, employ a tear gas device, stink bomb, smoke generator, or other device releasing a substance that is harmful or offensive to persons exposed or that tends to cause public alarm;

(3) Without privilege to do so, knowingly move, deface, damage, destroy, or otherwise improperly tamper with a bench mark, triangulation station, boundary marker, or other survey station, monument, or marker;

(4) Without privilege to do so, knowingly move, deface, damage, destroy, or otherwise improperly tamper with any safety device, the property of another, or the property of the offender when required or placed for the safety of others, so as to destroy or diminish its effectiveness or availability for its intended purpose;

(5) With purpose to interfere with the use or enjoyment of the property of another, set a fire on the land of another or place personal property that has been set on fire on the land of another, which fire or personal property is outside and apart from any building, other structure, or personal property that is on that land;

(6) Without privilege to do so, and with intent to impair the functioning of any computer, computer system, computer network, computer software, or computer program, knowingly do any of the following:

(a) In any manner or by any means, including, but not limited to, computer hacking, alter, damage, destroy, or modify a computer, computer system, computer network, computer software, or computer program or data contained in a computer, computer system, computer network, computer software, or computer program;

(b) Introduce a computer contaminant into a computer, computer system, computer network, computer software, or computer program.

(B) As used in this section, "safety device" means any fire extinguisher, fire hose, or fire axe, or any fire escape, emergency exit, or emergency escape equipment, or any life line, life-saving ring, life preserver, or life boat or raft, or any alarm, light, flare, signal, sign, or notice intended to warn of danger or emergency, or intended for other safety purposes, or any guard railing or safety barricade, or any traffic sign or signal, or any railroad grade crossing sign, signal, or gate, or any first aid or survival equipment, or any other device, apparatus, or equipment intended for protecting or preserving the safety of persons or property.

(C)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of criminal mischief, and shall be punished as provided in division (C)(2) or (3) of this section.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this division, criminal mischief committed in violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section is a misdemeanor of the third degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section creates a risk of physical harm to any person, criminal mischief committed in violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the property involved in the violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section is an aircraft, an aircraft engine, propeller, appliance, spare part, fuel, lubricant, hydraulic fluid, any other equipment, implement, or material used or intended to be used in the operation of an aircraft, or any cargo carried or intended to be carried in an aircraft, criminal mischief committed in violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section is one of the following:

(a) If the violation creates a risk of physical harm to any person, except as otherwise provided in division (C)(2)(b) of this section, criminal mischief committed in violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree.

(b) If the violation creates a substantial risk of physical harm to any person or if the property involved in a violation of this section is an occupied aircraft, criminal mischief committed in violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in this division, criminal mischief committed in violation of division (A)(6) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the value of the computer, computer system, computer network, computer software, computer program, or data involved in the violation of division (A)(6) of this section or the loss to the victim resulting from the violation is one thousand dollars or more and less than ten thousand dollars, or if the computer, computer system, computer network, computer software, computer program, or data involved in the violation of division (A)(6) of this section is used or intended to be used in the operation of an aircraft and the violation creates a risk of physical harm to any person, criminal mischief committed in violation of division (A)(6) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the computer, computer system, computer network, computer software, computer program, or data involved in the violation of division (A)(6) of this section or the loss to the victim resulting from the violation is ten thousand dollars or more, or if the computer, computer system, computer network, computer software, computer program, or data involved in the violation of division (A)(6) of this section is used or intended to be used in the operation of an aircraft and the violation creates a substantial risk of physical harm to any person or the aircraft in question is an occupied aircraft, criminal mischief committed in violation of division (A)(6) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree.

§ 2909.08 Endangering aircraft or airport operations.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Air gun" means a hand pistol or rifle that propels its projectile by means of releasing compressed air, carbon dioxide, or other gas.

(2) "Firearm" has the same meaning as in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Spring-operated gun" means a hand pistol or rifle that propels a projectile not less than four or more than five millimeters in diameter by means of a spring.

(4) "Airport operational surface" means any surface of land or water that is developed, posted, or marked so as to give an observer reasonable notice that the surface is designed and developed for the purpose of storing, parking, taxiing, or operating aircraft, or any surface of land or water that is actually being used for any of those purposes.

(B) No person shall do either of the following:

(1) Knowingly throw an object at, or drop an object upon, any moving aircraft;

(2) Knowingly shoot with a bow and arrow, or knowingly discharge a firearm, air gun, or spring-operated gun, at or toward any aircraft.

(C) No person shall knowingly or recklessly shoot with a bow and arrow, or shall knowingly or recklessly discharge a firearm, air gun, or spring-operated gun, upon or over any airport operational surface. This division does not apply to the following:

(1) An officer, agent, or employee of this or any other state or the United States, or a law enforcement officer, authorized to discharge firearms and acting within the scope of the officer's, agent's, or employee's duties;

(2) A person who, with the consent of the owner or operator of the airport operational surface or the authorized agent of either, is lawfully engaged in any hunting or sporting activity or is otherwise lawfully discharging a firearm.

(D) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of endangering aircraft, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the violation creates a risk of physical harm to any person, endangering aircraft is a felony of the fifth degree. If the violation creates a substantial risk of physical harm to any person or if the aircraft that is the subject of the violation is occupied, endangering aircraft is a felony of the fourth degree.

(E) Whoever violates division (C) of this section is guilty of endangering airport operations, a misdemeanor of the second degree. If the violation creates a risk of physical harm to any person, endangering airport operations is a felony of the fifth degree. If the violation creates a substantial risk of physical harm to any person, endangering airport operations is a felony of the fourth degree. In addition to any other penalty or sanction imposed for the violation, the hunting license or permit of a person who violates division (C) of this section while hunting shall be suspended or revoked pursuant to section 1533.68 of the Revised Code.

(F) Any bow and arrow, air gun, spring-operated gun, or firearm that has been used in a felony violation of this section shall be seized or forfeited, and shall be disposed of pursuant to Chapter 2981. of the Revised Code.

§ 2909.09 Vehicular vandalism.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Highway" means any highway as defined in section 4511.01 of the Revised Code or any lane, road, street, alley, bridge, or overpass.

(2) "Alley," "street," "streetcar," "trackless trolley," and "vehicle" have the same meanings as in section 4511.01 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Vessel" and "waters in this state" have the same meanings as in section 1547.01 of the Revised Code.

(B) No person shall knowingly, and by any means, drop or throw any object at, onto, or in the path of any of the following:

(1) Any vehicle, streetcar, or trackless trolley on a highway;

(2) Any boat or vessel on any of the waters in this state.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of vehicular vandalism. Except as otherwise provided in this division, vehicular vandalism is a misdemeanor of the first degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the violation of this section creates a substantial risk of physical harm to any person or the violation of this section causes serious physical harm to property, vehicular vandalism is a felony of the fourth degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the violation of this section causes physical harm to any person, vehicular vandalism is a felony of the third degree. If the violation of this section causes serious physical harm to any person, vehicular vandalism is a felony of the second degree.

HISTORY: 149 v S 163. Eff 4-9-2003.

§ 2909.11 Determining property value or amount of physical harm.

(A) When a person is charged with a violation of division (A)(1) of section 2909.03 of the Revised Code involving property value or an amount of physical harm of five hundred dollars or more or with a violation of section 2909.05 of the Revised Code involving property value or an amount of physical harm of five hundred dollars or more, the jury or court trying the accused shall determine the value of the property or amount of physical harm and, if a guilty verdict is returned, shall return the finding as part of the verdict. In any such case, it is unnecessary to find or return the exact value or amount of physical harm, section 2945.75 of the Revised Code applies, and it is sufficient if either of the following applies, as appropriate, relative to the finding and return of the value or amount of physical harm:

(1) If the finding and return relate to a violation of division (A)(1) of section 2909.03 of the Revised Code and are that the value or amount of the physical harm was five hundred dollars or more, the finding and return shall include a statement that the value or amount was five hundred dollars or more.

(2) If the finding and return relate to a violation of division section† 2909.05 of the Revised Code and are that the value or amount of the physical harm was in any of the following categories, the finding and return shall include one of the following statements, as appropriate:

(a) If the finding and return are that the value or amount was one hundred thousand dollars or more, a statement that the value or amount was one hundred thousand dollars or more;

(b) If the finding and return are that the value or amount was five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars a statement that the value or amount was five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars;

(c) If the finding and return are that the value or amount was five hundred dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars, a statement that the value or amount was five hundred dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars.

(B) The following criteria shall be used in determining the value of property or amount of physical harm involved in a violation of division (A)(1) of section 2909.03 or section 2909.05 of the Revised Code:

(1) If the property is an heirloom, memento, collector's item, antique, museum piece, manuscript, document, record, or other thing that is either irreplaceable or is replaceable only on the expenditure of substantial time, effort, or money, the value of the property or the amount of physical^h harm involved is the amount that would compensate the owner for its loss.

(2) If the property is not covered under division (B)(1) of this section and the physical harm is such that the property can be restored substantially to its former condition, the amount of physical harm involved is the reasonable cost of restoring the property.

(3) If the property is not covered under division (B)(1) of this section and the physical harm is such that the property cannot be restored substantially to its former condition, the value of the property, in the case of personal property, is the cost of replacing the property with new property of like kind and quality, and, in the case of real property or real property fixtures, is the difference in the fair market value of the property immediately before and immediately after the offense.

(C) As used in this section, "fair market value" has the same meaning as in section 2913.61 of the Revised Code.

(D) Prima-facie evidence of the value of property, as provided in division (E) of section 2913.61 of the Revised Code, may be used to establish the value of property pursuant to this section.

[TERRORISM]

§ 2909.21 Definitions.

As used in sections 2909.21 to 2909.34 of the Revised Code:

(A) "Act of terrorism" means an act that is committed within or outside the territorial jurisdiction of this state or the United States, that constitutes a specified offense if committed in this state or constitutes an offense in any jurisdiction within or outside the territorial jurisdiction of the United States containing all of the essential elements of a specified offense, and that is intended to do one or more of the following:

- (1) Intimidate or coerce a civilian population;
- (2) Influence the policy of any government by intimidation or coercion;
- (3) Affect the conduct of any government by the act that constitutes the offense.

(B) "Biological agent," "delivery system," "toxin," and "vector" have the same meanings as in section 2917.33 of the Revised Code.

(C) "Biological weapon" means any biological agent, toxin, vector, or delivery system or combination of any biological agent or agents, any toxin or toxins, any vector or vectors, and any delivery system or systems.

(D) "Chemical weapon" means any one or more of the following:

(1) Any toxic chemical or precursor of a toxic chemical that is listed in Schedule 1, Schedule 2, or Schedule 3 of the international "Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons and on their Destruction (CWC)," as entered into force on April 29, 1997;

(2) A device specifically designed to cause death or other harm through the toxic properties of a toxic chemical or precursor identified in division (D)(1) of this section that would be created or released as a result of the employment of that device;

(3) Any equipment specifically designed for use directly in connection with the employment of devices identified in division (D)(2) of this section.

(E) "Radiological or nuclear weapon" means any device that is designed to create or release radiation or radioactivity at a level that is dangerous to human life or in order to cause serious physical harm to persons as a result of the radiation or radioactivity created or released.

(F) "Explosive device" has the same meaning as in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code.

(G) "Key component of a binary or multicomponent chemical system" means the precursor that plays the most important role in determining the toxic properties of the final product and reacts rapidly with other chemicals in the binary or multicomponent chemical system.

(H) "Material assistance" means any of the following:

(1) Membership in an organization on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list;

(2) Use of the person's position of prominence within any country to persuade others to support an organization on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list;

(3) Knowingly soliciting funds or other things of value for an organization on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list;

(4) Solicitation of any individual for membership in an organization on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list;

(5) Commission of an act that the person knows, or reasonably should have known, affords material support or resources to an organization on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list;

(6) Hiring or compensating a person known by the person hiring or providing the compensation to be a member of an organization on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list or a person known by the person hiring or providing the compensation to be engaged in planning, assisting, or carrying out an act of terrorism.

(I) "Material support or resources" means currency, payment instruments, other financial securities, funds, transfer of funds, financial services, communications, lodging, training, safe houses, false documentation or identification, communications equipment, facilities, weapons, lethal substances, explosives, personnel, transportation, and other physical assets, except medicine or religious materials.

(J) "Payment instrument" means a check, draft, money order, traveler's check, cashier's check, teller's check, or other instrument or order for the transmission or payment of money, regardless of whether the item in question is negotiable.

(K) "Peace officer" and "prosecutor" have the same meanings as in section 2935.01 of the Revised Code.

(L) "Precursor" means any chemical reactant that takes part at any stage in the production by whatever method of a toxic chemical, including any key component of a binary or multicomponent chemical system.

(M) "Response costs" means all costs a political subdivision incurs as a result of, or in making any response to, a threat of a specified offense made as described in section 2909.23 of the Revised Code or a specified offense committed as described in section 2909.24 of the Revised Code, including, but not limited to, all costs so incurred by any law enforcement officers, firefighters, rescue personnel, or emergency medical services personnel of the political subdivision and all costs so incurred by the political subdivision that relate to laboratory testing or hazardous material cleanup.

(N) "Specified offense" means any of the following:

(1) A felony offense of violence, a violation of section 2909.04, 2909.081 [2909.08.1], 2909.22, 2909.23, 2909.24, 2909.26, 2909.27, 2909.28, 2909.29, or 2927.24 of the Revised Code, a felony of the first degree that is not a violation of any provision in Chapter 2925. or 3719. of the Revised Code;

(2) An attempt to commit, complicity in committing, or a conspiracy to commit an offense listed in division (N)(1) of this section.

(O) "Toxic chemical" means any chemical that through its chemical action on life processes can cause death or serious physical harm to persons or animals, regardless of its origin or of its method of production and regardless of whether it is produced in facilities, in munitions, or elsewhere.

(P) "United States department of state terrorist exclusion list" and "terrorist exclusion list" means the list compiled by the United States secretary of state, in consultation with or upon the request of the United States attorney general, that designates terrorist organizations for immigration purposes. "United States department of state terrorist exclusion list" and "terrorist exclusion list" also mean the list of terrorist organizations the director of public safety prepares pursuant to rules adopted in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code, that is comprised of lists of organizations officials of the United States government designate as terrorist, including the "terrorist exclusion list" described in this division, the list of "foreign terrorist organizations" the United States secretary of state prepares in consultation with the United States attorney general and the United States secretary of the treasury, and the list of charities that support terrorist activities, known as "designated charities," that the United States department of treasury compiles.

(Q) "Hazardous radioactive substance" means any substance or item that releases or is designed to release radiation or radioactivity at a level dangerous to human life.

§ 2909.22 Soliciting or providing support for act of terrorism.

(A) No person shall raise, solicit, collect, donate, or provide any material support or resources, with purpose that the material support or resources will be used in whole or in part to plan, prepare, carry out, or aid in either an act of terrorism or the concealment of, or an escape from, an act of terrorism.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of soliciting or providing support for an act of terrorism, a felony of the third degree. Section 2909.25 of the Revised Code applies regarding an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of this section.

(C) A prosecution for a violation of this section does not preclude a prosecution for a violation of any other section of the Revised Code. One or more acts, a series of acts, or a course of behavior that can be prosecuted under this section or any other section of the Revised Code may be prosecuted under this section, the other section, or both sections.

HISTORY: 149 v S 184. Eff 5-15-2002.

§ 2909.23 Making terroristic threat.

(A) No person shall threaten to commit or threaten to cause to be committed a specified offense when both of the following apply:

(1) The person makes the threat with purpose to do any of the following:

- (a) Intimidate or coerce a civilian population;
- (b) Influence the policy of any government by intimidation or coercion;
- (c) Affect the conduct of any government by the threat or by the specified offense.

(2) As a result of the threat, the person causes a reasonable expectation or fear of the imminent commission of the specified offense.

(B) It is not a defense to a charge of a violation of this section that the defendant did not have the intent or capability to commit the threatened specified offense or that the threat was not made to a person who was a subject of the threatened specified offense.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of making a terroristic threat, a felony of the third degree. Section 2909.25 of the Revised Code applies regarding an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of this section.

HISTORY: 149 v S 184. Eff 5-15-2002.

Not analogous to former RC § 2909.23 (RS § 4905; 73 v 117; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2909.24 Terrorism.

(A) No person shall commit a specified offense with purpose to do any of the following:

- (1) Intimidate or coerce a civilian population;
- (2) Influence the policy of any government by intimidation or coercion;
- (3) Affect the conduct of any government by the specified offense.

(B)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of terrorism.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in divisions (B)(3) and (4) of this section, terrorism is an offense one degree higher than the most serious underlying specified offense the defendant committed.

(3) If the most serious underlying specified offense the defendant committed is a felony of the first degree or murder, the person shall be sentenced to life imprisonment without parole.

(4) If the most serious underlying specified offense the defendant committed is aggravated murder, the offender shall be sentenced to life imprisonment without parole or death pursuant to sections 2929.02 to 2929.06 of the Revised Code.

(5) Section 2909.25 of the Revised Code applies regarding an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of this section.

HISTORY: 149 v S 184. Eff 5-15-2002.

Not analogous to former RC § 2909.24 (127 v 810), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2909.25 Reimbursement of investigation, prosecution, and response costs concerning act of terrorism.

(A) In addition to the financial sanctions authorized under section 2929.18 of the Revised Code, the court imposing sentence upon an offender who is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of section 2909.22, 2909.23, or 2909.24 of the Revised Code or to a violation of section 2921.32 of the Revised Code when the offense or act committed by the person aided or to be aided as described in that section is an act of terrorism may order the offender to pay to the state, municipal, or county law enforcement agencies that handled the investigation and prosecution all of the costs that the state, municipal corporation, or county reasonably incurred in the investigation and prosecution of the violation. The court shall hold a hearing to determine the amount of costs to be imposed under this section. The court may hold the hearing as part of the sentencing hearing for the offender.

(B) If a person is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of section 2909.23 or 2909.24 of the Revised Code and if any political subdivision incurred any response costs as a result of, or in making any response to, the threat of the specified offense involved in the violation of section 2909.23 of the Revised Code or the actual specified offense involved in the violation of section 2909.24 of the Revised Code, in addition to the financial sanctions authorized under section 2929.18 of the Revised Code, the court imposing sentence upon the offender for the violation may order the offender to reimburse the involved political subdivision for the response costs it so incurred.

HISTORY: 149 v S 184. Eff 5-15-2002.

Not analogous to former RC § 2909.25 (128 v 467), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2909.26 Criminal possession of chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device.

(A) No person shall knowingly possess any chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device with the intent to use it to cause serious physical harm or death to another person.

(B) No person shall knowingly possess any chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device with intent to use the weapon to do any of the following:

- (1) Intimidate or coerce a civilian population;
- (2) Influence the policy of any government by intimidation or coercion;
- (3) Affect the conduct of any government by murder, assassination, or kidnapping.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of criminal possession of a chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device. A violation of division (A) of this section is a felony of the third degree. A violation of division (B) of this section is a felony of the second degree.

(D) This section does not apply when the items described in division (A) of this section are possessed for a purpose related to the performance of official duties related to any military purpose of the United States and any law enforcement purpose, including any domestic riot control purpose.

HISTORY: 151 v S 9, § 1, eff. 4-14-06.

Not analogous to former RC § 2909.26 (132 v H 996), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

This section prohibited unauthorized trespass upon premises damaged during a public emergency natural disaster.

§ 2909.27 Criminal use of chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device.

(A) No person shall recklessly use, deploy, release, or cause to be used, deployed, or released any chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device that creates a risk of death or serious physical harm to another person not a participant in the offense.

(B) No person shall knowingly use, deploy, release, or cause to be used, deployed, or released any chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device with the intent to do any of the following:

- (1) Intimidate or coerce a civilian population;
- (2) Influence the policy of any government by intimidation or coercion;
- (3) Affect the conduct of any government by murder, assassination, or kidnapping;
- (4) Cause physical harm to, or the death of, any person who is not a participant in the offense.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of criminal use of a chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device. A violation of division (A) of this section is a felony of the second degree. A violation of division (B) of this section is a felony of the first degree.

(D)(1) Division (A) of this section does not apply to any person who uses any of the following:

(a) Any household product that is generally available for sale to consumers in this state in the quantity and concentration available for sale to those consumers;

(b) A self-defense spray;

(c) A biological agent, toxin, or delivery system the person possesses solely for protective, bona fide research, or other peaceful purposes;

(d) A chemical weapon that the person possesses solely for a purpose not prohibited under this section if the type and quantity is consistent with that purpose.

(2) For purposes of this division, "a purpose not prohibited under this section" means any of the following:

(a) Any peaceful purpose related to an industrial, agricultural, research, medical, or pharmaceutical activity or other peaceful activity;

(b) Any purpose directly related to protection against toxic chemicals and to protection against chemical weapons;

(c) Any military purpose of the United States that is not connected with the use of a chemical weapon or that is not dependent on the use of the toxic or poisonous properties of the chemical weapon to cause death or other harm, when related to the performance of official duties;

(d) Any law enforcement purpose, including any domestic riot control purpose, when related to the performance of official duties.

§ 2909.28 Illegal assembly or possession of chemicals or substances for the manufacture of chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device.

(A) No person, with the intent to manufacture a chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device, shall knowingly assemble or possess one or more toxins, toxic chemicals, precursors of toxic chemicals, vectors, biological agents, or hazardous radioactive substances, including, but not limited to, those listed in rules the director of public safety adopts, that may be used to manufacture a chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device.

(B) In a prosecution under this section, it is not necessary to allege or prove that the offender assembled or possessed all chemicals or substances necessary to manufacture a chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device. The assembly or possession of a single chemical or substance, with the intent to use that chemical or substance in the manufacture of a chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device, is sufficient to violate this section.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of illegal assembly or possession of chemicals or substances for the manufacture of a chemical weapon, biological weapon, radiological or nuclear weapon, or explosive device, which is a felony of the fourth degree.

(D) This section does not apply when the items described in division (A) of this section are assembled or possessed for a purpose related to the performance of official duties related to any military purpose of the United States and any law enforcement purpose, including any domestic riot control purpose.

§ 2909.29 Money laundering in support of terrorism.

(A) No person, knowing that property is the proceeds of an act of terrorism or a monetary instrument given, received, or intended to be used in support of an act of terrorism, shall conduct or attempt to conduct any transaction involving that property or transport, transmit or transfer that monetary instrument with the intent to do any of the following:

(1) Commit or further the commission of criminal activity;

(2) Conceal or disguise the nature, location, source, ownership, or control of either the proceeds of an act of terrorism or a monetary instrument given, received, or intended to be used to support an act of terrorism;

(3) Conceal or disguise the intent to avoid a transaction reporting requirement under section 1315.53 of the Revised Code or federal law.

(B)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of money laundering in support of terrorism, which is a misdemeanor of the first degree, except as otherwise provided in this division.

(2) A violation of division (A) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree if the total value of the property or monetary instrument involved in the transaction equals or exceeds one thousand dollars and is less than five thousand dollars.

(3) Money laundering in support of terrorism is a felony of the fourth degree if the total value of the property or monetary instrument involved in the transaction equals or exceeds five thousand dollars and is less than twenty-five thousand dollars.

(4) Money laundering in support of terrorism is a felony of the third degree if the total value of the property or monetary instrument involved in the transaction equals or exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars and is less than seventy-five thousand dollars.

(5) Money laundering in support of terrorism is a felony of the second degree if the total value of the property or monetary instrument involved in the transaction equals or exceeds seventy-five thousand dollars.

HISTORY: 151 v S 9, § 1, eff. 4-14-06.

§ 2909.30 Suspected alien convicted of or pleading guilty to felony, or serving prison term.

(A) A judge of a court of record shall direct the clerk of that court to notify the immigration and customs enforcement section of the United States department of homeland security when a suspected alien has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a felony.

(B) The department of rehabilitation and correction monthly shall compile a list of suspected aliens who are serving a prison term. The list shall include the earliest possible date of release of the offender, whether through expiration of prison term, parole, or other means. The department shall provide a copy of the list to the immigration and customs enforcement section of the United States department of homeland security for the section to determine whether it wishes custody of the suspected alien. If the immigration and customs enforcement section indicates it wishes custody, the department of rehabilitation and correction is responsible for the suspected alien until the section takes custody.

(C) The department of rehabilitation and correction, pursuant to a valid detainer lodged against an alien who is not legally present in the United States and who has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a felony, shall transfer that alien to the custody of the immigration and enforcement section of the United States department of homeland security upon completion of the alien's prison term.

(D) As used in this section, "alien" means an individual who is not a citizen of the United States.

§ 2909.32 Identification of licenses for which holder with terrorist connections presents potential risk; declaration of material assistance/nonassistance; denial or revocation of license.

(A)(1) The director of public safety shall adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code to identify licenses the state issues for which a holder with a connection to a terrorist organization would present a potential risk to the residents of this state. The rules shall not identify a renewable driver's license or permit as a license of this nature if the applicant is a resident of this state.

(2)(a) The director shall prepare a document to serve as a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance for agencies to use to identify whether an applicant for a license or the renewal of a license has provided material assistance to an organization listed in the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list. The declaration shall be substantially in the form and of the same content as set forth in division (A)(2)(b) of this section. The director shall make the declaration available to each issuing agency of a license the director identifies pursuant to division (A)(1) of this section, along with a then-current copy of the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list. The director may adopt rules governing the preparation of the declaration and the distribution of the declaration and the list.

(b) The declaration of material assistance/nonassistance this section requires shall be substantially as follows and shall include the following questions and the associated spaces for answering the questions:

"DECLARATION REGARDING MATERIAL ASSISTANCE/NONASSISTANCE TO TERRORIST ORGANIZATION

(1) Are you a member of an organization on the U.S. Department of State Terrorist Exclusion List? Yes ; No

(2) Have you used any position of prominence you have within any country to persuade others to support an organization on the U.S. Department of State Terrorist Exclusion List? Yes ; No

(3) Have you knowingly solicited funds or other things of value for an organization on the U.S. Department of State Terrorist Exclusion List? Yes ; No

(4) Have you solicited any individual for membership in an organization on the U.S. Department of State Terrorist Exclusion List? Yes ; No

(5) Have you committed an act that you know, or reasonably should have known, affords "material support or resources" (see below) to an organization on the U.S. Department of State Terrorist Exclusion List? Yes ; No

(6) Have you hired or compensated a person you knew to be a member of an organization on the U.S. Department of State Terrorist Exclusion List or a person you knew to be engaged in planning, assisting, or carrying out an act of terrorism? Yes ; No

For purposes of this declaration of material assistance/nonassistance, "material support or resources" means currency, payment instruments, other financial securities, funds, transfer of funds, and financial services that are in excess of one hundred dollars, as well as communications, lodging, training, safe houses, false documentation or identification, communications equipment, facilities, weapons, lethal substances, explosives, personnel, transportation, and other physical assets, except medicine or religious materials."

(B)(1) Any agency that issues a license the director identifies pursuant to division (A)(1) of this section shall include with the agency's application form a copy of the declaration of material assistance/nonassistance the director prepares pursuant to this section and a then-current copy of the terrorist exclusion list. The agency shall inform applicants that they must truthfully answer each question.

(2) Any person provided a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance pursuant to this section shall answer each question and attach the completed declaration to the application for the license or the license renewal.

(C)(1) Any answer of "yes" to any question, or the failure to answer "no" to any question, on a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance an agency provides pursuant to this section shall serve for purposes of this section as a disclosure that the applicant has provided material assistance to an organization listed on the terrorist exclusion list.

(2) Any person who discloses the provision of material assistance to any organization on the terrorist exclusion list shall be denied the license or the renewal of the license unless the department of public safety reinstates the application pursuant to division (D) of this section.

(3) Any licensing entity that denies a license or a renewal of a license pursuant to this division shall send written notice of that denial to the applicant within three business days of the decision to deny. The notice shall inform the applicant of the right to have the department of public safety review the denial if the applicant requests a review within sixty days after the mailing date of the notice. The licensing entity shall provide the department of public safety with a copy of any notice that it sends to an applicant pursuant to this division.

(D) The department of public safety shall review any decision to deny an application within thirty days of receiving an applicant's request for a review. The department shall reinstate the license application for good cause if it determines all of the following pursuant to guidelines the director adopts by rule:

(1) That the provision of material assistance to an organization on the terrorist exclusion list was made more than ten years prior to the time of the application, or the applicant provided material assistance during the ten years prior to the application and the date of the review, but at the time of the assistance, the organization was either not on the list or was not involved in any activity or conduct that would have merited inclusion on the list had it existed at the time, or at the time of the assistance it was not reasonable to know of the organization's activities that would have merited its inclusion on the list.

(2) That the applicant is unlikely in the future to provide material assistance to any organization on the terrorist exclusion list;

(3) That the applicant does not pose a risk to the residents of this state.

(E) The failure of an applicant for a license to complete and attach a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance as this section requires, the failure to disclose material assistance to an organization on the terrorist exclusion list, or the making of false statements regarding material assistance to an organization the applicant knew or should have known was on the terrorist exclusion list, shall result in the denial of the application and in the revocation of the license.

(F) The failure of an applicant for a license to disclose, as this section requires, the provision of material assistance to an organization on the terrorist exclusion list or knowingly making false statements regarding material assistance to an organization on that list is a felony of the fifth degree.

(G) An issuing agency shall notify the department of public safety if it denies an application for a license or the renewal of a license because the applicant disclosed the provision of material assistance to an organization listed on the terrorist exclusion list.

(H) An agency may revoke a license issued to any person who, after providing a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance pursuant to this section, takes an action that would result in "yes" being the correct answer to any question on the declaration, had the declaration been readministered after taking that action. The agency shall conduct a hearing pursuant to Chapter 119. of the Revised Code prior to revoking any license pursuant to this division.

(I) This section does not apply to a license issued to either of the following:

(1) A federally insured depository institution that is subject to anti-money laundering and antiterrorism requirements under federal law, any subsidiary of such a depository institution, or an officer or employee of such a depository institution or subsidiary when that license is related to the person's duties as an officer or employee;

(2) Any affiliate of a depository institution described in division (I)(1) of this section, other than an affiliate that is a subsidiary of a depository institution, when that affiliate is subject to anti-money laundering and antiterrorism requirements under federal law, or an officer or employee of such an affiliate when that license is related to the person's duties as an officer or employee.

§ 2909.33 Declaration of material assistance/nonassistance to organization on terrorist exclusion list; restrictions on governmental contracts and funding.

(A)(1) The director of public safety shall prepare a document to serve as a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance by which any person, company, affiliated group, or organization, or person who holds, owns, or otherwise has a controlling interest in a company, affiliated group, or organization, when required by this section, shall certify any provision of material assistance to an organization listed on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list. The declaration shall be substantially in the same format and of the same content as set forth in division (A)(2)(b) of section 2909.32 of the Revised Code.

(2) The director of public safety and the director of budget and management shall make available on their respective department web sites and by any other means the director of public safety deems appropriate, the declaration of material assistance/nonassistance and a then-current copy of the terrorist exclusion list. The director of public safety, in consultation with the director of budget and management, may adopt rules that govern the preparation of the declaration and the distribution of the declaration and terrorist exclusion list.

(3)(a) Prior to entering into a contract to conduct business with or receive funding from any state agency, instrumentality, or political subdivision of the state any person, company, affiliated group, or organization, or person who holds, owns, or otherwise has a controlling interest in a company, affiliated group, or organization, may precertify that it has not provided material assistance to an organization on the terrorist exclusion list. The precertification this division describes shall be granted to any person, company, affiliated group, or organization that submits to the director of budget and management a completed copy of the declaration prepared pursuant to this section, with an answer of "no" to all questions. No person shall require any person, company, affiliated group, or organization that is precertified to complete any additional declarations prior to the expiration of a precertification. All precertifications expire the thirtieth day of June of the second year of each state biennium period. To be precertified during the two years subsequent to that expiration date, an entity shall submit a new declaration to the director of budget and management pursuant to rules the director adopts.

(b) Any person, company, affiliated group, or organization that is precertified pursuant to this division and that takes any action or learns of anything that would result in an answer of "yes" to any question on the declaration of material assistance/nonassistance this division requires, shall cease to represent that it is precertified and, within thirty days of taking that action or learning the new information, shall notify the director of budget and management to request its precertification be rescinded.

(c) When applying for a contract, falsely representing precertification, or representing precertification when that precertification has been rescinded or should have been rescinded pursuant to this division, is a felony of the fifth degree.

(B) Any person who submits a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance pursuant to this section shall complete the entire declaration. Any answer of "yes" to any question, or the failure to answer "no" to any question, on the declaration shall serve for purposes of this section as a disclosure of the provision of material assistance to an organization that is listed on the terrorist exclusion list.

(C)(1) Except as otherwise provided in divisions (C)(2) and (H) of this section, prior to entering into a contract with any state agency, instrumentality, or political subdivision to conduct business or receive funding, any person, company, affiliated group, or organization, and any person who holds, owns, or otherwise has a controlling interest in a company, affiliated group, or organization shall certify that it does not provide material assistance to any organization on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list. The certification shall be made by completing and submitting the declaration of material assistance/nonassistance as described in division (A) of this section.

(2) Certification pursuant to this division shall not be required unless the entity entering into a contract for business or funding has received, or will have received as a result of the pending contract, an aggregate amount greater than one hundred thousand dollars in business or funding, excluding the amount of any personal benefit, from the state, instrumentalities, and political subdivisions during the current fiscal year, measured from the first day of July until the thirtieth day of June.

(D)(1) No state agency, instrumentality, or political subdivision shall conduct business with or provide any funding to any person, company, affiliated group or organization, or any person who has a controlling interest in a company, affiliated group, or organization unless that person, company, affiliated group, or organization is certified as this section requires.

(2) No person, company, affiliated group or organization, or any person who holds, owns, or otherwise has a controlling interest in a company, affiliated group, or organization shall enter into a contract to conduct business with or receive funding from the state, an agency or instrumentality of the state, or a political subdivision of the state unless it is certified as this section requires.

(E) For the purposes of this section, the office of budget and management shall be the repository for all declarations received pursuant to division (A)(3)(a) of this section and the director of budget and management shall maintain a centralized database of all such declarations received. If a person, company, affiliated group, or organization discloses the provision of material assistance to an organization listed on the terrorist exclusion list, within three business days of that disclosure, the director shall send the declarant a written notice of prohibition against doing business or receiving funding. The notice shall inform the declarant of the right to a review of the prohibition by the department of public safety if the declarant requests that review within sixty days after the notice of prohibition was mailed. The director shall send copy of any notice sent pursuant to this division to the department of public safety.

The department of public safety shall review any prohibition within thirty days of the receipt of a request for a review and determine whether the prohibitions against doing business or receiving funding set forth in divisions (D)(1) and (D)(2) of this section should apply. The department of public safety shall order that the prohibitions do not apply if it determines all of the following pursuant to guidelines the director adopts by rule:

(1) That the provision of material assistance to an organization on the terrorist exclusion list was made more than ten years prior to the time the declaration of material assistance/nonassistance was filled out, or the material assistance was provided during the ten years prior to the application and the date of the review, but at the time of the assistance, the organization was either not on the list or would not have merited inclusion had it existed at the time, or at the time of the assistance it was not reasonable to know of the organization's activities that would have merited its inclusion on the list.

(2) That it is unlikely in the future that the person, company, affiliated group, or organization will provide material assistance to any organization on the terrorist exclusion list;

(3) The person, company, affiliated group, or organization does not pose a risk to the residents of this state.

(F) Any person, company, affiliated group, or organization that had not provided material assistance at the time a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance was answered, but starts providing material assistance to an organization on the terrorist exclusion list during the course of doing business with or receiving funding from the state, an agency or instrumentality of the state, or a subdivision of the state, is prohibited from entering into additional contracts to do business with or receive funding from the state, any agency or instrumentality, or any subdivision for a period of ten years after the provision of material assistance is discovered.

(G)(1) Any person, company, affiliated group, or organization that knowingly provides a false certification pursuant to this section is permanently banned from conducting business with or receiving funding from the state, an agency or instrumentality of the state, or a political subdivision of the state is guilty of a felony of the fifth degree.

(2) Any person, company, affiliated group, or organization that fails to certify as this section requires is subject to a fine of one thousand dollars for each day of doing business or receiving funding, except that any person, company, affiliated group, or organization that first reaches the threshold of one hundred thousand dollars in business or funding, due to the contract that it is entering into, shall not be subject to the fine for the first thirty days after entering into that contract, after which it shall be subject to the fine for each day that it is not certified.

(H) This section does not apply to the following types of transactions:

(1) An investment in a company that is publicly traded in any United States market;

(2) An investment that is traded on a foreign market where United States investors regularly make investments;

(3) An investment that is made through an agent or investment manager who has a fiduciary responsibility to the investor;

(4) An investment in public agency debt;

(5) An investment in derivatives that are regulated by a government agency;

(6) Financial services provided by or through either of the following:

(a) A federally insured depository institution that is subject to anti-money laundering and antiterrorism requirements under federal law or any subsidiary of such a depository institution;

(b) An affiliate of a depository institution described in division (H)(6)(a) of this section, other than an affiliate that is a subsidiary of the depository institution, when the affiliate is subject to anti-money laundering and antiterrorism requirements under federal law.

"Financial services" include, but are not limited to, services related to currency, payment instruments, other financial securities, funds, and transfer of funds;

(7) Any contract to conduct business or receive funding between state agencies, instrumentalities, or political subdivisions of the state;

(8) Any person, company, affiliated group, or organization providing necessary, nonelective healthcare services.

(I) As used in this section, "personal benefit" means all of the following:

(1) Pensions and disability and survivor benefits;

(2) Money, goods, services, or other things of value provided by the United States, the state, or a political subdivision of the state to which the recipient is entitled by reason of age, medical condition, or a financial need that is established pursuant to an act of congress or the general assembly;

(3) Salary or compensation a person receives as an employee of the state or a political subdivision of the state.

§ 2909.34 Public employment of person with ties to terrorist organization prohibited.

(A)(1) The director of public safety shall prepare a document to serve as a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance for the state, instrumentalities of the state, and political subdivisions of the state to use to determine whether any person who is under final consideration for employment has provided material assistance to an organization listed on the United States department of state terrorist exclusion list. The declaration shall be substantially in the same format and of the same content as set forth in division (A)(2)(b) of section 2909.32 of the Revised Code.

(2) The director shall make the declaration of material assistance/nonassistance available to the state, instrumentalities of the state, and political subdivisions of the state, along with a then-current copy of the terrorist exclusion list. The director may adopt rules that govern the preparation and distribution of the declaration and the terrorist exclusion list.

(3) The director may adopt rules that establish categories of employment that are exempt from the disclosure requirements of this section.

(B) Any person under final consideration for employment who is provided a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance pursuant to this section shall complete the declaration prior to being employed. Any answer of "yes" to any question, or the failure to answer "no" to any question, shall serve for purposes of this section as a disclosure of the provision of material assistance to an organization that is listed on the terrorist exclusion list.

(C)(1) The state, a state instrumentality, or a political subdivision of the state shall provide each person who is under final consideration for a category of employment for which this section requires disclosure with a copy of the declaration of material assistance/nonassistance and a then-current copy of the terrorist exclusion list. The state, instrumentality, or subdivision shall not employ any person who discloses the provision of material assistance to an organization that is listed on the terrorist exclusion list.

(2) The state, or any instrumentality or political subdivision of the state that denies employment pursuant to this section, shall send written notice of that denial to the applicant within three business days of the decision to deny, along with notice of the applicant's right to a review of the denial by the department of public safety if the applicant requests a review within sixty days of the mailing date of the notice. An entity that denies employment pursuant to this section shall send a copy of any notice of denial of employment to the department of public safety.

(D) The department of public safety, upon receiving a request for a review from any person who has been denied employment under division (C) of this section, shall review the request within thirty days to determine if the denial of employment should be voided. The department shall void that denial if it determines all of the following pursuant to guidelines the director adopts by rule:

(1) That the provision of material assistance to an organization on the terrorist exclusion list was made more than ten years prior to the time the declaration of material assistance/nonassistance was filled out, or the material assistance was provided during the ten years prior to the application and the date of the review, but at the time of the assistance, the organization was either not on the list or would not have merited inclusion on the list had it existed at the time, or at the time of the assistance it was not reasonable to know of the organization's activities that would have merited its inclusion on the list.

(2) That it is unlikely in the future that the person will provide material assistance to any organization on the terrorist exclusion list;

(3) The person does not pose a risk to the residents of the state.

(E) The failure of an applicant for employment to disclose, as this section requires, the provision of material assistance to an organization on the terrorist exclusion list, or knowingly making false statements regarding material assistance to an organization on that list, is a felony of the fifth degree.

(F)(1) The state, or any instrumentality or political subdivision of the state, may terminate any employee who, after providing a declaration of material assistance/nonassistance pursuant to this section, takes an action that would result in "yes" being the correct answer to any question on the declaration, had the declaration been readministered after taking that action.

(2) No employer shall terminate an employee pursuant to this division unless the employer complies with one of the following hearing procedures:

(a) If the employee is entitled to termination proceedings under a collective bargaining agreement, the employer shall comply with those procedures.

(b) If the employee is entitled to termination proceedings pursuant to division (C) of section 124.34 of the Revised Code, the employer shall comply with those procedures.

(c) If the employee does not qualify for the termination proceedings described in division (F)(2)(a) or (b) of this section, the employer shall comply with the procedures set forth in division (B) of section 124.34 of the Revised Code.

[ROBBERY]

§ 2911.01 Aggravated robbery.

(A) No person, in attempting or committing a theft offense, as defined in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code, or in fleeing immediately after the attempt or offense, shall do any of the following:

(1) Have a deadly weapon on or about the offender's person or under the offender's control and either display the weapon, brandish it, indicate that the offender possesses it, or use it;

(2) Have a dangerous ordnance on or about the offender's person or under the offender's control;

(3) Inflict, or attempt to inflict, serious physical harm on another.

(B) No person, without privilege to do so, shall knowingly remove or attempt to remove a deadly weapon from the person of a law enforcement officer, or shall knowingly deprive or attempt to deprive a law enforcement officer of a deadly weapon, when both of the following apply:

(1) The law enforcement officer, at the time of the removal, attempted removal, deprivation, or attempted deprivation, is acting within the course and scope of the officer's duties;

(2) The offender knows or has reasonable cause to know that the law enforcement officer is a law enforcement officer.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of aggravated robbery, a felony of the first degree.

(D) As used in this section:

(1) "Deadly weapon" and "dangerous ordnance" have the same meanings as in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Law enforcement officer" has the same meaning as in section 2901.01 of the Revised Code and also includes employees of the department of rehabilitation and correction who are authorized to carry weapons within the course and scope of their duties.

[TRESPASS]

§ 2911.21 Criminal trespass.

(A) No person, without privilege to do so, shall do any of the following:

(1) Knowingly enter or remain on the land or premises of another;

(2) Knowingly enter or remain on the land or premises of another, the use of which is lawfully restricted to certain persons, purposes, modes, or hours, when the offender knows the offender is in violation of any such restriction or is reckless in that regard;

(3) Recklessly enter or remain on the land or premises of another, as to which notice against unauthorized access or presence is given by actual communication to the offender, or in a manner prescribed by law, or by posting in a manner reasonably calculated to come to the attention of potential intruders, or by fencing or other enclosure manifestly designed to restrict access;

(4) Being on the land or premises of another, negligently fail or refuse to leave upon being notified by signage posted in a conspicuous place or otherwise being notified to do so by the owner or occupant, or the agent or servant of either.

(B) It is no defense to a charge under this section that the land or premises involved was owned, controlled, or in custody of a public agency.

(C) It is no defense to a charge under this section that the offender was authorized to enter or remain on the land or premises involved, when such authorization was secured by deception.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of criminal trespass, a misdemeanor of the fourth degree.

(E) As used in this section, "land or premises" includes any land, building, structure, or place belonging to, controlled by, or in custody of another, and any separate enclosure or room, or portion thereof.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511. Eff 1-1-74; 150 v H 12, § 1, eff. 4-8-04.

The provisions of § 6, H.B. 12 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 6. In amending sections 1547.69, 2911.21, 2921.13, 2923.12, 2923.121, 2923.123, 2923.13, 2923.16, 2953.32, and 4749.10 of the Revised Code and in enacting sections 109.69, 109.731, 311.41, 311.42, and 2923.124 to 2923.1213 of the Revised Code in this act, the General Assembly hereby declares its intent to recognize both of the following:

(A) The inalienable and fundamental right of an individual to defend the individual's person and the members of the individual's family;

(B) The fact that the right described in division (A) of this section predates the adoption of the United States Constitution, the adoption of the Ohio Constitution, and the enactment of all statutory laws by the General Assembly and may not be infringed by any enactment of the General Assembly.

The provisions of § 7, H.B. 12 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 7. In enacting sections 109.69, 109.731, 311.41, 311.42, and 2923.124 to 2923.1213 of the Revised Code in this act and in amending sections 1547.69, 2911.21, 2921.13, 2923.12, 2923.121, 2923.123, 2923.13, 2923.16, 2953.32, and 4749.10 of the Revised Code in this act relative to licenses to carry a concealed handgun, the General Assembly hereby declares that it is not its intent to declare or otherwise give the impression that, prior to the effective date of this act, an individual did not have an inalienable and fundamental right, or a right under the Ohio Constitution or the United States Constitution, to carry a concealed handgun or other firearm for the defense of the individual's person or a member of the individual's family while engaged in lawful activity. Further, the General Assembly declares that it is not its intent to invalidate any prior convictions for violating any section of the Revised Code or a municipal ordinance prior to the effective date of this act or to prevent the prosecution of any violation committed prior to the effective date of this act.

The provisions of § 9, H.B. 12 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 9. The General Assembly finds that licenses to carry concealed handguns are a matter of statewide concern and wishes to ensure uniformity throughout the state regarding the qualifications for a person to hold a license to carry a concealed handgun and the authority granted to a person holding a license of that nature. It is the intent of the General Assembly in amending sections 1547.69, 2911.21, 2921.13, 2923.12, 2923.121, 2923.123, 2923.16, 2953.32, and 4749.10 and enacting sections 109.69, 109.731, 311.41, 311.42, and 2923.124 to 2923.1213 of the Revised Code to enact laws of a general nature, and, by enacting those laws of a general nature, the state occupies and preempts the field of issuing licenses to carry a concealed handgun and the validity of licenses of that nature. No municipal corporation may adopt or continue in existence any ordinance, and no township may adopt or continue in existence any resolution, that is in conflict with those sections, including, but not limited to, any ordinance or resolution that attempts to restrict the places where a person possessing a valid license to carry a concealed handgun may carry a handgun concealed.

The provisions of § 10, H.B. 12 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 10. If any provision of sections 1547.69, 2911.21, 2913.02, 2921.13, 2923.12, 2923.121, 2923.123, 2923.16, 2929.14, 2953.32, and 4749.10 of the Revised Code, as amended by this act, any provision of sections 109.69, 109.731, 311.41, 311.42, 2923.124, 2923.125, 2923.126, 2923.127, 2923.128, 2923.129, 2923.1210, 2923.1211, 2923.1212, and 2923.1213 of the Revised Code, as enacted by this act, or the application of any provision of those sections to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of the particular section or related sections that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of the particular section are severable.

Not analogous to former RC § 2911.21 (RS §§ 7076-1, 7076-2; 84 v 213; GC § 13162; 109 v 406; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 126 v 575), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[§ 2911.21.1] § 2911.211 Aggravated trespass.

(A) No person shall enter or remain on the land or premises of another with purpose to commit on that land or those premises a misdemeanor, the elements of which involve causing physical harm to another person or causing another person to believe that the offender will cause physical harm to him.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of aggravated trespass, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

HISTORY: 144 v H 536. EFF 11-5-92.

§ 2911.23 Criminal trespass on place of public amusement.

(A) As used in this section, "place of public amusement" means a stadium, theater, or other facility, whether licensed or not, at which a live performance, sporting event, or other activity takes place for entertainment of the public and to which access is made available to the public, regardless of whether admission is charged.

(B) No person, without privilege to do so, shall knowingly enter or remain on any restricted portion of a place of public amusement and, as a result of that conduct, interrupt or cause the delay of the live performance, sporting event, or other activity taking place at the place of public amusement after a printed written notice has been given as provided in division (D)(1) of this section that the general public is restricted from access to that restricted portion of the place of public amusement. A restricted portion of a place of public amusement may include, but is not limited to, a playing field, an athletic surface, or a stage located at the place of public amusement.

(C) An owner or lessee of a place of public amusement, an agent of the owner or lessee, or a performer or participant at a place of public amusement may use reasonable force to restrain and remove a person from a restricted portion of the place of public amusement if the person enters or remains on the restricted portion of the place of public amusement and, as a result of that conduct, interrupts or causes the delay of the live performance, sporting event, or other activity taking place at the place of public amusement. This division does not provide immunity from criminal liability for any use of force beyond reasonable force by an owner or lessee of a place of public amusement, an agent of either the owner or lessee, or a performer or participant at a place of public amusement.

(D)(1) Notice has been given that the general public is restricted from access to a portion of a place of public amusement if a printed written notice of the restricted access has been conspicuously posted or exhibited at the entrance to that portion of the place of public amusement. If a printed written notice is posted or exhibited as described in this division regarding a portion of a place of public amusement, in addition to that posting or exhibition, notice that the general public is restricted from access to that portion of the place of public amusement also may be given, but is not required to be given, by either of the following means:

(a) By notifying the person personally, either orally or in writing, that access to that portion of the place of public amusement is restricted;

(b) By broadcasting over the public address system of the place of public amusement an oral warning that access to that portion of the place of public amusement is restricted.

(2) If notice that the general public is restricted from access to a portion of a place of public amusement is provided by the posting or exhibition of a printed written notice as described in division (D)(1) of this section, the state, in a criminal prosecution for a violation of division (B) of this section, is not required to prove that the defendant received actual notice that the general public is restricted from access to a portion of a place of public amusement.

(E)(1) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of criminal trespass on a place of public amusement, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(2) In addition to any jail term, fine, or other sentence, penalty, or sanction it imposes upon the offender pursuant to division (E)(1) of this section, a court may require an offender who violates this section to perform not less than thirty and not more than one hundred twenty hours of supervised community service work.

[IN GENERAL]

§ 2913.01 Definitions.

As used in this chapter, unless the context requires that a term be given a different meaning:

(A) "Deception" means knowingly deceiving another or causing another to be deceived by any false or misleading representation, by withholding information, by preventing another from acquiring information, or by any other conduct, act, or omission that creates, confirms, or perpetuates a false impression in another, including a false impression as to law, value, state of mind, or other objective or subjective fact.

(B) "Defraud" means to knowingly obtain, by deception, some benefit for oneself or another, or to knowingly cause, by deception, some detriment to another.

(C) "Deprive" means to do any of the following:

(1) Withhold property of another permanently, or for a period that appropriates a substantial portion of its value or use, or with purpose to restore it only upon payment of a reward or other consideration;

(2) Dispose of property so as to make it unlikely that the owner will recover it;

(3) Accept, use, or appropriate money, property, or services, with purpose not to give proper consideration in return for the money, property, or services, and without reasonable justification or excuse for not giving proper consideration.

(D) "Owner" means, unless the context requires a different meaning, any person, other than the actor, who is the owner of, who has possession or control of, or who has any license or interest in property or services, even though the ownership, possession, control, license, or interest is unlawful.

(E) "Services" include labor, personal services, professional services, public utility services including wireless service as defined in division (F)(1) of section 4931.40 of the Revised Code, common carrier services, and food, drink, transportation, entertainment, and cable television services and, for purposes of section 2913.04 of the Revised Code, include cable services as defined in that section.

(F) "Writing" means any computer software, document, letter, memorandum, note, paper, plate, data, film, or other thing having in or upon it any written, typewritten, or printed matter, and any token, stamp, seal, credit card, badge, trademark, label, or other symbol of value, right, privilege, license, or identification.

(G) "Forge" means to fabricate or create, in whole or in part and by any means, any spurious writing, or to make, execute, alter, complete, reproduce, or otherwise purport to authenticate any writing, when the writing in fact is not authenticated by that conduct.

(H) "Utter" means to issue, publish, transfer, use, put or send into circulation, deliver, or display.

(I) "Coin machine" means any mechanical or electronic device designed to do both of the following:

(1) Receive a coin, bill, or token made for that purpose;

(2) In return for the insertion or deposit of a coin, bill, or token, automatically dispense property, provide a service, or grant a license.

(J) "Slug" means an object that, by virtue of its size, shape, composition, or other quality, is capable of being inserted or deposited in a coin machine as an improper substitute for a genuine coin, bill, or token made for that purpose.

(K) "Theft offense" means any of the following:

(1) A violation of section 2911.01, 2911.02, 2911.11, 2911.12, 2911.13, 2911.31, 2911.32, 2913.02, 2913.03, 2913.04, 2913.041 [2913.04.1], 2913.05, 2913.06, 2913.11, 2913.21, 2913.31, 2913.32, 2913.33, 2913.34, 2913.40, 2913.42, 2913.43, 2913.44, 2913.45, 2913.47, former section 2913.47 or 2913.48, or section 2913.51, 2915.05, or 2921.41 of the Revised Code;

(2) A violation of an existing or former municipal ordinance or law of this or any other state, or of the United States, substantially equivalent to any section listed in division (K)(1) of this section or a violation of section 2913.41, 2913.81, or 2915.06 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to July 1, 1996;

(3) An offense under an existing or former municipal ordinance or law of this or any other state, or of the United States, involving robbery, burglary, breaking and entering, theft, embezzlement, wrongful conversion, forgery, counterfeiting, deceit, or fraud;

(4) A conspiracy or attempt to commit, or complicity in committing, any offense under division (K)(1), (2), or (3) of this section.

(L) "Computer services" includes, but is not limited to, the use of a computer system, computer network, computer program, data that is prepared for computer use, or data that is contained within a computer system or computer network.

(M) "Computer" means an electronic device that performs logical, arithmetic, and memory functions by the manipulation of electronic or magnetic impulses. "Computer" includes, but is not limited to, all input, output, processing, storage, computer program, or communication facilities that are connected, or related, in a computer system or network to an electronic device of that nature.

(N) "Computer system" means a computer and related devices, whether connected or unconnected, including, but not limited to, data input, output, and storage devices, data communications links, and computer programs and data that make the system capable of performing specified special purpose data processing tasks.

(O) "Computer network" means a set of related and remotely connected computers and communication facilities that includes more than one computer system that has the capability to transmit among the connected computers and communication facilities through the use of computer facilities.

(P) "Computer program" means an ordered set of data representing coded instructions or statements that, when executed by a computer, cause the computer to process data.

(Q) "Computer software" means computer programs, procedures, and other documentation associated with the operation of a computer system.

(R) "Data" means a representation of information, knowledge, facts, concepts, or instructions that are being or have been prepared in a formalized manner and that are intended for use in a computer, computer system, or computer network. For purposes of section 2913.47 of the Revised Code, "data" has the additional meaning set forth in division (A) of that section.

(S) "Cable television service" means any services provided by or through the facilities of any cable television system or other similar closed circuit coaxial cable communications system, or any microwave or similar transmission service used in connection with any cable television system or other similar closed circuit coaxial cable communications system.

(T) "Gain access" means to approach, instruct, communicate with, store data in, retrieve data from, or otherwise make use of any resources of a computer, computer system, or computer network, or any cable service or cable system both as defined in section 2913.04 of the Revised Code.

(U) "Credit card" includes, but is not limited to, a card, code, device, or other means of access to a customer's account for the purpose of obtaining money, property, labor, or services on credit, or for initiating an electronic fund transfer at a point-of-sale terminal, an automated teller machine, or a cash dispensing machine. It also includes a county procurement card issued under section 301.29 of the Revised Code.

(V) "Electronic fund transfer" has the same meaning as in 92 Stat. 3728, 15 U.S.C.A. 1693a, as amended.

(W) "Rented property" means personal property in which the right of possession and use of the property is for a short and possibly indeterminate term in return for consideration; the rentee generally controls the duration of possession of the property, within any applicable minimum or maximum term; and the amount of consideration generally is determined by the duration of possession of the property.

(X) "Telecommunication" means the origination, emission, dissemination, transmission, or reception of data, images, signals, sounds, or other intelligence or equivalence of intelligence of any nature over any communications system by any method, including, but not limited to, a fiber optic, electronic, magnetic, optical, digital, or analog method.

(Y) "Telecommunications device" means any instrument, equipment, machine, or other device that facilitates telecommunication, including, but not limited to, a computer, computer network, computer chip, computer circuit, scanner, telephone, cellular telephone, pager, personal communications device, transponder, receiver, radio, modem, or device that enables the use of a modem.

(Z) "Telecommunications service" means the providing, allowing, facilitating, or generating of any form of telecommunication through the use of a telecommunications device over a telecommunications system.

(AA) "Counterfeit telecommunications device" means a telecommunications device that, alone or with another telecommunications device, has been altered, constructed, manufactured, or programmed to acquire, intercept, receive, or otherwise facilitate the use of a telecommunications service or information service without the authority or consent of the provider of the telecommunications service or information service.

"Counterfeit telecommunications device" includes, but is not limited to, a clone telephone, clone microchip, tumbler telephone, or tumbler microchip; a wireless scanning device capable of acquiring, intercepting, receiving, or otherwise facilitating the use of telecommunications service or information service without immediate detection; or a device, equipment, hardware, or software designed for, or capable of, altering or changing the electronic serial number in a wireless telephone.

(BB)(1) "Information service" means, subject to division (BB)(2) of this section, the offering of a capability for generating, acquiring, storing, transforming, processing, retrieving, utilizing, or making available information via telecommunications, including, but not limited to, electronic publishing.

(2) "Information service" does not include any use of a capability of a type described in division (BB)(1) of this section for the management, control, or operation of a telecommunications system or the management of a telecommunications service.

(CC) "Elderly person" means a person who is sixty-five years of age or older.

(DD) "Disabled adult" means a person who is eighteen years of age or older and has some impairment of body or mind that makes the person unable to work at any substantially remunerative employment that the person otherwise would be able to perform and that will, with reasonable probability, continue for a period of at least twelve months without any present indication of recovery from the impairment, or who is eighteen years of age or older and has been certified as permanently and totally disabled by an agency of this state or the United States that has the function of so classifying persons.

(EE) "Firearm" and "dangerous ordnance" have the same meanings as in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code.

(FF) "Motor vehicle" has the same meaning as in section 4501.01 of the Revised Code.

(GG) "Dangerous drug" has the same meaning as in section 4729.01 of the Revised Code.

(HH) "Drug abuse offense" has the same meaning as in section 2925.01 of the Revised Code.

(II)(1) "Computer hacking" means any of the following:

(a) Gaining access or attempting to gain access to all or part of a computer, computer system, or a computer network without express or implied authorization with the intent to defraud or with intent to commit a crime;

(b) Misusing computer or network services including, but not limited to, mail transfer programs, file transfer programs, proxy servers, and web servers by performing functions not authorized by the owner of the computer, computer system, or computer network or other person authorized to give consent. As used in this division, "misuse of computer and network services" includes, but is not limited to, the unauthorized use of any of the following:

(i) Mail transfer programs to send mail to persons other than the authorized users of that computer or computer network;

(ii) File transfer program proxy services or proxy servers to access other computers, computer systems, or computer networks;

(iii) Web servers to redirect users to other web pages or web servers.

(c)(i) Subject to division (II)(1)(c)(ii) of this section, using a group of computer programs commonly known as

"port scanners" or "probes" to intentionally access any computer, computer system, or computer network without the permission of the owner of the computer, computer system, or computer network or other person authorized to give consent. The group of computer programs referred to in this division includes, but is not limited to, those computer programs that use a computer network to access a computer, computer system, or another computer network to determine any of the following: the presence or types of computers or computer systems on a network; the computer network's facilities and capabilities; the availability of computer or network services; the presence or versions of computer software including, but not limited to, operating systems, computer services, or computer contaminants; the presence of a known computer software deficiency that can be used to gain unauthorized access to a computer, computer system, or computer network; or any other information about a computer, computer system, or computer network not necessary for the normal and lawful operation of the computer initiating the access.

(ii) The group of computer programs referred to in division (II)(1)(c)(i) of this section does not include standard computer software used for the normal operation, administration, management, and test of a computer, computer system, or computer network including, but not limited to, domain name services, mail transfer services, and other operating system services, computer programs commonly called "ping," "tcpdump," and "traceroute" and other network monitoring and management computer software, and computer programs commonly known as "nslookup" and "whois" and other systems administration computer software.

(d) The intentional use of a computer, computer system, or a computer network in a manner that exceeds any right or permission granted by the owner of the computer, computer system, or computer network or other person authorized to give consent.

(2) "Computer hacking" does not include the introduction of a computer contaminant, as defined in section 2909.02 of the Revised Code, into a computer, computer system, computer program, or computer network.

(JJ) "Police dog or horse" has the same meaning as in section 2921.321 [2921.32.1] of the Revised Code.

(KK) "Anhydrous ammonia" is a compound formed by the combination of two gaseous elements, nitrogen and hydrogen, in the manner described in this division. Anhydrous ammonia is one part nitrogen to three parts hydrogen (NH₃). Anhydrous ammonia by weight is fourteen parts nitrogen to three parts hydrogen, which is approximately eighty-two per cent nitrogen to eighteen per cent hydrogen.

(LL) "Assistance dog" has the same meaning as in section 955.011 [955.01.1] of the Revised Code.

(MM) "Federally licensed firearms dealer" has the same meaning as in section 5502.63 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by § 812.03 of 151 v H 530.

The provisions of § 831.03 of 151 v H 530 read in part as follows:

SECTION 831.03. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the following sections, presented in this act as composites of the sections as amended by the acts indicated, are the resulting versions of the sections in effect prior to the effective date of the sections as presented in this act:

Section 2913.01 of the Revised Code as amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 361, Am. Sub. H.B. 369, Sub. H.B. 536, and Am. Sub. S.B. 146, all of the 125th General Assembly.

The finding in this section takes effect at the same time as the section referenced in the finding takes effect.

The provisions of § 3 of H.B. 536 (150 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. Section 2913.01 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Am. Sub. H.B. 369 and Am. Sub. S.B. 146 of the 125th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

Not analogous to former RC § 2913.01 (RS § 7091; S&S 264; S&C 409; 73 v 59; GC § 13083; 101 v 206; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[THEFT]

§ 2913.02 Theft.

(A) No person, with purpose to deprive the owner of property or services, shall knowingly obtain or exert control over either the property or services in any of the following ways:

(1) Without the consent of the owner or person authorized to give consent;

(2) Beyond the scope of the express or implied consent of the owner or person authorized to give consent;

(3) By deception;

(4) By threat;

(5) By intimidation.

(B)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of theft.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this division or division (B)(3), (4), (5), (6), (7), or (8) of this section, a violation of this section is petty theft, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars or if the property stolen is any of the property listed in section 2913.71 of the Revised Code, a violation of this section is theft, a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, a violation of this section is grand theft, a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is one hundred thousand dollars or more and is less than five hundred thousand dollars, a violation of this section is aggravated theft, a felony of the third degree. If the value of the property or services is five hundred thousand dollars or more and is less than one million dollars, a violation of this section is aggravated theft, a felony of the second degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is one million dollars or more, a violation of this section is aggravated theft of one million dollars or more, a felony of the first degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (B)(4), (5), or (6), (7), or (8) of this section, if the victim of the offense is an elderly person or disabled adult, a violation of this section is theft from an elderly person or disabled adult, and division (B)(3) of this section applies. Except as otherwise provided in this division, theft from an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, theft from an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is five thousand dollars or more and is less than twenty-five thousand dollars, theft from an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the third degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is twenty-five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, theft from an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the second degree. If the value of the property or services stolen is one hundred thousand dollars or more, theft from an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the first degree.

(4) If the property stolen is a firearm or dangerous ordnance, a violation of this section is grand theft. Except as otherwise provided in this division, grand theft when the property stolen is a firearm or dangerous ordnance is a felony of the third degree, and there is a presumption in favor of the court imposing a prison term for the offense. If the firearm or dangerous ordnance was stolen from a federally licensed firearms dealer, grand theft when the property stolen is a firearm or dangerous ordnance is a felony of the first degree. The offender shall serve a prison term imposed for grand theft when the property stolen is a firearm or dangerous ordnance consecutively to any other prison term or mandatory prison term previously or subsequently imposed upon the offender.

(5) If the property stolen is a motor vehicle, a violation of this section is grand theft of a motor vehicle, a felony of the fourth degree.

(6) If the property stolen is any dangerous drug, a violation of this section is theft of drugs, a felony of the fourth degree, or, if the offender previously has been convicted of a felony drug abuse offense, a felony of the third degree.

(7) If the property stolen is a police dog or horse or an assistance dog and the offender knows or should know that the property stolen is a police dog or horse or an assistance dog, a violation of this section is theft of a police dog or horse or an assistance dog, a felony of the third degree.

(8) If the property stolen is anhydrous ammonia, a violation of this section is theft of anhydrous ammonia, a felony of the third degree.

(9) In addition to the penalties described in division (B)(2) of this section, if the offender committed the violation by causing a motor vehicle to leave the premises of an establishment at which gasoline is offered for retail sale without the offender making full payment for gasoline that was dispensed into the fuel tank of the motor vehicle or into another container, the court may do one of the following:

(a) Unless division (B)(9)(b) of this section applies, suspend for not more than six months the offender's driver's license, probationary driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, or nonresident operating privilege;

(b) If the offender's driver's license, probationary driver's license, commercial driver's license, temporary instruction permit, or nonresident operating privilege has previously been suspended pursuant to division (B)(9)(a) of this section, impose a class seven suspension of the offender's license, permit, or privilege from the range specified in division (A)(7) of section 4510.02 of the Revised Code, provided that the suspension shall be for at least six months.

(C) The sentencing court that suspends an offender's license, permit, or nonresident operating privilege under division (B)(9) of this section may grant the offender limited driving privileges during the period of the suspension in accordance with Chapter 4510. of the Revised Code.

Governor Taft's veto of HB 347 was overridden by the Ohio General Assembly.

The effective date is set by § 812.03 of 151 v H 530.

The provisions of § 3 of H.B. 369 (150 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. Section 2913.02 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by Am. Sub. H.B. 7, Am. Sub. H.B. 12, and Sub. H.B. 179, all of the 125th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

The provisions of § 10, H.B. 12 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 10. If any provision of sections 1547.69, 2911.21, 2913.02, 2921.13, 2923.12, 2923.121, 2923.123, 2923.16, 2929.14, 2953.32, and 4749.10 of the Revised Code, as amended by this act, any provision of sections 109.69, 109.731, 311.41, 311.42, 2923.124, 2923.125, 2923.126, 2923.127, 2923.128, 2923.129, 2923.1210, 2923.1211, 2923.1212, and 2923.1213 of the Revised Code, as enacted by this act, or the application of any provision of those sections to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of the particular section or related sections that can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of the particular section are severable.

The provisions of § 3, H.B. 179 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 3. The General Assembly declares that the sections of the Revised Code that regulate persons who leave the premises of establishments at which gasoline is offered for retail sale without the person making full payment for gasoline that was dispensed at that establishment, including section 2913.02 of the Revised Code, are general laws that completely fill the field of regulation of that nature. Any municipal ordinance that prohibits establishments at which gasoline is offered for retail sale from requiring the prepayment of gasoline is in conflict with those general laws.

§ 2913.03 Unauthorized use of a vehicle.

(A) No person shall knowingly use or operate an aircraft, motor vehicle, motorcycle, motorboat, or other motor-propelled vehicle without the consent of the owner or person authorized to give consent.

(B) No person shall knowingly use or operate an aircraft, motor vehicle, motorboat, or other motor-propelled vehicle without the consent of the owner or person authorized to give consent, and either remove it from this state or keep possession of it for more than forty-eight hours.

(C) The following are affirmative defenses to a charge under this section:

(1) At the time of the alleged offense, the actor, though mistaken, reasonably believed that the actor was authorized to use or operate the property.

(2) At the time of the alleged offense, the actor reasonably believed that the owner or person empowered to give consent would authorize the actor to use or operate the property.

(D)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of unauthorized use of a vehicle.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (D)(4) of this section, a violation of division (A) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (D)(4) of this section, a violation of division (B) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree.

(4) If the victim of the offense is an elderly person or disabled adult and if the victim incurs a loss as a result of the violation, a violation of division (A) or (B) of this section is whichever of the following is applicable:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (D)(4)(b), (c), (d), or (e)† of this section, a felony of the fifth degree;

(b) If the loss to the victim is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a felony of the fourth degree;

(c) If the loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and is less than twenty-five thousand dollars, a felony of the third degree;

(d) If the loss to the victim is twenty-five thousand dollars or more, a felony of the second degree.

§ 2913.04 Unauthorized use of property; computer, cable, or telecommunication property or service.

(A) No person shall knowingly use or operate the property of another without the consent of the owner or person authorized to give consent.

(B) No person, in any manner and by any means, including, but not limited to, computer hacking, shall knowingly gain access to, attempt to gain access to, or cause access to be gained to any computer, computer system, computer network, cable service, cable system, telecommunications device, telecommunications service, or information service without the consent of, or beyond the scope of the express or implied consent of, the owner of the computer, computer system, computer network, cable service, cable system, telecommunications device, telecommunications service, or information service or other person authorized to give consent.

(C) No person shall knowingly gain access to, attempt to gain access to, cause access to be granted to, or disseminate information gained from access to the law enforcement automated database system created pursuant to section 5503.10 of the Revised Code without the consent of, or beyond the scope of the express or implied consent of, the chair of the law enforcement automated data system steering committee.

(D) The affirmative defenses contained in division (C) of section 2913.03 of the Revised Code are affirmative defenses to a charge under this section.

(E)(1) Whoever violates division (A) of this section is guilty of unauthorized use of property.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (E)(3) or (4) of this section, unauthorized use of property is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (E)(4) of this section, if unauthorized use of property is committed for the purpose of devising or executing a scheme to defraud or to obtain property or services, unauthorized use of property is whichever of the following is applicable:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (E)(3)(b), (c), or (d) of this section, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(b) If the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a felony of the fifth degree.

(c) If the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, a felony of the fourth degree.

(d) If the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is one hundred thousand dollars or more, a felony of the third degree.

(4) If the victim of the offense is an elderly person or disabled adult, unauthorized use of property is whichever of the following is applicable:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (E)(4)(b), (c), or (d) of this section, a felony of the fifth degree;

(b) If the value of the property or services or loss to the victim is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a felony of the fourth degree;

(c) If the value of the property or services or loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and is less than twenty-five thousand dollars, a felony of the third degree;

(d) If the value of the property or services or loss to the victim is twenty-five thousand dollars or more, a felony of the second degree.

(F)(1) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of unauthorized use of computer, cable, or telecommunication property, and shall be punished as provided in division (F)(2), (3), or (4) of this section.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (F)(3) or (4) of this section, unauthorized use of computer, cable, or telecommunication property is a felony of the fifth degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (F)(4) of this section, if unauthorized use of computer, cable, or telecommunication property is committed for the purpose of devising or executing a scheme to defraud or to obtain property or services, for obtaining money, property, or services by false or fraudulent pretenses, or for committing any other criminal offense, unauthorized use of computer, cable, or telecommunication property is whichever of the following is applicable:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (F)(3)(b) of this section, if the value of the property or services involved or the loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and less than one hundred thousand dollars, a felony of the fourth degree;

(b) If the value of the property or services involved or the loss to the victim is one hundred thousand dollars or more, a felony of the third degree.

(4) If the victim of the offense is an elderly person or disabled adult, unauthorized use of computer, cable, or telecommunication property is whichever of the following is applicable:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (F)(4)(b), (c), or (d) of this section, a felony of the fifth degree;

(b) If the value of the property or services or loss to the victim is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a felony of the fourth degree;

(c) If the value of the property or services or loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and is less than twenty-five thousand dollars, a felony of the third degree;

(d) If the value of the property or services or loss to the victim is twenty-five thousand dollars or more, a felony of the second degree.

(G) Whoever violates division (C) of this section is guilty of unauthorized use of the law enforcement automated database system, a felony of the fifth degree.

(H) As used in this section:

(1) "Cable operator" means any person or group of persons that does either of the following:

(a) Provides cable service over a cable system and directly or through one or more affiliates owns a significant interest in that cable system;

(b) Otherwise controls or is responsible for, through any arrangement, the management and operation of a cable system.

(2) "Cable service" means any of the following:

(a) The one-way transmission to subscribers of video programming or of information that a cable operator makes available to all subscribers generally;

(b) Subscriber interaction, if any, that is required for the selection or use of video programming or of information that a cable operator makes available to all subscribers generally, both as described in division (H)(2)(a) of this section;

(c) Any cable television service.

(3) "Cable system" means any facility, consisting of a set of closed transmission paths and associated signal generation, reception, and control equipment that is designed to provide cable service that includes video programming and that is provided to multiple subscribers within a community. "Cable system" does not include any of the following:

(a) Any facility that serves only to retransmit the television signals of one or more television broadcast stations;

(b) Any facility that serves subscribers without using any public right-of-way;

(c) Any facility of a common carrier that, under 47 U.S.C.A. 522(7)(c), is excluded from the term "cable system" as defined in 47 U.S.C.A. 522(7);

(d) Any open video system that complies with 47 U.S.C.A. 573;

(e) Any facility of any electric utility used solely for operating its electric utility system.

The provisions of § 3, H.B. 57 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 3. The amendment by this act of section 2913.07 of the Revised Code is contingent upon Sub. H.B. 179 of the 125th General Assembly becoming law in the same form as it passed the Senate and was concurred in by the House of Representatives.

[PASSING BAD CHECKS]

§ 2913.11 Passing bad checks.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Check" includes any form of debit from a demand deposit account, including, but not limited to any of the following:

(a) A check, bill of exchange, draft, order of withdrawal, or similar negotiable or non-negotiable instrument;

(b) An electronic check, electronic transaction, debit card transaction, check card transaction, substitute check, web check, or any form of automated clearing house transaction.

(2) "Issue a check" means causing any form of debit from a demand deposit account.

(B) No person, with purpose to defraud, shall issue or transfer or cause to be issued or transferred a check or other negotiable instrument, knowing that it will be dishonored or knowing that a person has ordered or will order stop payment on the check or other negotiable instrument.

(C) For purposes of this section, a person who issues or transfers a check or other negotiable instrument is presumed to know that it will be dishonored if either of the following occurs:

(1) The drawer had no account with the drawee at the time of issue or the stated date, whichever is later;

(2) The check or other negotiable instrument was properly refused payment for insufficient funds upon presentment within thirty days after issue or the stated date, whichever is later, and the liability of the drawer, indorser, or any party who may be liable thereon is not discharged by payment or satisfaction within ten days after receiving notice of dishonor.

(D) For purposes of this section, a person who issues or transfers a check, bill of exchange, or other draft is presumed to have the purpose to defraud if the drawer fails to comply with section 1349.16 of the Revised Code by doing any of the following when opening a checking account intended for personal, family, or household purposes at a financial institution:

(1) Falsely stating that the drawer has not been issued a valid driver's or commercial driver's license or identification card issued under section 4507.50 of the Revised Code;

(2) Furnishing such license or card, or another identification document that contains false information;

(3) Making a false statement with respect to the drawer's current address or any additional relevant information reasonably required by the financial institution.

(E) In determining the value of the payment for purposes of division (F) of this section, the court may aggregate all checks and other negotiable instruments that the offender issued or transferred or caused to be issued or transferred in violation of division (A) of this section within a period of one hundred eighty consecutive days.

(F) Whoever violates this section is guilty of passing bad checks. Except as otherwise provided in this division, passing bad checks is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the check or checks or other negotiable instrument or instruments are issued or transferred to a single vendor or single other person for the payment of five hundred dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars or if the check or checks or other negotiable instrument or instruments are issued or transferred to multiple vendors or persons for the payment of one thousand dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars, passing bad checks is a felony of the fifth degree. If the check or checks or other negotiable instrument or instruments are for the payment of five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars, passing bad checks is a felony of the fourth degree. If the check or checks or other negotiable instrument or instruments are for the payment of one hundred thousand dollars or more, passing bad checks is a felony of the third degree.

[MISUSE OF CREDIT CARDS]

§ 2913.21 Misuse of credit cards.

(A) No person shall do any of the following:

(1) Practice deception for the purpose of procuring the issuance of a credit card, when a credit card is issued in actual reliance thereon;

(2) Knowingly buy or sell a credit card from or to a person other than the issuer.

(B) No person, with purpose to defraud, shall do any of the following:

(1) Obtain control over a credit card as security for a debt;

(2) Obtain property or services by the use of a credit card, in one or more transactions, knowing or having reasonable cause to believe that the card has expired or been revoked, or was obtained, is retained, or is being used in violation of law;

(3) Furnish property or services upon presentation of a credit card, knowing that the card is being used in violation of law;

(4) Represent or cause to be represented to the issuer of a credit card that property or services have been furnished, knowing that the representation is false.

(C) No person, with purpose to violate this section, shall receive, possess, control, or dispose of a credit card.

(D)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of misuse of credit cards.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (D)(4) of this section, a violation of division (A), (B)(1), or (C) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in this division or division (D)(4) of this section, a violation of division

(B)(2), (3), or (4) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the cumulative retail value of the property and services involved in one or more violations of division (B)(2), (3), or (4) of this section, which violations involve one or more credit card accounts and occur within a period of ninety consecutive days commencing on the date of the first violation, is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, misuse of credit cards in violation of any of those divisions is a felony of the fifth degree. If the cumulative retail value of the property and services involved in one or more violations of division (B)(2), (3), or (4) of this section, which violations involve one or more credit card accounts and occur within a period of ninety consecutive days commencing on the date of the first violation, is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, misuse of credit cards in violation of any of those divisions is a felony of the fourth degree. If the cumulative retail value of the property and services involved in one or more violations of division (B)(2), (3), or (4) of this section, which violations involve one or more credit card accounts and occur within a period of ninety consecutive days commencing on the date of the first violation, is one hundred thousand dollars or more, misuse of credit cards in violation of any of those divisions is a felony of the third degree.

(4) If the victim of the offense is an elderly person or disabled adult, and if the offense involves a violation of division (B)(1) or (2) of this section, division (D)(4) of this section applies. Except as otherwise provided in division (D)(4) of this section, a violation of division (B)(1) or (2) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. If the debt for which the card is held as security or the cumulative retail value of the property or services involved in the violation is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a violation of either of those divisions is a felony of the fourth degree. If the debt for which the card is held as security or the cumulative retail value of the property or services involved in the violation is five thousand dollars or more and is less than twenty-five thousand dollars, a violation of either of those divisions is a felony of the third degree. If the debt for which the card is held as security or the cumulative retail value of the property or services involved in the violation is twenty-five thousand dollars or more, a violation of either of those divisions is a felony of the second degree.

[FORGERY]

§ 2913.31 Forgery; identification card offenses.

(A) No person, with purpose to defraud, or knowing that the person is facilitating a fraud, shall do any of the following:

(1) Forge any writing of another without the other person's authority;

(2) Forge any writing so that it purports to be genuine when it actually is spurious, or to be the act of another who did not authorize that act, or to have been executed at a time or place or with terms different from what in fact was the case, or to be a copy of an original when no such original existed;

(3) Utter, or possess with purpose to utter, any writing that the person knows to have been forged.

(B) No person shall knowingly do either of the following:

(1) Forge an identification card;

(2) Sell or otherwise distribute a card that purports to be an identification card, knowing it to have been forged.

As used in this division, "identification card" means a card that includes personal information or characteristics of an individual, a purpose of which is to establish the identity of the bearer described on the card, whether the words "identity," "identification," "identification card," or other similar words appear on the card.

(C)(1)(a) Whoever violates division (A) of this section is guilty of forgery.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this division or division (C)(1)(c) of this section, forgery is a felony of the fifth degree. If property or services are involved in the offense or the victim suffers a loss, forgery is one of the following:

(i) If the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, a felony of the fourth degree;

(ii) If the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is one hundred thousand dollars or more, a felony of the third degree.

(c) If the victim of the offense is an elderly person or disabled adult, division (C)(1)(c) of this section applies to the forgery. Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(1)(c) of this section, forgery is a felony of the fifth degree. If property or services are involved in the offense or if the victim suffers a loss, forgery is one of the following:

(i) If the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a felony of the fourth degree;

(ii) If the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and is less than twenty-five thousand dollars, a felony of the third degree;

(iii) If the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is twenty-five thousand dollars or more, a felony of the second degree.

(2) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of forging identification cards or selling or distributing forged identification cards. Except as otherwise provided in this division, forging identification cards or selling or distributing forged identification cards is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of division (B) of this section, forging identification cards or selling or distributing forged identification cards is a misdemeanor of the first degree and, in addition, the court shall impose upon the offender a fine of not less than two hundred fifty dollars.

§ 2913.32 Criminal simulation.

(A) No person, with purpose to defraud, or knowing that the person is facilitating a fraud, shall do any of the following:

(1) Make or alter any object so that it appears to have value because of antiquity, rarity, curiosity, source, or authorship, which it does not in fact possess;

(2) Practice deception in making, retouching, editing, or reproducing any photograph, movie film, video tape, phonograph record, or recording tape;

(3) Falsely or fraudulently make, simulate, forge, alter, or counterfeit any wrapper, label, stamp, cork, or cap prescribed by the liquor control commission under Chapters 4301. and 4303. of the Revised Code, falsely or fraudulently cause to be made, simulated, forged, altered, or counterfeited any wrapper, label, stamp, cork, or cap prescribed by the liquor control commission under Chapters 4301. and 4303. of the Revised Code.

(4) Utter, or possess with purpose to utter, any object that the person knows to have been simulated as provided in division (A)(1), (2), or (3) of this section.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of criminal simulation. Except as otherwise provided in this division, criminal simulation is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the loss to the victim is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, criminal simulation is a felony of the fifth degree. If the loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, criminal simulation is a felony of the fourth degree. If the loss to the victim is one hundred thousand dollars or more, criminal simulation is a felony of the third degree.

§ 2913.33 Making or using slugs.

(A) No person shall do any of the following:

(1) Insert or deposit a slug in a coin machine, with purpose to defraud;

(2) Make, possess, or dispose of a slug, with purpose of enabling another to defraud by inserting or depositing it in a coin machine.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of making or using slugs, a misdemeanor of the second degree.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511. EFF 1-1-74.

§ 2913.34 Trademark counterfeiting.

(A) No person shall knowingly do any of the following:

(1) Attach, affix, or otherwise use a counterfeit mark in connection with the manufacture of goods or services, whether or not the goods or services are intended for sale or resale;

(2) Possess, sell, or offer for sale tools, machines, instruments, materials, articles, or other items of personal property with the knowledge that they are designed for the production or reproduction of counterfeit marks;

(3) Purchase or otherwise acquire goods, and keep or otherwise have the goods in the person's possession, with the knowledge that a counterfeit mark is attached to, affixed to, or otherwise used in connection with the goods and with the intent to sell or otherwise dispose of the goods;

(4) Sell, offer for sale, or otherwise dispose of goods with the knowledge that a counterfeit mark is attached to, affixed to, or otherwise used in connection with the goods;

(5) Sell, offer for sale, or otherwise provide services with the knowledge that a counterfeit mark is used in connection with that sale, offer for sale, or other provision of the services.

(B)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of trademark counterfeiting.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this division, a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the cumulative sales price of the goods or services to which or in connection with which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars or if the number of units of goods to which or in connection with which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is more than one hundred units but less than one thousand units, a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. If the cumulative sales price of the goods or services to which or in connection with which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is one hundred thousand dollars or more or if the number of units of goods to which or in connection with which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is one thousand units or more, a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in this division, a violation of division (A)(2) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the circumstances of the violation indicate that the tools, machines, instruments, materials, articles, or other items of personal property involved in the violation were intended for use in the commission of a felony, a violation of division (A)(2) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in this division, a violation of division (A)(3), (4), or (5) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the cumulative sales price of the goods or services to which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is five hundred dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars, a violation of division (A)(3), (4), or (5) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, if the cumulative sales price of the goods or services to which or in connection with which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars or if the number of units of goods to which or in connection with which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is more than one hundred units but less than one thousand units, a violation of division (A)(3), (4), or (5) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. If the cumulative sales price of the goods or services to which or in connection with which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is one hundred thousand dollars or more or if the number of units of goods to which or in connection with which the counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used in the offense is one thousand units or more, a violation of division (A)(3), (4), or (5) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(C) A defendant may assert as an affirmative defense to a charge of a violation of this section defenses, affirmative defenses, and limitations on remedies that would be available in a civil, criminal, or administrative action or proceeding under the "Lanham Act," 60 Stat. 427-443 (1946), 15 U.S.C. 1051-1127, as amended, "The Trademark Counterfeiting Act of 1984," 98 Stat. 2178, 18 U.S.C. 2320, as amended, Chapter 1329. or another section of the Revised Code, or common law.

(D)(1) Law enforcement officers may seize pursuant to Criminal Rule 41 or Chapter 2933. or 2981. of the Revised Code either of the following:

(a) Goods to which or in connection with which a person attached, affixed, otherwise used, or intended to attach, affix, or otherwise use a counterfeit mark in violation of this section;

(b) Tools, machines, instruments, materials, articles, vehicles, or other items of personal property that are possessed, sold, offered for sale, or used in a violation of this section or in an attempt to commit or complicity in the commission of a violation of this section.

(2) Notwithstanding any contrary provision of Chapter 2981. of the Revised Code, if a person is convicted of or pleads guilty to a violation of this section, an attempt to violate this section, or complicity in a violation of this section, the court involved shall declare that the goods described in division (D)(1)(a) of this section and the personal property described in division (D)(1)(b) of this section are contraband and are forfeited. Prior to the court's entry of judgment under Criminal Rule 32, the owner of a registered trademark or service mark that is the subject of the counterfeit mark may recommend a manner in which the forfeited goods and forfeited personal property should be disposed of. If that owner makes a timely recommendation of a manner of disposition, the court is not bound by the recommendation. If that owner makes a timely recommendation of a manner of disposition, the court may include in its entry of judgment an order that requires appropriate persons to dispose of the forfeited goods and forfeited personal property in the recommended manner. If that owner fails to make a timely recommendation of a manner of disposition or if that owner makes a timely recommendation of the manner of disposition but the court determines to not follow the recommendation, the court shall include in its entry of judgment an order that requires the law enforcement agency that employs the law enforcement officer who seized the forfeited goods or the forfeited personal property to destroy them or cause their destruction.

(E) This section does not affect the rights of an owner of a trademark or a service mark, or the enforcement in a civil action or in administrative proceedings of the rights of an owner of a trademark or a service mark, under the "Lanham Act," 60 Stat. 427-443 (1946), 15 U.S.C. 1051-1127, as amended, "The Trademark Counterfeiting Act of 1984," 92 Stat. 2178, 18 U.S.C. 2320, as amended, Chapter 1329. or another section of the Revised Code, or common law.

(F) As used in this section:

(1)(a) Except as provided in division (F)(1)(b) of this section, "counterfeit mark" means a spurious trademark or a spurious service mark that satisfies both of the following:

(i) It is identical with or substantially indistinguishable from a mark that is registered on the principal register in the United States patent and trademark office for the same goods or services as the goods or services to which or in connection with which the spurious trademark or spurious service mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used or from a mark that is registered with the secretary of state pursuant to sections 1329.54 to 1329.67 of the Revised Code for the same goods or services as the goods or services to which or in connection with which the spurious trademark or spurious service mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used, and the owner of the registration uses the registered mark, whether or not the offender knows that the mark is registered in a manner described in division (F)(1)(a)(i) of this section.

(ii) Its use is likely to cause confusion or mistake or to deceive other persons.

(b) "Counterfeit mark" does not include a mark or other designation that is attached to, affixed to, or otherwise used in connection with goods or services if the holder of the right to use the mark or other designation authorizes the manufacturer, producer, or vendor of those goods or services to attach, affix, or otherwise use the mark or other designation in connection with those goods or services at the time of their manufacture, production, or sale.

(2) "Cumulative sales price" means the product of the lowest single unit sales price charged or sought to be charged by an offender for goods to which or in connection with which a counterfeit mark is attached, affixed, or otherwise used or of the lowest single service transaction price charged or sought to be charged by an offender for services in connection with which a counterfeit mark is used, multiplied by the total number of those goods or services, whether or not units of goods are sold or are in an offender's possession, custody, or control.

(3) "Registered trademark or service mark" means a trademark or service mark that is registered in a manner described in division (F)(1) of this section.

(4) "Trademark" and "service mark" have the same meanings as in section 1329.54 of the Revised Code.

[FRAUDS]

§ 2913.40 Medicaid fraud.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Statement or representation" means any oral, written, electronic, electronic impulse, or magnetic communication that is used to identify an item of goods or a service for which reimbursement may be made under the medical assistance program or that states income and expense and is or may be used to determine a rate of reimbursement under the medical assistance program.

(2) "Medical assistance program" means the program established by the department of job and family services to provide medical assistance under section 5111.01 of the Revised Code and the medicaid program of Title XIX of the "Social Security Act," 49 Stat. 620 (1935), 42 U.S.C. 301, as amended.

(3) "Provider" means any person who has signed a provider agreement with the department of job and family services to provide goods or services pursuant to the medical assistance program or any person who has signed an agreement with a party to such a provider agreement under which the person agrees to provide goods or services that are reimbursable under the medical assistance program.

(4) "Provider agreement" means an oral or written agreement between the department of job and family services and a person in which the person agrees to provide goods or services under the medical assistance program.

(5) "Recipient" means any individual who receives goods or services from a provider under the medical assistance program.

(6) "Records" means any medical, professional, financial, or business records relating to the treatment or care of any recipient, to goods or services provided to any recipient, or to rates paid for goods or services provided to any recipient and any records that are required by the rules of the director of job and family services to be kept for the medical assistance program.

(B) No person shall knowingly make or cause to be made a false or misleading statement or representation for use in obtaining reimbursement from the medical assistance program.

(C) No person, with purpose to commit fraud or knowing that the person is facilitating a fraud, shall do either of the following:

(1) Contrary to the terms of the person's provider agreement, charge, solicit, accept, or receive for goods or services that the person provides under the medical assistance program any property, money, or other consideration in addition to the amount of reimbursement under the medical assistance program and the person's provider agreement for the goods or services and any cost-sharing expenses authorized by section 5111.0112 [5111.01.12] of the Revised Code or rules adopted pursuant to section 5111.01, 5111.011 [5111.01.1], or 5111.02 of the Revised Code.

(2) Solicit, offer, or receive any remuneration, other than any cost-sharing expenses authorized by section 5111.0112 [5111.01.12] of the Revised Code or rules adopted under section 5111.01, 5111.011 [5111.01.1], or 5111.02 of the Revised Code, in cash or in kind, including, but not limited to, a kickback or rebate, in connection with the furnishing of goods or services for which whole or partial reimbursement is or may be made under the medical assistance program.

(D) No person, having submitted a claim for or provided goods or services under the medical assistance program, shall do either of the following for a period of at least six years after a reimbursement pursuant to that claim, or a reimbursement for those goods or services, is received under the medical assistance program:

(1) Knowingly alter, falsify, destroy, conceal, or remove any records that are necessary to fully disclose the nature of all goods or services for which the claim was submitted, or for which reimbursement was received, by the person;

(2) Knowingly alter, falsify, destroy, conceal, or remove any records that are necessary to disclose fully all income and expenditures upon which rates of reimbursements were based for the person.

(E) Whoever violates this section is guilty of medicaid fraud. Except as otherwise provided in this division, medicaid fraud is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the value of property, services, or funds obtained in violation of this section is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, medicaid fraud is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of property, services, or funds obtained in violation of this section is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, medicaid fraud is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the property, services, or funds obtained in violation of this section is one hundred thousand dollars or more, medicaid fraud is a felony of the third degree.

(F) Upon application of the governmental agency, office, or other entity that conducted the investigation and prosecution in a case under this section, the court shall order any person who is convicted of a violation of this section for receiving any reimbursement for furnishing goods or services under the medical assistance program to which the person is not entitled to pay to the applicant its cost of investigating and prosecuting the case. The costs of investigation and prosecution that a defendant is ordered to pay pursuant to this division shall be in addition to any other penalties for the receipt of that reimbursement that are provided in this section, section 5111.03 of the Revised Code, or any other provision of law.

(G) The provisions of this section are not intended to be exclusive remedies and do not preclude the use of any other criminal or civil remedy for any act that is in violation of this section.

The effective date is set by § 812.03 of 152 v H 119.

The effective date is set by § 612.03 of 151 v H 66.

The effective date is set by section 37 of SB 261.

[§ 2913.40.1] § 2913.401 Medicaid eligibility fraud.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Medicaid benefits" means benefits under the medical assistance program established under Chapter 5111. of the Revised Code.

(2) "Property" means any real or personal property or other asset in which a person has any legal title or interest.

(B) No person shall knowingly do any of the following in an application for medicaid benefits or in a document that requires a disclosure of assets for the purpose of determining eligibility to receive medicaid benefits:

(1) Make or cause to be made a false or misleading statement;

(2) Conceal an interest in property;

(3)(a) Except as provided in division (B)(3)(b) of this section, fail to disclose a transfer of property that occurred during the period beginning thirty-six months before submission of the application or document and ending on the date the application or document was submitted;

(b) Fail to disclose a transfer of property that occurred during the period beginning sixty months before submission of the application or document and ending on the date the application or document was submitted and that was made to an irrevocable trust a portion of which is not distributable to the applicant for medicaid benefits or the recipient of medicaid benefits or to a revocable trust.

(C)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of medicaid eligibility fraud. Except as otherwise provided in this division, a violation of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the value of the medicaid benefits paid as a result of the violation is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a violation of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the medicaid benefits paid as a result of the violation is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, a violation of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the medicaid benefits paid as a result of the violation is one hundred thousand dollars or more, a violation of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(2) In addition to imposing a sentence under division (C)(1) of this section, the court shall order that a person who is guilty of medicaid eligibility fraud make restitution in the full amount of any medicaid benefits paid on behalf of an applicant for or recipient of medicaid benefits for which the applicant or recipient was not eligible, plus interest at the rate applicable to judgments on unreimbursed amounts from the date on which the benefits were paid to the date on which restitution is made.

(3) The remedies and penalties provided in this section are not exclusive and do not preclude the use of any other criminal or civil remedy for any act that is in violation of this section.

(D) This section does not apply to a person who fully disclosed in an application for medicaid benefits or in a document that requires a disclosure of assets for the purpose of determining eligibility to receive medicaid benefits all of the interests in property of the applicant for or recipient of medicaid benefits, all transfers of property by the applicant for or recipient of medicaid benefits, and the circumstances of all those transfers.

(E) Any amounts of medicaid benefits recovered as restitution under this section and any interest on those amounts shall be credited to the general revenue fund, and any applicable federal share shall be returned to the appropriate agency or department of the United States.

§ 2913.41 Defrauding a livery or hostelery.

In a prosecution of a person for a theft offense that alleges that the person, with purpose to defraud or knowing that the person was facilitating a fraud, hired or rented an aircraft, motor vehicle, motorcycle, motorboat, sailboat, camper, trailer, horse, buggy, or other property or equipment, kept or operated any of the same that has been hired or rented, or engaged accommodations at a hotel, motel, inn, campground, or other hostelery, it is prima-facie evidence of purpose to defraud if the person did any of the following:

(A) Used deception to induce the rental agency to furnish the person with the aircraft, motor vehicle, motorcycle, motorboat, sailboat, camper, trailer, horse, buggy, or other property or equipment, or used deception to induce the hostelery to furnish the person with accommodations;

(B) Hired or rented any aircraft, motor vehicle, motorcycle, motorboat, sailboat, camper, trailer, horse, buggy, or other property or equipment, or engaged accommodations, knowing the person was without sufficient means to pay the hire or rental;

(C) Absconded without paying the hire or rental;

(D) Knowingly failed to pay the hire or rental as required by the contract of hire or rental, without reasonable excuse for such failure;

(E) Knowingly failed to return hired or rented property as required by the contract of hire or rental, without reasonable excuse for the failure.

§ 2913.42 Tampering with records.

(A) No person, knowing the person has no privilege to do so, and with purpose to defraud or knowing that the person is facilitating a fraud, shall do any of the following:

(1) Falsify, destroy, remove, conceal, alter, deface, or mutilate any writing, computer software, data, or record;

(2) Utter any writing or record, knowing it to have been tampered with as provided in division (A)(1) of this section.

(B)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of tampering with records.

(2) Except as provided in division (B)(4) of this section, if the offense does not involve data or computer software, tampering with records is whichever of the following is applicable:

(a) If division (B)(2)(b) of this section does not apply, a misdemeanor of the first degree;

(b) If the writing or record is a will unrevoked at the time of the offense, a felony of the fifth degree.

(3) Except as provided in division (B)(4) of this section, if the offense involves a violation of division (A) of this section involving data or computer software, tampering with records is whichever of the following is applicable:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (B)(3)(b), (c), or (d) of this section, a misdemeanor of the first degree;

(b) If the value of the data or computer software involved in the offense or the loss to the victim is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a felony of the fifth degree;

(c) If the value of the data or computer software involved in the offense or the loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, a felony of the fourth degree;

(d) If the value of the data or computer software involved in the offense or the loss to the victim is one hundred thousand dollars or more or if the offense is committed for the purpose of devising or executing a scheme to defraud or to obtain property or services and the value of the property or services or the loss to the victim is five thousand dollars or more, a felony of the third degree.

(4) If the writing, data, computer software, or record is kept by or belongs to a local, state, or federal governmental entity, a felony of the third degree.

[§ 2913.42.1] § 2913.421 Illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages; unauthorized access of computer.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Computer," "computer network," and "computer system" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Commercial electronic mail message" means any electronic mail message the primary purpose of which is the commercial advertisement or promotion of a commercial product or service, including content on an internet web site operated for a commercial purpose, but does not include a transactional or relationship message. The inclusion of a reference to a commercial entity or a link to the web site of a commercial entity does not, by itself, cause that message to be treated as a commercial electronic mail message for the purpose of this section, if the contents or circumstances of the message indicate a primary purpose other than commercial advertisement or promotion of a commercial product or service.

(3) "Domain name" means any alphanumeric designation that is registered with or assigned by any domain name registrar, domain name registry, or other domain name registration authority as part of an electronic address on the internet.

(4) "Electronic mail," "originating address," and "receiving address" have the same meanings as in section 2307.64 of the Revised Code.

(5) "Electronic mail message" means each electronic mail addressed to a discrete addressee.

(6) "Electronic mail service provider" means any person, including an internet service provider, that is an intermediary in sending and receiving electronic mail and that provides to the public electronic mail accounts or online user accounts from which electronic mail may be sent.

(7) "Header information" means the source, destination, and routing information attached to an electronic mail message, including the originating domain name, the originating address, and technical information that authenticates the sender of an electronic mail message for computer network security or computer network management purposes.

(8) "Initiate the transmission" or "initiated" means to originate or transmit a commercial electronic mail message or to procure the origination or transmission of that message, regardless of whether the message reaches its intended recipients, but does not include actions that constitute routine conveyance of such message.

(9) "Internet" has the same meaning as in section 341.42 of the Revised Code.

(10) "Internet protocol address" means the string of numbers by which locations on the internet are identified by routers or other computers connected to the internet.

(11) "Materially falsify" means to alter or conceal in a manner that would impair the ability of a recipient of an electronic mail message, an electronic mail service provider processing an electronic mail message on behalf of a recipient, a person alleging a violation of this section, or a law enforcement agency to identify, locate, or respond to the person that initiated the electronic mail message or to investigate an alleged violation of this section.

(13) "Recipient" means a person who receives a commercial electronic mail message at any one of the following receiving addresses:

(a) A receiving address furnished by an electronic mail service provider that bills for furnishing and maintaining that receiving address to a mailing address within this state;

(b) A receiving address ordinarily accessed from a computer located within this state or by a person domiciled within this state;

(c) Any other receiving address with respect to which this section can be imposed consistent with the United States Constitution.

(14) "Routine conveyance" means the transmission, routing, relaying, handling, or storing, through an automated technical process, of an electronic mail message for which another person has identified the recipients or provided the recipient addresses.

(15) "Transactional or relationship message" means an electronic mail message the primary purpose of which is to do any of the following:

(a) Facilitate, complete, or confirm a commercial transaction that the recipient has previously agreed to enter into with the sender;

(b) Provide warranty information, product recall information, or safety or security information with respect to a commercial product or service used or purchased by the recipient;

(c) Provide notification concerning a change in the terms or features of, a change in the recipient's standing or status with respect to; or, at regular periodic intervals, account balance information or other type of account statement with respect to, a subscription, membership, account, loan, or comparable ongoing commercial relationship involving the ongoing purchase or use by the recipient of products or services offered by the sender;

(d) Provide information directly related to an employment relationship or related benefit plan in which the recipient is currently involved, participating, or enrolled;

(e) Deliver goods or services, including product updates or upgrades, that the recipient is entitled to receive under the terms of a transaction that the recipient has previously agreed to enter into with the sender.

(B) No person, with regard to commercial electronic mail messages sent from or to a computer in this state, shall do any of the following:

(1) Knowingly use a computer to relay or retransmit multiple commercial electronic mail messages, with the intent to deceive or mislead recipients or any electronic mail service provider, as to the origin of those messages;

(2) Knowingly and materially falsify header information in multiple commercial electronic mail messages and purposely initiate the transmission of those messages;

(3) Knowingly register, using information that materially falsifies the identity of the actual registrant, for five or more electronic mail accounts or online user accounts or two or more domain names and purposely initiate the transmission of multiple commercial electronic mail messages from one, or any combination, of those accounts or domain names;

(4) Knowingly falsely represent the right to use five or more internet protocol addresses, and purposely initiate the transmission of multiple commercial electronic mail messages from those addresses.

(C)(1) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages. Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(2) or (E) of this section, illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages is a felony of the fifth degree.

(2) Illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages is a felony of the fourth degree if any of the following apply:

(a) Regarding a violation of division (B)(3) of this section, the offender, using information that materially falsifies the identity of the actual registrant, knowingly registers for twenty or more electronic mail accounts or online user accounts or ten or more domain names, and purposely initiates, or conspires to initiate, the transmission of multiple commercial electronic mail messages from the accounts or domain names.

(b) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, the volume of commercial electronic mail messages the offender transmitted in committing the violation exceeds two hundred and fifty during any twenty-four-hour period, two thousand five hundred during any thirty-day period, or twenty-five thousand during any one-year period.

(c) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, during any one-year period the aggregate loss to the victim or victims of the violation is five hundred dollars or more, or during any one-year period the aggregate value of the property or services obtained by any offender as a result of the violation is five hundred dollars or more.

(d) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, the offender committed the violation with three or more other persons with respect to whom the offender was the organizer or leader of the activity that resulted in the violation.

(e) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, the offender knowingly assisted in the violation through the provision or selection of electronic mail addresses to which the commercial electronic mail message was transmitted, if that offender knew that the electronic mail addresses of the recipients were obtained using an automated means from an internet web site or proprietary online service operated by another person, and that web site or online service included, at the time the electronic mail addresses were obtained, a notice stating that the operator of that web site or online service will not transfer addresses maintained by that web site or online service to any other party for the purposes of initiating the transmission of, or enabling others to initiate the transmission of, electronic mail messages.

(f) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, the offender knowingly assisted in the violation through the provision or selection of electronic mail addresses of the recipients obtained using an automated means that generates possible electronic mail addresses by combining names, letters, or numbers into numerous permutations.

(D)(1) No person, with regard to commercial electronic mail messages sent from or to a computer in this state, shall knowingly access a computer without authorization and purposely initiate the transmission of multiple commercial electronic mail messages from or through the computer.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (E) of this section, whoever violates division (D)(1) of this section is guilty of unauthorized access of a computer, a felony of the fourth degree.

(E) Illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages and unauthorized access of a computer in violation of this section are felonies of the third degree if the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of this section, or a violation of a law of another state or the United States regarding the transmission of electronic mail messages or unauthorized access to a computer, or if the offender committed the violation of this section in the furtherance of a felony.

(F)(1) The attorney general or an electronic mail service provider that is injured by a violation of this section may bring a civil action in an appropriate court of common pleas of this state seeking relief from any person whose conduct violated this section. The civil action may be commenced at any time within one year of the date after the act that is the basis of the civil action.

(2) In a civil action brought by the attorney general pursuant to division (F)(1) of this section for a violation of this section, the court may award temporary, preliminary, or permanent injunctive relief. The court also may impose a civil penalty against the offender, as the court considers just, in an amount that is the lesser of: (a) twenty-five thousand dollars for each day a violation occurs, or (b) not less than two dollars but not more than eight dollars for each commercial electronic mail message initiated in violation of this section.

(3) In a civil action brought by an electronic mail service provider pursuant to division (F)(1) of this section for a violation of this section, the court may award temporary, preliminary, or permanent injunctive relief, and also may award damages in an amount equal to the greater of the following:

(a) The sum of the actual damages incurred by the electronic mail service provider as a result of a violation of this section, plus any receipts of the offender that are attributable to a violation of this section and that were not taken into account in computing actual damages;

(b) Statutory damages, as the court considers just, in an amount that is the lesser of: (i) twenty-five thousand dollars for each day a violation occurs, or (ii) not less than two dollars but not more than eight dollars for each commercial electronic mail message initiated in violation of this section.

(4) In assessing damages awarded under division (F)(3) of this section, the court may consider whether the offender has established and implemented, with due care, commercially reasonable practices and procedures designed to effectively prevent the violation, or the violation occurred despite commercially reasonable efforts to maintain the practices and procedures established.

(G) Any equipment, software, or other technology of a person who violates this section that is used or intended to be used in the commission of a violation of this section, and any real or personal property that constitutes or is traceable to the gross proceeds obtained from the commission of a violation of this section, is contraband and is subject to seizure and forfeiture pursuant to sections 2933.42 and 2933.43 of the Revised Code.

(H) The attorney general may bring a civil action, pursuant to the "CAN-SPAM Act of 2003," Pub. L. No. 108-187, 117 Stat. 2699, 15 U.S.C. 7701 et seq., on behalf of the residents of the state in a district court of the United States that has jurisdiction for a violation of the CAN-SPAM Act of 2003, but the attorney general shall not bring a civil action under both this division and division (F) of this section. If a federal court dismisses a civil action brought under this division for reasons other than upon the merits, a civil action may be brought under division (F) of this section in the appropriate court of common pleas of this state.

(I) Nothing in this section shall be construed:

(1) To require an electronic mail service provider to block, transmit, route, relay, handle, or store certain types of electronic mail messages;

(2) To prevent or limit, in any way, an electronic mail service provider from adopting a policy regarding electronic mail, including a policy of declining to transmit certain types of electronic mail messages, or from enforcing such policy through technical means, through contract, or pursuant to any remedy available under any other federal, state, or local criminal or civil law;

(3) To render lawful any policy adopted under division (I)(2) of this section that is unlawful under any other law.

HISTORY: 150 v H 383, § 1, eff. 5-6-05.

[§ 2913.42.1] § 2913.421 Illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages; unauthorized access of computer.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Computer," "computer network," and "computer system" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(2) "Commercial electronic mail message" means any electronic mail message the primary purpose of which is the commercial advertisement or promotion of a commercial product or service, including content on an internet web site operated for a commercial purpose, but does not include a transactional or relationship message. The inclusion of a reference to a commercial entity or a link to the web site of a commercial entity does not, by itself, cause that message to be treated as a commercial electronic mail message for the purpose of this section, if the contents or circumstances of the message indicate a primary purpose other than commercial advertisement or promotion of a commercial product or service.

(3) "Domain name" means any alphanumeric designation that is registered with or assigned by any domain name registrar, domain name registry, or other domain name registration authority as part of an electronic address on the internet.

(4) "Electronic mail," "originating address," and "receiving address" have the same meanings as in section 2307.64 of the Revised Code.

(5) "Electronic mail message" means each electronic mail addressed to a discrete addressee.

(6) "Electronic mail service provider" means any person, including an internet service provider, that is an intermediary in sending and receiving electronic mail and that provides to the public electronic mail accounts or online user accounts from which electronic mail may be sent.

(7) "Header information" means the source, destination, and routing information attached to an electronic mail message, including the originating domain name, the originating address, and technical information that authenticates the sender of an electronic mail message for computer network security or computer network management purposes.

(8) "Initiate the transmission" or "initiated" means to originate or transmit a commercial electronic mail message or to procure the origination or transmission of that message, regardless of whether the message reaches its intended recipients, but does not include actions that constitute routine conveyance of such message.

(9) "Internet" has the same meaning as in section 341.42 of the Revised Code.

(10) "Internet protocol address" means the string of numbers by which locations on the internet are identified by routers or other computers connected to the internet.

(11) "Materially falsify" means to alter or conceal in a manner that would impair the ability of a recipient of an electronic mail message, an electronic mail service provider processing an electronic mail message on behalf of a recipient, a person alleging a violation of this section, or a law enforcement agency to identify, locate, or respond to the person that initiated the electronic mail message or to investigate an alleged violation of this section.

(13) "Recipient" means a person who receives a commercial electronic mail message at any one of the following receiving addresses:

(a) A receiving address furnished by an electronic mail service provider that bills for furnishing and maintaining that receiving address to a mailing address within this state;

(b) A receiving address ordinarily accessed from a computer located within this state or by a person domiciled within this state;

(c) Any other receiving address with respect to which this section can be imposed consistent with the United States Constitution.

(14) "Routine conveyance" means the transmission, routing, relaying, handling, or storing, through an automated technical process, of an electronic mail message for which another person has identified the recipients or provided the recipient addresses.

(15) "Transactional or relationship message" means an electronic mail message the primary purpose of which is to do any of the following:

(a) Facilitate, complete, or confirm a commercial transaction that the recipient has previously agreed to enter into with the sender;

(b) Provide warranty information, product recall information, or safety or security information with respect to a commercial product or service used or purchased by the recipient;

(c) Provide notification concerning a change in the terms or features of; a change in the recipient's standing or status with respect to; or, at regular periodic intervals, account balance information or other type of account statement with respect to, a subscription, membership, account, loan, or comparable ongoing commercial relationship involving the ongoing purchase or use by the recipient of products or services offered by the sender;

(d) Provide information directly related to an employment relationship or related benefit plan in which the recipient is currently involved, participating, or enrolled;

(e) Deliver goods or services, including product updates or upgrades, that the recipient is entitled to receive under the terms of a transaction that the recipient has previously agreed to enter into with the sender.

(B) No person, with regard to commercial electronic mail messages sent from or to a computer in this state, shall do any of the following:

(1) Knowingly use a computer to relay or retransmit multiple commercial electronic mail messages, with the intent to deceive or mislead recipients or any electronic mail service provider, as to the origin of those messages;

(2) Knowingly and materially falsify header information in multiple commercial electronic mail messages and purposely initiate the transmission of those messages;

(3) Knowingly register, using information that materially falsifies the identity of the actual registrant, for five or more electronic mail accounts or online user accounts or two or more domain names and purposely initiate the transmission of multiple commercial electronic mail messages from one, or any combination, of those accounts or domain names;

(4) Knowingly falsely represent the right to use five or more internet protocol addresses, and purposely initiate the transmission of multiple commercial electronic mail messages from those addresses.

(C)(1) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages. Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(2) or (E) of this section, illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages is a felony of the fifth degree.

(2) Illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages is a felony of the fourth degree if any of the following apply:

(a) Regarding a violation of division (B)(3) of this section, the offender, using information that materially falsifies the identity of the actual registrant, knowingly registers for twenty or more electronic mail accounts or online user accounts or ten or more domain names, and purposely initiates, or conspires to initiate, the transmission of multiple commercial electronic mail messages from the accounts or domain names.

(b) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, the volume of commercial electronic mail messages the offender transmitted in committing the violation exceeds two hundred and fifty during any twenty-four-hour period, two thousand five hundred during any thirty-day period, or twenty-five thousand during any one-year period.

(c) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, during any one-year period the aggregate loss to the victim or victims of the violation is five hundred dollars or more, or during any one-year period the aggregate value of the property or services obtained by any offender as a result of the violation is five hundred dollars or more.

(d) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, the offender committed the violation with three or more other persons with respect to whom the offender was the organizer or leader of the activity that resulted in the violation.

(e) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, the offender knowingly assisted in the violation through the provision or selection of electronic mail addresses to which the commercial electronic mail message was transmitted, if that offender knew that the electronic mail addresses of the recipients were obtained using an automated means from an internet web site or proprietary online service operated by another person, and that web site or online service included, at the time the electronic mail addresses were obtained, a notice stating that the operator of that web site or online service will not transfer addresses maintained by that web site or online service to any other party for the purposes of initiating the transmission of, or enabling others to initiate the transmission of, electronic mail messages.

(f) Regarding any violation of division (B) of this section, the offender knowingly assisted in the violation through the provision or selection of electronic mail addresses of the recipients obtained using an automated means that generates possible electronic mail addresses by combining names, letters, or numbers into numerous permutations.

rization and purposely initiate the transmission of multiple commercial electronic mail messages from or through the computer.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (E) of this section, whoever violates division (D)(1) of this section is guilty of unauthorized access of a computer, a felony of the fourth degree.

(E) Illegally transmitting multiple commercial electronic mail messages and unauthorized access of a computer in violation of this section are felonies of the third degree if the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of this section, or a violation of a law of another state or the United States regarding the transmission of electronic mail messages or unauthorized access to a computer, or if the offender committed the violation of this section in the furtherance of a felony.

(F)(1) The attorney general or an electronic mail service provider that is injured by a violation of this section may bring a civil action in an appropriate court of common pleas of this state seeking relief from any person whose conduct violated this section. The civil action may be commenced at any time within one year of the date after the act that is the basis of the civil action.

(2) In a civil action brought by the attorney general pursuant to division (F)(1) of this section for a violation of this section, the court may award temporary, preliminary, or permanent injunctive relief. The court also may impose a civil penalty against the offender, as the court considers just, in an amount that is the lesser of: (a) twenty-five thousand dollars for each day a violation occurs, or (b) not less than two dollars but not more than eight dollars for each commercial electronic mail message initiated in violation of this section.

(3) In a civil action brought by an electronic mail service provider pursuant to division (F)(1) of this section for a violation of this section, the court may award temporary, preliminary, or permanent injunctive relief, and also may award damages in an amount equal to the greater of the following:

(a) The sum of the actual damages incurred by the electronic mail service provider as a result of a violation of this section, plus any receipts of the offender that are attributable to a violation of this section and that were not taken into account in computing actual damages;

(b) Statutory damages, as the court considers just, in an amount that is the lesser of: (i) twenty-five thousand dollars for each day a violation occurs, or (ii) not less than two dollars but not more than eight dollars for each commercial electronic mail message initiated in violation of this section.

(4) In assessing damages awarded under division (F)(3) of this section, the court may consider whether the offender has established and implemented, with due care, commercially reasonable practices and procedures designed to effectively prevent the violation, or the violation occurred despite commercially reasonable efforts to maintain the practices and procedures established.

(G) Any equipment, software, or other technology of a person who violates this section that is used or intended to be used in the commission of a violation of this section, and any real or personal property that constitutes or is traceable to the gross proceeds obtained from the commission of a violation of this section, is contraband and is subject to seizure and forfeiture pursuant to Chapter 2981. of the Revised Code.

(H) The attorney general may bring a civil action, pursuant to the "CAN-SPAM Act of 2003," Pub. L. No.

108-187, 117 Stat. 2699, 15 U.S.C. 7701 et seq., on behalf of the residents of the state in a district court of the United States that has jurisdiction for a violation of the CAN-SPAM Act of 2003, but the attorney general shall not bring a civil action under both this division and division (F) of this section. If a federal court dismisses a civil action brought under this division for reasons other than upon the merits, a civil action may be brought under division (F) of this section in the appropriate court of common pleas of this state.

(I) Nothing in this section shall be construed:

(1) To require an electronic mail service provider to block, transmit, route, relay, handle, or store certain types of electronic mail messages;

(2) To prevent or limit, in any way, an electronic mail service provider from adopting a policy regarding electronic mail, including a policy of declining to transmit certain types of electronic mail messages, or from enforcing such policy through technical means, through contract, or pursuant to any remedy available under any other federal, state, or local criminal or civil law;

(3) To render lawful any policy adopted under division (I)(2) of this section that is unlawful under any other law.

§ 2913.43 Securing writings by deception.

(A) No person, by deception, shall cause another to execute any writing that disposes of or encumbers property, or by which a pecuniary obligation is incurred.

(B)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of securing writings by deception.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this division or division (B)(3) of this section, securing writings by deception is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the value of the property or the obligation involved is five hundred dollars or more and less than five thousand dollars, securing writings by deception is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the property or the obligation involved is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, securing writings by deception is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the property or the obligation involved is one hundred thousand dollars or more, securing writings by deception is a felony of the third degree.

(3) If the victim of the offense is an elderly person or disabled adult, division (B)(3) of this section applies. Except as otherwise provided in division (B)(3) of this section, securing writings by deception is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the property or obligation involved is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, securing writings by deception is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the property or obligation involved is five thousand dollars or more and is less than twenty-five thousand dollars, securing writings by deception is a felony of the third degree. If the value of the property or obligation involved is twenty-five thousand dollars or more, securing writings by deception is a felony of the second degree.

§ 2913.46 Illegal use of food stamps or WIC program benefits.

(A)(1) As used in this section:

(a) "Electronically transferred benefit" means the transfer of food stamp program benefits or WIC program benefits through the use of an access device.

(b) "WIC program benefits" includes money, coupons, delivery verification receipts, other documents, food, or other property received directly or indirectly pursuant to section 17 [of] the "Child Nutrition Act of 1966," 80 Stat. 885, 42 U.S.C.A. 1786, as amended.

(c) "Access device" means any card, plate, code, account number, or other means of access that can be used, alone or in conjunction with another access device, to obtain payments, allotments, benefits, money, goods, or other things of value or that can be used to initiate a transfer of funds pursuant to section 5101.33 of the Revised Code and the "Food Stamp Act of 1977," 91 Stat. 958, 7 U.S.C.A. 2011 et seq., or any supplemental food program administered by any department of this state or any county or local agency pursuant to section 17 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966," 80 Stat. 885, 42 U.S.C.A. 1786, as amended. An "access device" may include an electronic debit card or other means authorized by section 5101.33 of the Revised Code.

(d) "Aggregate value of the food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, and electronically transferred benefits involved in the violation" means the total face value of any food stamps, plus the total face value of WIC program coupons or delivery verification receipts, plus the total value of other WIC program benefits, plus the total value of any electronically transferred benefit or other access device, involved in the violation.

(e) "Total value of any electronically transferred benefit or other access device" means the total value of the payments, allotments, benefits, money, goods, or other things of value that may be obtained, or the total value of funds that may be transferred, by use of any electronically transferred benefit or other access device at the time of violation.

(2) If food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, or electronically transferred benefits or other access devices of various values are used, transferred, bought, acquired, altered, purchased, possessed, presented for redemption, or transported in violation of this section over a period of twelve months, the course of conduct may be charged as one offense and the values of food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, or any electronically transferred benefits or other access devices may be aggregated in determining the degree of the offense.

(B) No individual shall knowingly possess, buy, sell, use, alter, accept, or transfer food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, or any electronically transferred benefit in any manner not authorized by the "Food Stamp Act of 1977," 91 Stat. 958, 7 U.S.C.A. 2011, as amended, or section 17 of the "Child Nutrition Act of 1966," 80 Stat. 885, 42 U.S.C.A. 1786, as amended.

(C) No organization, as defined in division (D) of section 2901.23 of the Revised Code, shall do either of the following:

(1) Knowingly allow an employee or agent to sell, transfer, or trade items or services, the purchase of which is prohibited by the "Food Stamp Act of 1977," 91 Stat. 958, 7 U.S.C.A. 2011, as amended, or section 17 of the "Child Nutrition Act of 1966," 80 Stat. 885, 42 U.S.C.A. 1786, as amended, in exchange for food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, or any electronically transferred benefit;

(2) Negligently allow an employee or agent to sell, transfer, or exchange food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, or any electronically transferred benefit for anything of value.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of illegal use of food stamps or WIC program benefits. Except as otherwise provided in this division, illegal use of food stamps or WIC program benefits is a felony of the fifth degree. If the aggregate value of the food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, and electronically transferred benefits involved in the violation is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, illegal use of food stamps or WIC program benefits is a felony of the fourth degree. If the aggregate value of the food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, and electronically transferred benefits involved in the violation is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, illegal use of food stamps or WIC program benefits is a felony of the third degree. If the aggregate value of the food stamp coupons, WIC program benefits, and electronically transferred benefits involved in the violation is one hundred thousand dollars or more, illegal use of food stamps or WIC program benefits is a felony of the second degree.

§ 2913.47 Insurance fraud.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Data" has the same meaning as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code and additionally includes any other representation of information, knowledge, facts, concepts, or instructions that are being or have been prepared in a formalized manner.

(2) "Deceptive" means that a statement, in whole or in part, would cause another to be deceived because it contains a misleading representation, withholds information, prevents the acquisition of information, or by any other conduct, act, or omission creates, confirms, and perpetuates a false impression, including, but not limited to, a false impression as to law, value, state of mind, or other objective or subjective fact.

(3) "Insurer" means any person that is authorized to engage in the business of insurance in this state under Title XXXIX [39] of the Revised Code, the Ohio fair plan underwriting association created under section 3929.43 of the Revised Code, any health insuring corporation, and any legal entity that is self-insured and provides benefits to its employees or members.

(4) "Policy" means a policy, certificate, contract, or plan that is issued by an insurer.

(5) "Statement" includes, but is not limited to, any notice, letter, or memorandum; proof of loss; bill of lading; receipt for payment; invoice, account, or other financial statement; estimate of property damage; bill for services; diagnosis or prognosis; prescription; hospital, medical, or dental chart or other record; x-ray, photograph, videotape, or movie film; test result; other evidence of loss, injury, or expense; computer-generated document; and data in any form.

(B) No person, with purpose to defraud or knowing that the person is facilitating a fraud, shall do either of the following:

(1) Present to, or cause to be presented to, an insurer any written or oral statement that is part of, or in support of, an application for insurance, a claim for payment pursuant to a policy, or a claim for any other benefit pursuant to a policy, knowing that the statement, or any part of the statement, is false or deceptive;

(2) Assist, aid, abet, solicit, procure, or conspire with another to prepare or make any written or oral statement that is intended to be presented to an insurer as part of, or in support of, an application for insurance, a claim for payment pursuant to a policy, or a claim for any other benefit pursuant to a policy, knowing that the statement, or any part of the statement, is false or deceptive.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of insurance fraud. Except as otherwise provided in this division, insurance fraud is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the amount of the claim that is false or deceptive is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, insurance fraud is a felony of the fifth degree. If the amount of the claim that is false or deceptive is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, insurance fraud is a felony of the fourth degree. If the amount of the claim that is false or deceptive is one hundred thousand dollars or more, insurance fraud is a felony of the third degree.

(D) This section shall not be construed to abrogate, waive, or modify division (A) of section 2317.02 of the Revised Code.

§ 2913.48 Workers' compensation fraud.

(A) No person, with purpose to defraud or knowing that the person is facilitating a fraud shall do any of the following:

(1) Receive workers' compensation benefits to which the person is not entitled;

(2) Make or present or cause to be made or presented a false or misleading statement with the purpose to secure payment for goods or services rendered under Chapter 4121., 4123., 4127., or 4131. of the Revised Code or to secure workers' compensation benefits;

(3) Alter, falsify, destroy, conceal, or remove any record or document that is necessary to fully establish the validity of any claim filed with, or necessary to establish the nature and validity of all goods and services for which reimbursement or payment was received or is requested from, the bureau of workers' compensation, or a self-insuring employer under Chapter 4121., 4123., 4127., or 4131. of the Revised Code;

(4) Enter into an agreement or conspiracy to defraud the bureau or a self-insuring employer by making or presenting or causing to be made or presented a false claim for workers' compensation benefits;

(5) Make or present or cause to be made or presented a false statement concerning manual codes, classification of employees, payroll, paid compensation, or number of personnel, when information of that nature is necessary to determine the actual workers' compensation premium or assessment owed to the bureau by an employer;

(6) Alter, forge, or create a workers' compensation certificate to falsely show current or correct workers' compensation coverage;

(7) Fail to secure or maintain workers' compensation coverage as required by Chapter 4123. of the Revised Code with the intent to defraud the bureau of workers' compensation.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of workers' compensation fraud. Except as otherwise provided in this division, a violation of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the value of premiums and assessments unpaid pursuant to actions described in division (A)(5), (6), or (7) of this section, or of goods, services, property, or money stolen is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, a violation of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of premiums and assessments unpaid pursuant to actions described in division (A)(5), (6), or (7) of this section, or of goods, services, property, or money stolen is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, a violation of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of premiums and assessments unpaid pursuant to actions described in division (A)(5), (6), or (7) of this section, or of goods, services, property, or money stolen is one hundred thousand dollars or more, a violation of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(C) Upon application of the governmental body that conducted the investigation and prosecution of a violation of this section, the court shall order the person who is convicted of the violation to pay the governmental body its costs of investigating and prosecuting the case. These costs are in addition to any other costs or penalty provided in the Revised Code or any other section of law.

(D) The remedies and penalties provided in this section are not exclusive remedies and penalties and do not preclude the use of any other criminal or civil remedy or penalty for any act that is in violation of this section.

(E) As used in this section:

(1) "False" means wholly or partially untrue or deceptive.

(2) "Goods" includes, but is not limited to, medical supplies, appliances, rehabilitative equipment, and any other apparatus or furnishing provided or used in the care, treatment, or rehabilitation of a claimant for workers' compensation benefits.

(3) "Services" includes, but is not limited to, any service provided by any health care provider to a claimant for workers' compensation benefits and any and all services provided by the bureau as part of workers' compensation insurance coverage.

(4) "Claim" means any attempt to cause the bureau, an independent third party with whom the administrator or an employer contracts under section 4121.44 of the Revised Code, or a self-insuring employer to make payment or reimbursement for workers' compensation benefits.

(5) "Employment" means participating in any trade, occupation, business, service, or profession for substantial gainful remuneration.

(6) "Employer," "employee," and "self-insuring employer" have the same meanings as in section 4123.01 of the Revised Code.

(7) "Remuneration" includes, but is not limited to, wages, commissions, rebates, and any other reward or consideration.

(8) "Statement" includes, but is not limited to, any oral, written, electronic, electronic impulse, or magnetic communication notice, letter, memorandum, receipt for payment, invoice, account, financial statement, or bill for services; a diagnosis, prognosis, prescription, hospital, medical, or dental chart or other record; and a computer generated document.

(9) "Records" means any medical, professional, financial, or business record relating to the treatment or care of any person, to goods or services provided to any person, or to rates paid for goods or services provided to any person, or any record that the administrator of workers' compensation requires pursuant to rule.

(10) "Workers' compensation benefits" means any compensation or benefits payable under Chapter 4121., 4123., 4127., or 4131. of the Revised Code.

† The amendments made by SB 45 (147 v.—) were rejected by the 11-4-97 referendum vote on Issue 2.

The provisions of § 3 of 151 v S 7 read as follows:

SECTION 3. This act applies to all claims pursuant to Chapters 4121., 4123., 4127., and 4131. of the Revised Code arising on and after the effective date of this act, except that division (H) of section 4123.512 as amended by this act also applies to claims that are pending on the effective date of this act.

Not analogous to former RC § 2913.48 (140 v H 97), repealed 140 v H 632, § 2, eff 3-28-85.

§ 2913.49 Identity fraud.

(A) As used in this section, "personal identifying information" includes, but is not limited to, the following: the name, address, telephone number, driver's license, driver's license number, commercial driver's license, commercial driver's license number, state identification card, state identification card number, social security card, social security number, birth certificate, place of employment, employee identification number, mother's maiden name, demand deposit account number, savings account number, money market account number, mutual fund account number, other financial account number, personal identification number, password, or credit card number of a living or dead individual.

(B) No person, without the express or implied consent of the other person, shall use, obtain, or possess any personal identifying information of another person with intent to do either of the following:

(1) Hold the person out to be the other person;

(2) Represent the other person's personal identifying information as the person's own personal identifying information.

(C) No person shall create, obtain, possess, or use the personal identifying information of any person with the intent to aid or abet another person in violating division (B) of this section.

(D) No person, with intent to defraud, shall permit another person to use the person's own personal identifying information.

(E) No person who is permitted to use another person's personal identifying information as described in division (D) of this section shall use, obtain, or possess the other person's personal identifying information with intent to defraud any person by doing any act identified in division (B)(1) or (2) of this section.

(F)(1) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (B) of this section that the person using the personal identifying information is acting in accordance with a legally recognized guardianship or conservatorship or as a trustee or fiduciary.

(2) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (B), (C), (D), or (E) of this section that either of the following applies:

(a) The person or entity using, obtaining, possessing, or creating the personal identifying information, or permitting it to be used is a law enforcement agency, authorized fraud personnel, or a representative of or attorney for a law enforcement agency or authorized fraud personnel and is using, obtaining, possessing, or creating the personal identifying information or permitting it to be used, with prior consent given as specified in this division, in a bona fide investigation, an information security evaluation, a pretext calling evaluation, or a similar matter. The prior consent required under this division shall be given by the person whose personal identifying information is being used, obtained, possessed, or created or is being permitted to be used or, if the person whose personal identifying information is being used, obtained, possessed, or created or is being permitted to be used is deceased, by that deceased person's executor, or a member of that deceased person's family, or that deceased person's attorney. The prior consent required under this division may be given orally or in writing by the person whose personal identifying information is being used, obtained, possessed, or created or is being permitted to be used or that person's executor, or family member, or attorney.

(b) The personal identifying information was obtained, possessed, used, created, or permitted to be used for a lawful purpose, provided that division (F)(2)(b) of this section does not apply if the person or entity using, obtaining, possessing, or creating the personal identifying information or permitting it to be used is a law enforcement agency, authorized fraud personnel, or a representative of or attorney for a law enforcement agency or authorized fraud personnel that is using, obtaining, possessing, or creating the personnel identifying information or permitting it to be used in an investigation, an information security evaluation, a pretext calling evaluation, or similar matter.

(G) It is not a defense to a charge under this section that the person whose personal identifying information was obtained, possessed, used, created, or permitted to be used was deceased at the time of the offense.

(H)(1) If an offender commits a violation of division (B), (D), or (E) of this section and the violation occurs as part of a course of conduct involving other violations of division (B), (D), or (E) of this section or violations of, attempts to violate, conspiracies to violate, or complicity in violations of division (C) of this section or section 2913.02, 2913.04, 2913.11, 2913.21, 2913.31, 2913.42, 2913.43, or 2921.13 of the Revised Code, the court, in determining the degree of the offense pursuant to division (I) of this section, may aggregate all credit, property, or services obtained or sought to be obtained by the offender and all debts or other legal obligations avoided or sought to be avoided by the offender in the violations involved in that course of conduct. The course of conduct may involve one victim or more than one victim.

(2) If an offender commits a violation of division (C) of this section and the violation occurs as part of a course of conduct involving other violations of division (C) of this section or violations of, attempts to violate, conspiracies to violate, or complicity in violations of division (B), (D), or (E) of this section or section 2913.02, 2913.04, 2913.11, 2913.21, 2913.31, 2913.42, 2913.43, or 2921.13 of the Revised Code, the court, in determining the degree of the offense pursuant to division (I) of this section, may aggregate all credit, property, or services obtained or sought to be obtained by the person aided or abetted and all debts or other legal obligations avoided or sought to be avoided by the person aided or abetted in the violations involved in that course of conduct. The course of conduct may involve one victim or more than one victim.

(I)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of identity fraud.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this division or division (I)(3) of this section, identity fraud is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the credit, property, services, debt, or other legal obligation involved in the violation or course of conduct is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, except as otherwise provided in division (I)(3) of this section, identity fraud is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the credit, property, services, debt, or other legal obligation involved in the violation or course of conduct is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, except as otherwise provided in division (I)(3) of this section, identity fraud is a felony of the third degree. If the value of the credit, property, services, debt, or other legal obligation involved in the violation or course of conduct is one hundred thousand dollars or more, except as otherwise provided in division (I)(3) of this section, identity fraud is a felony of the second degree.

(3) If the victim of the offense is an elderly person or disabled adult, a violation of this section is identity fraud against an elderly person or disabled adult. Except as otherwise provided in this division, identity fraud against an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the fifth degree. If the value of the credit, property, services, debt, or other legal obligation involved in the violation or course of conduct is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, identity fraud against an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the third degree. If the value of the credit, property, services, debt, or other legal obligation involved in the violation or course of conduct is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, identity fraud against an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the second degree. If the value of the credit, property, services, debt, or other legal obligation involved in the violation or course of conduct is one hundred thousand dollars or more, identity fraud against an elderly person or disabled adult is a felony of the first degree.

§ 2913.51 Receiving stolen property.

(A) No person shall receive, retain, or dispose of property of another knowing or having reasonable cause to believe that the property has been obtained through commission of a theft offense.

(B) It is not a defense to a charge of receiving stolen property in violation of this section that the property was obtained by means other than through the commission of a theft offense if the property was explicitly represented to the accused person as being obtained through the commission of a theft offense.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of receiving stolen property. Except as otherwise provided in this division, receiving stolen property is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the value of the property involved is five hundred dollars or more and is less than five thousand dollars, if the property involved is any of the property listed in section 2913.71 of the Revised Code, receiving stolen property is a felony of the fifth degree. If the property involved is a motor vehicle, as defined in section 4501.01 of the Revised Code, if the property involved is a dangerous drug, as defined in section 4729.01 of the Revised Code, if the value of the property involved is five thousand dollars or more and is less than one hundred thousand dollars, or if the property involved is a firearm or dangerous ordnance, as defined in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code, receiving stolen property is a felony of the fourth degree. If the value of the property involved is one hundred thousand dollars or more, receiving stolen property is a felony of the third degree.

[VALUE]

§ 2913.61 Value of stolen property.

(A) When a person is charged with a theft offense, or with a violation of division (A)(1) of section 1716.14 of the Revised Code involving a victim who is an elderly person or disabled adult that involves property or services valued at five hundred dollars or more, property or services valued at five hundred dollars or more and less than five thousand dollars, property or services valued at five thousand dollars or more and less than twenty-five thousand dollars, property or services valued at twenty-five thousand dollars or more and less than one hundred thousand dollars, or property or services valued at one hundred thousand dollars or more, the jury or court trying the accused shall determine the value of the property or services as of the time of the offense and, if a guilty verdict is returned, shall return the finding of value as part of the verdict. In any case in which the jury or court determines that the value of the property or services at the time of the offense was five hundred dollars or more, it is unnecessary to find and return the exact value, and it is sufficient if the finding and return is to the effect that the value of the property or services involved was five hundred dollars or more and less than five thousand dollars, was five thousand dollars or more and less than twenty-five thousand dollars, was twenty-five thousand dollars or more and less than one hundred thousand dollars, or was one hundred thousand dollars or more.

(B) If more than one item of property or services is involved in a theft offense or in a violation of division (A)(1) of section 1716.14 of the Revised Code involving a victim who is an elderly person or disabled adult, the value of the property or services involved for the purpose of determining the value as required by division (A) of this section is the aggregate value of all property or services involved in the offense.

(C)(1) When a series of offenses under section 2913.02 of the Revised Code, or a series of violations of, attempts to commit a violation of, conspiracies to violate, or complicity in violations of division (A)(1) of section 1716.14, section 2913.02, 2913.03, or 2913.04, division (B)(1) or (2) of section 2913.21, or section 2913.31 or 2913.43 of the Revised Code involving a victim who is an elderly person or disabled adult, is committed by the offender in the offender's same employment, capacity, or relationship to another, all of those offenses shall be tried as a single offense. The value of the property or services involved in the series of offenses for the purpose of determining the value as required by division (A) of this section is the aggregate value of all property and services involved in all offenses in the series.

(2) If an offender commits a series of offenses under section 2913.02 of the Revised Code that involves a common course of conduct to defraud multiple victims, all of the offenses may be tried as a single offense. If an offender is being tried for the commission of a series of violations of, attempts to commit a violation of, conspiracies to violate, or complicity in violations of division (A)(1) of section 1716.14, section 2913.02, 2913.03, or 2913.04, division (B)(1) or (2) of section 2913.21, or section 2913.31 or 2913.43 of the Revised Code, whether committed against one victim or more than one victim, involving a victim who is an elderly person or disabled adult, pursuant to a scheme or course of conduct, all of those offenses may be tried as a single offense. If the offenses are tried as a single offense, the value of the property or services involved for the purpose of determining the value as required by division (A) of this section is the aggregate value of all property and services involved in all of the offenses in the course of conduct.

(3) When a series of two or more offenses under section 2921.41 of the Revised Code is committed by the offender in the offender's same employment, capacity, or relationship to another, all of those offenses may be tried as a single offense. If the offenses are tried as a single offense, the value of the property or services involved for the purpose of determining the value as required by division (A) of this section is the aggregate value of all property and services involved in all of the offenses in the series of two or more offenses.

(4) In prosecuting a single offense under division (C)(1), (2), (3) of this section, it is not necessary to separately allege and prove each offense in the series. Rather, it is sufficient to allege and prove that the offender, within a given span of time, committed one or more theft offenses or violations of section 2921.41 of the Revised Code in the offender's same employment, capacity, or relationship to another as described in division (C)(1) or (3) of this section, or committed one or more theft offenses that involve a common course of conduct to defraud multiple victims or a scheme or course of conduct as described in division (C)(2) of this section.

(D) The following criteria shall be used in determining the value of property or services involved in a theft offense:

(1) The value of an heirloom, memento, collector's item, antique, museum piece, manuscript, document, record, or other thing that has intrinsic worth to its owner and that either is irreplaceable or is replaceable only on the expenditure of substantial time, effort, or money, is the amount that would compensate the owner for its loss.

(2) The value of personal effects and household goods, and of materials, supplies, equipment, and fixtures used in the profession, business, trade, occupation, or avocation of its owner, which property is not covered under division (D)(1) of this section and which retains substantial utility for its purpose regardless of its age or condition, is the cost of replacing the property with new property of like kind and quality.

(3) The value of any real or personal property that is not covered under division (D)(1) or (2) of this section, and the value of services, is the fair market value of the property or services. As used in this section, "fair market value" is the money consideration that a buyer would give and a seller would accept for property or services, assuming that the buyer is willing to buy and the seller is willing to sell, that both are fully informed as to all facts material to the transaction, and that neither is under any compulsion to act.

(E) Without limitation on the evidence that may be used to establish the value of property or services involved in a theft offense:

(1) When the property involved is personal property held for sale at wholesale or retail, the price at which the property was held for sale is prima-facie evidence of its value.

(2) When the property involved is a security or commodity traded on an exchange, the closing price or, if there is no closing price, the asked price, given in the latest market quotation prior to the offense is prima-facie evidence of the value of the security or commodity.

(3) When the property involved is livestock, poultry, or raw agricultural products for which a local market price is available, the latest local market price prior to the offense is prima-facie evidence of the value of the livestock, poultry, or products.

(4) When the property involved is a negotiable instrument, the face value is prima-facie evidence of the value of the instrument.

(5) When the property involved is a warehouse receipt, bill of lading, pawn ticket, claim check, or other instrument entitling the holder or bearer to receive property, the face value or, if there is no face value, the value of the property covered by the instrument less any payment necessary to receive the property is prima-facie evidence of the value of the instrument.

(6) When the property involved is a ticket of admission, ticket for transportation, coupon, token, or other instrument entitling the holder or bearer to receive property or services, the face value or, if there is no face value, the value of the property or services that may be received by the instrument is prima-facie evidence of the value of the instrument.

(7) When the services involved are gas, electricity, water, telephone, transportation, shipping, or other services for which the rate is established by law, the duly established rate is prima-facie evidence of the value of the services.

(8) When the services involved are services for which the rate is not established by law, and the offender has been notified prior to the offense of the rate for the services, either in writing, orally, or by posting in a manner reasonably calculated to come to the attention of potential offenders, the rate contained in the notice is prima-facie evidence of the value of the services.

[AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCES]

§ 2913.71 Degree of offense when certain property involved.

Regardless of the value of the property involved and regardless of whether the offender previously has been convicted of a theft offense, a violation of section 2913.02 or 2913.51 of the Revised Code is a felony of the fifth degree if the property involved is any of the following:

(A) A credit card;

(B) A printed form for a check or other negotiable instrument, that on its face identifies the drawer or maker for whose use it is designed or identifies the account on which it is to be drawn, and that has not been executed by the drawer or maker or on which the amount is blank;

(C) A motor vehicle identification license plate as prescribed by section 4503.22 of the Revised Code, a temporary license placard or windshield sticker as prescribed by section 4503.182 [4503.18.2] of the Revised

Code, or any comparable license plate, placard, or sticker as prescribed by the applicable law of another state or the United States;†

(D) A blank form for a certificate of title or a manufacturer's or importer's certificate to a motor vehicle, as prescribed by section 4505.07 of the Revised Code;

(E) A blank form for any license listed in section 4507.01 of the Revised Code.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2913.71 of the Revised Code is amended by this act [Sub. H.B. 4] and also by Am. Sub. S.B. 2 of the 121st General Assembly (effective July 1, 1996). Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

§ 2913.72 Evidence of intent to commit theft of rental property.

(A) Each of the following shall be considered evidence of an intent to commit theft of rented property:

(1) At the time of entering into the rental contract, the rentee presented the renter with identification that was materially false, fictitious, or not current with respect to name, address, place of employment, or other relevant information.

(2) After receiving a notice demanding the return of rented property as provided in division (B) of this section, the rentee neither returned the rented property nor made arrangements acceptable with the renter to return the rented property.

(B) To establish that a rentee has an intent to commit theft of rented property under division (A)(2) of this section, a renter may issue a notice to a rentee demanding the return of rented property. The renter shall mail the notice by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the rentee at the address the rentee gave when the rental contract was executed, or to the rentee at the last address the rentee or the rentee's agent furnished in writing to the renter.

(C) A demand for the return of rented property is not a prerequisite for the prosecution of a rentee for theft of rented property. The evidence specified in division (A) of this section does not constitute the only evidence that may be considered as evidence of intent to commit theft of rented property.

(D) As used in this section:

(1) "Renter" means a person who owns rented property.

(2) "Rentee" means a person who pays consideration to a renter for the use of rented property.

HISTORY: 146 v S 2, Eff 7-1-96.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

§ 2913.73 Evidence of victim's lack of capacity to give consent.

In a prosecution for any alleged violation of a provision of this chapter, if the lack of consent of the victim is an element of the provision that allegedly was violated, evidence that, at the time of the alleged violation, the victim lacked the capacity to give consent is admissible to show that the victim did not give consent.

As used in this section, "lacks the capacity to consent" means being impaired for any reason to the extent that the person lacks sufficient understanding or capacity to make and carry out reasonable decisions concerning the person or the person's resources.

§ 2915.01 Definitions.

As used in this chapter:

(A) "Bookmaking" means the business of receiving or paying off bets.

(B) "Bet" means the hazarding of anything of value upon the result of an event, undertaking, or contingency, but does not include a bona fide business risk.

(C) "Scheme of chance" means a slot machine, lottery, numbers game, pool conducted for profit, or other scheme in which a participant gives a valuable consideration for a chance to win a prize, but does not include bingo, a skill-based amusement machine, or a pool not conducted for profit.

(D) "Game of chance" means poker, craps, roulette, or other game in which a player gives anything of value in the hope of gain, the outcome of which is determined largely by chance, but does not include bingo.

(E) "Game of chance conducted for profit" means any game of chance designed to produce income for the person who conducts or operates the game of chance, but does not include bingo.

(F) "Gambling device" means any of the following:

(1) A book, totalizer, or other equipment for recording bets;

(2) A ticket, token, or other device representing a chance, share, or interest in a scheme of chance or evidencing a bet;

(3) A deck of cards, dice, gaming table, roulette wheel, slot machine, or other apparatus designed for use in connection with a game of chance;

(4) Any equipment, device, apparatus, or paraphernalia specially designed for gambling purposes;

(5) Bingo supplies sold or otherwise provided, or used, in violation of this chapter.

(G) "Gambling offense" means any of the following:

(1) A violation of section 2915.02, 2915.03, 2915.04, 2915.05, 2915.07, 2915.08, 2915.081 [2915.08.1], 2915.082 [2915.08.2], 2915.09, 2915.091 [2915.09.1], 2915.092 [2915.09.2], 2915.10, or 2915.11 of the Revised Code;

(2) A violation of an existing or former municipal ordinance or law of this or any other state or the United States substantially equivalent to any section listed in division (G)(1) of this section or a violation of section 2915.06 of the Revised Code as it existed prior to July 1, 1996;

(3) An offense under an existing or former municipal ordinance or law of this or any other state or the United States, of which gambling is an element;

(4) A conspiracy or attempt to commit, or complicity in committing, any offense under division (G)(1), (2), or (3) of this section.

(H) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, "charitable organization" means any tax exempt religious, educational, veteran's, fraternal, sporting, service, nonprofit medical, volunteer rescue service, volunteer firefighter's, senior citizen's, historic railroad educational, youth athletic, amateur athletic, or youth athletic park organization. An organization is tax exempt if the organization is, and has received from the internal revenue service a determination letter that currently is in effect stating that the organization is, exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3), 501(c)(4), 501(c)(8), 501(c)(10), or 501(c)(19) of the Internal Revenue Code, or if the organization is a sporting organization that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and is described in subsection 501(c)(7) of the Internal Revenue Code. To qualify as a charitable organization, an organization, except a volunteer rescue service or volunteer firefighter's organization, shall have been in continuous existence as such in this state for a period of two years immediately preceding either the making of an application for a bingo license under section 2915.08 of the Revised Code or the conducting of any game of chance as provided in division (D) of section 2915.02 of the Revised Code. A charitable organization that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and that is created by a veteran's organization, a fraternal organization, or a sporting organization does not have to have been in continuous existence as such in this state for a period of two years immediately preceding either the making of an application for a bingo license under section 2915.08 of the Revised Code or the conducting of any game of chance as provided in division (D) of section 2915.02 of the Revised Code.

(I) "Religious organization" means any church, body of communicants, or group that is not organized or operated for profit and that gathers in common membership for regular worship and religious observances.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 136 v H 1 (Eff 6-13-75); 136 v S 398 (Eff 5-26-76); 136 v H 1547 (Eff 12-6-76); 137 v H 72 (Eff 12-15-77); 139 v S 91 (Eff 10-20-81); 143 v H 573 (Eff 4-10-91); 144 v S 98 (Eff 11-12-92); 146 v S 2, § 1 (Eff 7-1-96); 146 v H 143, § 1 (Eff 5-15-96); 146 v H 143, § 3 (Eff 7-1-96); 149 v H 512, Eff 4-3-2003; 150 v H 95, § 1, eff. 7-1-03; 150 v S 37, § 1, eff. 10-21-03; 150 v S 146, § 1, eff. 9-23-04; 150 v H 325, § 1, eff. 9-30-04.

The provisions of § 4, H.B. 325 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 4. Section 2915.01 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Am. Sub. H.B. 95 and Am. Sub. S.B. 37 of the 125th General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

The provisions of § 3, S.B. 146 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 3. The versions of sections 2915.01 and 2915.092 of the Revised Code presented in this act prevail over the versions of those sections presented in Sub. H.B. 325 of the 125th General Assembly.

Not analogous to former RC § 2915.01 (RS § 6932; S&C 662; 54 v 196; GC § 13054; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

Analogous to former RC § 2915.16 (GC § 13066-1; 124 v 838; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Sections 165.09, 902.11, 2915.01, 4505.06, 4981.20, 5739.01, and 5739.02 of the Revised Code are amended by [Am. Sub. H.B. 95 of the 125th General Assembly] and also by Am. Sub. S.B. 37, both of the 125th General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

§ 2915.02 Gambling.

(A) No person shall do any of the following:

(1) Engage in bookmaking, or knowingly engage in conduct that facilitates bookmaking;

(2) Establish, promote, or operate or knowingly engage in conduct that facilitates any game of chance conducted for profit or any scheme of chance;

(3) Knowingly procure, transmit, exchange, or engage in conduct that facilitates the procurement, transmission, or exchange of information for use in establishing odds or determining winners in connection with bookmaking or with any game of chance conducted for profit or any scheme of chance;

(4) Engage in betting or in playing any scheme or game of chance as a substantial source of income or livelihood;

(5) With purpose to violate division (A)(1), (2), (3), or (4) of this section, acquire, possess, control, or operate any gambling device.

(B) For purposes of division (A)(1) of this section, a person facilitates bookmaking if the person in any way knowingly aids an illegal bookmaking operation, including, without limitation, placing a bet with a person engaged in or facilitating illegal bookmaking. For purposes of division (A)(2) of this section, a person facilitates a game of chance conducted for profit or a scheme of chance if the person in any way knowingly aids in the conduct or operation of any such game or scheme, including, without limitation, playing any such game or scheme.

(C) This section does not prohibit conduct in connection with gambling expressly permitted by law.

(D) This section does not apply to any of the following:

(1) Games of chance, if all of the following apply:

(a) The games of chance are not craps for money or roulette for money.

(b) The games of chance are conducted by a charitable organization that is, and has received from the internal revenue service a determination letter that is currently in effect, stating that the organization is, exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

(c) The games of chance are conducted at festivals of the charitable organization that are conducted either for a period of four consecutive days or less and not more than twice a year or for a period of five consecutive days not more than once a year, and are conducted on premises owned by the charitable organization for a period of no less than one year immediately preceding the conducting of the games of chance, on premises leased from a governmental unit, or on premises that are leased from a veteran's or fraternal organization and that have been owned by the lessor veteran's or fraternal organization for a period of no less than one year immediately preceding the conducting of the games of chance.

A charitable organization shall not lease premises from a veteran's or fraternal organization to conduct a festival described in division (D)(1)(c) of this section if the veteran's or fraternal organization already has leased the premises four times during the preceding year to charitable organizations for that purpose. If a charitable organization leases premises from a veteran's or fraternal organization to conduct a festival described in division (D)(1)(c) of this section, the charitable organization shall not pay a rental rate for the premises per day of the festival that exceeds the rental rate per bingo session that a charitable organization may pay under division (B)(1) of section 2915.09 of the Revised Code when it leases premises from another charitable organization to conduct bingo games.

(d) All of the money or assets received from the games of chance after deduction only of prizes paid out during the conduct of the games of chance are used by, or given, donated, or otherwise transferred to, any organization that is described in subsection 509(a)(1), 509(a)(2), or 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is either a governmental unit or an organization that is tax exempt under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code;

(e) The games of chance are not conducted during, or within ten hours of, a bingo game conducted for amusement purposes only pursuant to section 2915.12 of the Revised Code.

No person shall receive any commission, wage, salary, reward, tip, donation, gratuity, or other form of compensation, directly or indirectly, for operating or assisting in the operation of any game of chance.

(2) Any tag fishing tournament operated under a permit issued under section 1533.92 of the Revised Code, as "tag fishing tournament" is defined in section 1531.01 of the Revised Code;

(3) Bingo conducted by a charitable organization that holds a license issued under section 2915.08 of the Revised Code.

(E) Division (D) of this section shall not be construed to authorize the sale, lease, or other temporary or permanent transfer of the right to conduct games of chance, as granted by that division, by any charitable organization that is granted that right.

(F) Whoever violates this section is guilty of gambling, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of any gambling offense, gambling is a felony of the fifth degree.

Not analogous to former RC § 2915.02 (GC § 13054-1; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53; 125 v 544), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2915.03 Operating a gambling house.

(A) No person, being the owner or lessee, or having custody, control, or supervision of premises, shall:

(1) Use or occupy such premises for gambling in violation of section 2915.02 of the Revised Code;

(2) Recklessly permit such premises to be used or occupied for gambling in violation of section 2915.02 of the Revised Code.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of operating a gambling house, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a gambling offense, operating a gambling house is a felony of the fifth degree.

(C) Premises used or occupied in violation of this section constitute a nuisance subject to abatement pursuant to sections 3767.01 to 3767.99 of the Revised Code.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

§ 2915.04 Public gaming.

(A) No person, while at a hotel, restaurant, tavern, store, arena, hall, or other place of public accommodation, business, amusement, or resort shall make a bet or play any game of chance or scheme of chance.

(B) No person, being the owner or lessee, or having custody, control, or supervision, of a hotel, restaurant, tavern, store, arena, hall, or other place of public accommodation, business, amusement, or resort shall recklessly permit those premises to be used or occupied in violation of division (A) of this section.

(C) Divisions (A) and (B) of this section do not prohibit conduct in connection with gambling expressly permitted by law.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of public gaming. Except as otherwise provided in this division, public gaming is a minor misdemeanor. If the offender previously has been convicted of any gambling offense, public gaming is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree.

(E) Premises used or occupied in violation of division (B) of this section constitute a nuisance subject to abatement under Chapter 3767. of the Revised Code.

§ 2915.05 Cheating, corrupting sports.

(A) No person, with purpose to defraud or knowing that the person is facilitating a fraud, shall engage in conduct designed to corrupt the outcome of any of the following:

- (1) The subject of a bet;
 - (2) A contest of knowledge, skill, or endurance that is not an athletic or sporting event;
 - (3) A scheme or game of chance;
 - (4) Bingo.
- (B) No person shall knowingly do any of the following:
- (1) Offer, give, solicit, or accept anything of value to corrupt the outcome of an athletic or sporting event;
 - (2) Engage in conduct designed to corrupt the outcome of an athletic or sporting event.

(C)(1) Whoever violates division (A) of this section is guilty of cheating. Except as otherwise provided in this division, cheating is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the potential gain from the cheating is five hundred dollars or more or if the offender previously has been convicted of any gambling offense or of any theft offense, as defined in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code, cheating is a felony of the fifth degree.

(2) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of corrupting sports. Corrupting sports is a felony of the fifth degree on a first offense and a felony of the fourth degree on each subsequent offense.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

§ 2915.08 Application for license.

(A)(1) Annually before the first day of January, a charitable organization that desires to conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session shall make out, upon a form to be furnished by the attorney general for that purpose, an application for a license to conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session and deliver that application to the attorney general together with a license fee as follows:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this division, for a license for the conduct of bingo, two hundred dollars;

(b) For a license for the conduct of instant bingo at a bingo session or instant bingo other than at a bingo session for a charitable organization that previously has not been licensed under this chapter to conduct instant bingo at a bingo session or instant bingo other than at a bingo session, a license fee of five hundred dollars, and for any other charitable organization, a license fee that is based upon the gross profits received by the charitable organization from the operation of instant bingo at a bingo session or instant bingo other than at a bingo session, during the one-year period ending on the thirty-first day of October of the year immediately preceding the year for which the license is sought, and that is one of the following:

(i) Five hundred dollars, if the total is fifty thousand dollars or less;

(ii) One thousand two hundred fifty dollars plus one-fourth per cent of the gross profit, if the total is more than fifty thousand dollars but less than two hundred fifty thousand one dollars;

(iii) Two thousand two hundred fifty dollars plus one-half per cent of the gross profit, if the total is more than two hundred fifty thousand dollars but less than five hundred thousand one dollars;

(iv) Three thousand five hundred dollars plus one per cent of the gross profit, if the total is more than five hundred thousand dollars but less than one million one dollars;

(v) Five thousand dollars plus one per cent of the gross profit, if the total is one million one dollars or more;

(c) A reduced license fee established by the attorney general pursuant to division (G) of this section.

(d) For a license to conduct bingo for a charitable organization that prior to the effective date of this amendment has not been licensed under this chapter to conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session, a license fee established by rule by the attorney general in accordance with division (H) of this section.

(2) The application shall be in the form prescribed by the attorney general, shall be signed and sworn to by the applicant, and shall contain all of the following:

(a) The name and post-office address of the applicant;

(b) A statement that the applicant is a charitable organization and that it has been in continuous existence as a charitable organization in this state for two years immediately preceding the making of the application or for five years in the case of a fraternal organization or a nonprofit medical organization;

(c) The location at which the organization will conduct bingo, which location shall be within the county in which the principal place of business of the applicant is located, the days of the week and the times on each of those days when bingo will be conducted, whether the organization owns, leases, or subleases the premises, and a copy of the rental agreement if it leases or subleases the premises;

(d) A statement of the applicant's previous history, record, and association that is sufficient to establish that the applicant is a charitable organization, and a copy of a determination letter that is issued by the Internal Revenue Service and states that the organization is tax exempt under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3), 501(c)(4), 501(c)(7), 501(c)(8), 501(c)(10), or 501(c)(19) of the Internal Revenue Code;

(e) A statement as to whether the applicant has ever had any previous application refused, whether it previously has had a license revoked or suspended, and the reason stated by the attorney general for the refusal, revocation, or suspension;

(f) A statement of the charitable purposes for which the net profit derived from bingo, other than instant bingo, will be used, and a statement of how the net profit derived from instant bingo will be distributed in accordance with section 2915.101 [2915.10.1] of the Revised Code;

(g) Other necessary and reasonable information that the attorney general may require by rule adopted pursuant to section 111.15 of the Revised Code;

(h) If the applicant is a charitable trust as defined in section 109.23 of the Revised Code, a statement as to whether it has registered with the attorney general pursuant to section 109.26 of the Revised Code or filed annual reports pursuant to section 109.31 of the Revised Code, and, if it is not required to do either, the exemption in section 109.26 or 109.31 of the Revised Code that applies to it;

(i) If the applicant is a charitable organization as defined in section 1716.01 of the Revised Code, a statement as to whether it has filed with the attorney general a registration statement pursuant to section 1716.02 of the Revised Code and a financial report pursuant to section 1716.04 of the Revised Code, and, if it is not required to do both, the exemption in section 1716.03 of the Revised Code that applies to it;

(j) In the case of an applicant seeking to qualify as a youth athletic park organization, a statement issued by a board or body vested with authority under Chapter 755. of the Revised Code for the supervision and maintenance of recreation facilities in the territory in which the organization is located, certifying that the playing fields owned by the organization were used for at least one hundred days during the year in which the statement is issued, and were open for use to all residents of that territory, regardless of race, color, creed, religion, sex, or national origin, for athletic activities by youth athletic organizations that do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, sex, or national origin, and that the fields were not used for any profit-making activity at any time during the year. That type of board or body is authorized to issue the statement upon request and shall issue the statement if it finds that the applicant's playing fields were so used.

(3) The attorney general, within thirty days after receiving a timely filed application from a charitable organization that has been issued a license under this section that has not expired and has not been revoked or suspended, shall send a temporary permit to the applicant specifying the date on which the application was filed with the attorney general and stating that, pursuant to section 119.06 of the Revised Code, the applicant may continue to conduct bingo until a new license is granted or, if the application is rejected, until fifteen days after notice of the rejection is mailed to the applicant. The temporary permit does not affect the validity of the applicant's application and does not grant any rights to the applicant except those rights specifically granted in section 119.06 of the Revised Code. The issuance of a temporary permit by the attorney general pursuant to this division does not prohibit the attorney general from rejecting the applicant's application because of acts that the applicant committed, or actions that the applicant failed to take, before or after the issuance of the temporary permit.

(4) Within thirty days after receiving an initial license application from a charitable organization to conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session, the attorney general shall conduct a preliminary review of the application and notify the applicant regarding any deficiencies. Once an application is deemed complete, or beginning on the thirtieth day after the application is filed, if the attorney general failed to notify the applicant of any deficiencies, the attorney general shall have an additional sixty days to conduct an investigation and either grant or deny the application based on findings established and communicated in accordance with divisions (B) and (E) of this section. As an option to granting or denying an initial license application, the attorney general may grant a temporary license and request additional time to conduct the investigation if the attorney general has cause to believe that additional time is necessary to complete the investigation and has notified the applicant in writing about the specific concerns raised during the investigation.

(B)(1) The attorney general shall adopt rules to enforce sections 2915.01, 2915.02, and 2915.07 to 2915.13 of the Revised Code to ensure that bingo or instant bingo is conducted in accordance with those sections and to maintain proper control over the conduct of bingo or instant bingo. The rules, except rules adopted pursuant to divisions (A)(2)(g) and (G) of this section, shall be adopted pursuant to Chapter 119. of the Revised Code. The attorney general shall license charitable organizations to conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session in conformance with this chapter and with the licensing provisions of Chapter 119. of the Revised Code.

(2) The attorney general may refuse to grant a license to any organization, or revoke or suspend the license of any organization, that does any of the following or to which any of the following applies:

(a) Fails or has failed at any time to meet any requirement of section 109.26, 109.31, or 1716.02, or sections 2915.07 to 2915.11 of the Revised Code, or violates or has violated any provision of sections 2915.02 or 2915.07 to 2915.13 of the Revised Code or any rule adopted by the attorney general pursuant to this section;

(b) Makes or has made an incorrect or false statement that is material to the granting of the license in an application filed pursuant to division (A) of this section;

(c) Submits or has submitted any incorrect or false information relating to an application if the information is material to the granting of the license;

(d) Maintains or has maintained any incorrect or false information that is material to the granting of the license in the records required to be kept pursuant to divisions (A) and (C) of section 2915.10 of the Revised Code, if applicable;

(e) The attorney general has good cause to believe that the organization will not conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session in accordance with sections 2915.07 to 2915.13 of the Revised Code or with any rule adopted by the attorney general pursuant to this section.

(3) For the purposes of division (B) of this section, any action of an officer, trustee, agent, representative, or bingo game operator of an organization is an action of the organization.

(C) The attorney general may grant licenses to charitable organizations that are branches, lodges, or chapters of national charitable organizations.

(D) The attorney general shall send notice in writing to the prosecuting attorney and sheriff of the county in which the organization will conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session, as stated in its application for a license or amended license, and to any other law enforcement agency in that county that so requests, of all of the following:

- (1) The issuance of the license;
- (2) The issuance of the amended license;
- (3) The rejection of an application for and refusal to grant a license;
- (4) The revocation of any license previously issued;
- (5) The suspension of any license previously issued.

(E) A license issued by the attorney general shall set forth the information contained on the application of the charitable organization that the attorney general determines is relevant, including, but not limited to, the location at which the organization will conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session and the days of the week and the times on each of those days when bingo will be conducted. If the attorney general refuses to grant or revokes or suspends a license, the attorney general shall notify the applicant in writing and specifically identify the reason for the refusal, revocation, or suspension in narrative form and, if applicable, by identifying the section of the Revised Code violated. The failure of the attorney general to give the written notice of the reasons for the refusal, revocation, or suspension or a mistake in the written notice does not affect the validity of the attorney general's refusal to grant, or the revocation or suspension of, a license. If the attorney general fails to give the written notice or if there is a mistake in the written notice, the applicant may bring an action to compel the attorney general to comply with this division or to correct the mistake, but the attorney general's order refusing to grant, or revoking or suspending, a license shall not be enjoined during the pendency of the action.

(F) A charitable organization that has been issued a license pursuant to division (B) of this section but that cannot conduct bingo or instant bingo at the location, or on the day of the week or at the time, specified on the license due to circumstances that make it impractical to do so may apply in writing, together with an application fee of two hundred fifty dollars, to the attorney general, at least thirty days prior to a change in location, day of the week, or time, and request an amended license. The application shall describe the causes making it impractical for the organization to conduct bingo or instant bingo in conformity with its license and shall indicate the location, days of the week, and times on each of those days when it desires to conduct bingo or instant bingo. Except as otherwise provided in this division, the attorney general shall issue the amended license in accordance with division (E) of this section, and the organization shall surrender its original license to the attorney general. The attorney general may refuse to grant an amended license according to the terms of division (B) of this section.

(G) The attorney general, by rule adopted pursuant to section 111.15 of the Revised Code, shall establish a schedule of reduced license fees for charitable organizations that desire to conduct bingo or instant bingo during fewer than twenty-six weeks in any calendar year.

(H) The attorney general, by rule adopted pursuant to section 111.15 of the Revised Code, shall establish license fees for the conduct of bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session for charitable organizations that prior to the effective date of this amendment have not been licensed to conduct bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, or instant bingo other than at a bingo session under this chapter.

(I) The attorney general may enter into a written contract with any other state agency to delegate to that state agency the powers prescribed to the attorney general under Chapter 2915. of the Revised Code.

(J) The attorney general, by rule adopted pursuant to section 111.15 of the Revised Code, may adopt rules to determine the requirements for a charitable organization that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code to be in good standing in the state.

The provisions of § 134.05, H.B. 95 (150 v —), read as follows: SECTION 134.05. Division (A)(4) of section 2915.08 of the Revised Code shall not be applied until January 31, 2004.

The effective date is set by section 182 of H.B. 95 (150 v —). Not analogous to former RC § 2915.08 (RS § 6939; S&C 446; 75 v 57; GC §§ 13060, 13061; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The provisions of §§ 3, 7 of H.B. 512 (149 v —), as amended by § 134.05 of H.B. 95 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 3. The annual license fees prescribed by division (A)(1) of section 2915.08 of the Revised Code, as amended by this act, shall not be applied until one year after the effective date of this act. During that one-year period after the effective date of this act, the attorney general may, by rule adopted pursuant to section 111.15 of the Revised Code establish the license fees for the conduct of bingo, instant bingo at a bingo session, and instant bingo other than at a bingo session.

SECTION 7. Division (A)(4) of section 2915.08 of the Revised Code shall not be applied until January 31, 2004.

[§ 2915.08.1] § 2915.081 Distributor license for bingo supplies.

(A) No distributor shall sell, offer to sell, or otherwise provide or offer to provide bingo supplies to another person, or modify, convert, add to, or remove parts from bingo supplies to further their promotion or sale, for use in this state without having obtained a license from the attorney general under this section.

(B) The attorney general may issue a distributor license to any person that meets the requirements of this section. The application for the license shall be on a form prescribed by the attorney general and be accompanied by the annual fee prescribed by this section. The license is valid for a period of one year, and the annual fee for the license is five thousand dollars.

(C) The attorney general may refuse to issue a distributor license to any person to which any of the following applies, or to any person that has an officer, partner, or other person who has an ownership interest of ten per cent or more and to whom any of the following applies:

(1) The person, officer, or partner has been convicted of a felony under the laws of this state, another state, or the United States.

(2) The person, officer, or partner has been convicted of any gambling offense.

(3) The person, officer, or partner has made an incorrect or false statement that is material to the granting of a license in an application submitted to the attorney general under this section or in a similar application submitted to a gambling licensing authority in another jurisdiction if the statement resulted in license revocation through administrative action in the other jurisdiction.

(4) The person, officer, or partner has submitted any incorrect or false information relating to the application to the attorney general under this section, if the information is material to the granting of the license.

(5) The person, officer, or partner has failed to correct any incorrect or false information that is material to the granting of the license in the records required to be maintained under division (E) of section 2915.10 of the Revised Code.

(6) The person, officer, or partner has had a license related to gambling revoked or suspended under the laws of this state, another state, or the United States.

(D) The attorney general shall not issue a distributor license to any person that is involved in the conduct of bingo on behalf of a charitable organization or that is a lessor of premises used for the conduct of bingo. This division does not prohibit a distributor from advising charitable organizations on the use and benefit of specific bingo supplies or prohibit a distributor from advising a customer on operational methods to improve bingo profitability.

(E)(1) No distributor shall sell, offer to sell, or otherwise provide or offer to provide bingo supplies to any person, or modify, convert, add to, or remove parts from bingo supplies to further their promotion or sale, for use in this state except to or for the use of a charitable organization that has been issued a license under section 2915.08 of the Revised Code or to another distributor that has been issued a license under this section. No distributor shall accept payment for the sale or other provision of bingo supplies other than by check.

(2) No distributor may donate, give, loan, lease, or otherwise provide any bingo supplies or equipment, or modify, convert, add to, or remove parts from bingo supplies to further their promotion or sale, to or for the use of a charitable organization for use in a bingo session conditioned on or in consideration for an exclusive right to provide bingo supplies to the charitable organization. A distributor may provide a licensed charitable organization with free samples of the distributor's products to be used as prizes or to be used for the purpose of sampling.

(3) No distributor shall purchase bingo supplies for use in this state from any person except from a manufacturer issued a license under section 2915.082 [2915.08.2] of the Revised Code or from another distributor issued a license under this section. Subject to division (D) of section 2915.082 [2915.08.2] of the Revised Code, no distributor shall pay for purchased bingo supplies other than by check.

(4) No distributor shall participate in the conduct of bingo on behalf of a charitable organization or have any direct or indirect ownership interest in a premises used for the conduct of bingo.

(5) No distributor shall knowingly solicit, offer, pay, or receive any kickback, bribe, or undocumented rebate, directly or indirectly, overtly or covertly, in cash or in kind, in return for providing bingo supplies to any person in this state.

(F) The attorney general may suspend or revoke a distributor license for any of the reasons for which the attorney general may refuse to issue a distributor license specified in division (C) of this section or if the distributor holding the license violates any provision of this chapter or any rule adopted by the attorney general under this chapter.

(G) Whoever violates division (A) or (E) of this section is guilty of illegally operating as a distributor. Except as otherwise provided in this division, illegally operating as a distributor is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of division (A) or (E) of this section, illegally operating as a distributor is a felony of the fifth degree.

[§ 2915.08.2] § 2915.082 Manufacturer license.

(A) No manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, or otherwise provide or offer to provide bingo supplies for use in this state without having obtained a license from the attorney general under this section.

(B) The attorney general may issue a manufacturer license to any person that meets the requirements of this section. The application for the license shall be on a form prescribed by the attorney general and be accompanied by the annual fee prescribed by this section. The license is valid for a period of one year, and the annual fee for the license is five thousand dollars.

(C) The attorney general may refuse to issue a manufacturer license to any person to which any of the following applies, or to any person that has an officer, partner, or other person who has an ownership interest of ten per cent or more and to whom any of the following applies:

(1) The person, officer, or partner has been convicted of a felony under the laws of this state, another state, or the United States.

(2) The person, officer, or partner has been convicted of any gambling offense.

(3) The person, officer, or partner has made an incorrect or false statement that is material to the granting of a license in an application submitted to the attorney general under this section or in a similar application submitted to a gambling licensing authority in another jurisdiction if the statement resulted in license revocation through administrative action in the other jurisdiction.

(4) The person, officer, or partner has submitted any incorrect or false information relating to the application to the attorney general under this section, if the information is material to the granting of the license.

(5) The person, officer, or partner has failed to correct any incorrect or false information that is material to the granting of the license in the records required to be maintained under division (F) of section 2915.10 of the Revised Code.

(6) The person, officer, or partner has had a license related to gambling revoked or suspended under the laws of this state, another state, or the United States.

(D)(1) No manufacturer shall sell, offer to sell, or otherwise provide or offer to provide bingo supplies to any person for use in this state except to a distributor that has been issued a license under section 2915.081 [2915.08.1] of the Revised Code. No manufacturer shall accept payment for the sale of bingo supplies other than by check.

(2) No manufacturer shall knowingly solicit, offer, pay, or receive any kickback, bribe, or undocumented rebate, directly or indirectly, overtly or covertly, in cash or in kind, in return for providing bingo supplies to any person in this state.

(E)(1) The attorney general may suspend or revoke a manufacturer license for any of the reasons for which the attorney general may refuse to issue a manufacturer license specified in division (C) of this section or if the manufacturer holding the license violates any provision of this chapter or any rule adopted by the attorney general under this chapter.

(2) The attorney general may perform an onsite inspection of a manufacturer of bingo supplies that is selling, offering to sell, or otherwise providing or offering to provide bingo supplies or that is applying for a license to sell, offer to sell, or otherwise provide or offer to provide bingo supplies in this state.

(F) Whoever violates division (A) or (D) of this section is guilty of illegally operating as a manufacturer. Except as otherwise provided in this division, illegally operating as a manufacturer is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of division (A) or (D) of this section, illegally operating as a manufacturer is a felony of the fifth degree.

HISTORY: 149 v H 512. Eff 4-2-2003; 150 v H 95, § 1, eff. 7-1-03.

The effective date is set by section 182 of H.B. 95 (150 v —).

§ 2915.09 Rules for conducting bingo.

(A) No charitable organization that conducts bingo shall fail to do any of the following:

(1) Own all of the equipment used to conduct bingo or lease that equipment from a charitable organization that is licensed to conduct bingo for a rental rate that is not more than is customary and reasonable for that equipment;

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (A)(3) of this section, use all of the gross receipts from bingo for paying prizes, for reimbursement of expenses for or for renting premises in which to conduct a bingo session, for reimbursement of expenses for or for purchasing or leasing bingo supplies used in conducting bingo, for reimbursement of expenses for or for hiring security personnel, for reimbursement of expenses for or for advertising bingo, or for reimbursement of other expenses or for other expenses listed in division (LL) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code, provided that the amount of the receipts so spent is not more than is customary and reasonable for a similar purchase, lease, hiring, advertising, or expense. If the building in which bingo is conducted is owned by the charitable organization conducting bingo and the bingo conducted includes a form of bingo described in division (S)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code, the charitable organization may deduct from the total amount of the gross receipts from each session a sum equal to the lesser of six hundred dollars or forty-five per cent of the gross receipts from the bingo described in that division as consideration for the use of the premises.

(3) Use, or give, donate, or otherwise transfer, all of the net profit derived from bingo, other than instant bingo, for a charitable purpose listed in its license application and described in division (Z) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code, or distribute all of the net profit from the proceeds of the sale of instant bingo as stated in its license application and in accordance with section 2915.101 [2915.10.1] of the Revised Code.

(B) No charitable organization that conducts a bingo game described in division (S)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code shall fail to do any of the following:

(1) Conduct the bingo game on premises that are owned by the charitable organization, on premises that are owned by another charitable organization and leased from that charitable organization for a rental rate not in excess of the lesser of six hundred dollars per bingo session or forty-five per cent of the gross receipts of the bingo session, on premises that are leased from a person other than a charitable organization for a rental rate that is not more than is customary and reasonable for premises that are similar in location, size, and quality but not in excess of four hundred fifty dollars per bingo session, or on premises that are owned by a person other than a charitable organization, that are leased from that person by another charitable organization, and that are subleased from that other charitable organization by the charitable organization for a rental rate not in excess of four hundred fifty dollars per bingo session. If the charitable organization leases from a person other than a charitable organization the premises on which it conducts bingo sessions, the lessor of the premises shall provide only the premises to the organization and shall not provide the organization with bingo game operators, security personnel, concessions or concession operators, bingo supplies, or any other type of service or equipment. A charitable organization shall not lease or sublease premises that it owns or leases to more than one other charitable organization per calendar week for the purpose of conducting bingo sessions on the premises. A person that is not a charitable organization shall not lease premises that it owns, leases, or otherwise is empowered to lease to more than one charitable organization per calendar week for conducting bingo sessions on the premises. In no case shall more than two bingo sessions be conducted on any premises in any calendar week.

(2) Display its license conspicuously at the premises where the bingo session is conducted;

(3) Conduct the bingo session in accordance with the definition of bingo set forth in division (S)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code.

(C) No charitable organization that conducts a bingo game described in division (S)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code shall do any of the following:

(1) Pay any compensation to a bingo game operator for operating a bingo session that is conducted by the charitable organization or for preparing, selling, or serving food or beverages at the site of the bingo session, permit any auxiliary unit or society of the charitable organization to pay compensation to any bingo game operator who prepares, sells, or serves food or beverages at a bingo session conducted by the charitable organization, or permit any auxiliary unit or society of the charitable organization to prepare, sell, or serve food or beverages at a bingo session conducted by the charitable organization, if the auxiliary unit or society pays any compensation to the bingo game operators who prepare, sell, or serve the food or beverages;

(2) Pay consulting fees to any person for any services performed in relation to the bingo session;

(3) Pay concession fees to any person who provides refreshments to the participants in the bingo session;

(4) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(4) of this section, conduct more than two bingo sessions in any seven-day period. A volunteer firefighter's organization or a volunteer rescue service organization that conducts not more than five bingo sessions in a calendar year may conduct more than two bingo sessions in a seven-day period after notifying the attorney general when it will conduct the sessions.

(5) Pay out more than three thousand five hundred dollars in prizes for bingo games described in division (S)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code during any bingo session that is conducted by the charitable organization. "Prizes" does not include awards from the conduct of instant bingo.

(6) Conduct a bingo session at any time during the ten-hour period between midnight and ten a.m., at any time during, or within ten hours of, a bingo game conducted for amusement only pursuant to section 2915.12 of the Revised Code, at any premises not specified on its license, or on any day of the week or during any time period not specified on its license. Division (A)(6) of this section does not prohibit the sale of instant bingo tickets beginning at nine a.m. for a bingo session that begins at ten a.m. If circumstances make it impractical for the charitable organization to conduct a bingo session at the premises, or on the day of the week or at the time, specified on its license or if a charitable organization wants to conduct bingo sessions on a day of the week or at a time other than the day or time specified on its license, the charitable organization may apply in writing to the attorney general for an amended license pursuant to division (F) of section 2915.08 of the Revised Code. A charitable organization may apply twice in each calendar year for an amended license to conduct bingo sessions on a day of the week or at a time other than the day or time specified on its license. If the amended license is granted, the organization may conduct bingo sessions at the premises, on the day of the week, and at the time specified on its amended license.

(7) Permit any person whom the charitable organization knows, or should have known, is under the age of eighteen to work as a bingo game operator;

(8) Permit any person whom the charitable organization knows, or should have known, has been convicted of a felony or gambling offense in any jurisdiction to be a bingo game operator;

(9) Permit the lessor of the premises on which the bingo session is conducted, if the lessor is not a charitable organization, to provide the charitable organization with bingo game operators, security personnel, concessions, bingo supplies, or any other type of service or equipment;

(10) Purchase or lease bingo supplies from any person except a distributor issued a license under section 2915.081 [2915.08.1] of the Revised Code;

(11)(a) Use or permit the use of electronic bingo aids except under the following circumstances:

(i) For any single participant, not more than ninety bingo faces can be played using an electronic bingo aid or aids.

(ii) The charitable organization shall provide a participant using an electronic bingo aid with corresponding paper bingo cards or sheets.

(iii) The total price of bingo faces played with an electronic bingo aid shall be equal to the total price of the same number of bingo faces played with a paper bingo card or sheet sold at the same bingo session but without an electronic bingo aid.

(iv) An electronic bingo aid cannot be part of an electronic network other than a network that includes only bingo aids and devices that are located on the premises at which the bingo is being conducted or be interactive with any device not located on the premises at which the bingo is being conducted.

(v) An electronic bingo aid cannot be used to participate in bingo that is conducted at a location other than the location at which the bingo session is conducted and at which the electronic bingo aid is used.

(vi) An electronic bingo aid cannot be used to provide for the input of numbers and letters announced by a bingo caller other than the bingo caller who physically calls the numbers and letters at the location at which the bingo session is conducted and at which the electronic bingo aid is used.

(b) The attorney general may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code that govern the use of electronic bingo aids. The rules may include a requirement that an electronic bingo aid be capable of being audited by the attorney general to verify the number of bingo cards or sheets played during each bingo session.

(12) Permit any person the charitable organization knows, or should have known, to be under eighteen years of age to play bingo described in division (S)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code.

(D)(1) Except as otherwise provided in division (D)(3) of this section, no charitable organization shall provide to a bingo game operator, and no bingo game operator shall receive or accept, any commission, wage, salary, reward, tip, donation, gratuity, or other form of compensation, directly or indirectly, regardless of the source, for conducting bingo or providing other work or labor at the site of bingo during a bingo session.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (D)(3) of this section, no charitable organization shall provide to a bingo game operator any commission, wage, salary, reward, tip, donation, gratuity, or other form of compensation, directly or indirectly, regardless of the source, for conducting instant bingo other than at a bingo session at the site of instant bingo other than at a bingo session.

(3) Nothing in division (D) of this section prohibits an employee of a fraternal organization, veteran's organization, or sporting organization from selling instant bingo tickets or cards to the organization's members or invited guests, as long as no portion of the employee's compensation is paid from any receipts of bingo.

(E) Notwithstanding division (B)(1) of this section, a charitable organization that, prior to December 6, 1977, has entered into written agreements for the lease of premises it owns to another charitable organization or other charitable organizations for the conducting of bingo sessions so that more than two bingo sessions are conducted per calendar week on the premises, and a person that is not a charitable organization and that, prior to December 6, 1977, has entered into written agreements for the lease of premises it owns to charitable organizations for the conducting of more than two bingo sessions per calendar week on the premises, may continue to lease the premises to those charitable organizations, provided that no more than four sessions are conducted per calendar week, that the lessor organization or person has notified the attorney general in writing of the organizations that will conduct the sessions and the days of the week and the times of the day on which the sessions will be conducted, that the initial lease entered into with each organization that will conduct the sessions was filed with the attorney general prior to December 6, 1977, and that each organization that will conduct the sessions was issued a license to conduct bingo games by the attorney general prior to December 6, 1977.

(F) This section does not prohibit a bingo licensed charitable organization or a game operator from giving any person an instant bingo ticket as a prize.

(G) Whoever violates division (A)(2) of this section is guilty of illegally conducting a bingo game, a felony of the fourth degree. Except as otherwise provided in this division, whoever violates division (A)(1) or (3), (B)(1), (2), or (3), (C)(1) to (12), or (D) of this section is guilty of a minor misdemeanor. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of division (A)(1) or (3), (B)(1), (2), or (3), (C)(1) to (11), or (D) of this section, a violation of division (A)(1) or (3), (B)(1), (2), or (3), (C), or (D) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree. Whoever violates division (C)(12) of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree, if the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of division (C)(12) of this section, a felony of the fourth degree.

The provisions of § 9 of HB 512 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 9. Section 2915.09 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Am. Sub. S.B. 70 and Am. Sub. S.B. 2 of the 121st General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 1.52 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

[§ 2915.09.1] § 2915.091 Rules for conducting instant bingo.

(A) No charitable organization that conducts instant bingo shall do any of the following:

(1) Fail to comply with the requirements of divisions (A)(1), (2), and (3) of section 2915.09 of the Revised Code;

(2) Conduct instant bingo unless either of the following apply:

(a) That organization is, and has received from the internal revenue service a determination letter that is currently in effect stating that the organization is, exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a), is described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, is a charitable organization as defined in section 2915.01 of the Revised Code, is in good standing in the state pursuant to section 2915.08 of the Revised Code, and is in compliance with Chapter 1716. of the Revised Code;

(b) That organization is, and has received from the internal revenue service a determination letter that is currently in effect stating that the organization is, exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a), is described in subsection 501(c)(7), 501(c)(8), 501(c)(10), or 501(c)(19) or is a veteran's organization described in subsection 501(c)(4) of the Internal Revenue Code, and conducts instant bingo under section 2915.13 of the Revised Code.

(3) Conduct instant bingo on any day, at any time, or at any premises not specified on the organization's license issued pursuant to section 2915.08 of the Revised Code;

(4) Permit any person whom the organization knows or should have known has been convicted of a felony or gambling offense in any jurisdiction to be a bingo game operator in the conduct of instant bingo;

(5) Purchase or lease supplies used to conduct instant bingo or punch board games from any person except a distributor licensed under section 2915.081 of the Revised Code;

(6) Sell or provide any instant bingo ticket or card for a price different from the price printed on it by the manufacturer on either the instant bingo ticket or card or on the game flare;

(7) Sell an instant bingo ticket or card to a person under eighteen years of age;

(8) Fail to keep unsold instant bingo tickets or cards for less than three years;

(9) Pay any compensation to a bingo game operator for conducting instant bingo that is conducted by the organization or for preparing, selling, or serving food or beverages at the site of the instant bingo game, permit any auxiliary unit or society of the organization to pay compensation to any bingo game operator who prepares, sells, or serves food or beverages at an instant bingo game conducted by the organization, or permit any auxiliary unit or society of the organization to prepare, sell, or serve food or beverages at an instant bingo game conducted by the organization, if the auxiliary unit or society pays any compensation to the bingo game operators who prepare, sell, or serve the food or beverages;

(10) Pay fees to any person for any services performed in relation to an instant bingo game;

(11) Pay fees to any person who provides refreshments to the participants in an instant bingo game;

(12)(a) Allow instant bingo tickets or cards to be sold to bingo game operators at a premises at which the organization sells instant bingo tickets or cards or to be sold to employees of a D permit holder who are working at a premises at which instant bingo tickets or cards are sold;

(b) Division (A)(12)(a) of this section does not prohibit a licensed charitable organization or a bingo game operator from giving any person an instant bingo tickets as a prize.

(13) Fail to display its bingo license, and the serial numbers of the deal of instant bingo tickets or cards to be sold, conspicuously at each premises at which it sells instant bingo tickets or cards;

(14) Possess a deal of instant bingo tickets or cards that was not purchased from a distributor licensed under section 2915.081 of the Revised Code as reflected on an invoice issued by the distributor that contains all of the information required by division (E) of section 2915.10 of the Revised Code;

(15) Fail, once it opens a deal of instant bingo tickets or cards, to continue to sell the tickets or cards in that deal until the tickets or cards with the top two highest tiers of prizes in that deal are sold;

(16) Purchase, lease, or use instant bingo ticket dispensers to sell instant bingo tickets or cards;

(17) Possess bingo supplies that were not obtained in accordance with sections 2915.01 to 2915.13 of the Revised Code.

(B) A charitable organization may conduct instant bingo other than at a bingo session at not more than five separate locations. A charitable organization that is exempt from federal taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and that is created by a veteran's organization or a fraternal organization is not limited in the number of separate locations the charitable organization may conduct instant bingo other than at a bingo session.

(C) The attorney general may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code that govern the conduct of instant bingo by charitable organizations. Before those rules are adopted, the attorney general shall reference the recommended standards for opacity, randomization, minimum information, winner protection, color, and cutting for instant bingo tickets or cards, seal cards, and punch boards established by the North American gaming regulators association.

(D) Whoever violates division (A) of this section or a rule adopted under division (C) of this section is guilty of illegal instant bingo conduct. Except as otherwise provided in this division, illegal instant bingo conduct is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of division (A) of this section or of such a rule, illegal instant bingo conduct is a felony of the fifth degree.

[§ 2915.09.2] § 2915.092 Raffles.

(A)(1) Subject to division (A)(2) of this section, a charitable organization, a public school, a chartered nonpublic school, a community school, or a veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and is described in subsection 501(c)(3), 501(c)(4), 501(c)(7), 501(c)(8), 501(c)(10), or 501(c)(19) of the Internal Revenue Code may conduct a raffle to raise money for the organization or school and does not need a license to conduct bingo in order to conduct a raffle drawing that is not for profit.

(2) If a charitable organization that is described in division (A)(1) of this section, but that is not also described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, conducts a raffle, the charitable organization shall distribute at least fifty per cent of the net profit from the raffle to a charitable purpose described in division (Z) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code or to a department or agency of the federal government, the state, or any political subdivision.

(B) Except as provided in division (A) or (B) of this section, no person shall conduct a raffle drawing that is for profit or a raffle drawing that is not for profit.

(C) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of illegal conduct of a raffle. Except as otherwise provided in this division, illegal conduct of a raffle is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of division (B) of this section, illegal conduct of a raffle is a felony of the fifth degree.

The provisions of § 3, S.B. 146 (150 v —), read as follows:

SECTION 3. The versions of sections 2915.01 and 2915.092 of the Revised Code presented in this act prevail over the versions of those sections presented in Sub. H.B. 325 of the 125th General Assembly.

The effective date is set by section 182 of H.B. 95 (150 v —).

[§ 2915.09.3] § 2915.093 Conduct- ing instant bingo other than at bingo session.

(A) As used in this section, "retail income from all commercial activity" means the income that a person receives from the provision of goods, services, or activities that are provided at the location where instant bingo other than at a bingo session is conducted, including the sale of instant bingo tickets. A religious organization that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, at not more than one location at which it conducts its charitable programs, may include donations from its members and guests as retail income.

(B) A charitable instant bingo organization may conduct instant bingo other than at a bingo session at not more than five separate locations.

(C)(1) If a charitable instant bingo organization conducts instant bingo other than at a bingo session, the charitable instant bingo organization shall enter into a written contract with the owner or lessor of the location at which the instant bingo is conducted to allow the owner or lessor to assist in the conduct of instant bingo other than at a bingo session, identify each location where the instant bingo other than at a bingo session is being conducted, and identify the owner or lessor of each location.

(2) A charitable instant bingo organization that conducts instant bingo other than at a bingo session is not required to enter into a written contract with the owner or lessor of the location at which the instant bingo is conducted provided that the owner or lessor is not assisting in the conduct of the instant bingo other than at a bingo session and provided that the conduct of the instant bingo other than at a bingo session at that location is not more than five days per calendar year and not more than ten hours per day.

(D) Except as provided in division (C) of this section, no charitable instant bingo organization shall conduct instant bingo other than at a bingo session at a location where the primary source of retail income from all commercial activity at that location is the sale of instant bingo tickets.

(E) The owner or lessor of a location that enters into a contract pursuant to division (C) of this section shall pay the full gross profit to the charitable instant bingo organization, in return for the deal of instant bingo tickets. The owner or lessor may retain the money that the owner or lessor receives for selling the instant bingo tickets, provided, however, that after the deal has been sold, the owner or lessor shall pay to the charitable instant bingo organization the value of any unredeemed instant bingo prizes remaining in the deal of instant bingo tickets.

As used in this division, "full gross profit" means the amount by which the total receipts of all instant bingo tickets, if the deal had been sold in full, exceeds the amount that would be paid out if all prizes were redeemed.

(F) A charitable instant bingo organization shall provide the attorney general with all of the following information:

(1) That the charitable instant bingo organization has terminated a contract entered into pursuant to division (C) of this section with an owner or lessor of a location;

(2) That the charitable instant bingo organization has entered into a written contract pursuant to division (C) of this section with a new owner or lessor of a location;

(3) That the charitable instant bingo organization is aware of conduct by the owner or lessor of a location at which instant bingo is conducted that is in violation of this chapter.

(G) Division (D) of this section does not apply to a volunteer firefighter's organization that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, that conducts instant bingo other than at a bingo session on the premises where the organization conducts firefighter training, that has conducted instant bingo continuously for at least five years prior to July 1, 2003, and that, during each of those five years, had gross receipts of at least one million five hundred thousand dollars.

[§ 2915.09.4] § 2915.094 Owner or lessor of location for conducting instant bingo other than at bingo session.

(A) No owner or lessor of a location shall assist a charitable instant bingo organization in the conduct of instant bingo other than at a bingo session at that location unless the owner or lessor has entered into a written contract, as described in division (C) of section 2915.093 [2915.09.3] of the Revised Code, with the charitable instant bingo organization to assist in the conduct of instant bingo other than at a bingo session.

(B) The location of the lessor or owner shall be designated as a location where the charitable instant bingo organization conducts instant bingo other than at a bingo session.

(C) No owner or lessor of a location that enters into a written contract as prescribed in division (A) of this section shall violate any provision of Chapter 2915. of the Revised Code, or permit, aid, or abet any other person in violating any provision of Chapter 2915. of the Revised Code.

(D) No owner or lessor of a location that enters into a written contract as prescribed in division (A) of this section shall violate the terms of the contract.

(E)(1) Whoever violates division (C) or (D) of this section is guilty of illegal instant bingo conduct. Except as otherwise provided in this division, illegal instant bingo conduct is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of division (C) or (D) of this section, illegal instant bingo conduct is a felony of the fifth degree.

(2) If an owner or lessor of a location knowingly, intentionally, or recklessly violates division (C) or (D) of this section, any license that the owner or lessor holds for the retail sale of any goods on the owner's or lessor's premises that is issued by the state or a political subdivision is subject to suspension, revocation, or payment of a monetary penalty at the request of the attorney general.

§ 2915.10 Records to be kept for three years.

(A) No charitable organization that conducts bingo or a game of chance pursuant to division (D) of section 2915.02 of the Revised Code shall fail to maintain the following records for at least three years from the date on which the bingo or game of chance is conducted:

(1) An itemized list of the gross receipts of each bingo session, each game of instant bingo by serial number, each raffle, each punch board game, and each game of chance, and an itemized list of the gross profits of each game of instant bingo by serial number;

(2) An itemized list of all expenses, other than prizes, that are incurred in conducting bingo or instant bingo, the name of each person to whom the expenses are paid, and a receipt for all of the expenses;

(3) A list of all prizes awarded during each bingo session, each raffle, each punch board game, and each game of chance conducted by the charitable organization, the total prizes awarded from each game of instant bingo by serial number, and the name, address, and social security number of all persons who are winners of prizes of six hundred dollars or more in value;

(4) An itemized list of the recipients of the net profit of the bingo or game of chance, including the name and address of each recipient to whom the money is distributed, and if the organization uses the net profit of bingo, or the money or assets received from a game of chance, for any charitable or other purpose set forth in division (Z) of section 2915.01, division (D) of section 2915.02, or section 2915.101 of the Revised Code, a list of each purpose and an itemized list of each expenditure for each purpose;

(5) The number of persons who participate in any bingo session or game of chance that is conducted by the charitable organization;

(6) A list of receipts from the sale of food and beverages by the charitable organization or one of its auxiliary units or societies, if the receipts were excluded from gross receipts under division (X) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code;

(7) An itemized list of all expenses incurred at each bingo session, each raffle, each punch board game, or each game of instant bingo conducted by the charitable organization in the sale of food and beverages by the charitable organization or by an auxiliary unit or society of the charitable organization, the name of each person to whom the expenses are paid, and a receipt for all of the expenses.

(B) A charitable organization shall keep the records that it is required to maintain pursuant to division (A) of this section at its principal place of business in this state or at its headquarters in this state and shall notify the attorney general of the location at which those records are kept.

(C) The gross profit from each bingo session or game described in division (S)(1) or (2) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code shall be deposited into a checking account devoted exclusively to the bingo session or game. Payments for allowable expenses incurred in conducting the bingo session or game and payments to recipients of some or all of the net profit of the bingo session or game shall be made only by checks drawn on the bingo session or game account.

(D) Each charitable organization shall conduct and record an inventory of all of its bingo supplies as of the first day of November of each year.

(E) The attorney general may adopt rules in accordance with Chapter 119. of the Revised Code that establish standards of accounting, record keeping, and reporting to ensure that gross receipts from bingo or games of chance are properly accounted for.

(F) A distributor shall maintain, for a period of three years after the date of its sale or other provision, a record of each instance of its selling or otherwise providing to another person bingo supplies for use in this state. The record shall include all of the following for each instance:

(1) The name of the manufacturer from which the distributor purchased the bingo supplies and the date of the purchase;

(2) The name and address of the charitable organization or other distributor to which the bingo supplies were sold or otherwise provided;

(3) A description that clearly identifies the bingo supplies;

(4) Invoices that include the nonrepeating serial numbers of all paper bingo cards and sheets and all instant bingo deals sold or otherwise provided to each charitable organization.

(G) A manufacturer shall maintain, for a period of three years after the date of its sale or other provision, a record of each instance of its selling or otherwise providing bingo supplies for use in this state. The record shall include all of the following for each instance:

(1) The name and address of the distributor to whom the bingo supplies were sold or otherwise provided;

(2) A description that clearly identifies the bingo supplies, including serial numbers;

(3) Invoices that include the nonrepeating serial numbers of all paper bingo cards and sheets and all instant bingo deals sold or otherwise provided to each distributor.

(H) The attorney general or any law enforcement agency may do all of the following:

(1) Investigate any charitable organization or any officer, agent, trustee, member, or employee of the organization;

(2) Examine the accounts and records of the organization;

(3) Conduct inspections, audits, and observations of bingo or games of chance;

(4) Conduct inspections of the premises where bingo or games of chance are conducted;

(5) Take any other necessary and reasonable action to determine if a violation of any provision of sections 2915.01 to 2915.13 of the Revised Code has occurred and to determine whether section 2915.11 of the Revised Code has been complied with.

If any law enforcement agency has reasonable grounds to believe that a charitable organization or an officer, agent, trustee, member, or employee of the organization has violated any provision of this chapter, the law enforcement agency may proceed by action in the proper court to enforce this chapter, provided that the law enforcement agency shall give written notice to the attorney general when commencing an action as described in this division.

(I) No person shall destroy, alter, conceal, withhold, or deny access to any accounts or records of a charitable organization that have been requested for examination, or obstruct, impede, or interfere with any inspection, audit, or observation of bingo or a game of chance or premises where bingo or a game of chance is conducted, or refuse to comply with any reasonable request of, or obstruct, impede, or interfere with any other reasonable action undertaken by, the attorney general or a law enforcement agency pursuant to division (H) of this section.

(J) Whoever violates division (A) or (I) of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree.

[§ 2915.10.1] § 2915.101 Distribution of net profit from instant bingo.

Except as otherwise provided by law, a charitable organization that conducts instant bingo shall distribute the net profit from the proceeds of the sale of instant bingo as follows:

(A)(1) If a veteran's organization, a fraternal organization, or a sporting organization conducted the instant bingo, the organization shall distribute the net profit from the proceeds of the sale of instant bingo, as follows:

(a) For the first seventy-five thousand dollars, or a greater amount prescribed by the attorney general to adjust for changes in prices as measured by the consumer price index as defined in section 325.18 of the Revised Code, or less of net profit from the proceeds of the sale of instant bingo generated in a calendar year:

(i) At least twenty-five per cent shall be distributed to an organization described in division (Z)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code or to a department or agency of the federal government, the state, or any political subdivision.

(ii) Not more than seventy-five per cent may be deducted and retained by the organization for reimbursement of or for the organization's expenses, as defined in division (LL) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code, in conducting the instant bingo game.

(b) For any net profit from the proceeds of the sale of instant bingo of more than seventy-five thousand dollars or an adjusted amount generated in a calendar year:

(i) A minimum of fifty per cent shall be distributed to an organization described in division (Z)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code or to a department or agency of the federal government, the state, or any political subdivision.

(ii) Five per cent may be distributed for the organization's own charitable purposes or to a community action agency.

(iii) Forty-five per cent may be deducted and retained by the organization for reimbursement of or for the organization's expenses, as defined in division (LL) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code, in conducting the instant bingo game.

(2) If a veteran's organization, a fraternal organization, or a sporting organization does not distribute the full percentages specified in divisions (A)(1)(a) and (b) of this section for the purposes specified in those divisions, the organization shall distribute the balance of the net profit from the proceeds of the sale of instant bingo not distributed or retained for those purposes to an organization described in division (Z)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code.

(B) If a charitable organization other than a veteran's organization, a fraternal organization, or a sporting organization conducted the instant bingo, the organization shall distribute one hundred per cent of the net profit from the proceeds of the sale of instant bingo to an organization described in division (Z)(1) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code or to a department or agency of the federal government, the state, or any political subdivision.

(C) Nothing in this section prohibits a veteran's organization, a fraternal organization, or a sporting organization from distributing any net profit from the proceeds of the sale of instant bingo to an organization that is described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code when the organization that is described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code is one that makes donations to other organizations and permits donors to advise or direct such donations so long as the donations comply with requirements established in or pursuant to subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code.

§ 2915.12 Bingo for amusement only.

(A) Sections 2915.07 to 2915.11 of the Revised Code do not apply to bingo games that are conducted for the purpose of amusement only. A bingo game is conducted for the purpose of amusement only if it complies with all of the requirements specified in either division (A)(1) or (2) of this section:

(1)(a) The participants do not pay any money or any other thing of value including an admission fee, or any fee for bingo cards or sheets, objects to cover the spaces, or other devices used in playing bingo, for the privilege of participating in the bingo game, or to defray any costs of the game, or pay tips or make donations during or immediately before or after the bingo game.

(b) All prizes awarded during the course of the game are nonmonetary, and in the form of merchandise, goods, or entitlements to goods or services only, and the total value of all prizes awarded during the game is less than one hundred dollars.

(c) No commission, wages, salary, reward, tip, donation, gratuity, or other form of compensation, either directly or indirectly, and regardless of the source, is paid to any bingo game operator for work or labor performed at the site of the bingo game.

(d) The bingo game is not conducted either during or within ten hours of any of the following:

(i) A bingo session during which a charitable bingo game is conducted pursuant to sections 2915.07 to 2915.11 of the Revised Code;

(ii) A scheme or game of chance, or bingo described in division (S)(2) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code.

(e) The number of players participating in the bingo game does not exceed fifty.

(2)(a) The participants do not pay money or any other thing of value as an admission fee, and no participant is charged more than twenty-five cents to purchase a bingo card or sheet, objects to cover the spaces, or other devices used in playing bingo.

(b) The total amount of money paid by all of the participants for bingo cards or sheets, objects to cover the spaces, or other devices used in playing bingo does not exceed one hundred dollars.

(c) All of the money paid for bingo cards or sheets, objects to cover spaces, or other devices used in playing bingo is used only to pay winners monetary and nonmonetary prizes and to provide refreshments.

(d) The total value of all prizes awarded during the game does not exceed one hundred dollars.

(e) No commission, wages, salary, reward, tip, donation, gratuity, or other form of compensation, either directly or indirectly, and regardless of the source, is paid to any bingo game operator for work or labor performed at the site of the bingo game.

(f) The bingo game is not conducted during or within ten hours of either of the following:

(i) A bingo session during which a charitable bingo game is conducted pursuant to sections 2915.07 to 2915.11 of the Revised Code;

(ii) A scheme of chance or game of chance, or bingo described in division (S)(2) of section 2915.01 of the Revised Code.

(g) All of the participants reside at the premises where the bingo game is conducted.

(h) The bingo games are conducted on different days of the week and not more than twice in a calendar week.

(B) The attorney general or any local law enforcement agency may investigate the conduct of a bingo game that purportedly is conducted for purposes of amusement only if there is reason to believe that the purported amusement bingo game does not comply with the requirements of either division (A)(1) or (2) of this section. A local law enforcement agency may proceed by action in the proper court to enforce this section if the local law enforcement agency gives written notice to the attorney general when commencing the action.

§ 2915.13 Veteran's, fraternal, or sporting organization conducting instant bingo.

(A) A veteran's organization, a fraternal organization, or a sporting organization authorized to conduct a bingo session pursuant to sections 2915.01 to 2915.12 of the Revised Code may conduct instant bingo other than at a bingo session if all of the following apply:

(1) The veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization limits the sale of instant bingo to twelve hours during any day, provided that the sale does not begin earlier than ten a.m. and ends not later than two a.m.

(2) The veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization limits the sale of instant bingo to its own premises and to its own members and invited guests.

(3) The veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization is raising money for an organization that is described in subsection 509(a)(1), 509(a)(2), or 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is either a governmental unit or an organization that maintains its principal place of business in this state, that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and that is in good standing in this state and executes a written contract with that organization as required in division (B) of this section.

(B) If a veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization authorized to conduct instant bingo pursuant to division (A) of this section is raising money for another organization that is described in subsection 509(a)(1), 509(a)(2), or 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is either a governmental unit or an organization that maintains its principal place of business in this state, that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and that is in good standing in this state, the veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization shall execute a written contract with the organization that is described in subsection 509(a)(1), 509(a)(2), or 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is either a governmental unit or an organization that maintains its principal place of business in this state, that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and that is in good standing in this state in order to conduct instant bingo. That contract shall include a statement of the percentage of the net proceeds that the veteran's, fraternal, or sporting organization will be distributing to the organization that is described in subsection 509(a)(1), 509(a)(2), or 509(a)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and is either a governmental unit or an organization that maintains its principal place of business in this state, that is exempt from federal income taxation under subsection 501(a) and described in subsection 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and that is in good standing in this state.

(C)(1) If a veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization authorized to conduct instant bingo pursuant to division (A) of this section has been issued a liquor permit under Chapter 4303. of the Revised Code, that permit may be subject to suspension, revocation, or cancellation if the veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization violates a provision of this chapter.

(2) No veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization that enters into a written contract pursuant to division (B) of this section shall violate any provision of this chapter or permit, aid, or abet any other person in violating any provision of this chapter.

(D) A veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization shall give all required proceeds earned from the conduct of instant bingo to the organization with which the veteran's organization, fraternal organization, or sporting organization has entered into a written contract.

(E) Whoever violates this section is guilty of illegal instant bingo conduct. Except as otherwise provided in this division, illegal instant bingo conduct is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of a violation of this section, illegal instant bingo conduct is a felony of the fifth degree.

[INCITING, RIOT, AND RELATED OFFENSES]

§ 2917.01 Inciting to violence.

(A) No person shall knowingly engage in conduct designed to urge or incite another to commit any offense of violence, when either of the following apply:

(1) The conduct takes place under circumstances that create a clear and present danger that any offense of violence will be committed;

(2) The conduct proximately results in the commission of any offense of violence.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of inciting to violence. If the offense of violence that the other person is being urged or incited to commit is a misdemeanor, inciting to violence is a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offense of violence that the other person is being urged or incited to commit is a felony, inciting to violence is a felony of the third degree.

§ 2917.02 Aggravated riot.

(A) No person shall participate with four or more others in a course of disorderly conduct in violation of section 2917.11 of the Revised Code:

(1) With purpose to commit or facilitate the commission of a felony;

(2) With purpose to commit or facilitate the commission of any offense of violence;

(3) When the offender or any participant to the knowledge of the offender has on or about the offender's or participant's person or under the offender's or participant's control, uses, or intends to use a deadly weapon or dangerous ordnance, as defined in section 2923.11 of the Revised Code.

(B)(1) No person, being an inmate in a detention facility, shall violate division (A)(1) or (3) of this section.

(2) No person, being an inmate in a detention facility, shall violate division (A)(2) of this section or section 2917.03 of the Revised Code.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of aggravated riot. A violation of division (A)(1) or (3) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. A violation of division (A)(2) or (B)(1) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. A violation of division (B)(2) of this section is a felony of the third degree.

(D) As used in this section, "detention facility" has the same meaning as in section 2921.01 of the Revised Code.

§ 2917.03 Riot.

(A) No person shall participate with four or more others in a course of disorderly conduct in violation of section 2917.11 of the Revised Code:

(1) With purpose to commit or facilitate the commission of a misdemeanor, other than disorderly conduct;

(2) With purpose to intimidate a public official or employee into taking or refraining from official action, or with purpose to hinder, impede, or obstruct a function of government;

(3) With purpose to hinder, impede, or obstruct the orderly process of administration or instruction at an educational institution, or to interfere with or disrupt lawful activities carried on at such institution.

(B) No person shall participate with four or more others with purpose to do an act with unlawful force or violence, even though such act might otherwise be lawful.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of riot, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

§ 2917.04 Failure to disperse.

(A) Where five or more persons are participating in a course of disorderly conduct in violation of section 2917.11 of the Revised Code, and there are other persons in the vicinity whose presence creates the likelihood of physical harm to persons or property or of serious public inconvenience, annoyance, or alarm, a law enforcement officer or other public official may order the participants and such other persons to disperse. No person shall knowingly fail to obey such order.

(B) Nothing in this section requires persons to disperse who are peaceably assembled for a lawful purpose.

(C)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of failure to disperse.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(3) of this section, failure to disperse is a minor misdemeanor.

(3) Failure to disperse is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree if the failure to obey the order described in division (A) of this section creates the likelihood of physical harm to persons or is committed at the scene of a fire, accident, disaster, riot, or emergency of any kind.

Analogous to former RC § 2923.43 (132 v H 332), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[HARASSMENT]

§ 2917.21 Telecommunications harassment.

(A) No person shall knowingly make or cause to be made a telecommunication, or knowingly permit a telecommunication to be made from a telecommunications device under the person's control, to another, if the caller does any of the following:

(1) Fails to identify the caller to the recipient of the telecommunication and makes the telecommunication with purpose to harass or abuse any person at the premises to which the telecommunication is made, whether or not actual communication takes place between the caller and a recipient;

(2) Describes, suggests, requests, or proposes that the caller, the recipient of the telecommunication, or any other person engage in sexual activity, and the recipient or another person at the premises to which the telecommunication is made has requested, in a previous telecommunication or in the immediate telecommunication, that the caller not make a telecommunication to the recipient or to the premises to which the telecommunication is made;

(3) During the telecommunication, violates section 2903.21 of the Revised Code;

(4) Knowingly states to the recipient of the telecommunication that the caller intends to cause damage to or destroy public or private property, and the recipient, any member of the recipient's family, or any other person who resides at the premises to which the telecommunication is made owns, leases, resides, or works in, will at the time of the destruction or damaging be near or in, has the responsibility of protecting, or insures the property that will be destroyed or damaged;

(5) Knowingly makes the telecommunication to the recipient of the telecommunication, to another person at the premises to which the telecommunication is made, or to those premises, and the recipient or another person at those premises previously has told the caller not to make a telecommunication to those premises or to any persons at those premises.

(B) No person shall make or cause to be made a telecommunication, or permit a telecommunication to be made from a telecommunications device under the person's control, with purpose to abuse, threaten, or harass another person.

(C)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of telecommunications harassment.

(2) A violation of division (A)(1), (2), (3), or (5) or (B) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree on a first offense and a felony of the fifth degree on each subsequent offense.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(3) of this section, a violation of division (A)(4) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree on a first offense and a felony of the fifth degree on each subsequent offense. If a violation of division (A)(4) of this section results in economic harm of five hundred dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars, telecommunications harassment is a felony of the fifth degree. If a violation of division (A)(4) of this section results in economic harm of five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars, telecommunications harassment is a felony of the fourth degree. If a violation of division (A)(4) of this section results in economic harm of one hundred thousand dollars or more, telecommunications harassment is a felony of the third degree.

(D) No cause of action may be asserted in any court of this state against any provider of a telecommunications service or information service, or against any officer, employee, or agent of a telecommunication service or information service, for any injury, death, or loss to person or property that allegedly arises out of the provider's, officer's, employee's, or agent's provision of information, facilities, or assistance in accordance with the terms of a court order that is issued in relation to the investigation or prosecution of an alleged violation of this section or section 4931.31 of the Revised Code. A provider of a telecommunications service or information service, or an officer, employee, or agent of a telecommunications service or information service, is immune from any civil or criminal liability for injury, death, or loss to person or property that allegedly arises out of the provider's, officer's, employee's, or agent's provision of information, facilities, or assistance in accordance with the terms of a court order that is issued in relation to the investigation or prosecution of an alleged violation of this section or section 4931.31 of the Revised Code.

(E) As used in this section:

(1) "Economic harm" means all direct, incidental, and consequential pecuniary harm suffered by a victim as a result of criminal conduct. "Economic harm" includes, but is not limited to, all of the following:

(a) All wages, salaries, or other compensation lost as a result of the criminal conduct;

(b) The cost of all wages, salaries, or other compensation paid to employees for time those employees are prevented from working as a result of the criminal conduct;

(c) The overhead costs incurred for the time that a business is shut down as a result of the criminal conduct;

(d) The loss of value to tangible or intangible property that was damaged as a result of the criminal conduct.

(2) "Caller" means the person described in division (A) of this section who makes or causes to be made a telecommunication or who permits a telecommunication to be made from a telecommunications device under that person's control.

(3) "Telecommunication" and "telecommunications device" have the same meanings as in section 2913.01 of the Revised Code.

(4) "Sexual activity" has the same meaning as in section 2907.01 of the Revised Code.

(F) Nothing in this section prohibits a person from making a telecommunication to a debtor that is in compliance with the "Fair Debt Collection Practices Act," 91 Stat. 874 (1977), 15 U.S.C. 1692, as amended, or the "Telephone Consumer Protection Act," 105 Stat. 2395 (1991), 47 U.S.C. 227, as amended.

Not analogous to former RC § 2917.21 (RS § 6827a; 90 v 33; 95 v 69; 97 v 307; GC § 12839; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

Comment, Legislative Service Commission

Section 2917.21 of the Revised Code is amended by this act [Am. Sub. H.B. 565] and also by Sub. S.B. 215 of the 122nd General Assembly. Comparison of these amendments in pursuance of section 1.52 of the Revised Code discloses that they are not irreconcilable so that they are required by that section to be harmonized to give effect to each amendment.

[FALSE ALARMS]

§ 2917.31 Inducing panic.

(A) No person shall cause the evacuation of any public place, or otherwise cause serious public inconvenience or alarm, by doing any of the following:

(1) Initiating or circulating a report or warning of an alleged or impending fire, explosion, crime, or other catastrophe, knowing that such report or warning is false;

(2) Threatening to commit any offense of violence;

(3) Committing any offense, with reckless disregard of the likelihood that its commission will cause serious public inconvenience or alarm.

(B) Division (A)(1) of this section does not apply to any person conducting an authorized fire or emergency drill.

(C)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of inducing panic.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(3), (4), (5), (6), (7), (8), or (9) of this section, inducing panic is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(4), (5), (6), (7), (8), or (9) of this section, if a violation of this section results in physical harm to any person, inducing panic is a felony of the fourth degree.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(5), (6), (7), (8), or (9) of this section, if a violation of this section results in economic harm, the penalty shall be determined as follows:

(a) If the violation results in economic harm of five hundred dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars and if division (C)(3) of this section does not apply, inducing panic is a felony of the fifth degree.

(b) If the violation results in economic harm of five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars, inducing panic is a felony of the fourth degree.

(c) If the violation results in economic harm of one hundred thousand dollars or more, inducing panic is a felony of the third degree.

(5) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(6), (7), (8), or (9) of this section, if the public place involved in a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a school, the penalty shall be determined as follows:

(a) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(5)(b) or (c) of this section, inducing panic is a felony of the fourth degree.

(b) If the violation results in physical harm to any person and if division (C)(5)(c)(iii) of this section does not apply, inducing panic is a felony of the third degree.

(c) If the violation results in economic harm, the penalty shall be determined as follows:

(i) If the violation results in economic harm of five hundred dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars and if division (C)(5)(b) of this section does not apply, inducing panic is a felony of the fourth degree.

(ii) If the violation results in economic harm of five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars, inducing panic is a felony of the third degree.

(iii) If the violation results in economic harm of one hundred thousand dollars or more, inducing panic is a felony of the second degree.

(6) If the violation pertains to a purported, threatened, or actual use of a weapon of mass destruction, and except as otherwise provided in division (C)(7), (8), or (9) of this section, inducing panic is a felony of the fourth degree.

(7) If the violation pertains to a purported, threatened, or actual use of a weapon of mass destruction, and except as otherwise provided in division (C)(9)(a) or (c) of this section, if a violation of this section results in physical harm to any person, inducing panic is a felony of the third degree.

(8) If the violation pertains to a purported, threatened, or actual use of a weapon of mass destruction, and except as otherwise provided in division (C)(9)(a) or (c) of this section, if a violation of this section results in economic harm of one hundred thousand dollars or more, inducing panic is a felony of the third degree.

(9)(a) If the public place involved in a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a school, if the violation pertains to a purported, threatened, or actual use of a weapon of mass destruction, and if the violation results in physical harm to any person, inducing panic is a felony of the second degree.

(b) If the public place involved in a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a school, if the violation pertains to a purported, threatened, or actual use of a weapon of mass destruction, and if the violation results in economic harm of five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars, and if division (C)(9)(a) of this section does not apply, inducing panic is a felony of the third degree.

(c) If the public place involved in a violation of division (A)(1) of this section is a school, if the violation pertains to a purported, threatened, or actual use of a weapon of mass destruction, and if the violation results in economic harm of one hundred thousand dollars or more, inducing panic is a felony of the second degree.

(D)(1) It is not a defense to a charge under this section that pertains to a purported or threatened use of a weapon of mass destruction that the offender did not possess or have the ability to use a weapon of mass destruction or that what was represented to be a weapon of mass destruction was not a weapon of mass destruction.

(2) Any act that is a violation of this section and any other section of the Revised Code may be prosecuted under this section, the other section, or both sections.

(E) As used in this section:

(1) "Economic harm" means any of the following:

(a) All direct, incidental, and consequential pecuniary harm suffered by a victim as a result of criminal conduct. "Economic harm" as described in this division includes, but is not limited to, all of the following:

(i) All wages, salaries, or other compensation lost as a result of the criminal conduct;

(ii) The cost of all wages, salaries, or other compensation paid to employees for time those employees are prevented from working as a result of the criminal conduct;

(iii) The overhead costs incurred for the time that a business is shut down as a result of the criminal conduct;

(iv) The loss of value to tangible or intangible property that was damaged as a result of the criminal conduct.

(b) All costs incurred by the state or any political subdivision as a result of, or in making any response to, the criminal conduct that constituted the violation of this section or section 2917.32 of the Revised Code, including, but not limited to, all costs so incurred by any law enforcement officers, firefighters, rescue personnel, or emergency medical services personnel of the state or the political subdivision.

(2) "School" means any school operated by a board of education or any school for which the state board of education prescribes minimum standards under section 3301.07 of the Revised Code, whether or not any instruction, extracurricular activities, or training provided by the school is being conducted at the time a violation of this section is committed.

(3) "Weapon of mass destruction" means any of the following:

(a) Any weapon that is designed or intended to cause death or serious physical harm through the release, dissemination, or impact of toxic or poisonous chemicals, or their precursors;

(b) Any weapon involving a disease organism or biological agent;

(c) Any weapon that is designed to release radiation or radioactivity at a level dangerous to human life;

(d) Any of the following, except to the extent that the item or device in question is expressly excepted from the definition of "destructive device" pursuant to 18 U.S.C. 921(a)(4) and regulations issued under that section:

(i) Any explosive, incendiary, or poison gas bomb, grenade, rocket having a propellant charge of more than four ounces, missile having an explosive or incendiary charge of more than one-quarter ounce, mine, or similar device;

(ii) Any combination of parts either designed or intended for use in converting any item or device into any item or device described in division (E)(3)(d)(i) of this section and from which an item or device described in that division may be readily assembled.

(4) "Biological agent" has the same meaning as in section 2917.33 of the Revised Code.

(5) "Emergency medical services personnel" has the same meaning as in section 2133.21 of the Revised Code.

§ 2917.32 Making false alarms.

(A) No person shall do any of the following:

(1) Initiate or circulate a report or warning of an alleged or impending fire, explosion, crime, or other catastrophe, knowing that the report or warning is false and likely to cause public inconvenience or alarm;

(2) Knowingly cause a false alarm of fire or other emergency to be transmitted to or within any organization, public or private, for dealing with emergencies involving a risk of physical harm to persons or property;

(3) Report to any law enforcement agency an alleged offense or other incident within its concern, knowing that such offense did not occur.

(B) This section does not apply to any person conducting an authorized fire or emergency drill.

(C)(1) Whoever violates this section is guilty of making false alarms.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(3), (4), (5), or (6) of this section, making false alarms is a misdemeanor of the first degree.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in division (C)(4) of this section, if a violation of this section results in economic harm of five hundred dollars or more but less than five thousand dollars, making false alarms is a felony of the fifth degree.

(4) If a violation of this section pertains to a purported, threatened, or actual use of a weapon of mass destruction, making false alarms is a felony of the third degree.

(5) If a violation of this section results in economic harm of five thousand dollars or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars and if division (C)(4) of this section does not apply, making false alarms is a felony of the fourth degree.

(6) If a violation of this section results in economic harm of one hundred thousand dollars or more, making false alarms is a felony of the third degree.

(D)(1) It is not a defense to a charge under this section that pertains to a purported or threatened use of a weapon of mass destruction that the offender did not possess or have the ability to use a weapon of mass destruction or that what was represented to be a weapon of mass destruction was not a weapon of mass destruction.

(2) Any act that is a violation of this section and any other section of the Revised Code may be prosecuted under this section, the other section, or both sections.

(E) As used in this section, “economic harm” and “weapon of mass destruction” have the same meanings as in section 2917.31 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 134 v H 511 (Eff 1-1-74); 147 v H 182 (Eff 10-1-97); 149 v H 411, Eff 9-27-2002.

Not analogous to former RC § 2917.32 (RS § 6918; S&C 430; 29 v 144; GC § 12857; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2917.33 Unlawful possession or use of a hoax weapon of mass destruction.

(A) No person, without privilege to do so, shall manufacture, possess, sell, deliver, display, use, threaten to use, attempt to use, conspire to use, or make readily accessible to others a hoax weapon of mass destruction with the intent to deceive or otherwise mislead one or more persons into believing that the hoax weapon of mass destruction will cause terror, bodily harm, or property damage.

(B) This section does not apply to any member or employee of the armed forces of the United States, a governmental agency of this state, another state, or the United States, or a private entity, to whom all of the following apply:

(1) The member or employee otherwise is engaged in lawful activity within the scope of the member's or employee's duties or employment.

(2) The member or employee otherwise is duly authorized or licensed to manufacture, possess, sell, deliver, display, or otherwise engage in activity as described in division (A) of this section.

(3) The member or employee is in compliance with applicable federal and state law.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of unlawful possession or use of a hoax weapon of mass destruction, a felony of the fourth degree.

(D) Any act that is a violation of this section and any other section of the Revised Code may be prosecuted under this section, the other section, or both sections.

(E) As used in this section:

(1) “Hoax weapon of mass destruction” means any device or object that by its design, construction, content, or characteristics appears to be, appears to constitute, or appears to contain, or is represented as being, constituting, or containing, a weapon of mass destruction and to which either of the following applies:

(a) It is, in fact, an inoperative facsimile, imitation, counterfeit, or representation of a weapon of mass destruction that does not meet the definition of a weapon of mass destruction.

(b) It does not actually contain or constitute a weapon, biological agent, toxin, vector, or delivery system.

(2) “Biological agent” means any microorganism, virus, infectious substance, or biological product that may be engineered through biotechnology, or any naturally occurring or bioengineered component of any microorganism, virus, infectious substance, or biological product that may be engineered through biotechnology, capable of causing any of the following:

(a) Death, disease, or other biological malfunction in a human, an animal, a plant, or another living organism;

(b) Deterioration of food, water, equipment, supplies, or material of any kind;

(c) Deleterious alteration of the environment.

(3) “Toxin” means the toxic material of plants, animals, microorganisms, viruses, fungi, or infectious substances or a recombinant molecule, whatever its origin or method of reproduction, including, but not limited to, any of the following:

(a) Any poisonous substance or biological product that may be engineered through biotechnology and that is produced by a living organism;

(b) Any poisonous isomer or biological product, homolog, or derivative of any substance or product described in division (D)(3)(a) of this section.

(4) “Delivery system” means any of the following:

(a) Any apparatus, equipment, device, or means of delivery specifically designed to deliver or disseminate a biological agent, toxin, or vector;

(b) Any vector.

(5) “Vector” means a living organism or molecule, including a recombinant molecule or biological product that may be engineered through biotechnology, capable of carrying a biological agent or toxin to a host.

(6) “Weapon of mass destruction” has the same meaning as in section 2917.31 of the Revised Code.

[CROWD SAFETY]

§ 2917.40 Required crowd safety measures at live entertainment performances.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) “Live entertainment performance” means any live speech; any live musical performance, including a concert; any live dramatic performance; any live variety show; and any other live performance with respect to which the primary intent of the audience can be construed to be viewing the performers. A “live entertainment performance” does not include any form of entertainment with respect to which the person purchasing a ticket routinely participates in amusements as well as views performers.

(2) “Restricted entertainment area” means any wholly or partially enclosed area, whether indoors or outdoors, that has limited access through established entrances, or established turnstyles† or similar devices.

(3) “Concert” means a musical performance of which the primary component is a presentation by persons singing or playing musical instruments, that is intended by its sponsors mainly, but not necessarily exclusively, for the listening enjoyment of the audience, and that is held in a facility. A “concert” does not include any performance in which music is a part of the presentation and the primary component of which is acting, dancing, a motion picture, a demonstration of skills or talent other than singing or playing an instrument, an athletic event, an exhibition, or a speech.

(4) “Facility” means any structure that has a roof or partial roof and that has walls that wholly surround the area on all sides, including, but not limited to, a stadium, hall, arena, armory, auditorium, ballroom, exhibition hall, convention center, or music hall.

(5) “Person” includes, in addition to an individual or entity specified in division (C) of section 1.59 of the Revised Code, any governmental entity.

(B)(1) No person shall sell, offer to sell, or offer in return for a donation any ticket that is not numbered and that does not correspond to a specific seat for admission to either of the following:

(a) A live entertainment performance that is not exempted under division (D) of this section, that is held in a restricted entertainment area, and for which more than eight thousand tickets are offered to the public;

(b) A concert that is not exempted under division (D) of this section and for which more than three thousand tickets are offered to the public.

(2) No person shall advertise any live entertainment performance as described in division (B)(1)(a) of this section or any concert as described in division (B)(1)(b) of this section, unless the advertisement contains the words "Reserved Seats Only."

(C) Unless exempted by division (D)(1) of this section, no person who owns or operates any restricted entertainment area shall fail to open, maintain, and properly staff at least the number of entrances designated under division (E) of this section for a minimum of ninety minutes prior to the scheduled start of any live entertainment performance that is held in the restricted entertainment area and for which more than three thousand tickets are sold, offered for sale, or offered in return for a donation.

(D)(1) A live entertainment performance, other than a concert, is exempted from the provisions of divisions (B) and (C) of this section if both of the following apply:

(a) The restricted entertainment area in which the performance is held has at least eight entrances or, if both entrances and separate admission turnstyles† or similar devices are used, has at least eight turnstyles† or similar devices;

(b) The eight entrances or, if applicable, the eight turnstyles† or similar devices are opened, maintained, and properly staffed at least one hour prior to the scheduled start of the performance.

(2)(a) The chief of the police department of a township police district in the case of a facility located within the district, the officer responsible for public safety within a municipal corporation in the case of a facility located within the municipal corporation, or the county sheriff in the case of a facility located outside the boundaries of a township police district or municipal corporation may, upon application of the sponsor of a concert covered by division (B) of this section, exempt the concert from the provisions of that division if the official finds that the health, safety, and welfare of the participants and spectators would not be substantially affected by failure to comply with the provisions of that division.

In determining whether to grant an exemption, the official shall consider the following factors:

(i) The size and design of the facility in which the concert is scheduled;

(ii) The size, age, and anticipated conduct of the crowd expected to attend the concert;

(iii) The ability of the sponsor to manage and control the expected crowd.

If the sponsor of any concert desires to obtain an exemption under this division, the sponsor shall apply to the appropriate official on a form prescribed by that official. The official shall issue an order that grants or denies the exemption within five days after receipt of the application. The sponsor may appeal any order that denies an exemption to the court of common pleas of the county in which the facility is located.

(b) If an official grants an exemption under division (D)(2)(a) of this section, the official shall designate an on-duty law enforcement officer to be present at the concert. The designated officer has authority to issue orders to all security personnel at the concert to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the participants and spectators.

(3) Notwithstanding division (D)(2) of this section, in the case of a concert held in a facility located on the campus of an educational institution covered by section 3345.04 of the Revised Code, a state university law enforcement officer appointed pursuant to sections 3345.04 and 3345.21 of the Revised Code shall do both of the following:

(a) Exercise the authority to grant exemptions provided by division (D)(2)(a) of this section in lieu of an official designated in that division;

(b) If the officer grants an exemption under division (D)(3)(a) of this section, designate an on-duty state university law enforcement officer to be present at the concert. The designated officer has authority to issue orders to all security personnel at the concert to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the participants and spectators.

(E)(1) Unless a live entertainment performance is exempted by division (D)(1) of this section, the chief of the police department of a township police district in the case of a restricted entertainment area located within the district, the officer responsible for public safety within a municipal corporation in the case of a restricted entertainment area located within the municipal corporation, or the county sheriff in the case of a restricted entertainment area located outside the boundaries of a township police district or municipal corporation shall designate, for purposes of division (C) of this section, the minimum number of entrances required to be opened, maintained, and staffed at each live entertainment performance so as to permit crowd control and reduce congestion at the entrances. The designation shall be based on such factors as the size and nature of the crowd expected to attend the live entertainment performance, the length of time prior to the live entertainment performance that crowds are expected to congregate at the entrances, and the amount of security provided at the restricted entertainment area.

(2) Notwithstanding division (E)(1) of this section, a state university law enforcement officer appointed pursuant to sections 3345.04 and 3345.21 of the Revised Code shall designate the number of entrances required to be opened, maintained, and staffed in the case of a live entertainment performance that is held at a restricted entertainment area located on the campus of an educational institution covered by section 3345.04 of the Revised Code.

(F) No person shall enter into any contract for a live entertainment performance, that does not permit or require compliance with this section.

(G)(1) This section does not apply to a live entertainment performance held in a restricted entertainment area if one admission ticket entitles the holder to view or participate in three or more different games, rides, activities, or live entertainment performances occurring simultaneously at different sites within the restricted entertainment area and if the initial admittance entrance to the restricted entertainment area, for which the ticket is required, is separate from the entrance to any specific live entertainment performance and an additional ticket is not required for admission to the particular live entertainment performance.

(2) This section does not apply to a symphony orchestra performance, a ballet performance, horse races, dances, or fairs.

(H) This section does not prohibit the legislative authority of any municipal corporation from imposing additional requirements, not in conflict with this section, for the promotion or holding of live entertainment performances.

(I) Whoever violates division (B), (C), or (F) of this section is guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree. If any individual suffers physical harm to his person as a result of a violation of this section, the sentencing court shall consider this factor in favor of imposing a term of imprisonment upon the offender.

§ 2917.41 Misconduct involving public transportation system.

(A) No person shall evade the payment of the known fares of a public transportation system.

(B) No person shall alter any transfer, pass, ticket, or token of a public transportation system with the purpose of evading the payment of fares or of defrauding the system.

(C) No person shall do any of the following while in any facility or on any vehicle of a public transportation system:

(1) Play sound equipment without the proper use of a private earphone;

(2) Smoke, eat, or drink in any area where the activity is clearly marked as being prohibited;

(3) Expectorate upon a person, facility, or vehicle.

(D) No person shall write, deface, draw, or otherwise mark on any facility or vehicle of a public transportation system.

(E) No person shall fail to comply with a lawful order of a public transportation system police officer, and no person shall resist, obstruct, or abuse a public transportation police officer in the performance of the officer's duties.

(F) Whoever violates this section is guilty of misconduct involving a public transportation system.

(1) Violation of division (A), (B), or (E) of this section is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree.

(2) Violation of division (C) of this section is a minor misdemeanor on a first offense. If a person previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of any division of this section or of a municipal ordinance that is substantially similar to any division of this section, violation of division (C) of this section is a misdemeanor of the fourth degree.

(3) Violation of division (D) of this section is a misdemeanor of the third degree.

(G) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, seventy-five per cent of each fine paid to satisfy a sentence imposed for a violation of this section shall be deposited into the treasury of the county in which the violation occurred and twenty-five per cent shall be deposited with the county transit board, regional transit authority, or regional transit commission that operates the public transportation system involved in the violation, unless the board of county commissioners operates the public transportation system, in which case one hundred per cent of each fine shall be deposited into the treasury of the county.

(H) As used in this section, "public transportation system" means a county transit system operated in accordance with sections 306.01 to 306.13 of the Revised Code, a regional transit authority operated in accordance with sections 306.30 to 306.71 of the Revised Code, or a regional transit commission operated in accordance with sections 306.80 to 306.90 of the Revised Code.

The provisions of § 223 of H.B. 95 (150 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 223. Section 2917.41 of the Revised Code is presented in this act as a composite of the section as amended by both Am. Sub. H.B. 61 and Am. Sub. S.B. 2 of the 121st General Assembly. The General Assembly, applying the principle stated in division (B) of section 152 of the Revised Code that amendments are to be harmonized if reasonably capable of simultaneous operation, finds that the composite is the resulting version of the section in effect prior to the effective date of the section as presented in this act.

Not analogous to former RC § 2917.41 (RS § 7034a; GC § 12869; 81 v 92; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2917.46 Unauthorized use of block parent or mcgruff house symbol.

(A) No person shall, with intent to identify a building as a block parent home or building, display the block parent symbol adopted by the state board of education pursuant to former section 3301.076 [3301.07.6] of the Revised Code prior to its repeal on the effective date of this amendment.

(B) No person shall, with intent to identify a building as a block parent home or building, display a symbol that falsely gives the appearance of being the block parent symbol adopted by the state board of education pursuant to former section 3301.076 [3301.07.6] of the Revised Code prior to its repeal on the effective date of this amendment.

(C) No person, with intent to identify a home or building as a mcgruff house program home or building, shall display the mcgruff house symbol adopted by the division of criminal justice services in the state department of public safety pursuant to section 5502.62 of the Revised Code unless authorized in accordance with that section, any rule adopted pursuant to that section, or section 3313.206 [3313.20.6] of the Revised Code.

(D) No person, with intent to identify a home or building as a mcgruff house program home or building, shall display a symbol that falsely gives the appearance of being the mcgruff house symbol adopted by the division of criminal justice services in the state department of public safety pursuant to section 5502.62 of the Revised Code or any rule adopted pursuant to that section.

(E)(1) Whoever violates division (A) or (B) of this section is guilty of unauthorized use of a block parent symbol, a minor misdemeanor.

(2) Whoever violates division (C) or (D) of this section is guilty of unauthorized use of a mcgruff house symbol, a minor misdemeanor.

The effective date is set by § 3(A) of 151 v H 374.

(B)(1)(a) No person shall knowingly perform or induce an abortion upon a woman who is pregnant, unmarried, under eighteen years of age, and unemancipated unless at least one of the following applies:

(i) Subject to division (B)(2) of this section, the person has given at least twenty-four hours actual notice, in person or by telephone, to one of the woman's parents, her guardian, or her custodian as to the intention to perform or induce the abortion, provided that if the woman has requested, in accordance with division (B)(1)(b) of this section, that notice be given to a specified brother or sister of the woman who is twenty-one years of age or older or to a specified stepparent or grandparent of the woman instead of to one of her parents, her guardian, or her custodian, and if the person is notified by a juvenile court that affidavits of the type described in that division have been filed with that court, the twenty-four hours actual notice described in this division as to the intention to perform or induce the abortion shall be given, in person or by telephone, to the specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent instead of to the parent, guardian, or custodian;

(ii) One of the woman's parents, her guardian, or her custodian has consented in writing to the performance or inducement of the abortion;

(iii) A juvenile court pursuant to section 2151.85 of the Revised Code issues an order authorizing the woman to consent to the abortion without notification of one of her parents, her guardian, or her custodian;

(iv) A juvenile court or a court of appeals, by its inaction, constructively has authorized the woman to consent to the abortion without notification of one of her parents, her guardian, or her custodian under division (B)(1) of section 2151.85 or division (A) of section 2505.073 [2505.07.3] of the Revised Code.

(b) If a woman who is pregnant, unmarried, under eighteen years of age, and unemancipated desires notification as to a person's intention to perform or induce an abortion on the woman to be given to a specified brother or sister of the woman who is twenty-one years of age or older or to a specified stepparent or grandparent of the woman instead of to one of her parents, her guardian, or her custodian, the person who intends to perform or induce the abortion shall notify the specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent instead of the parent, guardian, or custodian for purposes of division (B)(1)(a)(i) of this section if all of the following apply:

(i) The woman has requested the person to provide the notification to the specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent, clearly has identified the specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent and her relation to that person, and, if the specified relative is a brother or sister, has indicated the age of the brother or sister;

(ii) The woman has executed an affidavit stating that she is in fear of physical, sexual, or severe emotional abuse from the parent, guardian, or custodian who otherwise would be notified under division (B)(1)(a)(i) of this section, and that the fear is based on a pattern of physical, sexual, or severe emotional abuse of her exhibited by that parent, guardian, or custodian, has filed the affidavit with the juvenile court of the county in which the woman has a residence or legal settlement, the juvenile court of any county that borders to any extent the county in which she has a residence or legal settlement, or the juvenile court of the county in which the hospital, clinic, or other facility in which the abortion would be performed or induced is located, and has given the court written notice of the name and address of the person who intends to perform or induce the abortion;

(iii) The specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent has executed an affidavit stating that the woman has reason to fear physical, sexual, or severe emotional abuse from the parent, guardian, or custodian who otherwise would be notified under division (B)(1)(a)(i) of this section, based on a pattern of physical, sexual, or severe emotional abuse of her by that parent, guardian, or custodian, and the woman or the specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent has filed the affidavit with the juvenile court in which the affidavit described in division (B)(1)(b)(ii) of this section was filed;

(iv) The juvenile court in which the affidavits described in divisions (B)(1)(b)(ii) and (iii) of this section were filed has notified the person that both of those affidavits have been filed with the court.

(c) If an affidavit of the type described in division (B)(1)(b)(ii) of this section and an affidavit of the type described in division (B)(1)(b)(iii) of this section are filed with a juvenile court and the court has been provided with written notice of the name and address of the person who intends to perform or induce an abortion upon the woman to whom the affidavits pertain, the court promptly shall notify the person who intends to perform or induce the abortion that the affidavits have been filed. If possible, the notice to the person shall be given in person or by telephone.

(2) If division (B)(1)(a)(ii), (iii), or (iv) of this section does not apply, and if no parent, guardian, or custodian can be reached for purposes of division (B)(1)(a)(i) of this section after a reasonable effort, or if notification is to be given to a specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent under that division and the specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent cannot be reached for purposes of that division after a reasonable effort, no person shall perform or induce such an abortion without giving at least forty-eight hours constructive notice to one of the woman's parents, her guardian, or her custodian, by both certified and ordinary mail sent to the last known address of the parent, guardian, or custodian, or if notification for purposes of division (B)(1)(a)(i) of this section is to be given to a specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent, without giving at least forty-eight hours constructive notice to that specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent by both certified and ordinary mail sent to the last known address of that specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent. The forty-eight-hour period under this division begins when the certified mail notice is mailed. If a parent, guardian, or custodian of the woman, or if notification under division (B)(1)(a)(i) of this section is to be given to a specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent, the specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent, is not reached within the forty-eight-hour period, the abortion may proceed even if the certified mail notice is not received.

(3) If a parent, guardian, custodian, or specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent who has been notified in accordance with division (B)(1) or (2) of this section clearly and unequivocally expresses that he or she does not wish to consult with a pregnant woman prior to her abortion, then the abortion may proceed without any further waiting period.

(4) For purposes of prosecutions for a violation of division (B)(1) or (2) of this section, it shall be a rebuttable presumption that a woman who is unmarried and under eighteen years of age is unemancipated.

(C)(1) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (B)(1) or (2) of this section that the pregnant woman provided the person who performed or induced the abortion with false, misleading, or incorrect information about her age, marital status, or emancipation, about the age of a brother or sister to whom she requested notice be given as a specified relative instead of to one of her parents, her guardian, or her custodian, or about the last known address of either of her parents, her guardian, her custodian, or a specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent to whom she requested notice be given and the person who performed or induced the abortion did not otherwise have reasonable cause to believe the pregnant woman was under eighteen years of age, unmarried, or unemancipated, to believe that the age of a brother or sister to whom she requested notice be given as a specified relative instead of to one of her parents, her guardian, or her custodian was not twenty-one years of age, or to believe that the last known address of either of her parents, her guardian, her custodian, or a specified brother, sister, stepparent, or grandparent to whom she requested notice be given was incorrect.

(2) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under this section that compliance with the requirements of this section was not possible because an immediate threat of serious risk to the life or physical health of the pregnant woman from the continuation of her pregnancy created an emergency necessitating the immediate performance or inducement of an abortion.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of unlawful abortion. A violation of division (A) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree on the first offense and a felony of the fourth degree on each subsequent offense. A violation of division (B) of this section is a misdemeanor of the first degree on a first offense and a felony of the fifth degree on each subsequent offense.

(E) Whoever violates this section is liable to the pregnant woman and her parents, guardian, or custodian for civil compensatory and exemplary damages.

(F) As used in this section "unemancipated" means that a woman who is unmarried and under eighteen years of age has not entered the armed services of the United States, has not become employed and self-subsisting, or has not otherwise become independent from the care and control of her parent, guardian, or custodian.

HISTORY: 135 v H 989 (Eff 9-16-74); 141 v H 319 (Eff 3-24-86); 146 v S 2, Eff 7-1-96.

Not analogous to former RC § 2919.12 (134 v H 511 entitled "Promoting abortion."), repealed by 135 v H 989; and not analogous to former RC § 2919.12 (RS § 6910; S&C 429; 29 v 144; GC § 12915; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The effective date is set by section 6 of SB 2.

[§ 2919.12.1] § 2919.121 Performing or inducing unlawful abortion upon minor.

(A) For the purpose of this section, a minor shall be considered "emancipated" if the minor has married, entered the armed services of the United States, become employed and self-subsisting, or has otherwise become independent from the care and control of her parent, guardian, or custodian.

(B) No person shall knowingly perform or induce an abortion upon a pregnant minor unless one of the following is the case:

(1) The attending physician has secured the informed written consent of the minor and one parent, guardian, or custodian;

(2) The minor is emancipated and the attending physician has received her written informed consent;

(3) The minor has been authorized to consent to the abortion by a court order issued pursuant to division (C) of this section, and the attending physician has received her informed written consent;

(4) The court has given its consent in accordance with division (C) of this section and the minor is having the abortion willingly.

(C) The right of a minor to consent to an abortion under division (B)(3) of this section or judicial consent to obtain an abortion under division (B)(4) of this section may be granted by a court order pursuant to the following procedures:

(1) The minor or next friend shall make an application to the juvenile court of the county in which the minor has a residence or legal settlement, the juvenile court of any county that borders the county in which she has a residence or legal settlement, or the juvenile court of the county in which the facility in which the abortion would be performed or induced is located. The juvenile court shall assist the minor or next friend in preparing the petition and notices required by this section. The minor or next friend shall thereafter file a petition setting forth all of the following: the initials of the minor; her age; the names and addresses of each parent, guardian, custodian, or, if the minor's parents are deceased and no guardian has been appointed, any other person standing in loco parentis of the minor; that the minor has been fully informed of the risks and consequences of the abortion; that the minor is of sound mind and has sufficient intellectual capacity to consent to the abortion; that the minor has not previously filed a petition under this section concerning the same pregnancy that was denied on the merits; that, if the court does not authorize the minor to consent to the abortion, the court should find that the abortion is in the best interests of the minor and give judicial consent to the abortion; that the court should appoint a guardian ad litem; and if the minor does not have private counsel, that the court should appoint counsel. The petition shall be signed by the minor or the next friend.

(2) A hearing on the merits shall be held on the record as soon as possible within five days of filing the petition. If the minor has not retained counsel, the court shall appoint counsel at least twenty-four hours prior to the hearing. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem to protect the interests of the minor at the hearing. If the guardian ad litem is an attorney admitted to the practice of law in this state, the court may appoint the guardian ad litem to serve as the minor's counsel. At the hearing, the court shall hear evidence relating to the emotional development, maturity, intellect, and understanding of the minor; the nature, possible consequences, and alternatives to the abortion; and any other evidence that the court may find useful in determining whether the minor should be granted the right to consent to the abortion or whether the abortion is in the best interests of the minor. If the minor or her counsel fail to appear for a scheduled hearing, jurisdiction shall remain with the judge who would have presided at the hearing.

(3) If the court finds that the minor is sufficiently mature and well enough informed to decide intelligently whether to have an abortion, the court shall grant the petition and permit the minor to consent to the abortion.

If the court finds that the abortion is in the best interests of the minor, the court shall give judicial consent to the abortion, setting forth the grounds for its finding.

If the court does not make either of the findings specified in division (C)(3) of this section, the court shall deny the petition, setting forth the grounds on which the petition is denied.

The court shall issue its order not later than twenty-four hours after the end of the hearing.

(4) No juvenile court shall have jurisdiction to rehear a petition concerning the same pregnancy once a juvenile court has granted or denied the petition.

(5) If the petition is granted, the informed consent of the minor, pursuant to a court order authorizing the minor to consent to the abortion, or judicial consent to the abortion, shall bar an action by the parents, guardian, or custodian of the minor for battery of the minor against any person performing or inducing the abortion. The immunity granted shall only extend to the performance or inducement of the abortion in accordance with this section and to any accompanying services that are performed in a competent manner.

(6) An appeal from an order issued under this section may be taken to the court of appeals by the minor. The record on appeal shall be completed and the appeal perfected within four days from the filing of the notice of appeal. Because the abortion may need to be performed in a timely manner, the supreme court shall, by rule, provide for expedited appellate review of cases appealed under this section.

(7) All proceedings under this section shall be conducted in a confidential manner and shall be given such precedence over other pending matters as will ensure that the court will reach a decision promptly and without delay.

The petition and all other papers and records that pertain to an action commenced under this section shall be kept confidential and are not public records under section 149.43 of the Revised Code.

(8) No filing fee shall be required of or court costs assessed against a person filing a petition under this section or appealing an order issued under this section.

(D) It is an affirmative defense to any civil, criminal, or professional disciplinary claim brought under this section that compliance with the requirements of this section was not possible because an immediate threat of serious risk to the life or physical health of the minor from the continuation of her pregnancy created an emergency necessitating the immediate performance or inducement of an abortion.

(E) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is guilty of unlawful abortion, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section, unlawful abortion is a felony of the fourth degree.

(F) Whoever violates division (B) of this section is liable to the pregnant minor and her parents, guardian, or custodian for civil, compensatory, and exemplary damages.

HISTORY: 147 v H 421. Eff 5-6-98.

The provisions of § 3 of HB 421 (147 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 3. It is the intention of the General Assembly that section 2919.121 of the Revised Code be interpreted and applied in accordance with the decisions in Planned Parenthood v. Ashcroft, 655 F.2d 848 (8th Cir., 1981), and Planned Parenthood v. Ashcroft, 103 S. Ct. 2517 (1983), which interpreted and upheld the Missouri statute upon which section 2919.121 of the Revised Code is based.

[§ 2919.12.2] § 2919.122 Application of unlawful abortion law; defenses.

Section 2919.121 [2919.12.1] of the Revised Code applies in lieu of division (B) of section 2919.12 of the Revised Code whenever its operation is not enjoined. If section 2919.121 [2919.12.1] of the Revised Code is enjoined, division (B) of section 2919.12 of the Revised Code applies.

If a person complies with the requirements of division (B) of section 2919.12 of the Revised Code under the good faith belief that the application or enforcement of section 2919.121 [2919.12.1] of the Revised Code is subject to a restraining order or injunction, good faith compliance shall constitute a complete defense to any civil, criminal, or professional disciplinary action brought under section 2919.121 [2919.12.1] of the Revised Code.

If a person complies with the requirements of section 2919.121 [2919.12.1] of the Revised Code under the good faith belief that it is not subject to a restraining order or injunction, good faith compliance shall constitute a complete defense to any criminal, civil, or professional disciplinary action for failure to comply with the requirements of division (B) of section 2919.12 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 147 v H 421. Eff 5-6-98.

[§ 2919.12.3] § 2919.123 Unlawful distribution of abortion-inducing drug.

(A) No person shall knowingly give, sell, dispense, administer, otherwise provide, or prescribe RU-486 (mifepristone) to another for the purpose of inducing an abortion in any person or enabling the other person to induce an abortion in any person, unless the person who gives, sells, dispenses, administers, or otherwise provides or prescribes the RU-486 (mifepristone) is a physician, the physician satisfies all the criteria established by federal law that a physician must satisfy in order to provide RU-486 (mifepristone) for inducing abortions, and the physician provides the RU-486 (mifepristone) to the other person for the purpose of inducing an abortion in accordance with all provisions of federal law that govern the use of RU-486 (mifepristone) for inducing abortions. A person who gives, sells, dispenses, administers, otherwise provides, or prescribes RU-486 (mifepristone) to another as described in division (A) of this section shall not be prosecuted based on a violation of the criteria contained in this division unless the person knows that the person is not a physician, that the person did not satisfy all the specified criteria established by federal law, or that the person did not provide the RU-486 (mifepristone) in accordance with the specified provisions of federal law, whichever is applicable.

(B) No physician who provides RU-486 (mifepristone) to another for the purpose of inducing an abortion as authorized under division (A) of this section shall knowingly fail to comply with the applicable requirements of any federal law that pertain to follow-up examinations or care for persons to whom or for whom RU-486 (mifepristone) is provided for the purpose of inducing an abortion.

(C)(1) If a physician provides RU-486 (mifepristone) to another for the purpose of inducing an abortion as authorized under division (A) of this section and if the physician knows that the person who uses the RU-486 (mifepristone) for the purpose of inducing an abortion experiences during or after the use an incomplete abortion, severe bleeding, or an adverse reaction to the RU-486 (mifepristone) or is hospitalized, receives a transfusion, or experiences any other serious event, the physician promptly must provide a written report of the incomplete abortion, severe bleeding, adverse reaction, hospitalization, transfusion, or serious event to the state medical board. The board shall compile and retain all reports it receives under this division. Except as otherwise provided in this division, all reports the board receives under this division are public records open to inspection under section 149.43 of the Revised Code. In no case shall the board release to any person the name or any other personal identifying information regarding a person who uses RU-486 (mifepristone) for the purpose of inducing an abortion and who is the subject of a report the board receives under this division.

(2) No physician who provides RU-486 (mifepristone) to another for the purpose of inducing an abortion as authorized under division (A) of this section shall knowingly fail to file a report required under division (C)(1) of this section.

(D) Division (A) of this section does not apply to any of the following:

(1) A pregnant woman who obtains or possesses RU-486 (mifepristone) for the purpose of inducing an abortion to terminate her own pregnancy;

(2) The legal transport of RU-486 (mifepristone) by any person or entity and the legal delivery of the RU-486 (mifepristone) by any person to the recipient, provided that this division does not apply regarding any conduct related to the RU-486 (mifepristone) other than its transport and delivery to the recipient;

(3) The distribution, provision, or sale of RU-486 (mifepristone) by any legal manufacturer or distributor of RU-486 (mifepristone), provided the manufacturer or distributor made a good faith effort to comply with any applicable requirements of federal law regarding the distribution, provision, or sale.

(E) Whoever violates this section is guilty of unlawful distribution of an abortion-inducing drug, a felony of the fourth degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of this section or of section 2919.12, 2919.121 [2919.12.1], 2919.13, 2919.14, 2919.151 [2919.15.1], 2919.17, or 2919.18 of the Revised Code, unlawful distribution of an abortion-inducing drug is a felony of the third degree.

If the offender is a professionally licensed person, in addition to any other sanction imposed by law for the offense, the offender is subject to sanctioning as provided by law by the regulatory or licensing board or agency that has the administrative authority to suspend or revoke the offender's professional license, including the sanctioning provided in section 4731.22 of the Revised Code for offenders who have a certificate to practice or certificate of registration issued under that chapter.

(F) As used in this section:

(1) "Federal law" means any law, rule, or regulation of the United States or any drug approval letter of the food and drug administration of the United States that governs or regulates the use of RU-486 (mifepristone) for the purpose of inducing abortions.

(2) "Personal identifying information" has the same meaning as in section 2913.49 of the Revised Code.

(3) "Physician" has the same meaning as in section 2305.113 [2305.11.3] of the Revised Code.

(4) "Professionally licensed person" has the same meaning as in section 2925.01 of the Revised Code.

HISTORY: 150 v H 126, § 1, eff. 9-23-04.

§ 2919.13 Abortion manslaughter.

(A) No person shall purposely take the life of a child born by attempted abortion who is alive when removed from the uterus of the pregnant woman.

(B) No person who performs an abortion shall fail to take the measures required by the exercise of medical judgment in light of the attending circumstances to preserve the life of a child who is alive when removed from the uterus of the pregnant woman.

(C) Whoever violates this section is guilty of abortion manslaughter, a felony of the first degree.

HISTORY: 135 v H 989. Eff 9-16-74.

Not analogous to former RC § 2919.13 (RS § 6909; S&C 428; 29 v 144; 70 v 61; GC §§ 12916, 12917; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

§ 2919.14 Abortion trafficking.

(A) No person shall experiment upon or sell the product of human conception which is aborted. Experiment does not include autopsies pursuant to sections 313.13 and 2108.50 of the Revised Code.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of abortion trafficking, a misdemeanor of the first degree.

HISTORY: 135 v H 989. Eff 9-16-74.

Not analogous to former RC § 2919.14 (RS § 6970; S&S 640; 66 v 57; 70 v 105; GC § 12918; 101 v 131; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

[§ 2919.15.1] § 2919.151 Partial birth feticide.

(A) As used in this section:

(1) "Dilation and evacuation procedure of abortion" does not include the dilation and extraction procedure of abortion.

(2) "From the body of the mother" means that the portion of the fetus' body in question is beyond the mother's vaginal introitus in a vaginal delivery.

(3) "Partial birth procedure" means the medical procedure that includes all of the following elements in sequence:

(a) Intentional dilation of the cervix of a pregnant woman, usually over a sequence of days;

(b) In a breech presentation, intentional extraction of at least the lower torso to the navel, but not the entire body, of an intact fetus from the body of the mother, or in a cephalic presentation, intentional extraction of at least the complete head, but not the entire body, of an intact fetus from the body of the mother;

(c) Intentional partial evacuation of the intracranial contents of the fetus, which procedure the person performing the procedure knows will cause the death of the fetus, intentional compression of the head of the fetus, which procedure the person performing the procedure knows will cause the death of the fetus, or performance of another intentional act that the person performing the procedure knows will cause the death of the fetus;

(d) Completion of the vaginal delivery of the fetus.

(4) "Partially born" means that the portion of the body of an intact fetus described in division (A)(3)(b) of this section has been intentionally extracted from the body of the mother.

(5) "Serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function" means any medically diagnosed condition that so complicates the pregnancy of the woman as to directly or indirectly cause the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function.

(6) "Viable" has the same meaning as in section 2901.01 of the Revised Code.

(B) When the fetus that is the subject of the procedure is viable, no person shall knowingly perform a partial birth procedure on a pregnant woman when the procedure is not necessary, in reasonable medical judgment, to preserve the life or health of the mother as a result of the mother's life or health being endangered by a serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function.

(C) When the fetus that is the subject of the procedure is not viable, no person shall knowingly perform a partial birth procedure on a pregnant woman when the procedure is not necessary, in reasonable medical judgment, to preserve the life or health of the mother as a result of the mother's life or health being endangered by a serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function.

(D) Whoever violates division (B) or (C) of this section is guilty of partial birth feticide, a felony of the second degree.

(E) A pregnant woman upon whom a partial birth procedure is performed in violation of division (B) or (C) of this section is not guilty of committing, attempting to commit, complicity in the commission of, or conspiracy in the commission of a violation of those divisions.

(F) This section does not prohibit the suction curettage procedure of abortion, the suction aspiration procedure of abortion, or the dilation and evacuation procedure of abortion.

(G) This section does not apply to any person who performs or attempts to perform a legal abortion if the act that causes the death of the fetus is performed prior to the fetus being partially born even though the death of the fetus occurs after it is partially born.

HISTORY: 148 v. H 351. Eff. 8-18-2000.

The provisions of § 3 of HB 351 (148 v.—) read as follows:
SECTION 3. The General Assembly declares all of the following:

(A) In enacting sections 2307.53 and 2919.151 of the Revised Code, its intent is to prevent the unnecessary death of fetuses when they are substantially outside the body of the mother.

(B) This intent is based in part on a state interest in maintaining a strong public policy against infanticide, regardless of the life expectancy or state of development of the child.

(C) The right to abortion established in Roe v. Wade (1973), 410 U.S. 113, was never intended to legitimize infanticide or to deprive the state of all ability to protect fetuses who are substantially outside the body of the mother.

(D) The act also furthers the state interest in preventing unnecessary cruelty. This interest is not necessarily based solely on the ability of the fetus or child to experience pain. The indignity of being partly delivered before being deliberately killed is also a form of cruelty that should not be unnecessarily inflicted upon any being of human origin. Therefore, there are legitimate reasons for deterring the unnecessary use of the partial birth procedure, even though other abortion procedures that may cause pain remain available.

[POST-VIABILITY ABORTION]

§ 2919.16 Definitions.

As used in sections 2919.16 to 2919.18 of the Revised Code:

(A) "Fertilization" means the fusion of a human spermatozoon with a human ovum.

(B) "Gestational age" means the age of an unborn human as calculated from the first day of the last menstrual period of a pregnant woman.

(C) "Health care facility" means a hospital, clinic, ambulatory surgical treatment center, other center, medical school, office of a physician, infirmary, dispensary, medical training institution, or other institution or location in or at which medical care, treatment, or diagnosis is provided to a person.

(D) "Hospital" has the same meanings as in sections 2108.01, 3701.01, and 5122.01 of the Revised Code.

(E) "Live birth" has the same meaning as in division (A) of section 3705.01 of the Revised Code.

(F) "Medical emergency" means a condition that a pregnant woman's physician determines, in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, so complicates the woman's pregnancy as to necessitate the immediate performance or inducement of an abortion in order to prevent the death of the pregnant woman or to avoid a serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function of the pregnant woman that delay in the performance or inducement of the abortion would create.

(G) "Physician" has the same meaning as in section 2305.113 [2305.11.3] of the Revised Code.

(H) "Pregnant" means the human female reproductive condition, that commences with fertilization, of having a developing fetus.

(I) "Premature infant" means a human whose live birth occurs prior to thirty-eight weeks of gestational age.

(J) "Serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function" means any medically diagnosed condition that so complicates the pregnancy of the woman as to directly or indirectly cause the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function, including, but not limited to, the following conditions:

- (1) Pre-eclampsia;
- (2) Inevitable abortion;
- (3) Prematurely ruptured membrane;
- (4) Diabetes;
- (5) Multiple sclerosis.

(K) "Unborn human" means an individual organism of the species homo sapiens from fertilization until live birth.

(L) "Viable" means the stage of development of a human fetus at which in the determination of a physician, based on the particular facts of a woman's pregnancy that are known to the physician and in light of medical technology and information reasonably available to the physician, there is a realistic possibility of the maintaining and nourishing of a life outside of the womb with or without temporary artificial life-sustaining support.

HISTORY: 146 v H 135 (Eff 11-15-95); 149 v S 291, Eff 4-11-2003.

Not analogous to former RC § 2919.16 (RS § 2739a; 83 v 80; GC § 12924; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

The provisions of § 6 of SB 281 (149 v —) read as follows:

SECTION 6. (A) Sections 1751.67, 2117.06, 2305.11, 2305.15, 2305.234, 2317.02, 2317.54, 2323.56, 2711.21, 2711.22, 2711.23, 2711.24, 2743.02, 2743.43, 2919.16, 3923.63, 3923.64, 3929.71, and 5111.018 of the Revised Code, as amended by this act, and sections 2303.23, 2305.113, 2323.41, 2323.42, 2323.43, and 2323.55 of the Revised Code, as enacted by this act, apply to civil actions upon a medical claim, dental claim, optometric claim, or chiropractic claim in which the act or omission that constitutes the alleged basis of the claim occurs on or after the effective date of this act.

(B) As used in this section, "medical claim," "dental claim," "optometric claim," and "chiropractic claim" have the same meanings as in section 2305.113 of the Revised Code.

§ 2919.17 Terminating or attempting to terminate human pregnancy after viability.

(A) No person shall purposely perform or induce or attempt to perform or induce an abortion upon a pregnant woman if the unborn human is viable, unless either of the following applies:

(1) The abortion is performed or induced or attempted to be performed or induced by a physician, and that physician determines, in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, that the abortion is necessary to prevent the death of the pregnant woman or a serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function of the pregnant woman.

(2) The abortion is performed or induced or attempted to be performed or induced by a physician and that physician determines, in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, after making a determination relative to the viability of the unborn human in conformity with division (A) of section 2919.18 of the Revised Code, that the unborn human is not viable.

(B)(1) Except as provided in division (B)(2) of this section, no physician shall purposely perform or induce or attempt to perform or induce an abortion upon a pregnant woman when the unborn human is viable and when the physician has determined, in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, that the abortion is necessary to prevent the death of the pregnant woman or a serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function of the pregnant woman, unless each of the following conditions is satisfied:

(a) The physician who performs or induces or attempts to perform or induce the abortion certifies in writing that that physician has determined, in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, that the abortion is necessary to prevent the death of the pregnant woman or a serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function of the pregnant woman.

(b) The determination of the physician who performs or induces or attempts to perform or induce the abortion that is described in division (B)(1)(a) of this section is concurred in by at least one other physician who certifies in writing that the concurring physician has determined, in good faith, in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, and following a review of the available medical records of and any available tests results pertaining to the pregnant woman, that the abortion is necessary to prevent the death of the pregnant woman or a serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function of the pregnant woman.

(c) The abortion is performed or induced or attempted to be performed or induced in a health care facility that has or has access to appropriate neonatal services for premature infants.

(d) The physician who performs or induces or attempts to perform or induce the abortion terminates or attempts to terminate the pregnancy in the manner that provides the best opportunity for the unborn human to survive, unless that physician determines, in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, that the termination of the pregnancy in that manner poses a significantly greater risk of the death of the pregnant woman or a serious risk of the substantial and irreversible impairment of a major bodily function of the pregnant woman than would other available methods of abortion.

(e) The physician who performs or induces or attempts to perform or induce the abortion has arranged for the attendance in the same room in which the abortion is to be performed or induced or attempted to be performed or induced of at least one other physician who is to take control of, provide immediate medical care for, and take all reasonable steps necessary to preserve the life and health of the unborn human immediately upon the unborn human's complete expulsion or extraction from the pregnant woman.

(2) Division (B)(1) of this section does not prohibit the performance or inducement or an attempted performance or inducement of an abortion without prior satisfaction of each of the conditions described in divisions (B)(1)(a) to (e) of this section if the physician who performs or induces or attempts to perform or induce the abortion determines, in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, that a medical emergency exists that prevents compliance with one or more of those conditions.

(C) For purposes of this section, it shall be rebuttably presumed that an unborn child of at least twenty-four weeks of gestational age is viable.

(D) Whoever violates this section is guilty of terminating or attempting to terminate a human pregnancy after viability, a felony of the fourth degree.

(E) A pregnant woman upon whom an abortion is performed or induced or attempted to be performed or induced in violation of division (A) or (B) of this section is not guilty of an attempt to commit, complicity in the commission of, or conspiracy in the commission of a violation of either of those divisions.

HISTORY: 146 v H 135, Eff 11-15-95.

Not analogous to former RC § 2919.17 (RS § 6913; S & C 429; 29 v 144, § 13; GC § 12925; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74.

See provisions, § 4 of HB 135 (146 v —) following RC § 2919.16.

§ 2919.18 Failure to perform viability testing.

(A)(1) Except as provided in division (A)(3) of this section, no physician shall perform or induce or attempt to perform or induce an abortion upon a pregnant woman after the beginning of her twenty-second week of pregnancy unless, prior to the performance or inducement of the abortion or the attempt to perform or induce the abortion, the physician determines, in good faith and in the exercise of reasonable medical judgment, that the unborn human is not viable, and the physician makes that determination after performing a medical examination of the pregnant woman and after performing or causing the performing of gestational age, weight, lung maturity, or other tests of the unborn human that a reasonable physician making a determination as to whether an unborn human is or is not viable would perform or cause to be performed.

(2) Except as provided in division (A)(3) of this section, no physician shall perform or induce or attempt to perform or induce an abortion upon a pregnant woman after the beginning of her twenty-second week of pregnancy without first entering the determination described in division (A)(1) of this section and the associated findings of the medical examination and tests described in that division in the medical record of the pregnant woman.

(3) Divisions (A)(1) and (2) of this section do not prohibit a physician from performing or inducing or attempting to perform or induce an abortion upon a pregnant woman after the beginning of her twenty-second week of pregnancy without making the determination described in division (A)(1) of this section or without making the entry described in division (A)(2) of this section if a medical emergency exists.

(B) Whoever violates this section is guilty of failure to perform viability testing, a misdemeanor of the fourth degree.

HISTORY: 146 v H 135. Eff 11-15-95.

Not analogous to former RC § 2919.18 (RS § 633-14; 92 v 212, § 4; GC § 12933; Bureau of Code Revision, 10-1-53), repealed 134 v H 511, § 2, eff 1-1-74).

[NONSUPPORT AND RELATED OFFENSES]

§ 2919.21 Nonsupport or contributing to nonsupport of dependents.

(A) No person shall abandon, or fail to provide adequate support to:

- (1) The person's spouse, as required by law;
- (2) The person's child who is under age eighteen, or mentally or physically handicapped child who is under age twenty-one;

(3) The person's aged or infirm parent or adoptive parent, who from lack of ability and means is unable to provide adequately for the parent's own support.

(B) No person shall abandon, or fail to provide support as established by a court order to, another person whom, by court order or decree, the person is legally obligated to support.

(C) No person shall aid, abet, induce, cause, encourage, or contribute to a child or a ward of the juvenile court becoming a dependent child, as defined in section 2151.04 of the Revised Code, or a neglected child, as defined in section 2151.03 of the Revised Code.

(D) It is an affirmative defense to a charge of failure to provide adequate support under division (A) of this section or a charge of failure to provide support established by a court order under division (B) of this section that the accused was unable to provide adequate support or the established support but did provide the support that was within the accused's ability and means.

(E) It is an affirmative defense to a charge under division (A)(3) of this section that the parent abandoned the accused or failed to support the accused as required by law, while the accused was under age eighteen, or was mentally or physically handicapped and under age twenty-one.

(F) It is not a defense to a charge under division (B) of this section that the person whom a court has ordered the accused to support is being adequately supported by someone other than the accused.

(G)(1) Except as otherwise provided in this division, whoever violates division (A) or (B) of this section is guilty of nonsupport of dependents, a misdemeanor of the first degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a violation of division (A)(2) or (B) of this section or if the offender has failed to provide support under division (A)(2) or (B) of this section for a total accumulated period of twenty-six weeks out of one hundred four consecutive weeks, whether or not the twenty-six weeks were consecutive, then a violation of division (A)(2) or (B) of this section is a felony of the fifth degree. If the offender previously has been convicted of or pleaded guilty to a felony violation of this section, a violation of division (A)(2) or (B) of this section is a felony of the fourth degree. If the offender is guilty of nonsupport of dependents by reason of failing to provide support to the offender's child as required by a child support order issued on or after April 15, 1985, pursuant to section 2151.23, 2151.231 [2151.23.1], 2151.232 [2151.23.2], 2151.33, 3105.21, 3109.05, 3111.13, 3113.04, 3113.31, or 3115.31 of the Revised Code, the court, in addition to any other sentence imposed, shall assess all court costs arising out of the charge against the person and require the person to pay any reasonable attorney's fees of any adverse party other than the state, as determined by the court, that arose in relation to the charge.

(2) Whoever violates division (C) of this section is guilty of contributing to the nonsupport of dependents, a misdemeanor of the first degree. Each day of violation of division (C) of this section is a separate offense.
